Three-City Area Backs Preserving North Ridge

By JEFF GREER

County spokesmen and officials of Larkspur, Corte Madera and Mill Valley looked with favor last night on the preservation of 1,200 or more acres of undeveloped North Ridge lands above the three cities. They agreed unanimously to explore the possibility further.

Richard Nitzel of the Tamalpais Conservation Club summed up the feeling of the 50 citizens in the audience when he said, "I'm in favor of anything that would keep grass and trees up there instead of chimneys putting smoke in the air."

The three cities' mayors and county officials agreed to ask their agencies to study "economic, ecological and political effects or conflicts that might arise from pursuing a common goal of preservation of the North Ridge area."

The studies were part of a five-point program outlined by the three cities' managers and Harold E. Gregg, director of the Marin Conservation League at the special meeting in Corte Madera Town Hall.

The meeting followed two months of meetings by the staffs of the three cities and the county parks and recreation department aimed at preserving the area's open space.

The cities and the county agreed to call a second meeting "as close to June 1 as is feasible" to review the results of their studies.

The city managers suggested that each council and the county supervisors ask their planning commissions to suggest specific areas for preservation — possibly including more than the "logical" area outlined by Gregg.

The supervisors will ask the county counsel for legal advice on pros and cons of forming a local park district, joint powers agreements, or possibly a regional park approach even going so far as to take in all nine Bay Area counties, to finance public ownership of North Ridge.

Audience members recoiled from the idea of a regional park district embracing more than Marin County. They said they feared loss of local control and a possible Yosemite-like mass invasion of the slopes of Mount Tamalpais by park visitors from elsewhere.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste of Novato plumped for consideration of a countywide park district, in order to preserve other spaces "along the length of Highway 101."

He and Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. agreed that a multi-county district could endanger the county's control of Bolinas Lagoon, McNear's Beach, Stafford Lake and other recreation areas.

Mill Valley City Mgr. William H. Cunningham recalled that his city had abandoned plans to develop streets on some 400 acres of Northridge. He cited fears that city services required by future residents

Land Use Rein Eyed By Smogmen

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials agreed yesterday to venture into the controversial field of controlling air pollution by controlling land use.

The initial step by Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors was to include funds in next year's budget to start a research and development staff. They left it to Chief Administrative Officer D. J. Callaghan to estimate the cost of the new staff.

Some idea of new costs facing the district, however, was seen in the staff's estimate for staff expansion that may be forced

Super Agency Plan Given To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon sent Congress today a bold, massive federal reorganization plan. He said it would let the government focus its work on results for the people instead of red tape for bureaucrats.

The plan, as Nixon had outlined earlier in the year, would abolish seven of the 12 existing federal departments and redistribute their work among four new super departments. Only the State, Defense and Treasury Departments would not be affected.

Nixon's plan, embodied in four bills, would dismantle the Departments of Interior, Agriculture, Labor, Commerce, Transportation, Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

Search For SST Funding

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government and industry forces hunted today from Wall Street to the West Coast for $400 million private capital to salvage the supersonic transport from Congress' decision to cut off funds. Their chances appeared bleak, perhaps nonexistent.

President Nixon, stung by the Senate's rejection 51-46 Wednesday of further government money for the controversial 1,800-mile per hour plane, criticized the action as a severe blow to the nation's "continued leadership in the aerospace industry."

Within hours after the Senate voted to stop spending government money on two prototypes of the SST, firms connected with the project began announcing layoffs that may total 14,000 and Nixon promised he would not allow the "setback" to reverse America's tradition of commercial air supremacy.

But those on both sides of the issue seemed to agree the project was dead for now.

William Magruder, SST project manager in the Transportation Department, said he had sounded out a number of banks and financial institutions about private financing to finish work on the two prototypes for which the government has already paid $864 million. But Magruder made it plain this chance is remote if not impossible.

He said he asked an advisory committee made up of Wall Street and West Coast banks to determine if private funding was available, but said their conclusion was that such financing was not.

Boeing Co., which announced in Seattle, Wash., that it was laying off 7,000 workers as soon as possible, also said it had no indication private investment would fill the gap.

Among the alternatives to reviving the project are:

—Sale of government-backed bonds on the open market. Critics of this idea claim interest on such bonds would add another $500 million to the program's cost.

—A government insured loan to industry to build the planes. Critics claim this would only add to the government's loss if the plane turns out to be a commercial flop.

—Formation of a consortium of aerospace companies, possibly including financing from nations such as Japan or Germany. Details of this approach might take a year or more to work out.

As it stands now, the government not only will lose its original $864 million investment, but will have to spend another $119 million to pull out of the deal.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the plane's No. 1 Senate defender who described Wednesday's vote as a victory for anti-technology "know-nothings," gave these pullout estimates: Contract termination to Boeing and General Electric $85 million; $10 million for other contractual liabilities; $2 million in administrative costs; and $22 million in

Water Board Eyes Bypassing Voters

AFTER LAOS, WHAT? — This South Vietnamese soldier held his face in his hands, tired and exhausted and perhaps reflecting on the Laos incursion in which he participated before being withdrawn to a staging area along the border of South Vietnam to await evacuation deeper into his own territory. The last remnants of Saigon's incursion force, but for a small reconnaissance outpost, were pulled out of Laos by this morning. (UPI Radiophoto)

Asking Pipeline Funding

By LARRY MOWELL

The Marin Municipal Water District board — which last November successfully promoted a $11.5 million bond issue on the promise that it was one of a series of fund raising issues to be presented to the voters — decided yesterday to seek legislation empowering it to bypass the voters in raising money.

The money would ultimately finance Marin's $21.6 million share of the roughly $47.7 million Sonoma-Marin Aquaduct.

The board voted unanimously to ask Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, to introduce two bills.

The first bill would allow the water district to borrow $18 million from the Sonoma County Water Agency, a partner in the Sonoma-Marin Aquaduct. The water district would then repay the agency from revenue over a 20 to 30 year period. ($4 million was raised as part of the November issue.)

The second bill —insurance against failure of the first to pass — would allow creation of a master agency, incorporating the water district, the Sonoma agency and the North Marin Water District. Voters from the three districts would then be asked to approve a $47.7 million bond issue.

The proposals were recommended to the board by General Mgr. William R. Seeger on the advice of the project's financial consultant, Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco.

Should the two bills fail, "it would throw a wrench in the whole timetable," according to Richard Norton, assistant chief engineer of the Sonoma Water Agency. He said a delay of a year or more might result.

The revenue bond financing method suggested by Stone and Youngberg and counted on by the Sonoma County Water Agency would run counter to the promises made by the district in November when it narrowly won approval of the $11.5 million bond issue.

In its campaign brochure, the district said, "This 'Master Plan' will be implemented only as need dictates and will be financed through a series of

AFT Claims Strike Gains More Punch

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— More students stayed home today in the second day of a teacher strike which forced senior and junior high schools into a "minimum day" schedule.

School officials said all school buses were running on schedule but that early indications were that pupil absenteeism was greater than on Wednesday when more than one third failed to go to school.

At Luther Burbank Junior High, which had to be closed Wednesday morning when uncontrolled students began smashing windows, only about 200 of 1,400 students showed up for classes today. Chuck Richards, a spokesman for the striking American Federation of Teachers, said the walkout is "just as strong as yesterday and perhaps more so."

No negotiations were scheduled between the AFT and school officials.

Superintendent Thomas A. Shaheen said most secondary

Reds Cross Border; Laos Incursion Ends

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. forces closed down their armed base at Lang Vei two miles from Laos today and pulled back deep inside South Vietnam. Communist forces moved across the border and their attacks claimed at least 22 American lives, field reports said.

Military spokesmen in Saigon said all of the South Vietnamese forces that had moved into Laos Feb. 8 to cut the Communist Ho Chi Minh supply trail had moved back across the border by this morning. However, field reports said a company of South Vietnamese Marines were airlifted to Hotel base two miles inside Laos by American helicopters to form an infantry outpost "with reconnaissance responsibility."

At Khe Sanh, GIs were busy dismantling the 360,000 square foot helicopter assault pad from which thousands of support missions were flown during the Laotian campaign.

The U.S. Command also reported the destruction of five more helicopters, bringing to 94 the number of American choppers destroyed while supporting the operation. Five men were reported killed, putting the casualty figure for the operation at 66 dead, 79 wounded and 28 missing.

The weekly casualty report said 55 American servicemen were killed in action in Indochina battlefronts last week, including three dead and 12 injured in aircraft losses over Laos. U.S. battlefield deaths the week before numbered 45.

According to medics at Khe Sahn, 22 Americans were killed Wednesday in shellings, ambushes and the shooting down of helicopters.

MILITARY MANEUVERS — Recent war maneuvers have been reported by Egypt, Jordan and Syria. This photograph showing the silhouettes of Egyptian frogmen emerging from the water during war maneuvers was taken near Cairo. Meanwhile the Soviet Union has been reported bolstering the Arab states' military position in the continuing confrontation with Israel.

Soviets Boosting UAR War Stance

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Soviet Union has recently supplied Egypt with additional large quantities of war materiel including electronic air warfare equipment and sophiticated SAM3 antiaircraft missiles to protect the vulnerable Nile Valley from Cairo to Aswan, informed sources said today in Cairo.

The reports coincided with a series of warlike statements by Egyptian government and other officials that Egypt was prepared to resume the conflict with Israel if necessary. Egypt, Israel and Jordan were disclosed to have carried out large scale military maneuvers in recent days to prepare for such a contingency.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli Minister of Tourism Moshe Kol revived reports of a possible arrangement to get the Suez Canal open again through a partial Israeli withdrawal from the banks of the canal, a proposal first made by the Eygptian president.

Kol said if such an arrangement were reached he would seek a provision for the free passage of civilians and tourists from one side to the other and ask for a similar open border arrangement with Jordan.

UPI correspondent Maurice Guindi reported from Cairo that the Soviet Union in recent weeks had sent in supplies by ship and by transport plane not only to strengthen defenses along the Suez Canal but to set up a string of antiaircraft defenses along the 500-mile stretch of the Nile from Cairo to Aswan.

Diplomats reported huge new shipments of Soviet war materials to Syria, now linked with the United Arab Republic in a unified command against Israel.

UPI dispatches from Beirut said the Soviet Union had also supplied new MIG21s to Egypt and Syria and that installation of improved SAM2s and SAM3s was planned to neutralize Israeli command of the air in the Middle East.

Enrollment Lid Reached, Says Dumke

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke said Wednesday that the 19-campus sytem has reached the point where enrollment limitations should be put into effect.

However, he said the colleges are unable to do so because of State Department of Finance formulas which dictate how many students the colleges must take.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, who held a back-to-back news conference with Dumke at the close of the State College Board of Trustees meeting, also conceded that the colleges were "very close" to the point where they must choose between limiting enrollment or spreading their money thinner.

"We will not be able to assure our current level of educational quality," Dumke told the trustees, blaming tight budgets for placing the schools in a squeeze between quality of education and quantity education.

He said the colleges would be taking in 18,000 more students than they should this fall under the proposed budget now before the legislature.

That budget also drew fire from the presidents of all 19 colleges and the state College Academic Senate in a joint statement to the trustees.

San Francisco State President S. I. Hayakawa, who presented the statement, said the budget "drastically curtails our already restricted programs (and) ... even minimal educational quality is jeopardized by the Reagan budget.",

In other action, trustee W. O. Weissich of San Rafael requested a review of the use of mandatory student fees to "finance the enemies of freedom" and demanded that future appearances of speakers like black nationalist Stokeley Carmichael on state college campuses be banned.

Carmichael was paid $4,500 from student funds for appearances on three campuses last week.

Aerospace Slashes Big Worry: Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The critical job problems of the aerospace industry "may be compounded" this year because the recession has cut the growth in air traffic, Gov. Ronald Reagan reported Wednesday.

Reagan said in his economic message to the Legislature that the airlines had set investment plans on the basis of a projected increase in air traffic.

"As a result," he said, "it now appears that a severe over capacity situation is developing."

And, he said, the situation will have "severe repercussions" on California's two major aircraft producers—the Douglas Aircraft Co. and Lockheed Aircraft Co.

The governor told the lawmakers that the rapid decline in aerospace employment has occurred because of the reduction in contracts from the U.S. Defense Department and the National Aeronautical and Space Administration.

Reagan said there were no indications that there would be a "turnaround" in the contract situation and employment in the industry would decline this year from 457,200 to 435,000.

Between 1967 and the end of 1970, Reagan said, the employment level skidded downward by 151,000 jobs.

As for California's general economy, Reagan reported that the state has weathered "a painful readjustment" and now is due for "strong gains."

"California can now look forward to a period of broadly based economic growth free from the imbalance of recent years—growth which will lead to a higher standard of living for all our citizens," he said.

However, while emphasizing "we are now seeing indications of stronger economic gains," he pointed out, "this outlook does not imply that California has surmounted all its economic problems."

The governor said he was "deeply concerned" with the aerospace industry.

He predicted that overall unemployment "may edge up" for a "few months" above its current 6.7 per cent level "although it will decline for the balance of 1971."

Silverware Recovered In Manhattan Raid

NEW YORK (UPI)—Detectives raided a plush Manhattan apartment Wednesday night and recovered silverware, jewelry and paintings valued at more than $250,000, police said.

Three persons were arrested. Sgt. Tom Connally said the items, including British pieces dating from 1790, may have been part of a quantity of valuables worth more than $500,000 stolen from a Miami museum recently.

Connally said the $250,000 estimate was "arbitrary" and that some of the pieces "were virtually priceless."

Arrested were Vojialav Stanimirovic, 34; his wife, Branka, 22. and Alexander Karlanovic, 31, all of New York City.

Capt. Thomas Kissane said the silver and other valuables were scattered throughout the apartment in luggage when detectives, holding a search warrant, entered the ground floor apartment.

Police in Dade County, Fla., were asked to send descriptions and photographs of the antique silver stole from the Viscaya Museum there for comparison purposes. Included in the Miami robbery was a silver bowl that once belonged to Napolean Bonaparte.

Connally said the three persons were charged with suspicion of stolen property and possession of a dangerous weapon. He said detectives had been watching the three for four months.

Last Of Retreat Indians Is Dead

Red Wolf was 5 years old when he served as a horse herder as chief Joseph took his branch of the Nez Perce tribe on its retreat across Montana and into refuge in Canada. He said his mother and sister were shot down by the cavalry during the battle of Big Hole in Montana.

Check In Farm Income Seen Due To Equipment

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan said Wednesday that the net income to California's farmers would "continue to be held in check" this year because of heavy investments in mechanized equipment.

The spending of more dollars for mechanization, Reagan said, is necessary "to slow the rate of increase in production costs."

The governor made the statements in his annual economic report to the Legislature on California's economy this year.

"Little or no improvement is expected in net farm income during 1971," he said.

Gross cash receipts from California agriculture totaled $4.62 billion last year—an increase of approximately three per cent from $4.49 billion in 1969, according to the governor's message.

"Most of the increase was attributable to higher receipts from marketings of dairy products and cattle," Reagan said. "Net farm income was unchanged from the previous year, however, as rising costs offset the increase in receipts.

His report said agriculture's taxable income dropped from $85 million in 1969 to $80 million in 1970.

The governor told the Legislature that current planting intentions pointed to larger acreage for corn, grain, sorghum and hay and moderately smaller plantings of barley, cotton and wheat.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Pakistan Riot

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI)—A crowd of 50,000 East Pakistani nationalists today blockaded the seaport of Chittagong in an attempt to prevent unloading of arms for the Pakistani army.

At least 23 persons were reported killed in rioting in connection with the struggle for autonomy for East Pakistan Wednesday, three in Chittagong and 20 in the town of Rangpur, northeast of Dacca.

The Awami League political party, leading the drive for autonomy for East Pakistan, pressed President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan to announce his plans for turning over power to the nation's elected leaders. Yahya was believed trying to gain approval from West Pakistan political leader Zulfikar Ali Bhutto before making known his plans for ending the nation's month long political crisis.

POW Report

NEW YORK (UPI)—U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam have been tortured and many of them are suffering from malnutrition and disease, Reader's Digest magazine reported Wednesday.

"Unless help is forthcoming, these men will continue to rot and die," the magazine article said.

The article used as its basis information compiled by Lt. Col. Joseph R. Cataldo, a doctor of the Green Berets, from interviews with released prisoners and sources in Washington, Saigon and Paris.

According to Cataldo's findings, most POWs are severly malnourished, 80 per cent have skin diseases, at least 50 per cent suffered intestinal worms, 25 per cent may have active tuberculosis and many have serious vitamin deficiencies, mental disorientation and muscular wastage.

Farm Price Hike

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Agriculture Ministers of the six European Common Market nations today announced a package of price increases for farm products and land reforms agreed to in a 24-hour negotiating session.

"I hope these measures will restore the confidence of the farmers in the community," French Minister Michel Cointat, who chaired the negotiations, said as the talks ended.

The new prices, including a 6 per cent increase in the target price for milk and 10 per cent extra for beef over two years, fell short of what farmers had demanded. They will be effective April 1.

Calley Sleepless

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Lt. William L. Calley Jr. is beginning to show the strain of the long wait for a life-or-death verdict from his court-martial jury.

The short, balding officer was puffy-eyed during Wednesday's court session, which he was required to attend because of the reading of further testimony to the six-officer jury.

A guilty verdict by the jury, in its ninth day of deliberation today, could bring a sentence of death or life imprisonment on charges that Calley murdered 102 civilians at the South Vietnamese village of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

There were indications the military judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, would allow the jurors to continue their deliberate pace at least through the weekend.

Demo War Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Democratic Policy Council prodded the Democratic majority in Congress today to vote for a cutoff of all funds to support U.S. military operations in Indochina after Dec. 31.

The action came at the start of a week of meetings by various Democratic groups to prepare for the 1972 presidential campaign.

Democratic state chairmen gathered today for a two-day session on campaign organization and to hear some of the party's prospective candidates for the 1972 presidential nomination.

The policy council met Wednesday with 68 of its 100 members present, under the chairmanship of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the party's 1968 presidential nominee.

By a vote announced as unanimous, the council approved a resolution calling for "a firm, unequivocal declaration by the government that all American forces will be withdrawn by the end of this year" from Indochina.

Alioto To Seek Quick Bribe Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mayor Joseph L. Alioto says he will demand an immediate trial on federal bribery and mail fraud charges —which he calls "shoddy, filthy" and politically motivated.

"We're not going to let them drag it out," the Democratic mayor said Wednesday. "We're going to get them under oath as quickly as possible."

Alioto also told a crowded news conference he will ask for transfer of the case to San Francisco so he can continue to function as mayor during his trial.

In Seattle, where a federal grand jury indicted Alioto and three former Washington state officials, the mayor's arraignment was set for April 1.

The jury indicted the four men Tuesday on federal charges of bribing a public official, mail fraud and conspiracy in connection with the splitting of $2.3 million in legal fees from a series of antitrust cases.

Referring to "this shoddy performance in Seattle," Alioto produced an affidavit which quoted a Nixon administration official as saying the mayor was "a political threat of the first magnitude."

He again insisted that the indictment and a 1969 Look Magazine article linking him with the Mafia were part of a Republican drive to destroy him because of his swift rise as a Democratic politician.

The affidavit was by Roy Taliaferro, a local television producer. Taliaferro said Jack Hushen, who was identified as public relations director of the Justice Department, told him Oct. 29 that Attorney General John Mitchell and other high-ranking Republicans regarded Alioto "as a political threat of the first magnitude on the state and national scene."

Alioto's codefendants also vehemently denied the charges.

John O'Connell, former Washington attorney general, said the nine counts are "like spitting in the street." John G. McCutcheon, former prosecutor of Pierce County, Wash., said the charge "is obviously political and manufactured."

Maritime Academy Upgrading Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Shipping industry leaders have urged the legislature to upgrade the California Maritime Academy at Vallejo instead of putting it in moth balls.

The industry officials along with school representatives made their appeal Tuesday during a special hearing before the Assembly Committee on Efficiency and Cost Control which has been studying the academy program for training Merchant Marine officers.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post had recommended a phase-out of the 207-student institution over the next two years. Its annual budget is about $791,000 from the state treasury.

"The California Maritime Academy must remain open and be upgraded if California and industry are to fully profit from the new technology available to the American Merchant Marine."

White added that to produce a well-rounded graduate the CMA "must be upgraded to a fully accredited school."

Support was also expressed by Philip Steinberg, San Francisco, regional vice president of the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, who said, "We strongly support the continuation and improvement of CMA."

Academy officials said the school was not fully accredited by other institutions of higher education although credits from its courses can be transferred to some schools. The course of study at CMA is three years.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-Mill Valley, urged the committee to "consider ways to upgrade this fine educational institution into a fully-accredited four-year college."

Retired Rear Adm. Francis T. Williamson, Academy superintendent, also urged placing the school under the state colleges system as well as upgrading it.

But William McPherson, chairman of the Academy Board of Governors, conceded that since last year the school has faced a problem in placing all its graduates in the Merchant Marine industry. He blamed general economic conditions for the difficulties.

McPherson noted that many officers are between 45 and 50 years of age as well as older and "we're going to meet in the next few years a very great demand for officers."

26 years' service

Ends 26 Years Of Service

Captain Richard H. O'Connell of Mill Valley, West Coast training representative for the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y., has retired from the Merchant Marine after 26 years' service.

O'Connell served as commandant of mishipman at the academy prior to his assignment to San Francisco in 1961.

O'Connell, a graduate of Harvard University, first was appointed to the academy staff in 1945 as athletic director. He excelled in varsity athletics at Harvard.

Two Of 42 Inducted Into Army

Two of 42 men ordered for induction this month actually were inducted into the Army, according to Joy M. Kinzer, secretary of Selective Service Board 25 in San Rafael.

They were Jeffrey D. Finley of Novato and Robert W. Scofield Jr. of Palo Alto, she said.

Nine others failed to report, two refused to go, 11 failed to pass physicals, four enlisted, five obtained deferments, eight were granted postponements and one had his induction transferred, she said.

The names of those who refused induction or failed to report were withheld.

Mrs. Kinzer said the draft call for April will include those numbers below 195 not called in 1970 and those in the 1971 draft pool with numbers up to 100.

The next induction will be April 22, she said.

General Plan Is Received

Final maps and documents on the proposed Cotati general plan were received Tuesday night at a meeting of the city council and planning commission.

Minor revisions of maps were requested of planning consultants Herman D. Ruth and associates of Berkeley. Mayor Alfred Falletti said both the council and planning commission would hold public hearings on the plan.

Falletti and Planning Commissioner Kenneth Garner were the only elected officials attending the session. Falletti said the plan would be more thoroughly reviewed by the citizens advisory committee next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Fibreboard Reports Paperboard Success

SAN FRANCISCO — (BW) — Fibreboard Corp. has announced completion of a $5 million program to convert a cylinder bleached paperboard machine to the manufacture of fourdrinier bleached paperboard at its San Joaquin plant in Antioch.

The conversion will broaden the company's line of solid bleached foodboard, and will lead to new market opportunities with improved profit potential for the carton division, said Fiberboard President George W. Burgess.

Equity Tax Plan Near Introduction

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The property tax on owner-occupied homes would be virtually eliminated and the state income tax substantially increased under a $2 billion "revenue equity" program Assembly Democrats planned to introduce today.

The package, pushed by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti and chairman Joe A. Gonsalves of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, was the first major tax revision program to be offered this legislative session.

It was uncertain whether Gov. Ronald Reagan would support or oppose the program.

Under the sweeping proposal, only the land on which an owner-occupied home sat would be taxed. The actual structure and improvements would be exempt. This alone would cost the state more than $1 billion to finance.

In addition, renters, senior citizens and business inventories would receive tax relief. Schools also would benefit through an annual cost-of-operating increase in state aid.

To pay for all this, income taxes would be increased greatly and payroll withholding established. The sales tax would be hiked from five to six cents on the dollar. Bank, corporation and insurance taxes also would be raised.

There have been several property tax relief programs offered unsuccessfully in the legislature during the past few years, but none as ambitious as this one.

Gonsalves said he decided to go for "big relief" because elderly persons on fixed incomes and the unemployed— such as aerospace workers— constantly face a danger of losing their homes by tax defaults.

Reagan pushed hard for a "reform" program last year that would have reduced property taxes considerably, but not entirely. It passed the Assembly and was killed by one vote in the Senate.

This year, Reagan and Assembly Democrats began working together behind the scenes in an effort to draft a mutually acceptable program before it was publicly introduced.

There have been recent indications, however, that negotiations have lapsed and Reagan may object to parts of the program.

Gonsalves said he has been informed administration officials believe the Democratic proposal is "a little too big."

LAND

would cost far more than taxes on the homes could raise.

He said county assessor's figures indicate a fair market value of $1,836,500 on the 1,282 acres now proposed for preservation.

Cunningham explained eight owners each hold more than 50 acres, for a total of 1,100 acres. "There may be a total of 40 to 45 owners involved," he reported. None has been contacted, he said.

Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels suggested that the cities alone might not be able to afford buying the land.

Among the ideas he offered were including Ross and the Kentfield and Tamalpais Valley fire districts plus the county in a larger park and recreation district, or perhaps forming a southern Marin or countywide district. Other alternatives could be a district embracing all counties in the Association of Bay Area Government, or asking the Legislature to create some entirely new sort of agency to preserve the ridge.

Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst stressed that the managers had "only scratched the surface" in preliminary sessions with Gregg and Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director.

He suggested the North Ridge proposal was at a crossroads where the cities and the county could "forget it" or build further on the groundwork laid by the preliminary talks.

SST

repayments to airlines which had made downpayments on future SST deliveries.

In addition, if the government returns $59 million in earnest money the total pullout cost would be $178 million, Jackson said.

Magruder claimed the total cost would reach $334 million, including penalties and possible lawsuits.

Wednesday's Senate vote, supporting similar House action of last week, turned down Nixon's request for $134 million to keep the project alive until June 30. To keep the project going backers must now raise that amount and the rest of the estimated $400 million needed to finish the prototypes.

Men's Clothing Samples Stolen

Men's clothing samples, valued at $1,300 were stolen from a panel truck parked near the Casa Buena Motel, near Corte Madera, last Wednesday or Thursday, Marin County sheriff's office has reported.

Deputies said the clothes were in a van owned by Donald G. Hassain of 747 Alta Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, who is opening a men's store at Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center.

AIR

by pending federal requirements.

The Environmental Protection Agency has indicated it will require air pollution control districts to screen all plans for new and expanded industry, and the staff figured the annual additional cost at up to $500,000. The district's current budget is about $2 million.

Director Wyman Hicks, a Sausalito city councilman, noted that some of the additional cost could be met through new fees on industry.

The start on land use controls was led by director William R. Jelavich, Mountain View city councilman. He conceded they were "probably as popular as wage and price controls," but argued "we can't afford to wait."

Other directors at the "workshop" session unanimously endorsed the proposal, although Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort cautioned that some other controls also would be needed to inhibit population growth. He did not elaborate.

Under Jelavich's proposal, the research and development staff will determine the Bay Area's "holding capacity". This would be the population and development maximums beyond which the air quality inevitably would deteriorate.

The new staff also should plan where new population and development should go in the region, he said.

"It's unthinkable that we can go ahead and build and build without any consideration of the effects on the people who have to live here," Jelavich declared.

Directors also agreed that the planning should include preparation of a model of the region that could show the effects on air quality of further growth.

Jelavich, criticizing California's past "chamber of commerce type of attitude" favoring growth, said the state's "darkest day" was when it bacame the biggest in the union.

In other business, the district's counsel, Matthew S. Walker, advised directors that the state had preempted any possible jurisdiction of the district over the proposed Southern Crossing bridge.

Nixon Vows War Not '72 Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has promised cheering Republican leaders that U.S. involvement in the Indochina War will be defused as a political issue in the 1972 election year.

"When we go into the year 1972 Americans can see what they have wanted to and have not had ... not only an end of the involvement in the war but a full generation of peace," Nixon said Wednesday night.

The president was the principal speaker at a $1,000-a-plate affair labled "Kickoff '72 Republican Dinner." GOP sources said the dinner raised about $1.6 million. The money will be divided between the Republican National Committee and the two GOP congressional campaign committees.

Nixon cited his accomplishments in two years of office saying there were "no plans to bring the war to an end" when he was inaugurated.

The President also promised that despite the winding down of the conflict, there would be no economic recession accompanying it. "We can have prosperity without war," he said.

Nixon did not announce anything new about the Indochina conflict, linking disengagement of the United States from hostilities with the phased withdrawal of troops.

NIXON

lopment, Economic Affairs, and Natural Resources.

Virtually untouched by the shakeup and streamlining besides the Pentagon, State and Treasury would be scores of agencies that regulate industry and other public activities. These probably will be the subject of a later reorganization plan.

One existing department — Post Office —already is scheduled for reorganization under a 1970 law that will put the mail service under a federally chartered corporation.

Department of Natural Resources: Five divisions—land and recreation, water, energy and minerals, oceanic, atmospheric and earth sciences, and Indian and territorial affairs. Programs would come from the present Interior, Agriculture, Commerce and Defense departments and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Department of Community Development: Four "administrations"—housing, community transportation, urban and rural development, and federal insurance. It would take over HUD plus programs from the Commerce, Transportation, Agriculture and HEW departments and from the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), Appalachian Regional Commission, Office of Emergency Preparedness and Small Business Administration.

Department of Human Resources: Three administrations —Health, Human Development and Income Security. It would absorb most of HEW, with additional programs from HUD, Agriculture, Labor, OEO and the Railroad Retirement Board.

Department of Economic Affairs: Six administrations—business development, farms and agriculture, labor relations and standards, national transportation, social economic and technical information and international economics. It would include programs from the Departments of Labor, Commerce, HEW, Agriculture and Transportation plus the Small Business Administration and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

bond elections, with the second elections perhaps next year to finance the first stage of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct."

Last July the board approved future scheduling for more bond issues to finance the aqueduct and another $20 million in improvements. Seeger told the board yesterday that option will remain open after the bills are introduced.

He said the bills must be introduced by April 2, but can be withdrawn if the board decides not to follow the Stone and Youngberg suggestions. The consultants' report, only recently completed, has not been reviewed by any of the three boards involved yet, Seeger said.

However, Sonoma — which bypassed its own voters — is counting on using the revenue bond method of financing, Norton said. The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors approved a $115 million revenue bond in December for water improvements.

Norton said the plan now is for Sonoma to use $47.7 million of that for the aqueduct, then collect 21.6 million from the Marin Municipal Water District and $5.3 million from the North Marin Water District.

However, to arrange this, the two water districts must enter into a contract with the Sonoma agency promising to pay back the money and authorizing a tax levy if one is necessary, Norton said.

"It has always been obvious that they are going to sign a contract. We have always envisioned a contract. The actual form of that contract is still in doubt," he said.

However, Seeger said such a contract guaranteeing the debt is illegal under existing district law. That is why Stone and Youngberg recommended the first bill.

The second bill setting up a master agency, while less preferable than the first, would put all the eggs in one basket, Seeger said. At present, Seeger said, each expenditure must be approved by each of the three districts involved. With the master agency there would be only one vote.

He stressed that because the bills are to be introduced does not mean the districts will stick with them.

If the bills fail and Marin is excluded from the project, the Sonoma Water Agency, nevertheless, will expand to meet its own needs, Norton said. However, he added, "We would have to contract with Marin before we would do any work for Marin's benefit."

The water district has claimed it needs water from the aqueduct project to meet water needs over the next 20 years.

Heavy Rain Is Forecast For Tonight

Light rain fell overnight in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties and the weatherman is predicting more of the same. The rain is expected to get heavier tonight and continue through tomorrow.

Point Reyes Station recorded .32 of an inch of rain in the 24 hours prior to 8 a.m. today followed by Bolinas and Hamilton Air Force Base, both with .27 inches, Terra Linda recorded .25 inches, Ross and Petaluma, both with .22 inches and Tamalpais Valley with .20 inches.

In the same period, Mill Valley recorded .16 inches, San Anselmo .15 inches; Woodacre and Larkspur, both with .13; Santa Venetia .12; Sausalito .10; Belvedere .09, and Tiburon .05.

San Rafael recorded .31 in the 24 hours prior to noon today.

OBITUARIES

George Mosconi Dies At 57

George Mosconi, 57, of Fairfax, a retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, died unexpectedly yesterday while playing handball at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Mosconi collapsed at the conditioning center and was pronounced dead on arrival at the base hospital at about noon, according to the base information office.

Mosconi, of 423 Scenic Road, retired from the Air Force eight years ago. He served in the South Pacific during World War II, in the Berlin Air Lift, 1948-49, in Guam, 1951-52, and as commander of the 33rd Air Transport Squadron at McChord Air Force Base in Washington.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Fairfax prior to entering the service.

TARI TYLER

Tari M. Tyler of Mill Valley, a Marin County resident for 10 years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 40.

Mrs. Tyler, who lived at the Fireside Motel in Mill Valley, was a native of Peoria, Ill., and moved to California 15 years ago.

While in Peoria, she worked as a reporter for the Peoria Star-Journal. She later worked for Television KPIX in San Francisco as a commercial announcer.

Mrs. Tyler is survived by her husband, Rodney, of Mill Valley; her mother, Cora Alderman and a brother, Donald Wayne Alderman of Illinois.

Funeral will be private.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Pacific Medical Center, Clay and Webster streets, San Francisco.

ERNEST SILVERFIELD

Private funeral for Ernest A. Silverfield of Greenbrae, a retired grain firm executive, was held yesterday in San Francisco.

Silverfield, 68, of 23 Los Cerros Drive, died Monday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He was born in Germany and came to this country in 1936. He has lived in California since 1946 and in Greenbrae since 1951.

Silverfield was a vice president of Continental Grain Co. and in charge of all the firm's California offices as manager of its California division.

He was a member of the San Rafael Elks Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Lily, and a son, Gerald, both of the home.

Private inurnment will follow.

DENISE BLOCK

Denise Noel Bock of Mount Clemens was taken to the hospital Sunday after she was found in a coma at the Alvarado Inn, Novato, according to Deputy Coroner Bill J. Thomas.

The sheriff's office reported Miss Bock apparently had come to visit her brother, Denis Bock, in Vallejo, hoping to find a job.

She had worked as a nurses' aid in a hospital in Mount Clemens.

In addition to her brother, she is survived by her mother, Roxana Bock of Mount Clemens.

The funeral service will be in Michigan. The Redwood Funeral Chapel is in charge of local arrangements.

CHARLES KEZER

A Requiem Mass for M/Sgt. Charles A. Kezer of Hamilton Air Force Base, was held today at the base chapel.

Kezar, 35, died Sunday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was serving his second tour of duty with the paramedics in Southeast Asia when he became ill last September.

He was born in Oakland and had been in the service for 18 years.

Kezer was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, Commendation Medal, Purple Heart, and Air Force Outstanding Unit Award with Third Air Rescue Group.

He is survived by his wife, Sharon; three sons, Robert, David and Patrick all of the home at 513 North Oakwood Drive on the base, and a sister, Betty Williams of Orinda.

Military funeral and burial will be tomorrow at Arlington National Cemetery.

ANTHONY ROSSI

Anthony L. Rossi of Millbrae, brother of Paula Porter of Corte Madera, died yesterday in a Burlingame hospital after a long iliness. He was 54.

A native of Italy, he was a former mayor and councilman of Millbrae and had served on the city's planning commission. He was the husband of Beatrice Rossi.

In addition to his wife and sister, he is survived by two sons, Ronald Rossi of Sunnyvale and Anthony G. Rossi of Millbrae; a daughter, Gloria Backman of New York; two brothers, John Rossi of Moraga and Dino Rossi of San Pedro; another sister, Louise Longo of San Francisco, and two grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Chapel of the Highlands, Millbrae. Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Monday at St. Dunstan's Catholic Church, Millbrae. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma.

IDA BRESNAHAN

Ida Bresnahan, 74, mother of Edward Hageman Jr., of San Anselmo, died yesterday in San Francisco.

A native of San Francisco, she had lived there all of her life. She had operated doctors' telephone exchanges until she retired.

She is also survived by two grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Private funeral was held today. Inurnment was at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park in San Francisco.

'IT'S LIKE A DREAM'

Paul K. Imbler, 53, who twice escaped the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison with stays of execution, walks from Folsom Prison with his son, George, 17, after winning a 10-year battle to overturn a murder conviction. "It's like a dream," Imbler said of his release yesterday. Imbler, who says he has a job starting next week at Sally Stanford's Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, was convicted of killing a man in a Los Angeles grocery holdup in 1961 and beat dates with the gas chamber in 1962 and 1964 before winning his release on a state Supreme Court ruling. Traffic Jams, Courthouse Square Concern Candidates

Traffic congestion, the Courthouse Square and how to get San Rafael out of the "nondescript" category were the most popular topics today for candidates vying for the San Rafael City Council.

The six men, including two incumbents, who seek two seats on the council in the April 20 election, appeared on KTIM's Sounding Board program moderated by Kitty Oppenheim.

Incumbent Councilman John A. Miskimen, running for a second term, quoted from a Time Magazine article which described San Rafael as "nondescript" and said that the time has come to reduce clutter of signs at the city's entrances and go into partnership with merchants to improve the appearance.

He said he thought a recently adopted sign ordinance will greatly reduce clutter and that since the Highway 101 overpass has been completed, beautification in that area can commence.

Miskimen claimed that the council "is doing an excellent job in providing day-to-day services" for San Rafael residents but that the time has come to change the image of the city.

Thomas R. O'Toole, now a planning commissioner, saw the traffic situation in downtown San Rafael and a permanent site for senior citizens' activities as pressing needs.

He suggested making several streets one-way but not doing away with parking on Fourth Street.

Candidate Donald J. Urquhart took a slightly different tack, suggesting eliminating parking on Fourth Street but not making it one-way. He also asked that the last phase of the widening of San Pedro Road be completed and that land be set aside for a Little League park, possibly in the Francisco Boulevard area.

The need for one-way streets, possibly a mall in downtown San Rafael and free parking were cited by Benjamin E. Walton, who also asked that Lincoln Avenue be improved with synchronized stop signals and controlled turns.

Neither incumbent Fred E. Jensen nor challenger George S. Burton had much to say about traffic but got into a discussion between the two of them about how the city's finances ought to be run.

Burton asked that a citizens finance committee be established which would advise the council on financial matters and that city budgets be programmed on a three-year basis instead of two. He also asked that councilmen be limited to serving two terms, apparently referring to Jensen, who has been on the council 16 years.

Jensen retorted that it would be "illegal to do so" in regard to a three-year budget, since an election is held every two years and one council may not encumber another for financial obligations.

He also defended a carpet in city hall, which Burton described as $4,500 throw rug" by saying that it was a $2,500 carpet which had worn very well.

As to Courthouse Square, Walton suggested that "it is important to do something good, possibly an underground garage, with a park and shopping."

O'Toole said that the "city should help anyone" who wishes to develop the square, possibly by providing parking facilities.

Miskimen, however, blamed county supervisors for lack of action on the square, saying, "We've made the only bona fide offer and they didn't accept it." He added that while he thought the city should provide leadership for square development, "I don't think we're going to spend $1.5 million for a garage."

The program will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Festival Set At Marin College

A "Christian Festival Day" featuring music and lectures, will be held tomorrow at the College of Marin.

Sponsored by the Associated Students of the College of Marin, the festival will begin at the College Center and wind up with group discussions after a 7 p.m. showing of the film, "The Robe."

High point of the day's activities will be a "Walk for Christ" around the Kentfield campus starting at 2 p.m. at The College Center.

Farina Quick Cereal May Contain Glass

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration has issued a warning that some boxes of Farina enriched quick cooking hot wheat cereal — identified by the codes "KOW 23" or "KOW 24" printed on the bottom or top of the bottle — may contain broken glass.

The agency said the product, from the Pillsbury Co., Minneapolis, Minn., was distributed nationwide although no injuries have been reported. Pillsbury is recalling the product from the groceries.

$1,173 Outlay For Utilities Underground

The Novato Fire District board last night appropriated $1,173 toward underground utilities at headquarters frontage, First Street and Grant Avenue.

The job will be part of the programming for undergrounding utilities along Grant Avenue from Highway 101 to Seventh Street to be undertaken by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. this spring.

The board also advanced Capt. Walter J. Nolan and Capt. Charles R. Onorato one step on the salary schedule from $965 to $991 a month, and firemen Gary Hoffman and Kendal Holyome from $806 to $837 a month.

It appropriated $1,360 for new aerial wiring across Highway 101 at four points, part of the district's alarm system.

Petaluman Convicted By Jury

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Buford (Duke) Kelsay, 32, of Petaluma, has been convicted of the Dec. 1 rape of a New York woman in Boyes Springs.

The verdict came after nearly three hours of jury deliberation. Visiting Ukiah Judge Arthur Broaddus set sentencing for April 9 at 3:30 p.m.

The 19-year-old New Yorker, who was seven months pregnant at the time of the rape, testified that Kelsay entered her home on the pretext of calling for assistance for his car. She said he choked her into near unconsciousness, pulled her into the bedroom and raped her.

Also testifying at the trial was a 16-year-old Petaluma girl who said Kelsay raped her two years ago, also using the guise of car trouble to enter her home.

Film On Family Living Tomorrow

"A Day in the Sun," a documentary film of a family living in the wilderness of artic Alaska, will be shown at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow at Tamalpais High School Auditorium, Mill Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meader, who made the film, will be present with their three children to narrate their experiences.

Apparent Agreement On Dixie Salaries

The Dixie Teachers Association and school district officials told the district board last night they have reached apparent agreement on a new salary package for fiscal 1971-72, Supt. Clifford W. Campbell reported today.

The board, however, took no action on the proposal, pending an overall look at the district's financial condition, Dr. Campbell said.

Campbell said the salary package, costing about $330,000 would give teachers pay raises averaging 10 to 11 per cent and include longevity boosts over which the administration and teachers earlier had differed.

A compromise reached on the longevity feature would give instructors $200 increases every two years after 13 year's service, up to 25 years. The association earlier had proposed a varying scale of longevity boosts, while the administration proposal called for hikes after 15, 20 and 25 years.

Under the apparent consensus, the basic salary range would go from $7,140 for a beginning teacher to $14,930 for a teacher with 11 years' experience and 75 semester units.

Teachers received no wage increase this fiscal year and only about 100 of the district's 300 instructors received step increments, Campbell said, "so we had to make a major change" to put Dixie on a teacher salary plane with other Marin districts.

Campbell said the school board probably would take action on the new salary proposal by its April 28 meeting.

The Dixie School District board also:

POLICY — Scheduled for probable action at its April 14 meeting a policy proposed by Trustee T. Neal McNamara, who acted on the advice of the American Federation of Teachers local, that would improve classroom teaching conditions.

SUMMER — Approved a summer school program, supported entirely by state funds, for fourth to seventh grade students.

MATERNITY — Relaxed the district's maternity leave policy, enabling teachers to return before the one-year mandatory layoff period.

TEACHER — Hired Marilyn Amsden to teach at Don Timoteo School at a salary of $2,001 for the rest of the school year, replacing Ann McNally, given maternity leave.

College Board Will Discuss Leader

The Marin Junior College District board will hold a closed session today at 6:30 p.m. to hear recommendations from its screening committee on selection of a president for the proposed north campus.

The meeting will be held in the College of Marin office of John A. Grasham, district superintendent.

A UNIQUE WAY TO MOVE

This moving truck's semi-trailer, suspended four floors above a street in Denver, didn't even cause a doubletake from pedestrians this week. The truck belonged to a moving firm that simplified the project by lifting the trailer by crane to various floors of the Golden Eagle Building to move the Miller Stockman Co. The building will be demolished soon as part of a redevelopment project.

New Clean Air Auto Tax Eyed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — New taxes on Bay Area motor vehicles and factories to help pay air pollution control costs have been urged by two legislators.

Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, in a resolution called for legislative study of imposing an additional fee on motor vehicles registered in the nine-county Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, in a dinner meeting last night with district directors, urged them to seek legislation to tax stationary sources of air contamination on the basis of the tonnage of contaminants they emit.

The district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan, assured Behr that a similar "air pollution tax" was included in a pending bill by Knox. That bill only would empower the district to impose a registration fee, however.

District director Robert W. Hoyer, mayor of Clayton, told Behr that registration with the district would "not be a license to pollute."

Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo, chairman of the regional district, conceded that the district in past years had been "somewhat complacent," but said "we now recognize the challenge before us."

Seven Bay Area legislators attended the meeting.

Bill Introduced To Protect Tule Elk

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, today introduced a bill designed to save California's tule elk from possible extinction.

The measure also could lead to establishment of a herd of the elk at Point Reyes National Seashore.

The fish and Game Commission has agreed to allow the state's elk herd to grow to 490 before allowing hunters to kill them again. Behr's bill would require growth of the herd to 2,000 and than allow their killing only if efforts to relocate the surplus were unsuccessful.

The commission's staff has reported counting 292 of the elk, almost all of them in the Owens Valley. Thousands of them inhabited the San Joaquin Valley until it was developed in the last century.

Behr's staff said that wildlife experts generally agree that 2,000 is the minimum size for a species. Famine or disease could endanger a species with a smaller count.

A state and federal study of 33 possible relocation areas for surplus elk recommended three: Point Reyes National Seashore, San Luis Island off the Southern California coast, and the Cache Creek area in Colusa County.

The last hunting season on tule elk was in 1969, when 85 were killed.

Keynote Speaker Is Chosen For Park Symposium

Alfred E. Heller of Kentfield, president of the conservation magazine "Cry California", will be keynote speaker at a countywide symposium on parks and recreation to be held on May 15.

The all-day symposium will be held in Olney Hall at the College of Marin in Kentfield. The conference is sponsored by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, headed by chairman Albert J. Boro.

Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation, said the purpose of the symposium is to have the public meet the commissioners and the parks and recreation department and to get public suggestions for the future.

The exact hours for the symposium have not been set, but it will probably run from about 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., said Joske.

Other Way To Get Your Goat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A goat is a goat. But goat meat, if the Agriculture Department approves a proposal announced today, could wind up being called "chevon" or "mutton."

Under present federal meat inspection regulations, meat from goats must be labeled "goat meat."

But department officials today announced a proposal, suggested by a group of Texas meat packers, to allow labeling of goat meat as "mutton" or "chevon."

Officials said the packers contend both terms are widely used and readily understood by consumers of goat meat. "Chevon," they explained, is a spanish term meaning goat meat.

Jury Unable To Reach Verdict

Trial of a Lucas Valley man charged with selling LSD and offering to sell marijuana ended Tuesday in Marin Superior Court with a hung jury.

Eric Lee Prescott, 21, is charged with two counts of selling LSD and one of offering to sell pot in June 1969.

The seven-day old trial went to the jury of four men and eight women at about 10:30 a.m. yesterday.

The jury returned to the courtroom of Judge Joseph G. Wilson at 3 p.m. to report it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Judge Wilson dismissed the jury and continued Prescott's case until Monday.

Unification Exemption Is Stalled

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill exempting school districts from the state requirement for unification elections every four years has stalled temporarily in a subcommittee.

The measure, AB 358 by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, originally would have applied only to Marin County school districts, but was amended to apply statewide.

The nine-member Assembly Education Subcommittee on Administration and Personnel split, 4-4, when it heard the bill Tuesday night. The ninth member, Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, abstained on the ground he was undecided on the issue.

Ryan, however, indicated he favored the bill.

The committee postponed another vote to mid-April.

The only witness was David D. Ring of Tiburon, a trustee of the Tamalpais High School District and a member of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization. He favored the bill.

Under the bill, unification elections still could be held, but at the option of school district trustees. Without such legislation, voters in the Tamalpais district will have to have a third election in June 1972.

Bagley said that both proponents and opponents of unification in the district now concede a third election would be a waste of money.

Wards File For Dissolution

A Fairfax mother who has been honored for her long service to a Marin City church, and her husband have asked dissolution of their 25-year marriage.

Lloyd and Maxine Ward Jr. of 56 Rocca Drive filed the petition with the Marin Superior Court Tuesday.

Mrs. Ward, a longtime youth leader in the Bethsaida Church of God in Marin City, was honored for her church work at a testimonial dinner in San Rafael in 1968. Her husband, a carpenter, built their home in Fairfax after they moved there from Marin City. Mrs. Ward, after raising her family, studied to become first a licensed vocational nurse and later a full-fledged registered nurse.

Mrs. Ward asked the court for custody of the four children and support.

Highway Division Sets Date For Bids

The state Division of Highways has announced it will receive bids April 21 in Sacramento for installation of reflective pavement markers on Route 37 between Atherton Avenue, Novato, and Lakeville Road in Sonoma County.

The project, combined with similar work in San Francisco and elsewhere in Sonoma County, is budgeted at $40,000.

Behr Seeks Bigger Tomales Fishing Ban

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Commercial fishing in Tomales Bay will be banned in legislation being drafted by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

The bay on Marin's ocean shoulder now is off limits to commercial fishing only at its northern and southern extremes.

Extensive commercial fishing has occurred in Tomales Bay, Behr said, and was responsible some years ago for virtually wiping out its perch. The fish were used for fertilizer.

The legislation also will ban harvesting herring eggs, a delicacy exported to Japan.

The senator said the bill was requested by citizens in Sonoma County through the California Wildlife Federation.

Operations Officer Ends Long Career

Lt. Col. Donavon K. Larson, operations officer for the special missions squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, has retired after 20 years' service.

A headline in yesterday's Independent-Journal erroneously said he was to retire and misspelled his name as Larsen.

Hub Trustees To Discuss Finances

The San Anselmo School District board will meet at 5 p.m. tomorrow at the Red Hill School library to continue discussion of the school districts finances.

The meeting will cover items on the agenda of the March 16 meeting that was adjourned.

Bridge District Hit On Abolition Issue

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sharp criticism of the Golden Gate Bridge District for failing to consider its abolition has been voiced by the staff of a Senate committee.

In an initial analysis of the district's transportation plan, the staff of the public utilities and corporations committee objected that abolition has not been considered — as required by the Legislature — either in the final plan or in the 14-month study that preceded it.

The plan, adopted two weeks ago by district directors, envisioned a $301 million bus rapid transit system using tunnels in San Francisco and a second deck on the bridge.

It was a scaled-down version of one of five alternatives studied by district consultants. The other four were rail systems costing almost $1 billion each.

(The plan is due to be submitted in final form to the Legislature by the end of next week. The committee will hear the plan on April 19.)

The same committee staff earlier this month objected that the study of the five choices had failed to compare the costs of the bus system with any of the rail systems. It said that "the final recommendation suffers from the same problem."

The staff also objected that the plan apparently assumed widening of Highway 101 to eight lanes to Novato, but asked if widening would be necessary "if an effective rapid transit system is developed to serve the area?"

Objections also were made to the plan's hope to build a bus system that could be converted to rails in the future. "If the recommendations of the district are implemented," the committee staff said, "eventual conversion to another system able to handle more people might be very difficult."

Hub Photographer Exhibit Announced

San Anselmo photographer Ernest Braun will exhibit his "Living Water" collection April 2 through May 30 at the Oakland Museum's natural science gallery.

The collection is made up of 33 enlarged color prints which include close-ups of a bee on a meadow flower, water splashing over river stones and riverbank rushes and grasses.

Bill To Make Landowners Pay In Fires

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to make major landowners pay the cost of fires fought on their property was introduced today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The measure would bill them for "willfully, negligently or unlawfully" setting a fire or allowing it to be set. Existing law empowers the state to bill them only if a fire damages an adjacent property.

The bill was asked by the Department of Conservation, which has lost similar measures in past years because of opposition from major landowners.

Major Items: Funds, North Campus

Overall district financing and development of the north county campus are the top priority items facing the Marin Junior College District board, candidates for the board said last night.

Eleven of the 12 running for the four board seats in the April 20 election spoke at the candidates night sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Southern and Central Marin. The twelfth, Willis C. Bohm, neither attended nor submitted a statement and biography requested by the league.

About 150 persons listened in Olney Hall as each candidate spoke for five minutes and then fielded questions from the floor. Almost all agreed that finding ways of easing the burden on the district's taxpayer and development of a second campus in Novato should be the board's priority items.

Edward K. Wachsman, 39, of San Rafael, said he felt it was extravagant for the board to hire a full-time planner when the work could be contracted out. Wachsman also said he "questioned" a recent decision by Fleming to hiring a Southern California planning firm because he (Wachsman) had learned that Fleming had "had prior association" with the firm.

Wachsman also said he felt that board's immediate challenge was to bridge the communications gap between itself, the community and the students.

Charles R. Best, 40, of San Anselmo, said the north campus had to be the board's top priority because its development would begin to relieve the Kentfield campus's crowded conditions. He said he hoped that the U.S. Supreme Court would rule soon on the "one man, one vote" issue and make it retroactive so that last November's $17 million bond issue would be ruled to have passed.

Sixty-three per cent of the voters approved the bond issue last November, just short of the two-thirds majority needed. However, the Supreme Court is now considering whether the two-thirds rule violates the "one man, one vote" concept.

Martin J. Dean, 46, of Novato, said he was concerned about the heavy load now being carried by the district's taxpayers. He said about 75 per cent of the burden was borne by local taxpayers and only 25 per cent by the state. "I would work to get more like a 50-50 split," he said.

Dean also said he would like to see board meetings held at different locations in the county to spark citizen's interest and said the board must develop more technical and vocational programs.

William S. Sisk, 40, of Novato, said the development of the north campus was "of the utmost importance."

He said the college's enrollment appeared to be increasing 10 to 15 per cent per year and a new campus was needed immediately. He also called for an enlarged vocational program, noting that 75 per cent of all college students don't complete a degree program.

"We must take a long look at vocational studies," he said.

Joseph A. Gereghty, Jr., 33, of Kentfield, took a hard line of assistance programs in the college. He said he would oppose social assistance programs calling such things as free lunch programs unnecessary. "God helps those who help themselves," he said. He also called for the rapid development of the north campus. He also said that the board would have to begin to bridge the communications gap which exists between the "Square, straight board and the long haired students of today."

James Kimo Campbell, 24, and Richard W. Beban, 22, both of San Rafael and former College of Marin students, told the audience they were running as a team even though they frequently disagreed with each other on certain issues.

Beban said that the current administrative system of the district was "all sopped up" charging that students, faculty and others had little access to the board. He said he would like to see each segment of the college have a direct line of communications with trustees rather than channeling everything through the district's administration.

He said this "sharing of power" would prohibit the trustees from "isolating themselves from the people" as they do now.

Campbell said the current board is frequently used as a "cop out" by others when something doesn't get accomplished. He blamed public apathy for much of the district's problems and said taxpayers and students were staring at each other from opposite ends of a "two way street of paranoia."

Frances Compton, the only woman in the race, supported the north campus and said it was needed to relieve overcrowded conditions on the Kentfield campus. She said the board would need to enlist as much community support as possible in the project.

Hugh O. Pessner, 54, of Greenbrae, said he felt the board had been "too lenient" with the radical element on campus and indicated he would take a firmer stand if elected to the board. He said a "well disciplined campus" was a must and said without it, the taxpayers would no longer continue to support the district's programs. He also called for a stronger vocation program.

Donald Barksdale, 33, of San Rafael, said students should have direct access to the trustees and called on board members to be willing to "go out into the community" in an effort to get the district's taxpayers involved. He called district financing the major problem to be faced by the board in the next year and also called for an expanded adult education program.

Charles W. Gray, 47, of San Rafael, the lone incumbent seeking reelection, defended the current board's past actions, saying it has always listened to the students and faculty on issues. He joined with other candidates in calling financing the major hurdle next year.

"Ronald Reagan's budget has demolished higher education and now the students who can't get into the state colleges and universities will be coming to the community college system," Gray said.

Tricia Finally Picks The Day: June 12

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tricia Nixon, after some days of indecision, has settled on June 12 as the day for her wedding to Edward Finch Cox.

The couple had planned the ceremony for either June 5 or June 12 but the later date was selected to give Cox, a law student, and others in the wedding party more time to complete their studies.

Jury Trial Set For Bennett In Sausalito

State Board of Equalization member William M. Bennett, 52, of Kentfield, has been ordered to stand jury trial July 15 in Marin Municipal Court on a misdemeanor charge of being drunk in a public place.

Bennett was arrested March 4; Sausalito police said he was stumbling while walking along a street at 3:15 a.m. He entered an innocent plea to the charge yesterday through his attorney former judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

NOW BRIDE, GROOM

Exchange Students Relive Memories

A young Japanese couple who met when both came to Marin as exchange students in 1968 were back visiting this week — as bride and groom.

The reason that Toshimitsu Shinomiya and his wife, the former Keiko Miyama, were able to come to the United States this time was that he won a trip around the world on a Japanese television quiz show called Quiz Jumbo. The winning answer was a correct identification of the German author Goethe.

Smiling at his bride, Shinomiya said that he won the prize last year but "I saved it."

He and his bride were students at different Japanese universities when they met at orientation sessions held before they came to Marin under an exchange program sponsored by the Lions Club.

They stayed at separate houses in Marin, but "saw each other constantly," according to their current hostess, Mrs. Richard Harrison of Mill Valley.

The young couple scheduled the stop in Marin mainly to renew acquaintance with the Harrisons and the Jack Hausers of Corte Madera, with whom Shinomiya stayed in 1968.

The bride and groom, who were married in a Christian church in Tokyo on March 8, are now on their way home, having visited Europe and New York. They will spend three days in Hawaii before flying to Tokyo, where Shinomiya will resume studies at Keio University where he is majoring in economics.

The bride works as a secretary for the National Cancer Society.

As to the future, Shinomiya plans to enter a Shell Oil Co. traning program when he graduates next March which will lead to management of a service station.

"But in five or six years I know he can go on his own and that will be better," Mrs. Shinomya said shyly but proudly.

34 VD Cases

The Marin County Department of Public Health reported 34 gonorrhea cases in the county last week, with 64 strep infection cases, 15 measles cases and seven of infectious hepatitis also noted.

Candidate Night Set Wednesday

The North Marin Council of the Parent-Teacher Association will hold a candidates' night meeting covering the Novato Unified School District, Marin Junior College District and Marin County Board of Education candidates at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Novato High School lecture hall.

Invited to speak are the eight candidates for the Novato district board, 12 candidates for the college board and James A. Swenson of Novato, unopposed incumbent, seeking reelection to the District One seat on the county board.

Earl G. Marshall, former Novato Unified School District trustee, will be the moderator.

Men's Choir To Sing Monday Night

The Men's Choir of San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Monday in Montgomery Chapel, Bolinas Avenue and Richmond Road, San Anselmo.

The choir, directed by Wilbur F. Russell, recently has returned from its spring concert tour through Northern California.

Park 100
a great new grass blend for the Bay Area

With Park 100 lawn seed, you can expect a beautiful lawn. And you can expect it to stay beautiful without much effort on your part. Here's why: Park 100 is a blend of grasses. For beauty there's Park Kentucky Bluegrass. For persistence there's Pelo and NK 100, the original fine-leafed ryegrasses. The results are summarized by comments of people who've used Park 100. "Most uniform grass I've seen." "We haven't had any weed problems." "Its fine blade texture makes it look much richer and greener than similar blends." Get the grass that's blended to thrive in the Bay Area, get Park 100.

SNEAKY SNAKE NAMED RALPH

Ralph, the six-foot boa constrictor draped around owner Phil Arena's neck, blew his masculine cover by unexpectedly giving birth in Madison to 26 little boas, one of which impishly stuck its tongue out at mother when Arena, a University of Wisconsin student from Waukesha, Illinois, held the 10-inch offspring up for a photograph.

Boy, 14, Hunted In Kidnap Case

A kidnapped Santa Rosa woman was released unharmed yesterday in Petaluma after being taken captive, according to authorities, by a 14-year-old boy who had been convicted of a similar crime at the age of 11.

Sonoma Sheriff's Inspector Edward Mayburn said authorities were searching the Tomales area today for Terry Ring of Santa Rosa, who had been released from a California Youth Authority camp on Feb 20 after serving three years for kidnapping a school teacher in early 1968.

Doris Davis told deputies that she had gone home yesterday afternoon and heard strange noises. She said as she turned around, Ring pointed a loaded rifle at her and demanded money.

Mrs. Davis said, Ring, an acquaintance of her son, forced her to drive around Sonoma County, to Novato, West Marin and finally into Petaluma.

She was released at 3 p.m. in the 5000 block of Bodega Avenue. Her car was found a quarter of a mile away and the rifle on the ground a few hundred yards beyond that, Mayburn said. Ring had reportedly taken $15 in cash and a cigarette lighter from Mrs. Davis's purse.

Ring was described as being 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds, with blue eyes, dark brown hair worn slicked back and wearing a blue levi jacket, faded bluejeans, brown Army style shirt and black boots.

Cease-Fire Call For Elections In S. Vietnam

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Clark Kerr, former University of California president, has called for an election year cease-fire in South Vietnam for balloting in which the Communists would be allowed to vote.

Kerr, speaking as chairman of the National Committee for a Political Settlement in Vietnam, said Wednesday three elections are scheduled in South Vietnam this year.

He said the legislature's lower house will be selected in August, the president in October, and provincial chiefs and mayors during the winter.

Free and open elections, his group contended, could be "a first step toward bringing the other side into the political process and moving the struggle for power from the military to the political level."

On Notice

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—County attorneys have drafted a proposed law to be submitted to the state legislature that would require any market or restaurant convicted of violating health codes to post notice of such conviction in their establishments.

San Rafael Schools Candidates Night Set

A candidates night for those running for the San Rafael Board of Education will be held at 8 p.m. next Thursday at the San Rafael High School auditorium.

The candidates night is cosponsored by the San Rafael Parent-Teacher Association Council and the San Rafael Teachers' Association.

Each of the 10 candidates running for the three four-year terms will be given five minutes to comment on five prepared questions.

These are: Why are you running for the school board? What changes do you believe the board should make to improve the quality of education in the district? What suggestions do you have concerning the financing of our schools? What are your thoughts concerning flexible scheduling or other innovations? What is your opinion of teacher tenure?

Candidates then will answer written questions from the audience.

Adelaide P. Wilson of the League of Women Voters will moderate the program.

22 Tons Of Crab Spilled On U.S. 101

GEYSERVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—Motorists on U.S. 101 had something to crab about Wednesday—22 tons of the shellfish blocking the major north-south highway north of San Francisco.

The crabs covered both sides of the two-lane road two miles north of here. They spilled from a refrigerated truck that had skidded and overturned.

Insurance For Floods Available

Flood damage insurance, subsidized by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, is now available to homeowners and businesses in Marin County.

George K. Bernstein, federal insurance administrator, announced that Fireman's Fund Insurance of San Francisco has been designated as the servicing company for flood insurance.

He said insurance agents should contact Fireman's Fund to get policy forms, rates, flood insurance manuals, and any other information.

The National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 specifies that anyone who does not choose to buy flood insurance in a community which is eligible will not get financial disaster aid for losses that would have been covered by flood insurance.

Flood insurance policies may be purchased from local property and casualty agents and brokers.

Shoot-Out Claim Runs Into Trouble

A $350,000 suit filed by a woman juror wounded during the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Marin Hall of Justice may have hit a dead-end yesterday.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court upheld demurrers filed by the state of California which said the suit specified no cause of action for which the state was liable.

Broderick gave the juror, Maria Elena Graham, 48, of Terra Linda, 10 days to amend her suit for further action.

Mrs. Graham, one of three women jurors kidnapped in the abortive escape attempt which left Judge Harold J. Haley and three others dead, was shot in the right arm.

She charged in her suit against the state, the county and 100 John Does, that officials failed to make proper provisions to protect jurors during trials of "dangerous prisoners from San Quentin Prison."

The suit claimed that prisoners were "not adequately restrained" and that the physical setup of the courtroom in the Hall of Justice led to the disaster.

The state replied to the suit, saying it and the county were immune from liability and cited a state government code section which declares that no government entity can be sued for injuries caused by a prisoner or for failing to provide sufficient police protection or jail facilities.

Mrs. Graham, two other women jurors, Judge Haley and Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas were taken at gunpoint from the courtroom — now Judge Broderick's — where convict James D. McClain was on trial.

Cycle-Bus Crash Hurts Man's Ankle

Bruce F. Goudie, 20, of 24 Tiburon Boulevard, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said Goudie was eastbound on California Avenue at 8:30 a.m. just east of Loring Avenue when his motorcycle overturned on wet pavement.

The bus, traveling at about 5 miles per hour, stopped immediately but came to rest partly on Goudie's ankle, the highway patrol said. After backing the bus off the injured man's foot, Avilla rendered first aid until Goudie was taken to the hospital.

Hospitals Get Abbott Warning

BERKELEY (UPI)—The California Department of Health Tuesday advised hospitals not to use solutions of intravenous fluids distributed by Abbott Laboratories.

The action followed a statement from federal health officials that 350 cases of blood poisoning had occurred in 21 hospitals sampled in a survey throughout the nation.

The state health office said only one California hospital was involved in the survey and that it reported 17 cases of poisoning.

Driver's Condition Is Reported Good

George LeFleur, 36, of 2060 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head cuts suffered in an accident yesterday at 11 a.m. on Petaluma Boulevard North at Jessie Lane.

Viet Adviser To Republican Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Tom Hayden, 29, who was a highly decorated civilian adviser in Vietnam, Tuesday has been named sergeant-at-arms for the Republican State Central Committee.

The announcement was made Tuesday by GOP State Chairman Putnam Livermore.

ON THE AGENDA

'The Jew Of The Soviet Union' Is Topic At Community Center

A program on "The Jews of the Soviet Union" will be presented Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael by three speakers.

Jerry Horwitz, a member of the Bay Area Council on Soviet Jewry who has visited the Soviet Union, will talk along with Mr. and Mrs. David Boxerman, who have just returned from an extensive visit to the Soviet Union, and Leon Atlas, who was born in Siberia and is a refugee by way of Poland. The public meeting will include a slide presentation.

THE SAN Rafael Assembly, International Order of the Rainbow for Girls will hold initiation Saturday at 1 p.m., at the Masonic Hall in San Rafael. New initiates are Lisci Gidudici, Marsha Erickson, Claire Jacobs, Susan Crellin, Cheri Paton and Judy Brichetto.

THE MARIN County Circle of Florence Crittenton Home of San Francisco will have a tea for sustaining members Tuesday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William Steen of Belvedere.

"STUDENT RIGHTS" will be the topic of Mrs. Bette Wallace, Tamalpais Union High School District board of trustees member, in her public talk tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the gallery of the Mill Valley public library. Her speech is sponsored by the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association Council.

THE FOREIGN Affairs and Conservation Sections of the Mill Valley Branch of the America Association of University Women will hold a joint meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Harold T. Rogers, 106 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

A PANCAKE BREAKFAST will be held Sunday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Park School auditorium, Mill Valley, to benefit the Edna Maguire Middle School music scholarship fund.

The fund provides opportunity for scholarship winners, determined in auditions for instrumental music students, to study privately with an instructor of their choice, Winners are announced at a spring concert.

The menu will include orange juice, pancakes with butter and syrup, milk and all the coffee adults can drink.

Arrangements for the breakfast are being handled by the music teachers, Joseph Angiulo and Tod Fleming, with assistance from Mmes. Ross Shade and Dirk West. Fathers of music students will serve as chefs, mothers will assist with setting up, and students will do the serving.

UNIVERSITY OF California at Davis alumni in Napa, Sonoma and Marin Counties will hold the seventh annual alumni chapter dinner Saturday at Robert Mondavi Winery near Oakville.

A wine tasting and tour of the winery beginning at 5 p.m. will precede the dinner meeting. Bill King of Petaluma is reservations chairman.

After Six Years on 'Junk' She's On The Other Side

By CASS VANZI

NEW YORK (UPI)—"When I lecture on narcotic abuse, I tell them — 'I love taking drugs. What I don't like is what it does to me.'"

And heroin's effect on the life-style of the 37-year-old woman who made this statement is still present even though she has been off drugs for five years.

Amelia Macri "shot junk" for six years, did 23 stints in the Women's House of Detention in Manhattan, and nearly died in a fire when heroin's euphoria made her oblivious to peril.

TODAY THIS ex-addict is hospital liaison for the city's Addiction Services Agency (ASA), gives lectures for the Queens District Attorney's office and holds a security pass to the House of D.

"When I left the House of D the last time, the guards waved to me and said, 'Goodby, Macri, see you again,'" she said. "They did too —only I came in the front door."

To come through the front door took a long time. So vivid are the memories of hustling to support her habit, shooting up, the sickness of withdrawing from heroin —and the guilt — that she has dedicated herself to keeping others out of the drug scene.

Mrs. Macri, whose teen-age marriage at 17 ended after a second child was born, began her drug career at 26 and admits she "wasn't as hooked on drugs as I was on the guy I was going with," a junkie musician.

"EVERY TIME he went to jail, I was clean," she said. "As soon as he got out, five minutes later I had a spike (needle) in my arm."

Awareness of what she was doing to herself came six years later and only after a fire nearly claimed her life and Narcotics Anonymous, a defunct program modeled after Alcoholics Anonymous took an interest in her.

Since that time, the attractive five-foot-zero brunette who curls her upper lip and flays her arms as she talks about drugs, has become totally enmeshed in her work.

At ASA, Mrs. Macri said her dedication has driven her administrators to put her on "the pay-me-no-mind list" because she is constantly suggesting revamping present drug programs and offering outlines for the creation of others.

ALTHOUGH HER own job calls only for her to screen addicts and refer them to hospitals for treatment, Mrs. Macri has added the chore of follow-up work on some individuals.

"That follow-up entails visiting them, getting to know them and then making an evaluation as to what type of treatment program would be good for that type of individual," she said.

Mrs. Macri is in constant touch with drug rehabilitation programs and once took two New York youths to Boston because it offered the "best type of program for them."

This is the way ASA's fighting little lady operates but she decries the fact that too many areas are neglected. There is no program set up in the prisons, she said, and addicts released from jail immediately return to drugs.

"And when I say we need a prison program, I'm talking from experience," Mrs. Macri said.

Amelia Macri has five surgical scars on her body, the result of tattoo removal as well as rehabilitation from drug addiction.

During one of her 23 times in prison she talked another inmate into doing a tattoo of a musical clef on her ankle. Mrs. Macri was released a short time later, rearrested on another drug charge and returned to the same prison. Three more tattoos were done —a cross, an arrow and the name of a boyfriend.

"I was bored, getting tattooed gave me something to do," she said.

Four tattoos and a couple of years later, Mrs. Macri kicked the drug habit.

"Part of my rehabilitation was getting the tattoos removed," she said, her voice breaking into an easy laugh. "After all that I had to get rid of them, so I told the doctor while you're at it ... I have this track mark (the result of taking heroin intravenously) and you may as well make it five surgical scars!"

Although she finds humor in this particular incident, Mrs. Macri —who can walk past the Manhattan Women's House of Detention and point to each floor and say "I was in that cell ... and on that floor and that floor" —is deeply concerned about the lack of rehabilitation in the prison system.

"One of the intended functions of correctional institutions is to affect change in a prisoner's behavior attitude," she said "But all prisons do is dehumanize and the isolation and suppression just bring on more bitterness and resentment against society."

Mrs. Macri has enlisted the assistance of other ex-addicts and formed an organization to set up a prison program. On the job at the city's Addiction Services Agency, Mrs. Macri in one of her many memoes to administrators suggested just such a program but "they don't pay any attention to me."

"WHEN I lecture on narcotic abuse, I tell them, 'I love taking drugs. What I don't like is what it does to me,'" says Amelia Macri, seen outside the Women's House of Dentention in New York, where she did 23 stints during six years of shooting junk. She now serves as hospital liason for the city's Addiction Services Agency, speaks for the Queen's District Attorney's office and enters the House of D by the front door.

Mrs. Allen Bernes Is President Of Fairfax-San Anselmo Guild

MRS. ALLEN BERNES

Mrs. Allen Bernes of Fairfax is serving as president of the Fairfax-San Anselmo Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

Peggy Bernes has been a guild member for five years and has previously served it as secretary and festival chairman.

The guild conducts fund-raising events for the museum's benefit. Among its activities this year will be a Greek-themed dinner this month for the members and their husbands, and an art fair to be given with two other museum guilds. The guild will also participate in the annual Festival of Trees, for which Peggy Bernes is chairman.

A native of Vicksburg, Miss., Mrs. Bernes was educated in East Bay schools and she and her husband, a district sales manager for Ciba Products Co., have lived in Marin for eight years.

Also serving as guild officers this year are Mmes. Ells Hagen, vic president; Gordon Hargreaves, secretary; and Sharon Capps, treasurer.

Down The Amazon In A Dugout Canoe On South American Junket

By MOLLY MARIN

The Harry Mohlers are telling friends of many unusual experiences they had on their tour of South America from which they have just returned to Sausalito.

On Jan. 12 they flew to British Honduras and visited Honduras and San Andres Island in the Caribbean before "covering Columbia from top to bottom."

Mrs. Mohler says that highlights were their trip out of Letitia on the Amazon river in a dugout canoe and seeing the ancient statues of an unknown civilization at San Augustin in the Andes mountains.

At Cali they stopped to see Dr. Ronald Mackenzie, formerly of Sausalito, who is teaching and doing research at the university there.

In Quito, Ecuador, an interesting sight for the travelers was the Colorado Indians with their bodies painted and hair dyed red. Since it was Mardi Gras time, in many places they were doused with water from water-filled balloons and had to dodge paper sacks full of flour.

MRS. HERBERT Prodger was honored on her 70th birthday Friday when the board of directors of the Marin Country Club Women's Golf Association and their husbands had a dinner for Ann Prodger and her husband at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The Prodgers now live at the Marin Valley Country Club mobile park, where Ann is president of the resident's association. They are former residents of the Marin Country Club Estates, where she was secretary of the homeowners association for five years. The Women's Golf Association members also had a birthday cake for her last Thursday.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'I Am A Clod On Dance Floor, And She Lets Me Know About It'

DEAR HELEN:
I took my girl friend to a party the other night. I am a clod on the dance floor and she lets me know about it, so I waited till the third dance to ask her. Then she said "No." Later on I asked her again, but she danced off with another guy.

So another girl saw how it was, and we ended up dancing together all evening.

Next day my girl friend called me a two-timer. What would you say? — THREE-FOOTED SLOUCH

DEAR TFS:
I'd say live up the label and give the other girl a buzz. A girl who makes you feel three-footed deserves being two-timed. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
I have a sort of full chin, though I'm skinny. This condition runs in my family — and turns into saggy jowls as we get older.

I'd like to avoid this, and I wonder if singing exercises would help. You see, I've been studying older singers on television and they hardly ever have loose necks and chins, even when they're over 50.

Are chin, mouth and neck exercises the secret? — DOUBLECHIN AT 18

DEAR DOUBLE:
I'm sure they help, but don't discount plastic surgery. Over-50 performers seldom rely on exercise alone to keep their faces in shape.

Why not find a book on facial exercises at the library and start early? In 25 years, you'll know how their claims hold up — and then you can write your own book, from personal experience. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
Some of us girls were talking about cigarettes. We all agreed we don't like smokers' kisses, but there were other interesting observations too. Like:

Pipe breath is worse than cigarette breath, and cigar breath is worst of all.

But most girls prefer guys who smoke pipes if they must smoke, because they are considerate and don't come on too strong too soon. You hardly ever have to fight off a pipe smoker.

One girl said she considered it an insult when a boy smokes on a date — like he's bored and trying to find something to do.

Another girl argued she's kind of relieved when he reaches for his pack, as it gives him something else to do with his hands. — THE GIRLS

Boys Should Do Laundry

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—No college man's education is complete until he learns to do his own laundry.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Wilson, extension clothing specialist at the Pennsylvania State University, says the young man takes it for granted when mother does his laundry at home. But the young man is on his own when he enters college.

"Mother, if your son has never been in a commercial coin-operated laundry, take him to one in the neighborhood," Mrs. Wilson said. This has the type of laundry facilities he will have at his college residence hall.

Finnish Women Want Rights

By KIRSTI SAARI

HELSINKI (UPI) — Woman power has come to Finland, well after it began making itself felt elsewhere in Europe and in the United States.

Activist woman power, that is. Women's liberation began in Finland long ago. They won the vote in 1906. The present government includes three female ministers, and 44 women sit in the 200-member Finnish parliament. Fifty per cent of the country's university and college students are women, three quarters of Finland's dentists and 25 per cent of its doctors are women.

So, there are many who wonder, how much more liberation — or power — does the Finnish woman need?

The female activists have their answers. They cite statistics to show that although women make up half the country's working force, women on the average earn only 60 per cent as much as men for equivalent work; women hold only four per cent of all executive posts and only 2-5 per cent of university chairs.

With these and other arguments, a group of women in Turku have formed what they call the "first chapter of woman power in Finland."

THE REBELLIOUS ladies say all professions are open to women but are women allowed full freedom to work? They point out mothers are forced to stay at home because day care places for children are too few and daily help is so difficult to get.

Many women blame men for their situation. A recent study among working women showed that 70 per cent of wives had no help from their husbands in daily housekeeping chores. The study also disclosed that the Finnish male still hates to have his wife go to work.

Said Mrs. Irja Ketonen, managing editor of one of the country's largest newspapers: "It still is a man's world but it is the woman's own fault."

In her opinion women do not know their own strength and they do not know how to produce a common front. Now, they're trying to do something about it. With a "first chapter" of woman power formed, can a second — and third — be far behind?

Former Drug Addict Now Gives Lectures For District Attorney

diction Specialists of America (DASA) —intends to run seminars and work with drug addicts in the prison three months prior to their release. It is presently awaiting funds from a semi-private organization.

" A PRISON environment is an ideal environment for drug rehab," Mrs. Macri said, "because the body and mind is usually free of drugs. I know what it can be worth because that's where I was reached."

Mrs. Macri was due to be released from the Women's House of Detention when a member of the defunct Narcotics Anonoymous visited her and convinced her to give "NA a chance."

The situation is drastically different today. NA doesn't exist but various other modes of drug rehabilitation are functioning and, depending on the person's need, he can be directed to the one best suited for his personality.

"Ex-addicts, ex-convicts will be running the seminars. They're the drug specialists," Mrs. Macri said. "They can provide treatment for the youthful first offender which will short-circuit their addiction and also handle the hard-core addict. They know when a guy is jiving and when a guy is for real. We're interested in hooking the winners."

Big Trees Hunting Club Loses Lease

The district decided Feb. 10 to reconsider the cancellation of the five-year lease signed in 1968 when members of the club charged the district had broken faith by ending the lease.

Edward J. Stephens charged that he and the nine other members who leased 5,000 acres in Lagunitas Canyon were encouraged in 1968 to make extensive improvements because the board indicated the lease would run five years. It had been a yearly lease prior to 1968.

However, the board yesterday stuck by its original decision that the land should be open to the public. It canceled the Big Trees lease and one to adjacent Redwood Gun Club Nov. 12.

$16,000 Fire Hits Hub Home

Fire swept through a San Anselmo home yesterday causing approximately $16,000 damage, according to Capt. Robert Beetle.

Teachers at the Co-Op Nursery behind the house located on 135 Madrone Avenue notified the San Anselmo Fire Department about 10:15 a.m., Beetle said. But within the few minutes it took the two trucks to arrive, he said, flames were leaping almost 20 feet out the front door.

Sandra Benedetti, who is renting the house, escaped uninjured with her two young children. Beetle said an indentified couple and a young man, also in the house at the time, tried unsuccessfully to extinguish the flames.

Although the cause of the fire is still under investigation, Beetle said it apparently started in the living room and swept down the hall, gutting two bedrooms and the kitchen. The front porch was also demolished, he said.

Smoke damaged a third bedroom and an adjacent service porch causing approximately $4,000 damage to the contents and about $12,000 damage to the structure, he said.

Berkeley Suit On Free Speech

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two Berkeley city council candidates filed suit in federal court here Wednesday charging they were denied free speech and equal protection of the law by not being allowed to speak in the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory auditorium.

Ilona Hancock and Rick Brown said two council members, vice mayor Wilmont Sweeney and Warren Widener, spoke at the auditorium on March 18, and two other council candidates were also allowed to use the auditorium as a forum.

U.S. Dist Judge Albert C. Wollenberg will hear arguments on a petition for a restraining order against the auditorium director Thursday.

The suit charges that Hancock and Brown, in being denied the use of the auditorium for a noon speech Thursday, have been deprived of equal protection of the law and are victims of prior restraint of free speech and public assembly.

VOLUNTEER RESCUERS

Many Incautious Boaters Find Marine Patrol Saves Lives

By LARRY MOWELL

San Pablo Bay — with its view of Marin, clusters of duck blinds and supply of game fish — attracts hundreds of boaters on a pleasant day. Some days not all of those boaters return to port when the sun sets.

Stranded on mud flats by the receding tide, floating helplessly with a dead motor or trapped in a duck blind in a storm, some boaters who have enjoyed the pleasures of the bay also quickly learn its treacherous side.

While out looking for disabled boats recently, the patrol's Dean Merrick noted that 85 to 90 per cent of the patrol's rescues are at night.

"People going out on a nice boat ride like today don't realize when they are out of gas, or the boat breaks down or they are stuck in the mud," he said.

When the unfortunate boaters are missed by relatives or a marina operator, the sheriff's office is called, Merrick said. Volunteer deputies of the marine patrol then are summoned to search for the missing boat.

It sometimes takes four or five hours of cruising around on a dark night to find a boat, he said. "It is no damn fun at night when you have to get out in those tules, I'll tell you," added deputy Nick Bruno of Bel Marin Keys.

Merrick told of a recent rescue when a boater trapped by the mud was found only because he lit his cigarette lighter when two deputies happened to pass nearby.

When boaters are trapped in mudflats and reeds along the shore, the patrol employs its swamp buggy, a craft whose airplane engine drives it at speeds up to 40 miles an hour over the mud.

Otherwise, the crew on duty when an emergency occurs uses the boat of one of the crewmen, Merrick said. The 32 men of the patrol are divided into five crews, each of which takes the duty for a week at a time.

This year the patrol has already made 14 rescues, Merrick said. All 14 have been from boats stuck in the mud or drifting without power.

However, the patrol in previous years assisted in the rescue of downed pilots from Hamilton Air Force Base and boaters who have tumbled overboard, he said.

There also are occasional cases where boaters have to be saved from their own folly, Merrick said. He told of a boater who hit the shallows at the mouth of Santa Venetia Creek going full speed. The impact tore the transom off his outboard and the patrol was summoned to fish him from the muddy shallows, Merrick said.

In these shallow areas along the coast between McNears Point and the Petaluma River, the small boats of the marine patrol have an advantage over the deep-draft patrol boats of the Coast Guard, Merrick said. Therefore, he said, the Coast Guard leaves rescues in the tricky shallows to the patrol.

The patrol was formed in 1959 by Scott Waterman and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to watch over the Marin shore.

Each of its members is a volunteer, repaid by the county only for fuel used in rescues, Merrick said.

While it is primarily a service organization, the patrol also resembles a yacht club. New members are selected by the patrol and pay $12 a year in dues to pay for operation of the swamp craft and for social events like the annual Angel Island picnic and occasional cruises, Merrick said.

Identity Series Is Announced

"In Search of Jewish Identity," with readings from Albert Memmi, Hannah Arendt and others, will be presented in Southern Marin beginning April 4.

Coordinator Sara S. Ruffner said the program will continue every other Sunday for four sessions. Class will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. at various Southern Marin homes.

Further information on the program, held under the auspices of the Jewish Community Center of Marin, may be obtained from Mrs. Ruffner at 25 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley.

Caution Expressed On Merger Proposal

Marin's juvenile justice commission and the juvenile delinquency prevention commission should think twice before merging into one agency, because some pitfalls may exist.

That was the consensus at a meeting of the justice commission yesterday at Marin Civic Center. Several members of the juvenile delinquency prevention commission also attended the meeting.

Jody Becker reported that County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney found no legal problem in the merger. And County Administrator Alan Bruce "was delighted with the idea that any two commissions would become one," said Mrs. Becker.

This brought a warning from Gary T. Giacomini of the juvenile delinquency prevention commission. "The administrator's position has always been not to spend any funds for any commission," said Giacomini. He added that in the process of merging, the commissions must make sure that the hired staff that now serves the various commission is not cut back.

L. Charles Smith, youth coordinator, said he now serves both the Marin County Youth Commission and the delinquency prevention commission. Rather than a cutback, each of the commissions can use a full-time person, said Smith.

Rockwell asked that a committee from the justice commission meet with Giacomini and his group to thrash out the pros and cons of a merger and report back by the next meeting on April 28.

Mrs. Becker, who went to Contra Costa County to watch a merged commission in operation, said she favors a merger because problems that face both commissions overlap.

Giacomini acknowledged that liason is now lacking between the two but suggested that this might be solved by interlocking memberships.

Juvenile justice commissioners voted unanimously to support the youth commission's resolution.

Test School Position Is Taken

Reorganization of the Tamalpais High School District should be tested first at just one school, a group studying the plan has been told.

Dr. Surjit Singh, chairman of the Ad Hoc Congress on Tamalpais High School District Reorganization, made the recommendation Tuesday and suggested Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo be the test school.

In what was called an "alternative proposal" to one calling for district-wide reorganization, Singh said only one "principal-educational planner" should be hired to oversee the program. That man could take the place of Principal Harold Allison, who has resigned.

According to Bette Wallace, a district trustee and congress member, Singh's proposal is his interpretation of ideas discussed during six meetings of the congress.

Singh, who is president of the Sir Francis Drake High School Parent-Teacher Association, also suggests retaining the four district office administrators slated to lose their jobs under the districtwide reorganization.

Mrs. Wallace said yesterday, Singh proposed the four act as liaisons between schools to keep lines of communication open as well as perform their current duties. Both Redwood and Tamalpais high schools would study Drake's program in progress.

After one year, his plan says, the Drake program would be subject to "objective evaluation." By whom is not stated.

The congress, Mrs. Wallace said, will consider Singh's proposal as well as others that may be submitted at another meeting tentatively slated for Tuesday.

Supt. Wilber D Hawkins, author of the reorganization plan under study, said today the district board will not consider his plan on Monday as previously announced because at least one board member will not be present.

Less Campus Violence Seen

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The president of Stanford University says the threat of campus trouble hasn't ended but there has been a quiet shift this year away from violence by students and faculty.

President Richard Lyman told an alumni group Wednesday that the situation has changed appreciably throughout the nation.

"There is now greater readiness on the part of the faculty to support a firm resistance to violence and coercion," he said.

"On the part of students, there is a wariness about joining in potentially violent or coercive movements, even among many who might well have been less cautious a couple of years ago."

ART REVIEW

Display's Class Enhances Art

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The way art work is presented can make all the difference in its sense of excitement, a strong case in point being the Marin Society of Artists' exhibit sponsored by the Marin Museum Association through April at the Marin Civic Center.

There isn't that much difference between the society's work here and the shows they usually hang in their own gallery in the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. It's just that the soft felt panels and the meandering rough wood fences in the Civic Center display have added a certain class.

Certain kinds of paintings also carry the weaker areas. Predominantly, these are large, lovely abstracted landscapes ranging from mere suggestions to the quite recognizable. There are splashing mountain streams, yellow-lit meadows and airy sweeps of clouds floating up moist, cool Sierra peaks. Green rolling hills yellowed with sudden shafts of light fill several canveses, including the sunstruck "March Wind" which won an award for Marjorie Cathcart.

Another large area responsible for the show's success is the graphics category. In it are several interesting drawings, including Suzanne Gomberg's award-winning, lush and beautifully composed charcoal of three nudes.

Among others, the prints include a sample of Eleanore Bender's elegant new Indian Motif series, Barbara Evan's delicate, mysterious etchings, and several geometric ideas in bold colors by Nelcy Tarics and Rose O'Kane. And there is Ruth Dosmar Sipper's tiny, intriguing "Mirage," with its dead moon floating near another sphere crammed with gears, wires and other mechanical happenings.

At this level of importance also are a certain group of paintings. Each spikes the atmosphere with that indescribable element which, added to competence, makes a work truly unique. One of these is the stunning, award-winning watercolor by Fred Herschleb in rolling shapes of red-rust and brown superimposed with an opencircled monolith in crumbling silver.

There is the symmetry of Tony Williams's hard-edge stripes of shocking color against soft gray, Ada Garfinkel's strangely compelling symbolism in her oil and drawings and Bette Klopf's interesting combinations of animals and electronics.

On the more personal side are merit award-winner Anne Jenkins's flat-faced people portraits, such as the portly, expensive couple whose shocking pink faces are griefly, but tellingly, pencil drawn with jowls and eye bags. And there is Don Elda Boutwell's whimsical girl and rabbit inhabiting a busily decorated fairy tale.

Even more, the Civic Center presentation is the element which lends a new aura to the society's work. And it is one which is stronger, warmer and welcome.

Pond Query Stalls Stafford Lake Plan

North Marin County Water District directors, concerned about possible siltation and algae, have stalled approval of county plans for recreational development at Stafford Lake.

Directors are wary of plans for a pond area adjacent to the lake and a boating facility, reported District Mgr. Eugene S. Churchill.

Tuesday night directors deferred entering into an agreement with the county on use of district land at the reservoir pending further study, Churchill said.

Under question is a proposal to divert Novato Creek, source of reservoir water, around the pond area, which could result in siltation and erosion, Churchill said.

There also is concern that the pond area might stagnate and algae would grow, he said. If so, algae could be flushed out by rains into the lake "and that would create problems," he reported.

Directors wanted to see the final design for the proposed pond and specific plans for the proposed boating area before entering into the agreement, Churchill said.

The boating facility would be for paddle boats and canoes, not power boats, and there aren't any plans for a launching ramp, he commented.

Directors authorized a staff study of the cost of providing water and sewage disposal for the county's proposed development, with the cost of the study, estimated at $2,000, to be paid by the county.

North Marin County Water District also:

MMWD AGREEMENT — Agreed in principle to supply Marin Municipal Water District with surplus water from the Russian River Aqueduct until the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct is completed, but withheld final approval pending indication that the rate it pays for water in the area south of Hamilton Air Force Base and east of Highway 101 won't be increased.

NEW SERVICE — Agreed to provide water to two properties south of Inverness Park, a 97-acre parcel owned by the Bettini estate and the 41-acre Stockstill Manger Land Co. property.

AQUEDUCT SURVEY — Approved hiring Herb Passarino, Santa Rosa surveyor, by the Sonoma County Water Agency to make a survey and aerial map of the routing of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct for the stretch from the Russian River to Cotati at a cost of $91,700, with the North Marin District top pay 12.7 per cent of the cost.

CHANGE ORDER — Approved a change order in Soiland Company's contract to relocate a 24-inch main along Atherton Avenue for the Highway 101 By-pass to meet the state Division of Highway's requirement that the line go under rather than over a major drainage canal. The additional cost of $16,700 is to be paid by the state.

RENTER DEPOSITS — Discussed the possibility of requiring deposits from renters after a report that renters are responsible for 88 per cent of the district's "bad debts."

CARRARA ESTATES — Approved a main extension to serve Carrara Estates, a 26-lot subdivision along Center Road, west of Sun Lane, at a cost of $16,947 to the developer, Esquire Homes.

INSURANCE — Awarded Traveler's Insurance Co., lowest of three bidders, a contract to provide general liability insurance at a cost of $11,388 a year.

OLEMA SERVICE — Referred to the staff study of a request by 12 property owners in the Olema area to consider providing water and sewer service to their properties.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Veto Feared On Medi-Cal Restoring

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Republican sponsor of legislation to rescind Medi-Cal cutbacks ordered by Gov. Ronald Reagan fears a veto is in the offing if lawmakers approve the measure.

Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, made the disclosure Wednesday to the Senate Health and Welfare Committee, which endorsed the bill anyway and sent it to the Finance Committee.

"The governor has told me he would not sign it in its present form," Duffy told the panel, although afterwards he conceded Reagan could let the bill become law without his signature.

However, the governor has made it a practice to either veto or sign legislation and not let it pass into the statute books without action by him.

Duffy's comment marked the first time the governor's position on the measure was reported firsthand in public. The bill earlier cleared the Assembly over administration spokesmen objections.

Duffy, an optometrist by profession, said however that he and Reagan may be able to work out a compromise through negotiations.

The measure would rescind the cuts the governor ordered to avoid an estimated $140 million deficit in the state health care program. An aide to Duffy said between 70 per cent and 80 per cent of the services would be restored.

The bill would restore some benefits for foster and crippled children and mental patients. Schoolchildren on Medi-Cal could again get eyeglasses and more prescriptions would be available to recipient patients.

Duffy indicated one area he and the governor might bargain over is the amount paid to nursing homes for the care of the elderly. The Medi-Cal fee is now $12,60 a day, but the bill would return it to $14.

The lawmaker said nursing home operators may have to suffer the smaller payment in order to finance the remainder of the health services contained in the legislation.

The measure would also guarantee counties that their costs would not be boosted because of the state reductions. Some counties fear they will pick up the tab dropped by the state.

PILOT STUDY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration has selected the Monterey Basin for a pilot monitoring study of pollution sources.

Gov. Ronald Reagan said Wednesday that the study this summer would lay the groundwork for "a full-scale statewide monitoring program."

Reagan said the basin was selected because it is "a small, well-defined geographical area that will allow researchers to measure and track all potential sources of pollution: agricultural, industrial and municipal."

The pilot program will be conducted primarily by state agencies using current resources and existing budget allotments, the governor said.

The study will be managed by an environmental expert associated with a college or university. The governor's announcement said he would be selected by the secretaries of the state resources, agriculture and services, and human relations agencies.

ABORTIONS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Health and Welfare Committee has killed legislation to restrict legal abortions paid for by the Medi-Cal program.

The measure by Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, died Wednesday on a split voice vote after a top Medi-Cal administrator told the committee abortions under the health care program have increased "dramatically."

Richard Camilli, deputy director of Health Care Services, said legal abortions performed under Medi-Cal during 1970 totaled 22,000.

'NO KNOCK'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Donald L. Grunsky Wednesday introduced a bill to enable police to break into and enter a home without knocking or identifying themselves.

The Watsonville Republican said the "no knock" feature would prevent persons from disposing of contraband or other evidence while talking to officers.

ANTISPAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Freshman Republican Assemblyman Dixon Arnett Wednesday urged state residents to smother Gov. Ronald Reagan with "an avalanche of letters and wires" opposing a southern crossing bridge over San Francisco Bay.

The Redwood City lawmaker said he was against construction of the bridge but that Reagan told his weekly news conference Tuesday "he was uncertain as to the feelings of the people regarding the construction of this controversial bridge."

Tennis Court Covering Is Proposed

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission last night received a recommendation that a "sheet" of processed burlap and paper cover the city's tennis courts at memorial park.

Charles R. Leitzell, city parks director, said the sheet would be an alternative to patchwork repair of the courts or resurfacing.

He said the cost of the coverings for the two courts would be about $8,000 and would make it unnecessary to repair existing court cracks.

The commission, he said, expressed interest in the idea but noted the covers could not be budgeted until next fiscal year.

In the meantime, Leitzell continued, the commission wants temporary measures taken to improve the courts and directed him to come up with an inexpensive means.

The commission also set April 21 for a public hearing on the development of the Robson-Herrington Park. The meeting will be held to hear suggestions from the community on how it would like to see the park developed. It agreed to recommend that the city council approve further school district development of the playground behind the tennis courts at memorial park. The playground is used by Isabel Cook School students.

The commission set April 22 for a meeting with the San Francisco Recreation Department's day camp committee to discuss development of day camp activities at San Anselmo's three parks.

Marinites To Appear On TV Religion Show

A Marin student and Rev. William Eichorn of the Community Church of Mill Valley will appear Sunday on KRON-TV's "Youth Inquires" program.

The program, at 12:30 p.m., will deal with the question, "Is the approach to religion changing?" Carolyn Knox of San Domenico School, Sleepy Hollow, and Rev. Eichorn will take part in the discussion.

FINE, RARE, VALUABLE
PERSIAN RUGS
AND OTHER ORIENTAL RUGS

As centuries have passed the appreciation and value of oriental rugs have continued to rise as it would for any field of art. The Persian Carpet has commonly been referred to as the stocks and bonds of Iran (Persia) and since time began they have proven to be blue chip stocks for those who possess them. The future seems prosperous for those who now own oriental rugs as an investment, since the supply is rapidly decreasing, thereby resulting in increased value created by short supply and high demand.

Included are: KERMANS, KESHANS, SAROUKS, QUMES, BOKHARA. Also, HUNTING CARPETS, VASE & GARDEN OF FLOWERS CARPETS, PRAYER RUGS, KAZVIN, HAMEDAN, INDOCHINESE, INDO SAVONNERIE, BORJALOO, BELOUCHESTAN, LURISTAN, SHIRAZ, AFGHANS, SADDLEBAGS, MESHED, TURKISH, KURDISTAN, ABADEH, NAIN. Today is Thursday, March 25, the 84th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aries.

On this day in history:

In 1900 the socialist party of the United States was formed in Indianapolis, Ind.

In 1947 an explosion in a mine in Centralia, Ill., resulted in the deaths of 111 men, most of them asphyxiated by gas fumes.

In 1954 the Radio Corporation of America began its commercial production of television sets to transmit programs in color.

A thought for today: Novelist William Faulkner said, "I believe that man will not merely endure, he will prevail."

Driver Licenses For Methadone Takers Advanced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has approved a bill allowing heroin addicts in methadone treatment programs to obtain drivers licenses.

Vasconcellos said medical evidence showed a person is safe to drive when he is "stabilized" by methadone which is used as a non-harmful substitute for heroin.

Current law says those being given methadone cannot obtain the licenses because the drug is considered a narcotic.

An Expert Will Resist Temptation In Bids, Plays

When your partner passes you at one of a suit he must have a horribly weak hand. Keep this in mind as the bidding proceeds. Your partner won't show up with a couple of aces or kings; in fact, he may have a completely worthless hand. Even if your own hand is very strong, you may have trouble making a part score.

PASSES ONE SPADE

When today's hand was played, North very properly passed his partner's opening bid of one spade. East reopened, also quite properly, with a bid of two clubs, and South showed his great strength by doubling for a takeout.

North had already announced that he had a ghastly hand, and he felt that his hand was somewhat better than it might have been. After all, a doubleton and Q-J-9 of your partner's suit are not to be disdained.

South was tempted to bid on, but he wisely resisted the temptation. He had to resist a similar temptation in the play of the cards to make even two spades.

OPENS CLUB

West led the jack of clubs, just as any normal human being would. A trump opening lead would have defeated the contract if South played the hand normally.

South took the actual opening lead with the ace of clubs and was tempted to lead a trump to dummy in order to lead a heart toward the king or jack. Any such plan would lead to failure because West would win a heart and return another trump. If declarer made his normal play of winning in dummy to try another heart, West would win and lead a third trump. Declarer would win only five trump tricks and his two side aces.

AN EARLY HEART

The actual declarer saw that he could make sure of an eighth trick by leading a heart at the second trick. The opponents could win and lead a first round of trumps, after which South could give up a second heart. They could win and lead a second trump, but then South would be in position to ruff a heart in dummy to make sure of his contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no-trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠-7 6
♥-9 8 2
♦-K Q
♣-K Q 9 6 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 3-no-trump.

It will probably be easier to make nine tricks at no-trump than 11 tricks at clubs.

Pianist Dickens To Give Recital

Pianist Patricia Carrico Dickens will present her senior recital in a free public program at 3 p.m. Sunday in Studio III, Angelico Hall at Dominican College of San Rafael.

Her program will include Beethoven's Sonata in D Major, Opus 28; Debussy's "Images," and Copland's Sonata (1942)

The music major will receive her bachelor's degree in May and will work for her teaching credential at Dominican. Mrs. Dickens plays the guitar and has sung with choral groups during her college years.

DO IT YOURSELF CORNER

TIP OF THE WEEK: When rust has tightened the joints in pliers, soak them in kerosene for a day or two. After the soaking, rub off the loose rust with steel wool. The final step is an application of penetrating oil to the joint.

ORDINANCE NO. 1006

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL FIXING THE AMOUNT OF THE BONDS OF ELECTED AND APPOINTED OFFICIALS

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1 Section 2.08.200 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2.08.200 BONDS REQUIRED OF CITY CLERK AND ASSESSOR, CITY TREASURER AND TAX COLLECTOR AND CITY ATTORNEY.

The City Clerk and Assessor, City Treasurer and Tax Collector and City Attorney, shall, respectively, before entering upon the duties of their respective offices each execute a bond to the City of San Rafael in the penal sum as follows, to-wit:

City Clerk and Assessor in the sum of	$ 5,000.00
City Treasurer and Tax Collector in the sum of	$50,000.00
City Attorney in the sum of	$1,000.00

Each of said bonds shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of said elective officers, respectively. Said bonds shall be approved by the Mayor and when approved, shall be filed with the City Clerk; except the bond of the City Clerk, which shall be filed with the Mayor. All the provisions of any law of this State relating to official bonds of officers shall apply to such bonds, except as herein or in the Charter of the City of San Rafael otherwise provided.

Section 2 Section 2.08.210 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2.08.210 BONDS REQUIRED OF CITY ENGINEER, SUPERINTENDENT OF STREETS AND SUPERVISOR OF PUBLIC WORKS, CHIEF OF POLICE, CHIEF OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, POUNDMASTER, CITY MANAGER AND DIRECTOR OF FINANCE. The amount of the bonds required of appointed City officials by Section 5 of Article VI of the Charter of the City of San Rafael shall be in the penal sum as follows:

City Engineer	$5,000.00
Superintendent of Streets and Supervisor of Public Works	$5,000.00
Chief of Police	$1,000.00
Chief of the Fire Department	$1,000.00
Poundmaster	$1,000.00
City Manager	$10,000.00
Director of Finance	$50,000.00

Each of said bonds shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of said appointive officers, respectively. Said bonds shall be approved by the Mayor. Said bonds, when approved, shall be filed with the City Clerk. All of the provisions of any law of this State relating to official bonds of officers shall apply to such bonds, except as herein or in the Charter of the City of San Rafael otherwise provided.

Section 3 This Ordinance shall be published once in full before its final passage in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in said City, and shall be in full force and effect thirty days after its passage.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED FORMATION OF AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT WITHIN THE INVERNESS-TOMALES BAY TERRITORY OF NORTH MARIN COUNTY WATER DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District will conduct a public hearing on the proposed formation of an improvement district in the Inverness-Tomales Bay territory of North Marin County Water District at 8:00 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, April 6, 1971, at the office of the District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California. Said hearing will be held pursuant to and on the matters stated in Resolution No. 872 of the Board of Directors of said District adopted on March 3, 1971, which resolution reads as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 872 RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO UNDERTAKE A PROJECT IN INVERNESS-TOMALES BAY AREA AND TO FORM AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT THEREFOR

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District as follows:

1. This resolution is adopted to institute the formation of an improvement district within North Marin County Water District in the County of Marin, State of California, pursuant to Chapter 5 of Part 6 of Division 12 of the California Water Code.

2. A description of the boundaries of the improvement district proposed to be formed is appended hereto and marked Exhibit "A".

3. Said improvement district proposed to be formed is hereby given the designation "Inverness Sewer Improvement District No. IS-1 of North Marin County Water District".

4. A brief general description of the project to be undertaken within such improvement district is to provide for the detailed engineering study, cost estimates and design of a community disposal system for the lands within the proposed improvement district.

5. This Board hereby finds that the project will be of special benefit to such improvement district.

6. This Board hereby declares its intention to undertake the aforesaid project.

7. This Board hereby estimates the cost of the study described in paragraph 4 to be $2,000.00.

8. The method by which the project is proposed to be financed is by the levy of ad valorem taxes upon all the taxable property within the improvement district. The rates of such taxation shall be fixed annually by this Board of Directors in the manner provided in Sections 31702.1 to 31702.4 inclusive of the California Water Code, provided, however, that the maximum amount of such tax which may be levied in any year shall not exceed seventy-five cents (75c) per $100 of assessed value of the taxable property in said improvement district.

9. The Board hereby sets 8:00 o'clock P.M. on Tuesday, April 6, 1971, at the District offices, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California, as the time, date and place for a hearing by this Board on the formation of the proposed to be undertaken therein and on the method by which the project is proposed to be financed.

10. The Secretary of this District is hereby directed to give notice of the time and place of the hearing in accordance with Sections 31597 and 31598 of the California Water Code.

Any person may appear at the hearing and present any matters material to the subject thereof.

Written protests against the formation of the proposed improvement district, signed and acknowledged or proved in the manner required to entitle deeds to be recorded may be filed at the aforesaid office of the District until 8:00 P.M. on April 6, 1971, and may be filed thereafter at the said hearing at any time prior to the conclusion thereof.

Soviet, U.S. Moon Rocks Are Similar

MOSCOW (UPI)—Moon rock brought back by Soviet and American expeditions to three lunar seas does not differ in composition, a Soviet scientist said today.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Alexander P. Vinogradov, vice president of the Academy of Sciences, compared samples from one Soviet and two American moon missions and found all three "very much alike."

Bayh Will Be First Forum Guest

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Indiana, considered a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination next year, will speak in the first of a presidential forum series April 3 at Sonoma State College.

Bayh's speech, "The Politics of Evasion: America Under Nixon" will be part of an 11:30 a.m. luncheon sponsored by the Frontlash of Sonoma State College and the Sonoma County Democratic Central Committee.

Proceeds from the political rally will benefit the Bill Kortum campaign committee. Dr. Kortum, a Petaluma veterinarian, unsuccessfully challenged Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, last November.

Sen. N. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, another possible Democratic nominee, is slated to appear later in April as part of the forum series.

Bayh, 43, gained national recognition as leader of the successful efforts to block confirmation of two of President Richard M. Nixon's nominees for the Supreme Court, Clement Haynesworth and Harrold Carswell.

Bayh was first elected to the Senate in 1962 and was relected in 1968. He presently serves as chairman of the subcommittee on roads as well as two judiciary committee subcommittees on juvenile delinquency and constitutional amendments.

Antitrust Suit Filed Against 3 Automakers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A six-part legislative program to reduce noise was introduced Wednesday by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills.

The package includes bills to establish machine-caused permissible noise levels, set tougher truck and motorcycle sound standards, and create minimum insulation standards for buildings to keep out noise.

The program also allows local government to create quiet zones, bans new houses next to freeways and requires that general plans include a noise analysis of ground transportation, such as freeways or mass transit systems.

Child Health Care Is Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate subcommittee has been told that by conservative estimates two-thirds of American children receive either less than adequate health care or none at all.

The assessment was made Wednesday by Dr. William B. Weil Jr. of the Michigan State University medical school for the Senate health subcommittee.

Weil said he based his findings upon data supplied by the National Health Survey.

"At least 25 per cent of the health care required for children is not being delivered," Weil said. "It's shameful that with the resources we have we must get up year after year and give this information."

End Of Golden Eagle Pass Is Being Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton has proposed an end to the $10 annual Golden Eagle passport into national parks and recreation areas. It would be replaced by a $4 annual permit for persons 16 or over.

The Golden Eagle pass for families admits a whole carload of passengers regardless of the number. The Morton proposal submitted to Congress Wednesday would mean higher park fees for some families, but a $2 cut for families with children under 16.

The White House Office of Management and Budget suggested the Golden Eagle pass be abolished in favor of individual permits. There was no estimate on how revenue would be affected.

The proposal would not affect daily individual fees.

Armed Forces Day Open House Set

Hamilton Air Force Base, which canceled its traditional Armed Forces Day open house last year because of plans for nationwide antiwar demonstrations, will have an open house May 12.

The Air Force's aerial demonstration team, the Thunderbirds, is scheduled to perform at the open house, which will feature display of aircraft and fly-bys, according to the base public information office.

Party Line Battle Urged

The Marin County Republican Central Committee has urged Marin Republican representatives in Sacramento to stik to party lines in the battle over reapportionment.

Chairman Rodgers C. Broomhead said the motion passed Tuesday urged Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-Seventh District, and State Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, to do what is best for the Republican Party during reapportionment. "We felt it might give them a tool to lean on." Broomhead said.

E. H. Bergman of Mill Valley as chairman of the local committees in Southern Marin, Broomhead said.

Wrong First Name

A story in Tuesday's Independent-Journal giving a schedule of coffees for Marie L. (Jo) Mc Leod, candidate for the Reed School District board in the April 20 election, incorrectly gave her first name as Marin.

Find Prehistoric Mammoth's Bones

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet zoologists have found the bones of a prehistoric mammoth on the floor of the Arctic Ocean, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

The zoologists said the mammoth, a large hairy elephant, lived 11,000 to 12,000 years ago, lending support to the theory that the level of the ocean then was more than 100 yards lower than it is now.

Nixons To California For Week's Respite

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Nixon plan to fly to their California oceanside villa Friday for a stay that will probably last until April 2.

A spokesman said the President would concentrate on polishing his domestic proposals to Congress during the stay and expects to conduct a full schedule of business.

Irish Footballers Extend Their Stay

That Irish Football game in San Francisco last Sunday proved so entertaining to the 7,000 spectators that the sponsoring United Irish Societies has persuaded the teams to stay over this week for a rematch Sunday again at Balboa Park.

And that's just fine with two of the All-Ireland All-Stars who whupped the national champion Kerry team 25-14 in last Sunday's first-ever All-Ireland game ever played in the U.S.

They are Sean O'Neill, who captained the All-Stars, and Colm McAlarney. House guests of Kevin Downey, a transplanted Mick now living in Terra Linda, O'Neill and McAlarney seem to be enjoying their stay, going to the races at Golden Gate Park, swimming, golfing and sightseeing.

I had a couple of brews with these international sports stars at Wiltshire Towers in San Rafael the other day and found them to be fine, personable broths of young gentlemen in their late 20s.

O'Neill is an attorney in Ireland and is fascinated in the Angela Davis case and the Marin County Civic Center.

McAlarney is a school teacher back home. An ardent swimmer, he's been churning up local pools all week — heated or not.

Asked about their upset victory over the champs from Kerry Sunday, O'Neill and McAlarney both flashed big grins, rubbed their hands in delight and vowed to do it again, although both said: "Kerry is really out for revenge. They've been practicing all week to get even with us."

Tickets to next Sunday's game, by the way, are on sale locally at Macy's Department Store and Wiltshire Towers.

A DINER at San Rafael Joe's Restaurant last week was Big Ben Davidson, the demon defensive end for the Oakland Raiders who takes great delight in devouring rival quarterbacks.

Ben, in the company of localite Phil Starr, was described by Joe's owner Hector Rubini as ". . . the sweetest guy you'd ever want to meet."

Oh, yeh?? Just ask Joe Namath!

HEY, YOU dirty old indoor sports of the Girl Watchers League, Lower Torso Division: I direct you to the Casa Loma Room cocktail lounge of the Holiday Inn (Terra Linda). Those new hotpants uniforms on the cocktail waitresses provide a major league indoor sport, I kid you not. Very viewtiful.

There are 26 lads on the Redwood crew, according to team advisor Bob Cumming, and last Friday they whipped Technical High of Oakland in two races.

Hoping to keep the streak alive, the redwoodsmen will match oars with Salesian High of Richmond tomorrow in four races at Aquatic Park, Berkeley.

RAY BENNIGSON of San Rafael, an enthusiastic UCLA alumnus, thinks the almighty Bruins will go all the way in the NCAA basketball classic tonight and Saturday. When someone told him to beware of Western Kentucky, Bennigson turned this clever phrase: "Why, we'll turn those eratz colonels into a bunch of popcorn."

Marin Tar Hurler Blanks West Valley

Bueler Shuts Out Foes, 2-0

I-J Special Report

CAMPBELL — Dennis Bueler threw a nifty four hitter and knocked in the only run he needed with a sacrifice fly yesterday as the College of Marin Tars beat previously undefeated West Valley Junior College of Campbell, 2-0 in a Camino Norte Conference baseball game.

The victory was the second against no losses for Bueler, and it lifted the Tars of Kentfield into a tie for first place in the CNC with West Valley. Both teams are 3-1. The freshman righthander struck out six and walked none as he went the route for the second time in as many starts. Last week he limited De Anza to five hits and an unearned run while winning, 7-1.

Marin scored single runs in the second and fifth, the first coming across in the person of Larry Brazda on a bases-loaded sacrifice fly by Bueler. In the fifth, second baseman Mike Parnow got on base via an error, and came home on another miscue with the insurance run. Bob Sutherland and Dee Fedrick each had a pair of singles in the winning cause, and Rafael Gallardo smacked a double.

The Tars were scheduled to play again this afternoon, at home against Contra Costa of San Pablo beginning at 3:30 p.m.

BASEBALL

Impressive Wins For Prep Teams

Three Marin County Athletic League teams scored impressive inter-league baseball victories yesterday.

Mike Sabel pitched a one-hit, 3-1 victory for Terra Linda High School over Oakland Tech at Oakland; Tom Olson pitched Marin Catholic to a 4-2 decision over Cardinal Newman High at Santa Rosa; and Redwood ripped out 12 hits in a 9-1 romp over Sacred Heart of San Francisco at Larkspur. The Tamalpais-St. Ignatius of San Francisco game at Mill Valley was cancelled due to wet grounds.

In hurling the Trojans to their fifth victory in their last six games, Sabel was near perfect as 44 of his 58 pitches were in the strike zone. He walked only one batter and struck out four.

Terra Linda scored twice in the third inning on four walks, an error and two infield grounders and one run in the seventh on singles by Rick Trono and Bill Berry sandwiched around a sacrifice.

Olson, meanwhile, brought cheers from Marin Catholic coach Gary Hughes after he set down Newman on four hits while striking out six and walking none.

"He (Olson) has had a sore arm this spring and this was his first pitching assignment," said Hughes. "I'm really encouraged because we're counting on him to be the ace of our staff."

Marin was also led to its fourth victory of the year against six setbacks by Vince Bormolini's two hits and by Don Bianchini and Paul Riccardi, each with a one run single.

Starting pitcher Bob Gorman, who had two hits, injured his ankle in the third inning and had to leave the game. Reliever Steve Laden stuck out seven and allowed only three hits the rest of the way as Redwood posted its fourth victory against three losses.

Lakers, 76ers Draw First Blood In NBA Playoffs

By United Press International

The opening games of the National Basketball Association Playoffs could be considered a tribute to the guards —those who played and those who couldn't.

Hal Greer scored 30 points to help the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Baltimore Bullets 126-112 Wednesday night and Gail Goodrich's two free throws with 61 seconds left rallied the Los Angeles Lakers to a 100-99 victory over the Chicago Bulls. The Atlanta Hawks are at New York to face the Knicks this afternoon and Milwaukee meets San Francisco at Oakland on Saturday.

Greer, the 76ers' veteran guard, and Billy Cunningham sparked a string of 13 straight points midway through the third period that sent Philadelphia on its way to victory. The 76ers, runnersup in the Atlantic Division, opened up a 90-77 lead after three periods and the Bullets, the Central Division champs, couldn't get back into the game.

One of the key reasons for Baltimore's lack of offense was the physical condition of guard Earl Monroe, who was bothered by a virus and bruised ribs and scored only six points, well below his average.

"We played our type of game and they didn't," explained Greer. "We ran when we had the opportunity and we played tight defense. I said all along, as long as we can do this, we can beat any team in the league.

"I heard that Monroe is sick and that had something to do with it. Earl is not the best defensive guard in the league, but neither am I. One little thing like his being hurt definitely hurt them from playing better defense."

Greer hit 11-of-24 shots and contributed eight foul shots and six assists in 38 minutes. Cunningham had 26 points for the 76ers while Gus Johnson and Kevin Loughery each had 19 to lead the Bullets.

Goodrich's two free throws came after the Lakers, playing without star guard Jerry West, rallied from a 17-point deficit. Chicago, the Midwest Division runnerup, led 99-98 over the Pacific Division champions before Goodrich missed one foul shot, then dropped in the next two of his three-for-two penalty situation.

The Bulls missed a pair of shots attempting to take the lead and the Lakers regained possession. Jim McMillian's field goal attempt with six seconds left was rebounded by Goodrich, who dribbled away the last few moments.

McMillian, given a starting shot since west is out for the season with a knee injury, scored a career high 26 points while Goodrich added 24 and Keith Erickson hit for 23. Bob Love's 24 points were high for the Bulls.

The Bulls, led by Love's shooting and rebounding, built a 56-39 lead in the third period before the Lakers rallied. Los Angeles outscored Chicago 21-6 to cut the lead to 62-60 and McMillian finally tied the score with 4:50 left in the game. Chet Walker's layup with 1:19 left gave the Bulls a 99-98 lead before Goodrich converted his crucial free throws.

Giants Turn On Power

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) —Big bats wielded by Bobby Bonds and Willie McCovey have made the San Francisco Giants 1970 spring baseball champions of the Bay Area.

Bonds' two-run shot off loser Jim Hunter broke a 4-4 tie in the fifth inning and propelled the Giants to a 10-7 Cactus League win over the Oakland Athletics Wednesday. That gave the Giants a 3-1 final edge over the Athletics in their four-game spring series.

Frank Reberger picked up the win although he was a bit shaky at times. A double by Bobby Heise and single by Reberger gave San Francisco an 8-4 lead in the sixth and that run turned out to be the winner.

McCovey bashed a solo homer in the second inning and brought home the Giants' seventh run with a sacrifice fly after Bonds hit his homer in the fifth.

Today the Giants were in Yuma for the opener of a two-game series against the San Diego Padres. The teams also play in Yuma Friday.

Oakland catcher Dave Duncan hit a two-run homer off Reberger in the fourth to tie the score 4-4. Duncan also led off the third with a double and scored on Dick Green's single.

In the sixth, the A's scored twice on a wild pitch and a double by Ron Clark. A throwing error by Tito Fuentes gave the A's their seventh run in the eighth.

Today the Athletics move across the border to Palm Springs to open a two-game series with the California Angels.

NFL Field Goal Rule Change? 'No Chance'

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)— Football commissioner Pete Rozelle watched the Atlantic surf lapping at the backside of the old Breakers Hotel and commented on a proposed radical change in field goal rules.

"It's got about as much chance as a snowball out there," Rozelle said.

The head man of the National Football League was referring to a suggestion up for consideration today by club owners, who are holding their annual winter meeting in this sun-bathed, upper crust resort.

The proposal, which would drastically alter the nature of the game, has to do with the field goal attempts outside the 20-yard line. If the kick is muffed and a touchback develops, the ball would be returned to the line of scrimmage instead of the 20-yard line as the present rules specify.

Rozelle hedged when asked who wants the rule changed.

"It may have come from just one club," he said. "I don't think there is any great support for it."

Earlier in the day, the NFL bosses had voted down a proposal to give a team the option of running or passing for two points after a touchdown. That reflected the philosophy of the late Vince Lombardi, legendary coach of the Green Bay Packers.

"Like Lombardi, they feel that in pro football it's important to win, but the big thing is not to get beaten," said Mark Duncan, supervisor of league officials.

NFL press aide Don Weiss pointed out that it was the second time in as many years the two-point conversion rule has been voted down. He said that this time it was defeated by a big margin, but there seemed to be more sentiment in its favor this time.

Weiss said that in the American Football League, which used the two-point conversion system for 10 years, it was tried only 15 times in 1969 after a total of more than 300 touchdowns. Only four of those attempts were successful.

Also voted down was a proposed change in the encroachment rule that would have permitted play to continue to its conclusion during a field goal attempt or extra point try. The current rule, which will stand, stops play immediately and does not give the defensive team the option to refuse the penalty.

SERIOUS HEAD INJURIES?

Frazier Facing Suspension

Campbell examinined Frazier for three days after Frazier's successful 15-round title defense over Muhammad Ali on March 8 and revealed the champion was suffering from the symptoms of either a concussion or a subdural hematoma.

During the days after the bout, Frazier suffered from severe nausea, including vomiting, and "was more exhausted than any fighter I've ever seen," according to Campbell. He also showed an increase in blood pressure, a decrease in pulse rate and headaches before he was later hospitalized in Philadelphia for a series of extensive tests.

Because of the symptoms, Campbell said he hoped Frazier would decide to retire and added that he was recommending suspension because of the probability of a head injury.

Frazier was hospitalized a week after the bout when he returned home to Philadelphia, and he will not be discharged until Saturday. He was described as "feeling fine".

Dr. James C. Giuffre, who has been administering tests and treatment to the 27-year-old Frazier since he arrived at St. Luke's Children's Hospital, said, "I'm perfectly satified with my findings that he's fully recovered. He has a strenuous schedule ahead of him and we want him back in a month to check him.

"We want to make absolutely certain he is top physical shape," Giuffre added. "I'm perfectly satisfied that he suffered no head injury or brain damage in the fight. He came to me showing signs of tension and stress. His main complaint when I saw him was of tiredness. It was because his blood chemistry was abnormal and his blood pressure was elevated. There was no evidence of any head injury."

A subdural hematoma is a blood clot in the tissue surrounding the brain, and it can grow larger, forcing an operation. Symptoms for a concussion or subdural hematoma include nausea, headaches, high blood pressure and a low pulse rate. Frazier had all of those symptoms.

A neurosurgeon explained that a brain (subarachnoid) hemorrhage, in addition to a concussion, would also cause the symptoms experienced by Frazier. He added that if the cause had been a subdural hematoma, the clot would have to be a very small one or else Frazier's condition would have gotten progressively worse.

The "punch drunk syndrome" found in some fighters was attributed to a series of minor hemorrhages in the brain over several bouts by the neurosurgeon.

Giuffre said the champion was not suffering from any fight-connected illness, but Campbell disagreed, saying, "He certainly didn't have anything wrong with him before the fight so the illness had to come from the fight itself."

UPSET OVER NEUMANN'S SIGNING

College Coach Angry At ABA Raid

HOUSTON (UPI)–News of sophomore Johnny Neumann's signing with the American Basketball Association came as a bitter disappointment to Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky Wednesday. He said ABA scouts should be barred from college campuses.

"You've just hit me like Nagasaki," Rupp said when informed of the Mississippi sophomore's signing with Memphis of the ABA. "Johnny Neumann and I have been personal friends," Rupp said.

"I had hoped he would remain in our conference. He is a truly great athlete, and I am sorry to see him take this route.

"I believe he has made a mistake."

Charles Neinas, assistant to the executive director of the NCAA, said he would recommend barring ABA scouts if any athletic director asked him.

"Any institution which rents to the ABA should think twice about it," Neinas said. "I would assume that our members and the National Association of Basketball Coaches will adopt a fairly strong position of noncooperation of anything that has to do with the ABA," he added.

Rupp is president of the NABC which is meeting in conjunction with this week's NCAA basketball finals. He said the coaches will discuss the situation at their convention which continues through Friday.

Neinas doubted the $2 million figure Neumann was supposed to have received for signing an ABA contract.

"It is difficult to realize that they can afford to pay the salaries they are quoting, according to their attendance figures, and I suppose their attendance figures are exaggerated," Neinas said.

Handicap Win For Yachtsman

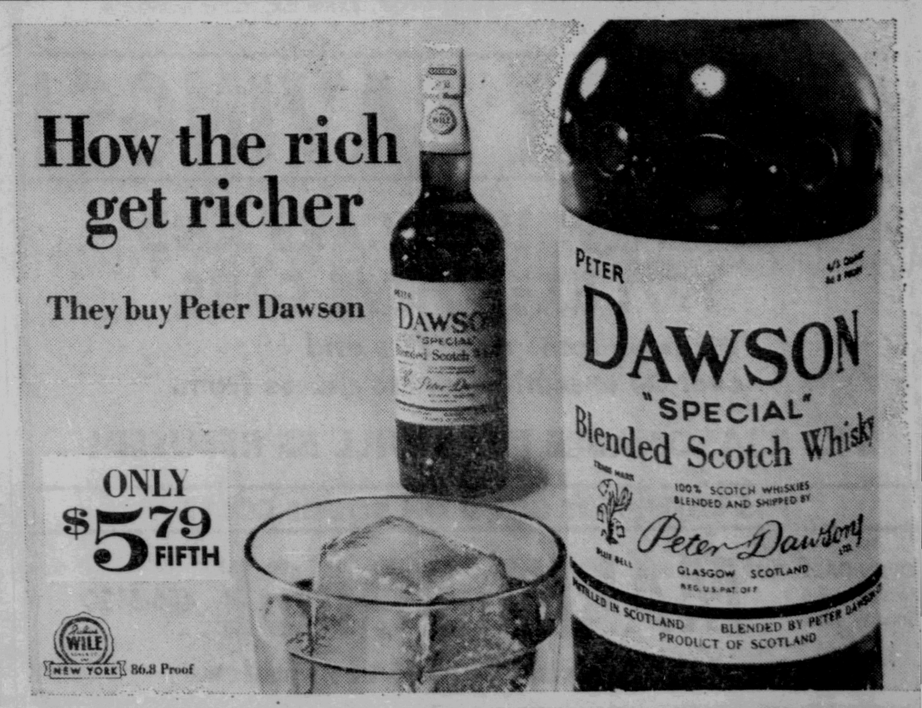
Improbable, captained by David Allen of the San Francisco Yacht Club, crossed the line fifth Tuesday, but Wednesday's handicapping gave her a corrected time of two days, 22 hours, 48 minutes and 19 seconds.

First to cross the finish line was the 73-foot ketch Windward Passage, but she had to give up time to the smaller, 43-foot Improbable.



NIT BASKETBALL

Georgia Tech, St. Bonny Win

NEW YORK (UPI) —With all but four teams watching from the sidelines, the replays of regular season games take over tonight in the National Invitation Tournament.

Georgia Tech, getting a 27-point effort from Rich Yunkus, upset Michigan 78-70 and St. Bonaventure reeled off 10 consecutive points in the last five minutes to beat Hawaii 73-64 Wednesday night to move to a semifinal round showdown.

The other semifinal match pairs North Carolina and Duke against each other. In Atlantic Coast Conference tests, North Carolina took two out of three against Duke.

St. Bonaventure defeated the Yellow Jackets by two points in their meeting in the Gator Bowl Classic, but Georgia Tech Coach Whack Hyder said, "This time I want to see a different ending."

Hyder's hopes for a "different ending" almost ended in the closing minutes of Wednesday night's victory over the Wolverines, however, when Yunkus tumbled head first to the floor. He was helped from the court, but after sitting on the bench on the sidelines for a few seconds he got back in the game, finishing with 16 rebounds in addition to his 27 points.

"I landed on my wrist and bent it backwards," Yunkus explained, "but it won't bother me against St. Bonaventure."

Yunkus is Georgia Tech. Hyder admitted Yunkus' importance by putting the 6-foot-9 center back in the game after the spill although there were only two minutes left and Georgia Tech held a comfortable lead.

"This was a big ball game," Hyder said, "and we have some young players who can make mistakes out there, cost us points and maybe the game. I wasn't taking any chances on Michigan coming back."

Georgia Tech, which led 33-31 at halftime, had command of the game early in the second half as Yunkus poured in six points in a three-minute stretch to give the Engineers a 43-35 lead. Michigan pulled to within three points with 8:07 remaining, but never got any closer.

Yunkus got help from Tommy Wilson, who scored 15 points, including 11 in the second half, and from Bob Murphy, who finished with 16, to give Georgia Tech a 22-8 record.

Hawaii also saw its hopes for a victory end in the second half as Carl Jackson scored 13 of his 15 points to lead the Bonnies back. Hawaii had trailed by as many as 12 points in the first half but rallied to take a 62-59 lead with 6:13 left in the game.

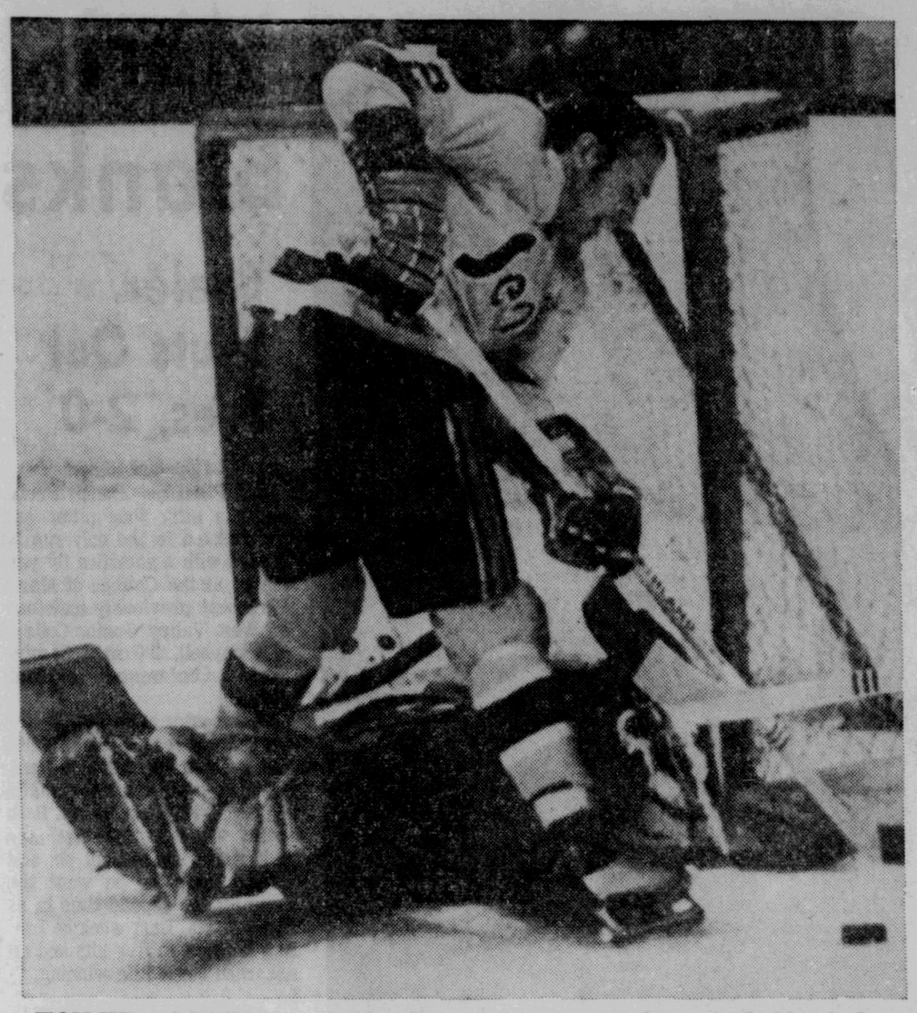
However, the Rainbows didn't score another point for the next five minutes as St. Bonaventure reeled off 10 straight. Greg Gary scored 20 points to lead the Bonnies to their 20th victory against five losses, and Paul Hoffman added 18 points. Hawaii finished with a 23-4 record.

Hawaii Coach Red Rocha said the Bonnies can go all the way to the title.

"We were afraid of their quickness and we weren't wrong in our assessment," Rocha said. "We thought they were the only team we'd seen that was quicker than us. I think they can win it because we were beaten by a very good ball club. If we'd won it, we could have gone to the title."

In the earlidr meeting this season Georgia Tech and St. Bonaventure both had key men missing from the lineup.

Duke won its last meeting with North Carolina 92-83, but lost the previous meetings 83-21 and 79-74.



FOILED AGAIN — Oakland's Gary Jarrett tried in vain for a goal but was blocked by Toronto Maple Leafs goalie Jacques Plante in National Hockey League action at Oakland last night. Plante, down on the ice here, blocked plenty of other shots as Toronto scored a 6-0 victory. (UPI Telephoto)

Plante Again Poison To Hapless Seals

OAKLAND (UPI) —To the California Golden Seals, a big gulp of cyanide or Jacques Plante means the same thing.

Try though they may, the Seals have been unable to beat Plante in the three years they have been in the National Hockey League. Plante was victorious every time he was in goal against the Seals for the St. Louis Blues and then the Toronto Maple Leafs.

An irritating nose boil could have ended that string Wednesday night before 3,891 fans at the Oakland Coliseum-Arena but it didn't. Instead Plante and Bernie Parent shared a 6-0 shutout of the Seals.

It was the fifth time California has been blanked this season and closed the season's series with Toronto at 2-3-1.

Plante turned back 20 California shots in the first two periods and then turned the netminding over to Parent after complaining that his face mask was irritating a nose boil.

Parent had things fairly easy in the final period as the Maple Leafs outshot the Seals 16-6.

Center Norm Ullman, returning to action after missing five games with an injury, led the Toronto attack with two goals. Other goals were scored by Dave Keon, Darryl Sittler, Ron Ellis and Brad Selwood.

California dominated play in the first period, outshooting the Maple Leafs 11-10. However, Toronto made their fewer shots count, scoring three times against goalie Gary Smith.

Gridder Dies Of Head Injury

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)— David Madon, 16, of Baxter, KY., a junior at Harlan High School, died Wednesday at the University of Kentucky Medical Center after becoming ill during football practice.

The Fayette County Coroner's office said Madon died from "cardiac arrest" caused by an apparent head injury suffered in practice.

The school principal, Thomas Ward, said, "He wasn't doing anything at the time, but complained of being dizzy and became ill."

He was hospitalized at Harlan and then brought here after physicians said he suffered a ruptured blood vessel at the base of the brain.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Expos' Morton In Form

By U. P. International

Carl Morton says he is out to prove that 1970 was "no fluke" and it looks like the Montreal Expos' sophomore pitcher will achieve that goal.

An 18-game winner and the National League's Rookie of the Year in 1970, Morton went the nine-inning distance Wednesday in pitching the Expos to a 6-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves. Morton allowed only four singles as the Expos scored their ninth victory in their last 11 games.

Morton, a converted outfielder, had a 3.60 earned run average to go with his 18-11 record in 1970.

On other fronts: Thurman Munson and Bobby Murcer hit homers as the New York Yankees downed the Boston Red Sox, 9-5, while pummelling former 22-game winner Jim Lonborg for six runs, seven hits and two walks in four innings. Lonborg, attempting to recapture his 1967 form when the Red Sox won the American League pennant, has yet to make an impressive showing this spring ... Bob Robertson's sixth homer of the spring, a three-run clout in the first inning, paced the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies. John Briggs homered for the Phillies.

Tommy Helms and Hal McRae had three hits each and Milt Wilcox pitched seven scoreless innings in the Cincinnati Reds' 8-4 win over the Houston Astros. Cesar Cedeno, Ray Busse and Jay Alou homered off Joe Gibbon during the last two innings ... Al Kaline's three-run homer off Dave McNally helped the Detroit Tigers to a 7-2 decision over the Baltimore Orioles despite a homer by Boog Powell.

Richie Allen had a triple, double and two singles to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 10-9 victory over the Washington Senators. Curt Flood drove in three runs with a single and double for the Senators ... Leron Lee's seventh-inning double drove in the tie-breaking run as the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Chicago White Sox, 3-2. It was only the sixth loss in 19 exhibition games for the White Sox.

Dick Drago allowed only four hits and an unearned run in seven innings in the Kansas City Royals' 6-3 win over the Minnesota Twins. Drago, 9-15 last season, is the first Kansas City pitcher to go seven innings this spring ... Tom Murphy's three-hit pitching for seven innings paced the California Angels to a 2-0 win over Salt Lake City, their Triple A affiliate.

Player, Palmer, Trevino Head Airlines Golf Field

Tennis

CHICAGO (UPI) — Cliff Drysdale of South Africa and Ray Ruffels of Australia won second-round victories Wednesday in the $50,000 sportface international tennis championship.

Drysdale used his two-handed backhand swing to defeat Owen Davidson of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-4.

Ruffels defeated fellow Aussie Phil Dent, 6-3, 5-7, 7-6 in three sets, winning a tie-breaker in the third set.

No Electronic Sounds For Duck Hunters

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill to ban tape-recorded or electrically amplified animal sounds has been introduced in the California legislature.

Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, said Wednesday these devices are being used with increased frequency to lure ducks, birds and mammals near hunters' blinds.

SPORTS SHORTS

Football

Gov. William T. Cahill announced Wednesday that the Giants have assured him they will sign a lease for the new sports complex and move their franchise there, once the state provides means for its construction.

Basketball

Fitch had planned to officially protest the Cavaliers last season game, a 114-112 loss to the Portland Trailblazers Tuesday night, but he learned Wednesday the time for filing a protest was past.

National Basketball Association rules state all protests must be filed by midnight of the last day of the regular season. Tuesday was the last day.

Baseball

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—The New York Yankees announced Wednesday that they have asked waivers on pitcher Mike McCormick, a one-time $80,000 bonus whiz and a 22-game winner for the San Francisco Giants in 1967.

Bowling

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— Lefthander Dick Battista of Astoria, N.Y., takes a 65-point lead into today's third round of the $60,000 Don Carter Bowling Classic.

Battista, winner of the 1970 Grand Rapids Open, rolled a 12-game total of 2,605 in the first two rounds Wednesday for a 217-plus average to pull ahead of the 128-man field.

General

CHICAGO (UPI) — Verlon "Rube" Walker, pitching coach of the Chicago Cubs, died Wednesday at Wesley Memorial Hospital of complications of a blood disease. He was 42.

Walker was starting his 11th year on the Cubs' coaching staff. He was appointed pitching coach last winter and travelled to Scottsdale, Ariz., with the Cubs for spring training but returned to Chicago and was hospitalized here last week.

TIRED OF NURSE-MAID ROLE

Being A Loser Is New To Seals' Fred Glover

OAKLAND (UPI)—In his 23 years in professional hockey, Fred Glover hated to lose and seldom did until he became coach of the rag-tag California Golden Seals.

Now losing has become a nightmarish habit which the longtime player-coach of the Cleveland Barons is trying to kick. In the process, he indicates he'd like to kick some of his players to get them moving in the direction of their potential.

Glover and owner Charles O. Finley began building for Glover and owner Charles Om Finley began building for future years several weeks before the end of the 1970-71 National Hockey League season which will wind up with the Seals mired in last place in the Western Division.

If there's eventually to be a pot of gold at the end of the Seals' somewhat drab rainbow, Glover figures it will have to be in the form of young, aggressive players who will transform the club from a group of lacklustre individuals to gritty competitors.

"If they're in the pros, they must play like pros," says the 1968-69 NHL coach of the year. "If they don't do it, they're not pro hockey players and will find themselves on the outside looking in."

He admits he is "getting tired" of playing nurse-maid, psychiatrist and preacher to some players whom he accused of sometimes placing the individual above the collective.

"Some of them just think of 'I and me' instead of 'we and us.' I've been trying to tell them in the ultimate end 'we and us' is more important because if you play for 'we and us," then 'I and me' come out on top anyway."

Injuries played a major part in severely crippling California's playoff hopes quite early in the season.

Only five players managed to escape sidelining injuries—defensemen Doug Roberts and Ron Stackhouse, forwards Ernie Hicke, Dennis Hextall and Gerry Ehman.

Glover, 43, admits injuries were "a major factor" in the poor showing (19-48-5) of the Seals this season but added that was only part of the story.

"Certain players used this as an excuse for our misfortunes," said the coach. "They themselves didn't play well and used an injury to someone else as a cop-out."

In recent weeks, the Seals began their rebuilding by peddling ailing 38-year-old defenseman Harry Howell to the Los Angeles Kings. Ted Hampson, 34, was traded to Minnesota for Tom Williams, 31, and defenseman Dick Redmond, 22.

Minnesota then purchased 29-year-old defenseman Wayne Muloin from the Seals. Glover hopes to keep dealing for younger talent throughout the summer but admits he won't give up "battleships for rowboats."

"Aggressiveness is one of the key things we need. That shows they want to play the game both offensively and defensively. A lot of guys think there is only one end to the rink but they're wrong. In hockey you must be agressive all over the ice."

Glover says he will travel the Canadian hinterland this summer looking for talent. He adds there is a "very good possibility" two or three players now with the Providence Reds may be with the Seals next season.

Among the players mentioned on the Seals development club at Providence as possible NHL material are center Peter Laframboise, defensemen Ted McAneeley and Neil Nicholson and forwards Chris Oddleifson and Randy Rota.

Glover, who has one more season to go on his contract, says he and Finley see eye-to-eye on rebuilding with youth. "I have had no problems with Mr. Finley ... he's been okay as far as I'm concerned," said Glover.

Claiming that hockey has a "very good future" in Oakland, Glover said the attendance would pick up once the team became competitive. The Seals are the poorest drawing card in the league, averaging 5,924 per game, approximately 400 less than last season.

"If we had been competitive this year, the fans would have turned out. As long as you get a club to play interesting hockey, fans will, in turn, associate with the team."

UCLA's Reasons For Wins

HOUSTON (UPI)—UCLA has had a reason for winning each of its last four NCAA basketball championships.

The reason for the first three was simple—Lew Alcindor. That was 1967, 1968 and 1969.

Last year the Bruins won it because they wanted to prove they could do it without Alcindor, Coach John Wooden said Wednesday night on the eve of the Bruins' semifinal clash with Kansas.

Western Kentucky, 23-5, and Villanova, 26-6, a pair of fast-breaking teams who have never made the NCAA finals, will meet in the other semifinal game. The winner will play the UCLA-Kansas winner for the championship Saturday. UCLA's game tonight will be televised at 6:30, Channel 4.

"Last year they were extremely hungry all season because certain players thought they hadn't received their just due because of Lew," Wooden said. "It wasn't that they didn't like Lew. They did.

"They wanted to show everybody they could win it without him," Wooden said. "I think maybe they also wanted to prove it to themselves, too.

"They haven't been that way this year," Wooden said. "They got a little more hungry the last two weeks."

Wooden caused a minor incident when he showed up in the stands of the Astrodome prior to the UCLA practice session and watched the final 15 minutes of the Kansas workout. Coach Ted Owens of Kansas didn't like it.

"It's highly unusual," Owens said. "If he thinks that's all right, everyone has his own beliefs. I wouldn't do it."

It will be the muscle of Kansas' 6-10, 235-pound Dave Robisch and 6-10, 225-pound Roger Brown against UCLA's forward wall of 6-9, 217-pound Steve Patterson; 6-8, 230-pound Sidney Wicks and 6-7, 225-pound Curtis Rowe.

Rancho Cotate Triumphs

By GARY LONDON

The Rancho Cotate High School Cougars followed the old rule, "Do unto others as they would have done unto you" yesterday in whipping the rival Petaluma Trojans 8-1 in a complete reversal of their previous encounter last week.

Playing at Petaluma's McNear Park, the Rancho team of Rohnert Park was the one taking advantage of errors instead of the other way around. When the two teams met last Friday at Sonoma State College, Petaluma clobbered the Cougars 9-3 in a laugher.

This time, however, Cougar pitcher Dave Christenson had his stuff in holding the opposition to one run on four hits, while going the full seven innings. The Rancho Cotate defense was sharp, too, committing only one error to Petaluma's five. Petaluma is now 4-4 in pre-season won-lost action, and will open North Bay league play Friday against Hogan of Vallejo as defending NBL I champions. Rancho Cotate now has a 2-2-1 record with its next game slated against Ukiah Friday in Rohnert Park.

San Jose State Vs. Santa Clara

SAN JOSE (UPI) —San Jose State and Santa Clara have renewed a football rivalry which has been dormant since 1952.

Both schools announced Wednesday they would play four games at Spartan Stadium starting Sept. 9, 1972. Other dates are Sept. 8, 1973; Sept. 7, 1974 and Sept. 13, 1975.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Left-handed bowlers need not feel left out of today's bowling game at all. Some of our best pro's are southpaws, especially among the men. The left-hand side of the alley will have a higher polish, since it isn't used as much. For this reason, lefties can expect less of a hook and it might be wise to start farther to the left than usual.

Sonoma State Nine Splits Twin Bill

The Sonoma State College Cossack baseball team has been enjoying a better season than its basketball team ever did. But not much better.

Yesterday the Cossacks split a double header to the Oregon College of Education that extended their won-lost record to 2-10. The Cossack basketball, team, by the way, went winless.

In the opener, the Cossacks won a close 4-3 game behind the bat of Jeff Barker who hit a fourth inning homerun. In the fifth inning, the Cossacks managed to bring in three more runs to pave the victory. Jim Salm was the winning pitcher.

In the second contest, Oregon got the only run of the ballgame in the third inning, as the visitors pulled out a 1-0 win. Mike Bell was the losing pitcher.

Alcindor Runs Off With NBA Scoring Honor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Lew Alcindor, 7-foot, 2-inch star of the Milwaukee Bucks and the National Basketball Association's most valuable player for 1970-71, was officially crowned the league's scoring champion today with a 31.7 per game average.

Statistics released by the NBA showed that Alcindor tallied 2596 points compared to 2338 by John Havlicek of the Boston Celtics. Elvin Hayes of the San Diego Rockets was third with a 28.7 average and Dave Bing of the Detroit Pistons was fourth with 27.

Alcindor averaged 28.8 points during the 1969-70 season when he was the NBA's rookie of the year.

Let's Knock The Nonsense Out Of GLASS-BELTED TIRES!

Every company makes a fiber glass polyester tire. Every company makes more than one. Their best being good - the others not as good.

Many companies have copyrighted names for the tires, such as Poly-glas - Sup-R-Belt - Dura-glas - Dyna-glas - Perm-A-Glas and so on and on. NOW NOTE - regardless of their name or the manufacturers - if they are a 2+2 belted tire and the companies top one, they are all pretty much the same in quality and therefore performance. If they are a step below the firm's best then they will perform that much less.

Fiberglas Tires are not as good as the top Radial tires, in fact they came into existence when the American Mfg. failed on his first attempt at making radials in 67 and 68. Some firms make fabulous claims for their glass belted tires. In buying, keep in mind what I stated above PLUS THIS FACT - of the over 3000 brands you have to choose from in domestic tires - THEY ARE ALL MADE BY ONE OF ONLY ELEVEN MANUFACTURERS. I make this point to show that glas tire for glas tire, they're all pretty much the same - as long as you compare like for like, whether the tire is Goodyear, Firestone, Atlas, Shell Oil, Union Oil, Sears, Wards - regardless of the vast price difference, your problem? Knowing what is like to like. AND THAT FOLKS IS THE TRUTH.

Consistency Is Big Thing, Says Stone

PHOENIX — Steve Stone knows he is on the spot. The 23-year-old rookie righthander is well aware of the high praise heaped on him this spring. He knows that he has been compared to the New York Mets' pitching ace Tom Seaver. He knows that the Giants expect big things from him this season.

Is he frightened? Is he pinching himself to make sure it isn't a dream? He did seem in a dream world the first time he faced major league batters March 5 in the 1971 Cactus League opener against the Chicago Cubs. Wasn't that true?

STONE ADMITTED he was shaking on the mound that day in Scottsdale, that he was terribly self-conscious, that his thoughts were wandering, that he found it extremely difficult to concentrate on the job at hand — throwing strikes.

He threw only one strike in his first nine pitches and two Cubs were aboard on walks. He welcomed the hurried visit to the mound by Charlie Fox who assured him that the Cubs "put their pants on one leg at a time."

STONE STOPPED shaking. So did Fox as the rookie retired the next three Cubs.

"The closest I'd previously been to major league batters was the stands," said Stone, a superb control pitcher as he was to prove in his next outings. "I was wild, too, in my first pro games at Fresno two years ago. I was trying to strike out everybody. I averaged 12 strikeouts a game at Fresno but my earned run average was ludicrous (3.61). Strikeouts are important when they are needed but not just for the sake of logging them. That's one thing I've learned."

Stone has learned a number of other things in his fast promotions from A, AA, AAA to major league competition in two years. Indeed, he now looks like a poised performer who thrives on competition. He is a very determined young man, confident but not cocky in the way he views his fast rise into the Big Time spotlight.

"DETERMINATION does have a lot to do with it," said Stone. "But consistency is more important. To be successful a pitcher must be consistent."

It was Stone's consistency at Phoenix late last season that convinced the Giants he should be invited to spring camp this year on a non-roster basis. He was promoted to Phoenix and AAA Coast League competition from Amarillo, the Giants' AA farm club in the Texas League. At Phoenix, Stone won five of eight starts, losing three. More importantly his ERA over 58 innings was 1.71.

LAST WEEKEND the Giants made Stone a member of the big team, purchasing his contract from the Phoenix club.

(Tomorrow: More about Stone in a third and final article).

Terra Linda Gymnists Win 5-Team Meet

Terra Linda High School's gymnastics team, fresh from a first place victory in a five-way meet Tuesday, will host Monte Vista High School of Danville next Tuesday.

The Terra Linda team, with help from San Rafael High School's Leonard Pinto and Ron Nelson, won its meet last Tuesday at Sequoia High, Redwood City. Other competing schools, besides Sequoia, were Awalt, Palo Alto and Carlmont.

Leading the way for the Marin team was Sean McLaughlin, with first in parallel bars and side horse vaulting and a third in rings.

Point winners for the Terra Linda team:

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Excellent Choice In Illinois Central

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My husband works for and is considering investing in Illinois Central. What are its prospects for capital appreciation over the next few years? — C.M.

A. Illinois Central Industries, a railroad holding company, has diversified into real estate, manufacturing and bottling. In 1970, 78 per cent of pretax earnings was derived from nonrail activities. Although 1970 sales were up, earnings were lower at $2.56 a share from $3.02. Aided by higher nonrail profits and reduced losses on passenger traffic, earnings should recover sharply this year.

The proposed merger of Central's rail subsidiary and Gulf Mobile & Ohio would save approximately $1.25 a share and would eventually eliminate the passenger deficit which was 74 cents a share in 1969. The merger, although approved in principle by the ICC Examiner, has been opposed by the Justice Department. Your husband's confidence in his company is justified; shares are an excellent growth investment.

Q. I bought Fidelity Fund shares over the years and now have about 1,000 shares. I am 70 years old and need income. I was informed that for 1970 there would be no capital gains payment. Do you think I should hold or sell? How safe is Fidelity? — C.G.

A. Fidelity Fund, with approximately $764 million in assets, ranks as one of the larger mutual funds in the field. While not without the minimal risks inherent in any investment, Fidelity has an above-average stability record. Portfolio is compiled of high-quality growth isuues but because of the fund's size and conservative investment policies, growth has not been as dynamic as for some of the performance funds.

One of the difficulties for income holders in mutual funds is that capital gains are not guaranteed. In this case, because of the general market decline, no capital gains resulted in 1970. Thus the usual January payment was omitted this year.

WATER MONITOR — U.S. Steel says this monitoring station continuously checks the quality of waste water discharges from its Pittsburg works before the water is returned to the New York Slough. Before the water reaches this point, it has passed through treatment facilities and settling basins which neutralize it and remove minute settleable solids, U.S. Steel says.

U.S. Steel Announces Plans For Pittsburg Water Control

PITTSBURG — United States Steel has announced plans for construction of redesigned water quality control facilities at its Pittsburg works.

The plans were presented to the staff of the Regional Water Quality Control Board on March 2, the announcement said.

Engineering studies for these facilities began when permanent regional water quality standards were announced last Nov. 4. Until this information was available, the Pittsburg works had no realistic basis for facilities planning to solve complex operating and technological problems posed by the new standards, a spokesman said.

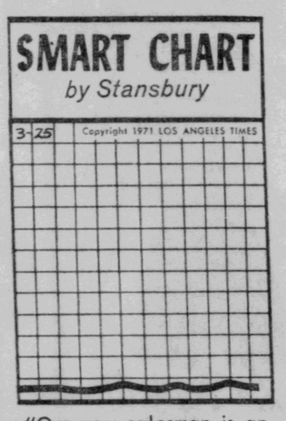
"We regret the action on March 4 by the State Water Resources Control Board in seeking an injunction against Pittsburg Works, but this has not changed our intent or action toward installing new water quality control facilities," superintendent J. V. Dorman said.

The Pittsburg works has in recent months installed new settling basins to reduce settleable solids and installed additional treatment facilities to control quality of waste water discharges into New York Slough, near the confluence of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers.

"Tests on fish survival have shown the problem of potential toxicity to be completely in hand. We are dealing with unusually stringent waste discharge requirements for particulate matter and coloring and wholly-new restrictions on heavy metal content," Dorman said.

"With the facilities installed in recent months, we expect to continue to meet toxicity requirements until the redesigned distribution system and clarifying equipment can be installed," he added.

"Good water quality is not something you decide upon independently and arbitrarily. It involves cooperation by all to produce the best long-term result for everyone in terms of conservation, use and improvement of our water resources. This is a goal toward which we, at Pittsburg Works, are more than willing to contribute our specialized capabilities. There is no plant activity that carries a higher priority with us," he said.



"Our new salesman is an eagle in the office but a chicken on the road."

Market In Reverse On Early Sales

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market was reversed through the first two hours Thursday.

"It was nothing more than an extension of Wednesday's decline," one analyst observed. He said the previous session's big drop brought in additional selling early Thursday.

Individual issues came under pressure following the decision of the Senate to cut off funds for the supersonic transport plane.

Of the 1,505 issues crossing the tape, 965 pointed lower, while 234 gained.

Prices also retreated in moderately active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Declines led advances, 581 to 150.

Among the most active Big Board issues were Faberge down 1-8 and Boeing off 1 5-8. Boeing was the prime contractor for the SST.

Among the weakest spots were Superior Oil off 4, IBM 3 3-4, Honeywell 4 3-4 and Burroughs 3 1-4. Off a point or more were National Cash Register, RCA, Magnavox, Motorola, Texas Instruments, Xerox, Atlantic Richfield, and Standard Oil of California.

Computing Firm Wins NASA Deal

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Computing & Software Inc. has announced that NASA'S Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., has exercised an option to renew its existing contract with C & S for one year.

This is the first of two one-year options written into the contract, each valued at approximately $6.1 million.

The contract provides for continuation of the company's date processing services related to business and scientific applications.

At Goddard, Computing & Software operates specialized telemetry processors for the reduction of data and provides engineering and maintenance of certain equipment and computer programming.

Kaiser Aluminum Declares Dividend

OAKLAND (BW) — Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share on the corporation's common stock.

The dividend is payable May 31 to stockholders of record May 7.

Recycling Plan Extended By Lucky Brewers

SACRAMENTO (BW) — Lucky Breweries, the nation's first brewer to buy back all its bottles and cans, will extend the program throughout Northern and Central California, Northern Nevada and Montana next week.

Beginning Monday, Lucky's wholesale-distributors in those regions will pay consumers 25 cents for every case of 24 Lucky bottles and 12 cents for every case of 24 Lucky cans returned to their warehouses, he said.

The company currently recycles all its bottles and cans in Washington, Northern Idaho, Western Oregon and the San Francisco Bay Area.

Merchants, Police To Sponsor Seminar On Frauds, Forgeries

Bad checks, forgeries, shoplifting and sometimes credit card frauds are continually irking problems for retail establishments.

Next Tuesday evening the Downtown Merchants Association of San Rafael will try to help stores do something about it. The association is sponsoring a seminar in cooperation with the San Rafael Police Department that day at 5:45 p.m. at the City Council chambers in the San Rafael City Hall. The security division of the Western States Bank Card will also have someone there to talk on credit card frauds and how to go about preventing them.

The meeting is intended primarily for business owners, managers and key personnel in the downtown San Rafael and Northgate areas but is open to interested parties from other parts of the county.

GERALD M. GUNN of Mill Valley has been promoted to manager of Wells Fargo Bank's Golden Gateway office in San Francisco. Formerly assistant manager of the Polk-California office in that city, he has been with the bank since 1964. He has served at the Greenbrae branch as well as in the bank's San Francisco offices.

Gunn

Johnson

JOHN E. JOHNSON of San Anselmo, senior vice president of Honig-Cooper and Harrington and group account supervisor for Levi Strauss and Co., will be a featured speaker at the April 5 meeting of the San Jose Advertising Club.

JOSEPH BOYD of Corte Madera has joined Fred Harvey, restaurant and resort subsidiary of Amfac, Inc., as director of audits and systems. He was previously audit supervisor for Harris-Kerr-Foster and Co. of San Francisco.

EVIO COMOLLI of San Anselmo has been elected first vice president of the Redwood Coast Chapter of the American Institute of Banking. He is with Wells Fargo Bank.

THOMAS M. QUIGG of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant vice president, personnel administration, at Bank of America's San Francisco headquarters. With the bank since 1962, he has worked at San Rafael, Napa, Larkspur and Mill Valley offices, as well as at San Francisco headquarters where recently he has been an assistant cashier.

EDGAR T. LINDNER JR. of Sausalito has been named loan officer at Bank of California's San Francisco main office.

THE MARIN BUILDERS EXCHANGE has elected as directors: James McDonald of San Anselmo, with the architectural firm of Wagstaff and McDonald; Clayton Halbert of San Anselmo, of C and H Scaffolding; Juan Ferrer of San Rafael Ferrer Plumbing; Richard L. Miller of Greenbrae, with Marin County Roofing; and Alfred J. Dalecio of Ignacio, with Bresnan-Dalecio, Inc.

WINE ART SAUSALITO, a new branch of the San Francisco-based Wine Art, Inc., has opened at 301 Harbor Drive, Sausalito. The company has shops throughout the United States.

The shop provides wine hobbyists with everything from imported champagne yeast to complete do-it-yourself winemaking kits. Wine tasting, winemaking classes and wine appreciation courses are also held. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays. Nanette Owens is in charge.

Hearst Denies FTC Allegations

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Hearst Corp. today joined Cowles Communications, Inc. in denying Federal Trade Commission (FTC) allegations of deceptive tactics in door-to-door magazine subscription sales.

Hearst said it has "never engaged in any of the acts or practices charged to be unlawful" by FTC. A Hearst subsidiary, Periodical Publishers Service Bureau, Inc., also denied the allegations, as did a periodical licensee, International Magazine Service.

Cowles, accused of the same practices, answered similarly Wednesday FTC said formal replies have not yet been received from two other firms accused in the same action, Time, Inc., and Perfect Film and Chemical Corp.

Marin Boy, Cub Scout Troops Launch Spring Clean-Up Drive

The year-long campaign, sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America, will culminate June 5, Keep America Beautiful Day, when over 6 million Boy Scouts will set out to pick up litter along city streets and parks.

In Marin, several thousand boy scouts are expected to join forces that day to pick up litter scattered over Marin, according to John Bagshaw, program director of the Marin Council, Boy Scouts of American.

Most of the Marin Boy Scout troops and Cub Scout packs have selected the projects they intend to work on during the year, Bagshaw said. They include general clean-up jobs, recycling and conservation projects. Most will work in cooperation with city and county officials.

Projects already under way are:

Troop 71, Terra Linda — Will pick up aluminum cans from the Terra Linda area for recycling at the Golden Gate Distributing Co., which will pay 11 cents per pound, one cent of which will be added to a campership fund for disadvantaged scouts.

Troop 18, San Rafael — Will clean up trash from Gerstle Park and adjoining roads once a month from March to June.

Troop 59, Greenbrae — Will collect aluminum cans from the Greenbrae area for recycling.

Troop 74, Marinwood — Will clean up and repair banks along local creeks through July. The troop is working with the Marinwood Community Services District.

Troop 142, Novato — Will also do creek clean-up work and erosion control projects.

Troop 360, San Rafael — Will clean and restore the Boyd Park pond. They are working with the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

Troop 21, San Rafael — Working with the Marin County Fire Department, will clear debris from parks and build fire breaks.

Troop 69, Cedars Development School, Ross — Will maintain the 16 trees they planted earlier this month.

Pack 54, Mill Valley — Will plant and maintain seedling trees near the Marin Terrace School. They also will reseed bare spots at Mount Tamalpais State Park.

Pack 36, San Rafael — Will work in Boyd Park, trimming bushes and patrolling grounds in the picnic area.

Missile Fired

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A satellite employing a Thor Agena combination missile was launched Wednesday afternoon from this military aerospace center. Details of the launch, conducted by an air force-industry team, were not released.

Apprentice Day Is Announced

Apprentice carpenters, cabinetmakers and millwrights from Marin and other Bay Area counties will compete in projects all day April 17 at the Stonestown Shopping Center Mall and the Arts and Industries Building at San Francisco State College.

The apprentice tradesmen will be given plans and must work on a project for eight hours. It is sponsored by the San Francisco Carpenter Joint Apprenticeship Committee.

Welcome, Young Men, To Dominican College

The boys are coming!

The venerable elms and eucalyptus on the beautiful campus must have shivered a little extra in the breeze Tuesday morning, and the Victorian walls of Edgehill and Meadowlands must have trembled as they have not since the 1906 earthquake, when Sister Samuel Conlan announced that the college is going co-ed.

Actually, the break in the all-girl tradition came several years ago, when young men were admitted to the graduate school. And this year there was one lone undergraduate male, in the music department.

BUT NEXT FALL, the whole image will be changed.

Instead of all-girl classes (sometimes with a male professor), there'll be a sprinkling of boys in most cases. Instead of just groups of girls walking from building to building, there'll probably be groups of girls surrounding still-outnumbered boys.

San Rafael's exclusive girls' college will become instead a co-educational liberal arts college which, in time, undoubtedly will become a major asset to the community in ways the "old" Dominican, despite its prestige and its excellence, could never be.

And many Marin parents, who hesitate to see their sons leave home for campuses where freedom reigns but little else does, may welcome the chance to send them to a college right at home which can be depended on to continue the gentle but effective discipline that characterizes the Sisters of Mercy.

WE FIND THE PROSPECT quite pleasing. We're sure most of the girls at Dominican College do, too. And as Sister Samuel put it quite plainly to the students, one reason for "going co-ed" is to attract more girls. They like to be where the boys are.

After all, finding a husband has long been one of the accepted reasons for a girl to attend college.

There'll be a few wrenches with the departure from tradition, of course. And one will be here at the Independent-Journal, where we'll have to wrench away from the women's pages much of the Dominican College news that has gone on them as a matter of course ever since the school started in 1914.

Welcome, young men, to Dominican College of San Rafael!

Don't Know What We Don't Know

The problems of ecology are so new that making flat statements is risky business. We tend to take the printed word as gospel. When the sky starts falling in we are prone to seek a scapegoat. This is true of the newly discovered problem of eutrophication.

The proliferation of algae has largely been blamed on phosphates in detergents. Also, on sewage and the runoff of agricultural fertilizer. But, we can't stop there. Nitrogen can cause eutrophication, too. In northeastern Colorado, it was recently discovered that ammonia vapor from the huge cattle feed-lots was carried to the clouds on warm days and rained down into ponds 20 miles away, causing severe eutrophication.

We can't do everything at once. But rather than stand still and wring our hands, we can move a step at a time. We may be masters of the moon, but here on earth we don't begin to understand our environment. And we can't know what we don't know.

By being a little bit humble in the face of the enormity of the problem of cleaning up Mother Earth, we can avoid a credibility gap. And at the same time keep things moving.

Filibuster To Save Filibuster Is Dull And Not Even Tiring

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) —For those romantics who, at the mere mention of a filibuster, conjure visions of thundering oratory, fiery exchanges, bitter enmities, cloakroom deals, heroic feats of endurance, and pajama-clad senators: forget it.

That's the way it used to be. It isn't anymore.

A filibuster, modern style, is, in fact, a most dull and boring exercise in an institution that has, over the years, devised many ways to provoke acute disinterest and mass absenteeism.

TAKE THE MOST recent one, for example.

It started Jan. 25, four days after the 92nd Congress convened and ended March 9. Initiated by southerners with ample support from conservative Republicans and small state senators, the filibuster blocked a change in the filibuster rule.

The rule remains, thanks to the filibuster, at two-thirds of the senators voting to invoke cloture. The proposal was to change it to three-fifths.

On the surface, the period between Jan. 25 and March 9 appears to be a good, long one as the calendar goes—certainly a wearying ordeal for those—many of them aged—to hold the floor and block any action.

Nothing of the sort.

THERE WAS, for instance, a pleasant respite when the Senate took a week's recess to pay tributes to Washington and Lincoln in one escape from the nation's capital.

But there was no need for a rest.

The hours in session during the filibuster would have done a banker proud. Start around one or two, go until three or four and on real hectic days, five in the afternoon. No nights, no weekends.

Instead, the filibuster consisted of senators, their voices amplified by a new loudspeaker system, reading dull speeches to a bored audience of restless pages and puzzled visitors.

THERE WERE FOUR votes to cut off the filibuster. Everybody knew how they would come out so quite a few senators — as many as 16 one time — just didn't bother to come around.

When it was all over, the victors and the vanquished—calling each other distinguished and better—praised everybody in sight.

What a comedown for King Filibuster.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

City Also Rapped For Hiring Practices

This is further to the letter to the editor of March 15 from the attorney who tried to get a position in the D.A.'s office and was given the "run-around."

It is not only the county but also the City of San Rafael that pulls such unethical practices. In late September or early October 1970, my husband read an ad in the I-J for a purchasing agent for San Rafael. This was on a Friday night. On the Tuesday of the next week, he went to City Hall and applied for the job. He was told by the receptionist that he was the ONLY one who had applied for the job, that the man interviewing was in San Diego on some sort of convention and he would return in a couple of days and would then call my husband. My husband filled out an application, and incidentally had all the qualifications — plus 20 years experience — for the job. Not only was he never called for an interview but two weeks later received a "form" letter saying the job had been filled.

From there he went to the Civic Center to apply for a possible opening and was not even permitted to fill out an application.

It seems the city and county pick only those people who are in the "in", so why do they even bother to put ads in the paper for jobs and at the tax payers expense to boot?

'Student Rights': Social Indigestion

I see in last night's (March 16) paper that some of our local high school leaders are now demanding that students be allowed to determine what they should be taught, to publish their evaluations of their teachers, and to share the facilities traditionally assigned to their teachers such as private lounges, restrooms and parking lots. All this (plus God alone knows what else!) in the name of that hallowed and seemingly all-embracing thing called "democracy"!

Such statements and the attitude they manifest would be laughable were they not so potentially tragic in their implications. The ignorance, moreover, they manifest about the American way of life should be a source of serious concern to all of us.

Since when, for example, has this country — or any other country, for that matter — operated on a simple "majority rules" basis? And since when has any society been ruled by its youngsters, by those considered too young, inexperienced and naive to even be held legally responsible for many of their actions? . . .

Part of the problem, I fear, is the fact that many of these old-fashioned ideas are no longer considered relevant enough to find an important place in our sparkling, new social studies curricula. If so, I would suggest that those responsible recall another old-fashioned but highly relevant fact which is that "the proof of the pudding is in the eating"! Currently our "education pudding" — at least in the area of the social sciences — shows signs of producing an acute case of "social indigestion"!

Women's Pages Show Relevance

My thanks to you and women's page editor Barbara Hosmer for the stimulation and "relevance" now evident in that section of the paper. By paying attention to the many highly accomplished and gifted women now resident in Marin County, you are doing more than merely throwing a bone to Women's Lib: you are doing a service to humanity (and, it goes without saying, to good, responsible journalism).

I was spurred to write this note tonight by Pat Balmes' interview of Robin Hudnut, granddaughter of Robert Frost. That was a pro job, of high quality. Obviously Pat Balmes is a responsive and acute human being, but even rarer, I think, is her ability to select and transmit the high points of her subject's personality and keep herself, the writer, out of the picture. No gush and bubble "female writing" for Pat Balmes, and good for her.

But my congratulations to all the ladies on your staff — and to you, I-J, for appreciating them.

Forced Retirement For Chief Bloom

Recently a matter of great importance to the people of Marin, as well as the state, was brought to my attention, the matter is of such importance that I feel that the people of the county should be apprised of what is being contemplated. Some years ago the Marin County retirement laws were changed so that employees in the sheriff and fire departments were classified as safety members.

This classification requires that personal in either of these departments reaching the age of 60 are faced with mandatory retirement.

Two exeptions to the rule are the county sheriff (an elective position) and the undersheriff who is an appointee.

Our present fire chief Louis Bloom, whose duties are that of an administrator, will be 60 on the 1st of June 1971, has been advised by the Marin County Retirement Board that on that date he must retire.

My concern and hopefully yours is that Mr. Bloom with his years of experience in fire department administration, his complete knowledge of the county and his splendid cooperation with the chiefs of all the various fire departments, the close contact with the Division of Forestry, which covers the fire protection of state lands in Marin, and his lifetime dedication to the county in these fields are things that cannot be filled by anyone now in the department or by any newcomer.

The Marin County Retirement Board would do well to reconsider their decision and change the status of Mr. Bloom from a safety member to a regular member, thereby giving Marin County the priviledge of having three to five years of additional service from a dedicated, capable and efficient chief.

Double Billing For 'Free' Shots

This letter is written to you in the hope that you have a louder voice than I to ask some interesting questions.

My wife and two oldest sons participated very actively in the bird-cleaning activities that followed the recent bay oil spill. They worked many hours a day for several days during that emergency. I was, and am still, very proud of their efforts.

The volunteers were told repeatedly that they MUST have anti-tetanus shots if they were bitten or scratched by the birds. The shots were to be administered free by a volunteer doctor at Marin General Hospital.

My oldest son was cut, and the Red Cross took him to the hospital, with a whole station wagon load of other victims, for his shot. He was also told to get a cortisone shot to reduce the swelling of a case of poison oak that had been aggravated by the oil, or feathers, or something. He was told that the shot would be free too.

Last month the hospital billed us for the material used in the two shots. We paid, thinking this was a strange kind of "free."

When a bill arrived from the doctor, charging $10 for his professional services, I got mad. Not only was he billing us, but the bill had, written across it by a red felt pen, "This billing must be paid in 10 days."

The bill was returned unpaid, with a letter reminding the doctor that he had volunteered to give free shots . . . His reply was to threaten the use of a collection agency to get his fee, which I have paid to avoid legal problems.

His professional services consisted of phoning for my consent to treat my son and of telling a nurse to give him the two shots.

The questions I am asking are these:

How many other volunteer workers find themselves in similar situations?

How many others have already quietly paid for the "free" treatment required by their efforts during the big clean-up? Is this an isolated case, or did other doctors pull this sort of thing?

812 Bombings Since Last July Remain Mostly Unsolved Crimes

WASHINGTON — The International Association of Chiefs of Police began last July to tabulate reported bombing incidents. The total from that date is an astonishing 812. They vary from the destruction of the University of Wisconsin Army Mathematics Research Center last Aug. 24, with one fatality and property damage of $7 million, to small homemade bombs that fizzle out in washrooms and broom closets.

What is also astonishing is how little the Department of Justice seems to know about this rash of bombings or, at any rate, how little information it will make known. In one incident after another the suspects are still fugitives with, if one accepts the statement of the Justice Department, small chance that they will be found and brought to trial.

In the Wisconsin bombing the suspects are four youths ranging in age from 18 to 22, three of them former university students and one a high-school dropout. In the early fall the three were reported close to arrest in a small upstate New York town. The Justice Department believes they are now in Canada.

IN CASE AFTER case, where the federal government has come in under statutes covering interstate travel in conspiring to riot and bomb, fugitives have eluded the FBI.

FBI appropriations grow bigger and bigger every year. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell claims the right to indiscriminate wire tapping limited only by self-restraint, which is no limit at all. Yet the net result as the wave of bombing accelerates is so meager that critics are beginning to question the effectiveness in this area of the FBI. So sanctified has J. Edgar Hoover bacome in his 75th year that it is heresy to suggest any flaw in the agency he has headed for 46 years. Yet the facts — or the lack of facts — seem to speak for themselves.

THE FBI HAS GONE all-out on the conspiracy case in which two priests, Rev. Daniel and Rev. Philip Berrigan, are the principals. They had been convicted of destroying draft records, a deliberate act of protest committed at Catonsville, Md.

Father Philip was caught in fairly short order and sent to the federal penitentiary at Danbury, Conn. But for four months Father Daniel almost literally thumbed his nose at his pursuers. He would preach a sermon or pray with some of his underground followers and then disappear again as the FBI men thought they had tracked him down.

Both the Berrigans were in prison at Danbury when the conspiracy indictment was returned in Harrisburg, Pa. It charged Father Philip and five others, including nuns and a former priest, with plotting to bomb the heating system of the capitol in Washington and then kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on security affairs. Father Daniel was named along with six others as a co-conspirator but he was not indicted.

HOOVER HAD ALREADY made the headlines when, in testifying before a congressional committee, he disclosed what has become known as the George Washington Birthday Plot (that being the day the conspirators were to close down the government and carry off Kissinger. It has long been Hoover custom to produce a sensation when testifying for FBI appropriations.

The Berrigans have won many friends convinced that the conspiracy law is a dubious weapon and particularly when, as in this instance, no overt act was committed. One friend is Rep. William R. Anderson of Tennessee, who retired from the Navy after a distinguished career as the commander of the first atomic submarine, the Nautilus, making the first transpolar voyage under the ice. Anderson recently paid his sixth visit to the Berrigans at Danbury and reported them confident and in buoyant spirits.

Their trial in early October — former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark is a defense counsel — will range over the whole area of conspiracy and loyalty. It promises to be a landmark case attracting worldwide attention. The Justice Department has a bear by the tail, with the outcome unpredictable.

The Trains No Longer Run On Time In Italy

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Back when Benito Mussolini was top man in Italy, any discussion of him usually ended on some such note as "at least the trains run on time."

It was an important observation because it implied order instead of chaos and stability instead of instability.

And it is a longing for these qualities, a revulsion against the violence and the succession of unstable governments which have characterized Italian life for the last couple of years, to which is attributed the sudden prominence of the Italian political right wing.

IT IS AN ALMOST incredible situation since for so many years it has been the political left as represented by communism that has been regarded as the greatest threat to Italy's democratic institutions.

The rightwing neofascists have been among the weakest of Italy's political parties. That there could be a return to fascism, Mussolini style, seemed unthinkable.

Yet it was a reported plot against the government by ultra rightists that led Premier Emilio Colombo to warn against extremists of both left and right and in effect to call down a plague against both their houses.

The excessive nationalism of fascism and nazism, he said, "ends up devouring freedom and humanity."

Factional bickering among the Christian Democrats, the Socialists and the Social Democrats of the government coalition, plus divisions within the parties themselves, have delayed essential social and administrative reforms.

Workers have become impatient with the scarcity of low-cost housing, insufficient urban and commuter transportation and the inadequacy of health-care and old-age pension systems. Students have become impatient with delays in reform of the antiquated educational system.

Out of these have come the violent demonstrations whose size and frequency threaten Italy's swiftly expanding economy.

STRIKES AND VIOLENCE in 1969 caused the national growth rate to drop to 5 per cent from the 6.8 per cent of the year before.

Wage increases and a reduction in work hours won in strike settlements boosted industrial costs by 20 per cent. Labor productivity fell off. The Fiat Corp. alone reported that absenteeism cost 30 million working hours and strikes another nine million.

There was the perennial problem of the gap between incomes in the north and in the south, which was widening. Italy's over-all per capita income in 1970 came to more than $1,500. But in the south it was just about half that.

If Italy is to avoid disaster brought on by the right or left or a combination of both, then the center must achieve a discipline now woefully lacking. Something has to be done to make the trains run on time.

Bigger Oil Spill 49 Years Ago Caused No Fear For Environment

The massive oil spill in January that blanketed Marin beaches in ooze and imperiled thousands of birds remained at least one Independent-Journal reader of another spill almost 50 years ago.

The collision of two Standard Oil tankers in dense fog near the Golden Gate Bridge Jan. 18 dredged up memories for Santo Picone of 1140 Elm Drive, Novato.

In 1922, when Picone's father was the tender at Mile Rock Light, a Union Oil tanker, the Lyman Stewart, collided with the 10,000-ton freighter Walter Luckenbach.

That crash, too, was in dense fog in the Golden Gate, but the atmosphere surrounding the accident was much different.

ACCORDING TO the San Francisco Chronicle of Oct. 8, 1922, the tanker's captain pumped almost all of its three million gallons of oil into the water in an effort to save the crippled vessel. Less than one million gallons was spilled in the bay from the ruptured tanks of the Oregon Standard this year when it was rammed by a sister ship.

Nevertheless, the collision of the Standard Oil tankers was considered an ecological disaster; the 1922 wreck was almost a lark.

The Chronicle's headline on the story of the rescue of the crews read "Crew of wrecked ship lands safely, chilled and hungry, but still smiling."

"Cheerful" seamen told the newspaper that the experience was exciting. No mention was made of the effect on the environment.

In contrast, news coverage of the most recent oil spill concentrated on the effects of the oil slick on wildlife and beaches, and on the massive efforts to clean up.

THE NEWS of 1922 had other stories in common with 1971. The maxi-skirt was considered stylish, Greece was in the throes of a military dictatorship, pundits were predicting a world war in the Middle East because of the Jews, and the schools were strapped for money.

Don't Expect The Thing To Last Without A Service Contract

WASHINGTON — In the world of planned obsolescence, the service contract plays a most vital role. There is hardly anything you can buy now that doesn't have a service contract to go with it.

The other day I went into my favorite department store to purchase a paper cup dispenser. It cost $1.50.

As the man was writing up the sales slip he said, "Would you like to have a service contract with this?"

"What for?" I asked.

"Well, it could break down and you would have to call someone to fix it. If you take out a service contract, which will only cost you $40 for the year, we would send someone to your house free of charge."

"BUT WHY WOULD you sell a paper cup dispenser that would break down in less than a year?"

"Please don't get me wrong. I'm not saying that this paper cup dispenser will break down. We've sold several of them that need no servicing at all. But our experience has been that the majority of the dispensers do cause trouble after frequent usage. Where did you intend to use this paper cup dispenser?"

"In the children's bathroom. They don't seem to ever rinse their glasses after they brush their teeth."

"Then you'll certainly need a service contract. These paper cup dispensers were not built to stand the punishment of children using them every day."

"BUT THERE IS a guarantee with the paper cup dispenser."

"That's only if it's used by a senior citizen three times a week. Of course, you don't have to take the service contract — it's strictly optional.

"But we know a dentist who installed one of our paper cup dispensers in his office and it broke down. It kept dispensing three paper cups at one time. He didn't have a service contract, so it took three months before we could get to him. By the time our man repaired the dispenser, the dentist had used $645 worth of paper cups, not to mention the $25 we had to charge him for the house call."

"BUT," I SAID naively, "it seems so unfair to sell someone a new product and then inform him it's liable to break down."

"On the contrary. We would be dishonest if we sold you the product and didn't inform you it would break down. These service contracts are for the protection of the customer. Two weeks ago a lady bought one of these paper cup dispensers and after two days, it wouldn't dispense any paper cups at all. She had to keep leaning over and trying to drink directly from the faucet. Fortunately, she had a service contract with us and we sent over a man right away. It turned out a sprocket spring behind the reject lever had slipped out of the three-way hook. He replaced it in an hour and all the lady had to pay for was the new parts.

"Except for a bad back she developed trying to lean over the faucet, it only cost her $12."

"I STILL DON'T understand why a reliable store like this would carry a paper cup dispenser that won't hold up."

"Well, frankly sir, we're not too fond of these paper cup dispensers ourselves. We don't even make any money on them."

"Then why do you sell them?" I asked angrily.

"Because," he said primly, "we make all our profit on the service contract, stupid."

Hub Town Meeting Plan Told

A series of gatherings in preparation for the annual San Anselmo Town Meeting have been announced by chairman Dr. Martin G. Blinder.

He said neighborhood meetings in at least 75 homes have been scheduled for Saturday so that residents can hash out topics for the town meeting May 8.

Each of the hosts will contact his neighbors to announce the time of his session, Blinder said.

In invitations mailed to each San Anselmo resident, the town meeting committee included six issues around which discussions may be focused.

They are growth, attitude toward new life styles, drug use prevention, responsiveness of government, the cost of government and improvement of recreational facilities.

From discussions of these and other issues raised by citizens at the grass roots meetings the discussion at the town meeting will be organized, Blinder said.

Taxpayer Suit In Subway Issue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A taxpayers' suit was filed Tuesday to force the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to construct a subway in San Francisco's West Portal District, instead of a downtown station.

The Superior Court suit was filed by attorney Thomas H. Crawford in behalf of four taxpayers who hold the district can not change the plans it offered in 1962 when bonds were voted to finance its three-county rail system.

In that issue, a subway was promised, to be operated in conjunction with BART by the city's Municipal Railway.

16-Year-Old Held In Burglary Suspicion

A 16-year-old Inverness Park boy has been booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of burglarizing a Point Reyes Station firm, Marin County Sheriff's Office reported yesterday.

Deputies said Andrew Evans of Vallejo Avenue was arrested after his wallet was found March 17 inside Building Supply Center, Second and A streets.

19 Included On Dean's List

Petaluma students with highest honors with a grade point average of 3.6 or better on 12 units of classes included James Roy Arnett, Harold C. Bard, Roberta Benjamin, Kenneth Billing, Sandra K. Collier, William Dickerson, Robert Freudenberg, Gloria B. Howe, Steve J. Kelly, Debra L. Matteri, William S. McCoy, Kathleen McSween, Linda D. Porter, James G. Tippit and Steven Zurilgen.

Marin County students on the highest honors list were Laureen Pisano of Novato, Charles Bruscino of Larkspur, Peggy M. Kimberly of San Anselmo and Henry W. Righetti of Tomales.

Three Petaluma Seniors Honored

Three Petaluma senior high school seniors have been selected as "Outstanding Teen-Agers of America" for 1971.

Douglas White, Wendy Dragoo and Jane Ringstad were nominated by Principal Dan E. Montgomery on the basis of their community service and academic achievement.

The students will compete for state and national recognition, including two $1,000 scholarships.

Six Stipends Are Offered By P-TA

Marin High School students interested in competing for six scholarships of $250 each should apply to their school counselors before April 15.

The stipends are offered by the Scholarship Association of the Marin County Parent-Teacher Association and may be used at a college or university, a trade school or other institution of higher learning.

The scholarship association was founded in 1928 and has awarded 121 grants to Marin students. Funds are obtained through special donations and from dues paid by P-TA members.

Septic Tank Proposal Set For New Homes

Two Marin officials explained last night that a proposed new septic tank ordinance is primarily aimed at new construction and not at 17,000 present owners as long as their present systems work.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows and William Desmond, director of environmental health, told a small audience of about 15 persons at Sir Francis Drake High School that annual inspections of all existing septic tanks are not planned.

Under the proposed ordinance, to be discussed by the supervisors on April 6, present owners will only be affected if their septic tanks fail, if they are reported as polluting creeks or their neighbors' property or, if they wish to add additional bedrooms to their homes.

If any of these conditions occur, Barrows and Desmond conceded that the property owners would fall under the proposed legislation and would probably have to conform to new tougher standards for leaching lines and setbacks.

They would also have to pay an annual $20 fee for an inspection to determine if their tanks needed pumping, Desmond said.

He also explained that the ordinance is aimed at dealing with denser population in rural areas where septic tanks are common.

He added that in areas "with high rates of septic tank failures," it is the policy of his department to urge the residents to go to sewer systems.

Rarely, he said, has the county ever forced areas into unwanted sewage districts.

Barrows compared the new ordinance, proposed last year to billboard and sign ordinances, where amortization periods are allowed.

Teachers Question New Post

Teachers in the Mill Valley School District have asked Supt. James A. Collins why a new administrative post has been created in a year when educational programs have been cut.

Judy Mackenzie, vice president of the Mill Valley Teachers Association, said Collins has been asked to explain the action at a meeting of the group's executive board April 13.

The teachers are objecting to the reassignment of Betty Grimm, principal of Park School for four years, to an administrative post in the district office and her replacement by Dr. Logan Miles, formerly principal of Homestead School.

The change in assignment was approved March 8 by the school board on the recommendation of Collins.

"We want to know why the board and superintendent cut back educational programs last year and then created out of nowhere a job that will cost the district more money," Mrs. Mackenzie said.

Anti-Noise Bills To Legislature

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A car dealer filed a $1.5 billion antitrust suit Wednesday against the "Big Three" automakers and three car rental firms over the prices fleet users pay for vehicles.

James G. Diconstanzo of Dover, Mass., a Chrysler dealer, accused the defendants of conspiring to make fleet sales at prices so low they force up prices for nonfleet purchasers.

Diconstanzo filed his U.S. District Court suit on behalf of himself and all other dealers for Ford, General Motors, Chrysler, Hertz, Avis and National car rental.

He said that from 1963 to the present, discriminatory practices had cost dealers $500 million. He asked for treble damages under antitrust laws.

DiConstanzo said dealers were forced to sell and lease to fleet users on terms dictated by the manufacturer and this forced a rise in car prices to nonfleet users. In addition, he said, fleet users then sold some of their cars on the local new and used car markets at prices below those franchised dealers could meet.

State Rejects Larkspur Request For Land Lease

The California State Lands Commission has turned down a request from the City of Larkspur to lease state lands along the banks of Corte Madera Creek.

The city, which applied for the leases late last year, had been seeking to further its control over creekside development.

In a letter from the commission's state lands division to the city, the state says its policy is not to lease to public agencies who merely seek to increase their control over the lands.

Property owners adjacent to surplus state lands have first priority for leases, the state says, but cities have the right to control development and to protest the granting of such leases.

Further, the letter states, the applicant for a lease must supply the state with an environmental impact report on the effects the granting of a lease might have on the land's environmental makeup.

The city's decision to request the leases was spurred by a similar request to the state from property owner John Moran who has proposed using public lands along the creek for access to private boat docking facilities.

Water Beds Are Traced

A San Rafael water bed manufacturer has informed police that 15 water beds stolen from the firm in mid-January were being sold by a store in Tahoe City.

A spokesman for Real Peoples Plastic Co. of 1328 Fourth Street told San Rafael police that 15 water beds worth $225 have been traced to Tahoe City.

The location of the beds was discovered by a distributor of Real Peoples whose prices were being undercut by the Tahoe City company, the spokesman said.

SPRING FASHIONS 71

Where do we go from here!

Today's hot pants are a far cry from turn-of-the-century fashions. Credited with bringing women out of cumbersome clothes is the late Coco Chanel, whose classic designs never played the seesaw game.

Independent Journal
San Rafael, California, Thursday, March 25, 1971

Cotton Denim Is The Big Fabric For 1971 Status

Diamonds may be forever, but denim — cotton denim — is definitely the new status symbol for 1971.

Denim, in its most popular form, has been synonymous with jeans for years. It also is the sign of workmen's stiff looking pants and overalls. But as fashions change, so do fabrics, and with the advent of softer looking clothes for the seventies, denim is keeping up with the times. It has had its surface brushed or scrubbed to give a soft appeance. It is pleasant to touch and allows a new dimension in tailoring. And it is this denin, brushed denim. That is the answer to spring coats and jackets for Junior Gallery's designer, Nat Hirsch.

In the 1960's youth led the way in that everyone tried to look younger and emulate the young. Mr. Hirsch believes youth is still leading but in a different manner. Today the younger generation is looked upon and expected to set new trends, new standards and to create the total environment. Then the other generation adapts it accordingly. Nat Hirsch is convinced that the young set direction of society. He firmly believes fashion starts on the streets of the world and elevates from there, which is the antithesis of the path it used to follow.

THE COUTURE as it has existed is becoming less influential and important in designer Hirsch's eyes. Certainly, this decade's younger set is more involved in the ways of the world than the young were in previous generations. They have little or no concern for very expensive, label-conscious clothes. One's status might depend on how many patches a girl has on her jeans rather than what the label of her coat reads when it's draped over a chair. The word couture might well be associated with history as youth stands today.

Junior Gallery's realistic designer thinks brushed denim clothes are timely and that the look is right for the softer styles in which he believes. He adds that in the past he has usually worked with wool, even for spring, but this year there is a better way. Also, in this time of rising costs and inflation, brushed denim clothes can be well styled and trimmed at reasonable prices. The fashions Mr. Hirsch has created are atypical and would previously not have been considered denim stamping ground at all. His denim coats for Spring will sell for less than $55.

Another youth-inspired fashion innovation which started to gain in popularity last year is cartoon tops, comic strip jeans and more. Now appliques have taken over.

MATERNITY ENSEMBLE

Gaily printed pants with flowing, pleated legs and a tunic top in yellow, white and lavender printed voile are available at Marion's Maternity in San Rafael and Mill Valley. Without the pants the empire waist is a dress for warm spring day if you like the mini look.

Spring Fashion Showing Set At Northgate Theater

A "Premiere Performance In Spring" fashion show will be presented in the Northgate Theater, on the Northgate Mall, on April 1. Two complete shows, one at 11 a.m. and the other at 1:30 p.m., will be presented by the Merchants Association and the Marin Mannequin League.

More than 50 ensembles will be featured in the Mall's pre-Easter parade of fashions for the entire family. Emphasis will be on the nomenclature of today's styles which have, at times, become as confusing as enticing.

Children's styles, from prairie dresses to hot-pants, will depict the range of freedom which, more often evident in women's wear, will be clearly viewed in the world of new men's fashions.

Using the Northgate Theater as their showroom, the Mall merchants will take full advantage of the relaxed atmosphere to show their finest apparel.

Tickets to the "Premiere Performance In Spring" fashion show are free from any merchant on the Mall at Northgate. Interested persons may pick up tickets for the performance of their choice.

Good Old Jeans Become Fancy Pants

Specialty jeans have become a uniform to the now generation. From freak to chic, all fashion starts here. Be it in old-friend denim (which will once again show its face this spring — starched, brushed and now in knits) or in the more elegant European influenced interpretations that can be worn to work, the boutique customer is making "basic Western" the best seller for every ocasion.

Plush velvets, velours, cotton suedes, canvas, corduroys, double knits and leathers are all coming out in a refined cowboy look. The styling trend leans toward French cut slight flares, but four patch pockets, bell bottoms and the 100-year-old cowpoke model will still be going strong. Patterning is intricate: Tiny florals, jacquards, stars. Fresh concept of color, from violet velvet to palest pastels.

Gentleman's jeans designed for the conventional man or woman. Jeans with special styling . . . an inch or two added where it counts to fit the average sportswear customer who likes the look of jeans. They come in a wide variety of dressy fabrics in typical dress slacks construction: double knits, linens, sleep poplins, polyester/worsted stripes — anything you'd expect in a better slacks line. The big difference, of course, is the way jeans details stand out. The wanted "extras" are still there: Front scoop pockets, back patch pockets with "X" stitching and a gentler flare in the leg. For the mainstream customer, the rise might be higher, but the jeans message can be heard loud and clear.

Return Of Polka Dots

You'll see polka dot trims on all major accessory items this spring, including footwear, A fresh, crisp look is achieved in basic sailcloth tie shoe. It's all white to the rubber sole and perked with polka dots in either red or navy, making you think of spring mornings and roses and sunshine.

The shoe is washable, and the wraparound dotted sole binding won't ever come off because it is permanently attached to the sole. About eight dollars the pair.

Fresh White Men's Suits

When it comes to coats and suits, men are due to be liberated from the heavy weights and somber colors of winter, as the fresh white suit emerges.

The white suit of the 70's has many of the style details of the 30's — such as extremely wide lapels, squared shoulders.

White doesn't necessarily mean pure white. It can run the gamut from cream to eggshell to sand.

Hemlines? A Woman Decides

What about length?

The ups and downs of the hemline, a controversial question, appear to have been resolved — and in the most logical way.

How long — or short — a woman wears her skirts is up — or down — to her.

When members of New York's Fashion Group previewed spring styles, this view was succinctly stated by Lee Hogan Cass, Multiple Fashion Director, The Broadway department stores, California:

"We believe that, never again, should any woman be told what length to wear her fashions."

Today the fashion world unites in one opinion — which is that opinions about lengths may rightly be divided.

For spring, length is a matter of individual preference, and a variety of lengths is part of the fashion picture — with just a gentle suggestion that hemlines generally tend to be lower.

Not too surprisingly, these are the lengths most women have always favored, even in the heyday of the mini.

But there's room for all lengths, from the very longest to the very shortest, with the short-short pantsuit bidding to take over from the mini for late spring and summer, and the ankle-length peasant dress gliding in gracefully.

WHITHER HEM?

As to skirt lengths, 39-41" is pretty much the rule, with more extreme lengths reserved for lateday and evening. The angle length gown captures much interest for evening.

Some Brides Prefer Victorian

Regardless of changes in bridal fashions, weddings are occasions marked by love and joy.

But what about those fashion changes? Will spring's bride opt for a country wedding — a wedding in a green field, a woodland, a garden or even a city park?

She will — and she won't.

Many members of the young generation have, in recent seasons, chosen garden or country scenes for their weddings, with fashions to match. But many, perhaps most, brides still prefer the formal or almost-formal wedding, with traditional fashions.

So spring changes in bridal fashions take two directions.

Skirts, jumpers or pinafores plus blouses and gypsy or peasant dresses are two of the newer looks.

Most of these are meant to continue leading an active fashion life long after the wedding.

Fabrics are consistent with the country theme — pique, poplin, linen, gingham, dotted swiss, for instance.

Traditional bridal fashions also change, of course, and this spring the changes are seen in a turn toward the past. Wedding gowns reflect turn-of-the-century — or earlier — influences.

Spring's bride is a romantic, gowned with Victorian charm. Her old-fashioned airs become gently modern.

Spring's bride is a shepherdess, in wedding dresses of sweetness and simplicity. She expresses the peasant look in a more formal, yet more ethereal, manner.

Spring's bride is lovely. She may be young and demure, or young and sweetly sophisticated.

Fabrics for the traditional bride's gown are dainty and sheer or crisp in a way that combines simplicity and sophistication — taffeta, for example.

Color, via a touch of pink or yellow in embroidery or appliques, may enhance white.

The Clinging Lines Of Spring Fashions

Wool has become the brilliant translator for the American way of wearing clothes. The spring collections of American designers boast sheer wools, lightweight wovens and doubleknits, lending themselves admirably to the lithe, lightly clinging lines of fashion.

The long, newly proportioned silhouette returns to woman an aura of seductive mystery. She is freshly attractive in brighter colors, more concerned with fabric and the originality of detailed workmanship. Whatever the measurement from the floor - maxi, midi, and below the knee - each woman is adapting to it, styling fashion for the ocasion. The purity of fine wool fabric induces shape and design control.

The softly shaped concept of clothes in its spring 1971 guise includes many willowy dresses of sheer wool printed and pleated in knife or crystal style, producing a fascinating kaleidoscopic movement. The skirt is set upon a tiny bodice with neat shoulders from which sleeves emerge in many shapes - freely gathered and cuffed, narrowed and long, leg o' mutton or rounded from enlarged armholes.

MARVELOUSLY SLEEK, elongated wool skirts are combined with skinny ribbed wool knit sweaters creating a classic look which frequently substitutes for the elegant silhouette of the dress. Many feature cutouts and bands of padded stitching. Contrasting colored decorations make many a wool skirt a background in the manner of a painter's canvas. Monogramming of sweaters and solid colored challis shirts is a most becoming custom touch.

Knitted sportswear is unconventional such as the longshoreman's knitted top, cut to the waist and often baring the midriff. The little top worn with wool shorty shorts has a shapely impact upon sportswear. Flowered knitted prints blossom as baring halters combined with slender pants or flowing skirts deeply ruffled at the hemline.

The peasant influence is strongly rooted in fashion. Fabric colors, textures and patterns mixed in a skillful manner convey a spirited fashion attitude. Sleeves are traditionally puffed, necklines widely U-scooped and skirts gathered in dirndle effect. The decorative if sought is tucking, embroideries and naive little bows.

Running after the sweet and simple fashions is the witty, wooly workman's stylings such as gardener's aprons, mechanic's coveralls, busboy jackets and schoolboy blazers, all adapted for town wear in lightweight wool flannel, airy fleece, denim-like tricotine and wool fancies. Combined with turtle-necked sweaters, one can add a sleeveless vest with shoulder straps balanced at the bone or shapely skinny tops.

ANOTHER OF the great wool looks is the elegant walking suit worn with a widely brimmed felt hat and dashing printed scarf. Wool pants are everywhere, purely tailored a' la the late 30s seen with an infinite variety of sweaters, tunics and shirts, effectively combined with an unlined wool cape creating a costume look.

The classic suit and coat are newly figure shaping, defining the waist, releasing the skirt to a more stabilized hemline than of a year ago, just below the knee. Designers believe that pants with matching tunic-like dresses or overskirts color-keyed and coordinated with a fitted top will satisfy many women who love a new look but will not wear the very long midi and shy away from the wearing of boots.

Spring evenings are warmed by the beauty and styling of wool fashions for dressier occasions. Backless knit dresses flow to high ankle bordered at the hemline by a giant ruffle or band of embroidery. Ruffles are seen on many coats intended for moonlit walks. Unlined and featherweight, flannel and fleece dominate the fashion scene.

The rising scale of color for wool predicts sunlit shades uuch as flesh pink, peach, apricot, apple green, bisque, lilac, marigold, baby blues to navy blue and stark white accented on occasion by black. The "look" is not monochromatic, but a mixture of three or four colors. Combine the predominant color with any two or three for a perfect blend of apparel whether it be wool knits, tweeds or sheerly woven fabrics.

New Trends In Clothes

Spring time and the fashions move in the mood.

The great jumpsuit on the beach, traveling or playing.

The midi robe for lengthy lounging.

The separates bodysuit, skirt, gaucho for lounging.

The tunic and pants together or separate by night.

The sleepers separates or the short tunic.

The playful gown long for sleeping or lounging.

The seductive slip short, longuette or mide.

The toga for sleeping or sunning.

SLITHERING JEWELS

Sprucing Up The Male For Spring

Men's dress shirts bloom. In fabric, coloration, pattern as well as styling, there will be bold new ideas and updated variations on old themes. Durable press will have completed its transition from a functional extra to being a part of the fashion theme. Many shirt manufactureer will be out for Spring with knit dress shirts in exact sizings.

SPORT-SUITS are designed in the new concept of relaxed clothes that can swing from the office to weekends and anyplace in between. The idea began with the vest and tunic suit, added safari bush coats and "peace jackets" and now sport-suits move into high gear with sportswear versions of Easy Suits.

For spring, outerwear comes through with matching or coordinated pants. "Tops" include raincoats, casual coats, country jackets. The fabrics: Canvas, nylon, linen, geometricweave cottons and texturized polyester twill. To this, add double knits.

CUSTOM-SHOP LEATHERS appears in every item in sportswear for spring '71. Stylized on jumpsuits, western jeans or safari styled sport coats, leather lends itself to everything and has unlimited appeal to the boutique customer around the calendar. The fringe that started it all in the oddball shop seems to be gone for good. In its place, the most popular variations on a skin are in patchwork reptile (vests to bags to boots).

SHIRT-SUITS revive an idea from the '30s when slack suits were a national hit. Last year the idea began again; now the suit is more important with new "units" plus extra uses for the shirt.

There are "shirts" doubling for lightweight outerwear in a wide variety of styles, longer shirt-jacs (or outsider shirts), zip-front shirts in heavier fabrics and pullovers that look great with an overbelt. The idea still is to coordinate the shirt with the pants, there's a choice of knit tops, same-weight tops or lightweight versions in the same woven or printed pattern. Shirt-suits also form the core of a wardrobe of match-or-not items with a series of "tops" and "bottoms" to match, contrast or stand alone.

Cycling Sends Fashion Designers Back To Their Sketching Boards

Bicycling, as the fastest-growing participation sport in America, has sent many fashion designers to their sketch boards to dream up exciting togs for the fashion-conscious bikers. Clothes for cycling can be versatile, they claim, and flattering.

Two current fashion favorites for the young-at-heart wed ideally to cycling, providing extra warmth for legs on spring days which can go from chilly to nilly. Gaucho trousers, when combined with high stretch boots, and bright, shimmery bolero jackets are practical and comfortable. Gauchos are a longer variation of the culotte, which like bloomers and pedal-pushers, credit their introduction to the need for practical cycling togs. Pantsuits "took" . . . are comfortable for spring biking, but devotees of the style are advised by the Bicycle Institute to avoid widely-flared or bell bottoms which couldbe an unnecessary safety hazard.

Lightweight sweaters with turtlenecks are practical for cycling; as body temperature increases sweater sleeves can be pulled up and bolero vests tossed in the bike basket.

Incidentally, mothers might like to make simple conversions of discarded tweed pants into attractive knickers for youngsters of cycling age. Pants are snipped just below the knee, gathered in an elasticized cuff (or belted with excess trouser material) and combined with high-rise hose and Mary Janes for a snappy outfit. Knickers for cycling are extremely popular with fashion leaders of both sexes. And in New York, young men and their dates often match their sox to their bikes.

Men have not been passed over by designers, either. Pierre Balmain, whose Paris showroom is world renowned recently designed a tweed knicker suit for gentlemen with battle jacket meant to be worn with a scarf at the neck and matching knee boots in the same fabric.

The Opaque Leg Still Important

The opaque leg is much more important than last spring. The colorful leg is stronger, clearer than last year. Colors that pick up the new limpid tonalities of spring fabrics are textured legs subtle lightweight textures, some of them in white-with-color mixtures that create the feeling of denim. The spot patterned leg not large patterns but delicate little patterns placed at different levels of interest.

The tip-top look includes lighter weight bodysuits and two-piece bodystockings in lighter weight knits: bra-pantyhose coordinates that beautify the young body.

WHAT'S NEW

Count Romi sees spring as a time to wear this daring, delightful design of chevron print in a cotton coat with grosgrain binding. The backdrop is split from the waist down in a completely weather wise way.

Hot Pants May Be Financial Saviour To Manufactueres

By PATRICK McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) All along Sventh Avenue, heart of the nation's garment district, clothing makers are doing cartwheels over hot pants.

The glee indicates that hot pants fever among customers may be just the financial shot in the arm the industry needs to orbit it out of the fiscal doldrums — induced when the midi failed to make cash registers ring last fall.

A survey of industry sources shows acceptance of hot pants nationwide within several months of their introduction in fashion centers of the world is a phenomenon unique in American fashion history.

Virginia Bencid, of Bobbie Brooks, a giant among sportswear manufacturers (expecting to do $100 million in sales this year), said:

"These things, new items, usually catch on in the big metropolitan areas first on the East and West Coasts — and take a year to reach the hinterlands. Not so —ith hot pants We're astounded."

AMONG MANY firms the reordering is so frenetic that shipments are running late. Some manufacturers are making the fashion item in any fabric they can get their hands on.

When shipments run late in the industry, it's a sure sign of a runaway success. At Carol Curtis Sportswear, Larry Merzon, sales manager, said shipments on orders placed this week won't be made until April.

"We've shipped thousands already and it's the biggest thing we've ever experienced in business for over 20 years," he said. "We're happy, happy, happy."

RUDI GERNREICH, one of the first among American designers to introduce hot pants last November, in a collection for Harmon Knitwear, apparently was right on target.

Carolyn Cohen, head of sales at Harmon, said safari hot pants sets at $105 are moving out very well. That price is the highest among hot pants outfits encountered during the check of industry sources.

Moving just as welll is a Gernreich vertically striped set for really hot days. The tank top bares the middle. For $50 one gets with this outfit matching ankle socks.

Anne Klein, designer of couture sportswear, put hot pants in the line five weeks ago and they're "doing fantastically." Prices range from $25 to $5, sizes four to 14, and all fabrics.

At Jonathan Logan, another giant in the sportswear field, the report is the same. The most popular price range is $10 to $15.

There's even interest in hot pants at firms catering to fashion tastes of the mature woman —over 25 and in sizes up to a missy 14, which is larger than a petite or junior 14.

One of these, Pantempos, said the version for the mature woman comes with matching skirt that buttons up the front.

EVENING ELEGANCE

The tiny midriff glitters on this ankle length evening gown with poetically full sleeves. An elegant look for a spring evening.

THEY'RE WRAPPED

Wrap coats shape spring. Many have narrowed tops, belts and full, swingy skirts.

IT'S NATURAL

Look What Woman Can Wear For Spring

The spring 71 woman is one of a kind. She's concerned and involved, seeing her clothes as an extension of her personality. She can go to fashion extremes, handling a tough job in real work clothes or getting ahead in drifting ankle-length dresses.

Unafraid of convention, she wears pants any time, anywhere; long skirts in the daytime, jeans at night. She'll be elegant and sensuous in soft chemise shapes or proletarian in peasant costumes. But every look will be thought through, put together in her own special way.

This spring, it's the spirit that counts. It's the time to enjoy being a girl in soft pastel colors and weightless fabrics that drift over the body. It's the time to get down to business in nonsense denims, to choose the hemline that's right for your life.

SOFTNESS IS the key work in shape, fabrics and details. The silhouette skims the body to the hips, then swings out in pleats, bias flares, ruffles or gathers. The bodice is relaxed and blouson or sweater-sleek, stealing the show with capelets, dolman sleeves or shoulder interest.

For every spring mood, there's a hem length. The elegant conservative length is knee-to-midi. The ankle length is newest, youngest and not for everyone. Short pants, slits and button-front skirts continue the leg show above the knee.

Spring ushers in the dress with a fresh 1971 look. All the great themes of the past are here in soft, fluid fabrics that show the body and move beautifully, telling the same story a brand new way. Newcomers have important details and plenty of fashion personality.

The shirtdress takes a long spring lease in soft fabrics and new lengths. It's an antidote to an overdose of clutter and costume and adapts to any new trend from peasant to blouson. Sweeping the ankle, it has lace trim, full sleeves, ruffles and chemise shapes.

The two-piece peplum dress, the soft body dress, the peasant dress are other looks making soft waves with smocking, tucking and draping. The big dolman sleeve, the butterfly sleeve and capelet sleeves are armed with fashion points.

SEPARATES ARE the way to get together a one-of-a-kind look. Anything goes, from hard-hitting denims to long ruffled skirts. The pants panorama spans all age groups, all fashion territory. There are day and evening looks for every pants style from ruffled petticoat pants to overalls. All the big fall pants looks carry on for spring. New short pants crop up in warmer weather.

The jeans theme is the most important pants look. For the young overalls and heavy workclothes looks are the way to get involved. Jeans and overalls dress up in velvets, satins; dress down in denim, calico, prints, tie-dye, corduroy and unusual fabrics. On top goes the skinny T-shirt, the ribbed sweater or a knit body shirt. Real laborers add a peasant swirl.

Jumpsuits and knickers gain momentum for spring. The newest jumpsuits are treated almost like dresses, paired with sleeveless vests, tunics and jackets. Bare cutout jumpsuits take the night trip. Knickers bloom for spring with wider legs, with flower prints, some reaching all the way to the ankle.

Straight pants are an alternative to longer skirts for women of all ages. Paired with tunic tops, long vests and jumpers, they become a sophisticated city daytime look. Gauchos are other ways to bridge the pants — long skirts gap. Side slits, side pleats and petticoat flounces are witty ways with pants.

An alternative to pants? The long ankle-length skirt, ruffled, tiered or flounced is a young sportswear look now.It's sexy, baring the navel, with a tiny sweater or calypso-tied top. It's pioneer in madras ruffles or calico. It wraps, slits or unbuttons for more exposure.

THE FASHION conscious woman can choose a pantsuit with any of the new pants looks teamed with a short jacket, short cape, blazer or soft, belted jacket. Skirting the issue, the new soft suits heralds the return of relaxed elegance, with cropped or bloused jackets, skirts in motion.

Coats go long and lean or have a new dimensional fullness. The main coat shape is close to the body with a flaring skirt. The kimono and the caftan have inspired fuller shapes. Capes are the softest ways to wrap up, going all the way from short elbow capelets to floor-sweeping burnooses. The bathrobe wrap coat and the reefer are updated this season with slimmer lines.

Long evenings are the rule this spring and the below-the-calf to ankle lengths set a soft, romantic scene. But there's plenty of action with fabulous prints, new low necklines, bare evening jumpsuits and slinky "Gilda" dresses. The spring woman upstages her dress, keeps the look of innocence with melting chiffons, organdies and voiles, lace trim. Peasants are less costume-y. The strapless and the halter are the ways to bare it. The narrow jersey top with bold geometric patterned skirt is the separates way to dress up. Feminists will wear all the great pants looks in the evening fabrics.

Spring fabrics talk soft or tough. Natural is new, anything handloomed, homespun, pioneer or rough and ready. Denim is the undisputed leader, varied with brushed surfaces, herringbone patterns, tie-dyes and twills. Canvas, calico, gingham and burlap are other toughies. Madras returns in non-classic sportswear. Menswear looks in jacquard wools and polyesters are important.

The softies are fluid knits, crepe de chine, georgette, chiffons, silk or matte jersey, chamois and cashmere. Lightweight cottons, voile and organdy are super-femme fabrics. Leathers are everywhere, especially suede. Pastel leather, tie-dyed effects and brushed suede are this-season looks.

PRINTS SPRING up everywhere in small geometrics, figuratives, brilliant abstracts, Matisse colors. The small-scale prints are most improtant. Indian themes, provincial patterns, border prints, polka dots, pioneer prints are a few trends. Animal, fish, butterfly and bird prints are ecology motifs. Hearts, florals and stars are other themes.

Spring comes in bright, clear and fresh, wiping away the muddy tones. Orchard pastels, mint green, purple and peach are on the light side. Brightening up the palette are Matisse colors, tart orange, electric blue. Knowing no season are shades of navy, brown and white, black and white, bone, denim blue and camel.

The fashion conscious woman knows how to make a strong statement with accessories. She's in touch with the environment, chooses natural materials, handcrafted looks. She's romantic, with fragile Victorianisms. She lets her mind wander to faraway places, to fantasies. It's the personal touch that counts, and she puts together her own one-of-a-kind look.

Hats are brimming over with personality. The big hat returns, taking on every mood from garden party to cowboy. It balances the longer skirt, dashes cavalierly over capes, dips softly over the new fluid fabrics. Giant panamas, turned-up brims and long plumes take the spotlight. Soft heads turn to cloches, tight-fitting caps, berets, flower touches and veils.

Jewelry that spells out fashion mood is exotic and ethnic in African beading, Indian themes, primitive motifs, unusual materials like shells, feathers, rope, cork, suede or wood. Other looks are Victorian in chokers, cameos, butterflies, hearts, ivories and macrame. Extrawide cuff bracelets, bibs of many different kinds of beads, tassels and neck fringes are other trends. Chokers are still very important, the newest having base-of-throat interest via dangling pendants or tassels.

BELTS SPELL out the new individuality. Wide belts are almost a craft story themselves. Many are hand painted with intricate designs or apliqued with suede, velvet, cork and leather. Wide beaded belts and macrame belts are other stories. All the new "natural" materials and denim looks are wrapping the waist. Chain ropes with colored tassels or hanging ornaments are narrow belt looks.

The natural trend carries over into handbags, where the newest materials are denim, canvas, burlap, rope and wood. Crinkle patent shines on another season. The shapes are soft in un-constructed leathers, body bags, shoulder bags, carpet bags. Bands of chrome trim add flash. The fun bag with novelty appliques and embroidered bag are individualistic looks. The dressy clutch goes out for evening.

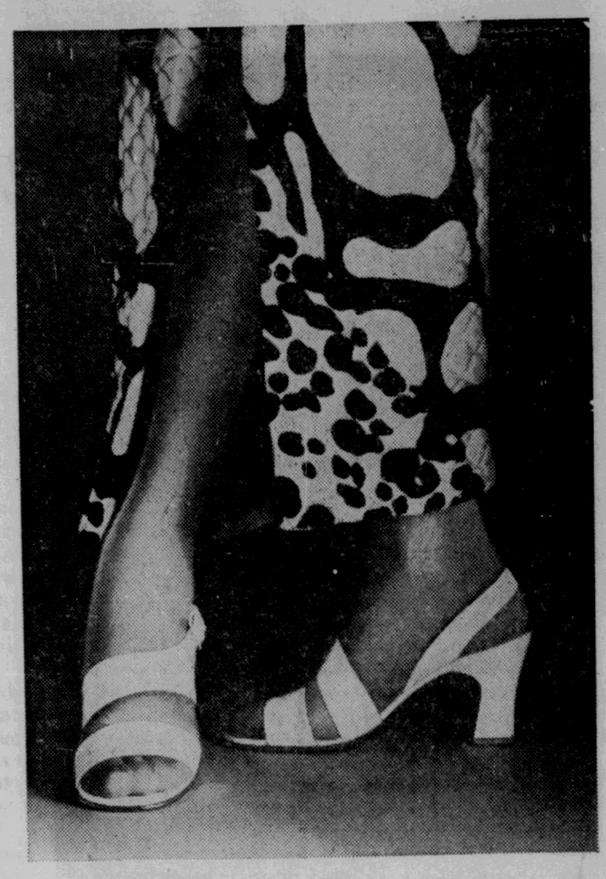
Hosiery provides excitement below the hemline. Leggings give the booted look in brocade, corduroy, suede cloth or tapestry. Subtle vertical patterns lengthen legs under long skirts. Side patterns, pinstripes and clocks are long leg looks. Good sports wear the denim look in opaque hose and tweedy overall patterns. Hosiery colors are springtime fresh pinks, violet, peach, pastels or they tune in with footwear in light neutrals, camel, soft beige, off white. Body stockings are one way to get the skinny-top look with long skirts. They can give a bare halter effect or stretch from turtle neck to toe. Others are trimmed with ruffles to look like a blouse.

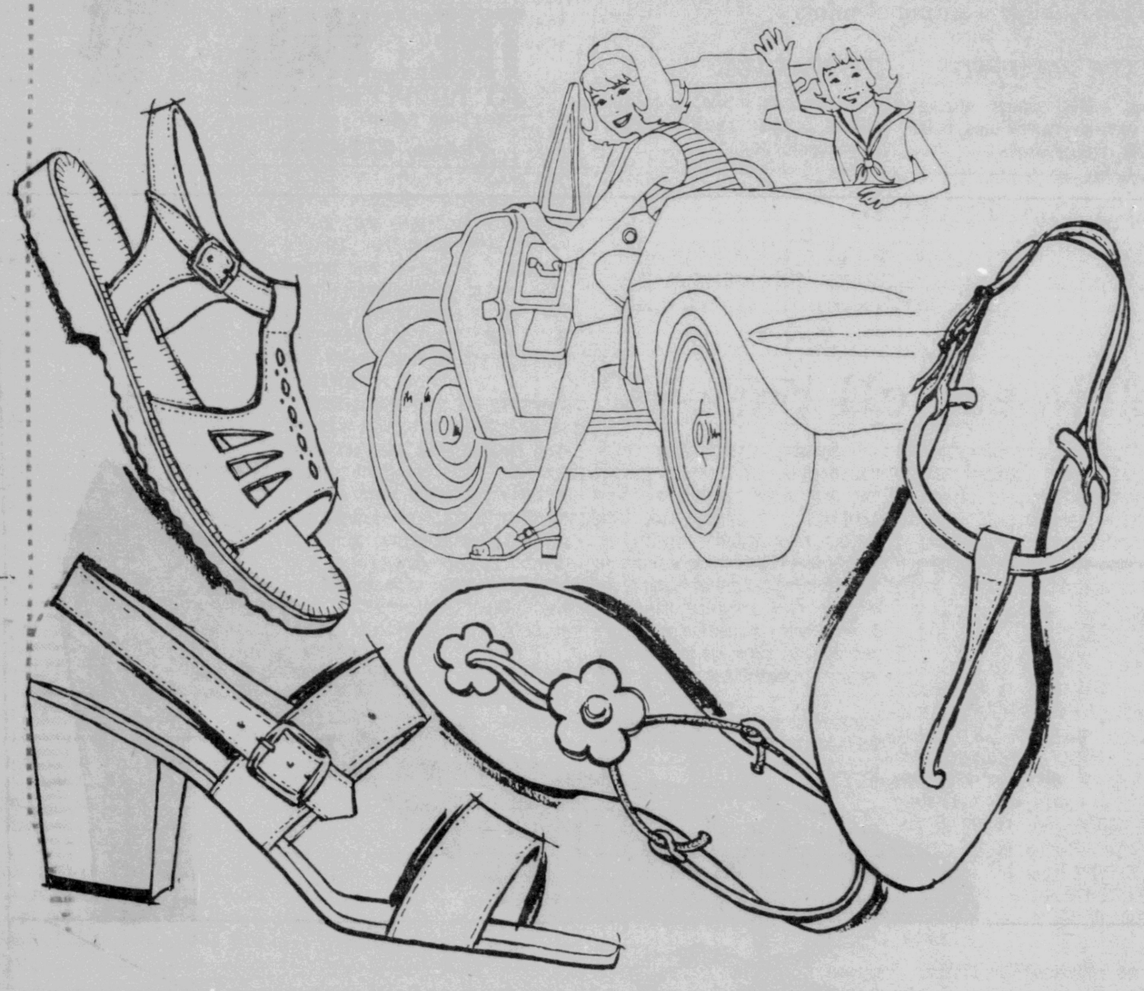
Shoes are a strong footnote to spring fashions. The trend is to focus on the ankle, rather than the toe, with straps, sandals and lacings. Wide-open toes with ankle straps, open-throat ghillies and flat-flats are some long-skirt looks. Sandals come in infinite variety with pastel suede the newest look.

Boots are still important. Designers see them marching right into summer in open-toe "no-boot" boots, cut out like sandals. Fabric boots are a trend, in all the naturals - canvas, burlap, denim and linen. Tough work boots complete the work clothes outfits. Other casual looks are espadrilles, novelty sneakers, mesh shoes, fringy sandals and soft flexible moccasins. The saddle shoe returns with the jeans look. The spring materials on foot are pastel suedes, natural fabrics mesh, tie-dye leather. Smoothies are crinkle patent and satin kid. Snakes are newest trimming suede and fabrics.



SOPHISTICATED SANDAL

Styled by Life Stride, this sandal has a Grecian influence with graceful, swirly straps that do interesting things on the side. Set on a curvy, high rising heel, it comes in lilac, bone, white and black patent at Chapman's Shoes stores in San Rafael and Novato.



ON THE GO AT HOME

Red, White, Blue Lead

Red, white and blue lead the color spectrum in a classic springtime manner.

On their own, two by two or in trio, these colors personify spring.

All colors, pale to bright and bold, mix marvelously. And so do patterns and solids.

Denim Applique

FOR MOTHERS-TO-BE

Comfort is the key in this lightweight acrylic dress by Toni Lynn available at the Mother-To-Be Shop on the Northgate Mall. The chic navy dress has a white pique collar and red, white and navy trim.

Basic Shapes Are Sparked By Color

Spring is surely going to bloom bright and bold, if new dresses have their way.

The fashion plot favors femininity, fun and excitement. Silhouettes, from the slim and supple curve to the full and flattering flare, seem simple — deceptively so, for colors, fabrics and details spark these basic shapes, enthusiastically.

Two old favorites, the coatdress and the shirtdress, return to the spring scene in new guises. For both, fresh treatments of the long, frequently full sleeve appear as distinctive features.

Fitted bodices of shirtdresses highlight their pinched-in, belted waists and defines waists lead the way to full skirts that take every cue for motion. Those important long sleeves are often puffed.

Supple fabrics such as crepe and jersey are draped along slender but curvy lines, while full-sleeved, full-skirted dresses show shape by fitted shirred midriffs.

Folklore fosters a variety of dresses flavored with nostalgia and with looks derived from many people and places — the peasant, the pioneer, the Old West, the American Indian, South of the Border.

For every influence out of the past, there's feminity to match — witness a wealth of embroidery, ribbons, bows, demure while collars and cuffs and sleeves that are not merely puffed but leg o' mutton in shape.

MORE MAKEUP

New faces for spring. For years the natural look has been the fashion look. Now it takes a back seat to the dramatic, more theatrical, more costumed. From a well scrubbed look we go to a more carefully madeup face. Suddenly the mouth is the beginning of a colorful explosion that promises to work its way toward the cheeks, the eyes, the brows.

PONCHO'S PRIME

Solid color pants in a ribbed nubby boucle match the wide stripes of the mitered hooded poncho in a wool sweatery knit. The colors are white, aubergine, gold, brown and red for the pants and red/blue, brown/gold and aubergine/green on an eggshell background on the poncho. Both are from Sweater Bee by Banff.

WRAPPED UP FOR SPRING

Day shawls, fun shawls, night shawls, wool shawls, silk shawls, romantic shawls and gypsy shawls are all part of the natural look in sportswear for spring. The sporty day shawl by Echo Scarfs, left, is made from popcorn wool imported from France. With its detailed border and knotted fringe it can make the transition from day to evening, wrapped with a dramatic flourish draping and encircling the wearer in fringe. Right, a fringed double triangular fish net shawl, also by Echo, is made in Italy of a synthetic fiber. Wear it to a party to dress up sports clothes or over hot pants and halter or on the hips over a long, ruffled skirt and peasant blouse for a country girl look.

Belts Trim Waists In New Looks

New leather belts and sashes, casually informal to elegant, seem to be indispensable to the look of the 70's in fashion.

Cinching the most fashionable waists are grained and smooth textures, harness, antiqued, suede, waxy, embossed, brushed, real patent leather and others.

Heavy with grommets, brass studs or other hardware, flying with fringe, studded with natural rock, or heavily buckled in metal — it could be a winner.

Sporty sashes in rugged leathers are also seen. Then there are narrow sashes with fringe or tassels, sometimes strung with beads.

Leather cut in triangles, squares, ovals and circles can be found alternating with brass plates or chains, centered with coins or gold script, inside metal rings, and forming other designs.

Belts of suede, "reptile" - embossed, polished smooth, patent or hair-on calf leather add distinction to dressy costumes. Jewels, self-leather bows, touches of gold or silver predominate as decorative accents.

Hand-painted designs or embroidered motifs on leather, cloisonne and enamel buckles dress up slim leather belts with a new note.

MILK GLASS PUMPS

shine in fashionable circles. Pillars of heel, slender cutout-spattered toes and slim ankle straps have longuette leanings...but these styles are decidedly beautiful, no matter what skirt length you choose!

The He-She Look Is Back In Shoes

Looking over new leather footwear for spring, one thing is clear. The unisex "he-she" look is out and the "she-she" look is in, as shoe fashions project a more romantic, more sensuous image, one that is truly feminine.

Checkpoints adding up to this new feeling in footwear include lots of openings in pumps, sandals, ties; cleaner, lighter hardware; more leather used as trim; more elegant pump looks; slimmer, more shaped heels and rounder toelines.

Pumps have a newer-than-new air. It's partly their higher slimmer heels, partly the openings at sides, backs and toes and partly their pretty trim.

Such decoration might be a bit of draping at the instep, a bow or buckle perched at the vamp, a scalloped or piped throatline or a set-in piece in a different color or leather lying at the instep.

A sprinkling of straps spans the instep of some new pumps. Both casual and tailored daytime pumps use strap motifs in single or multi-strap versions.

When pumps feature tongue treatment, a gentler touch may also be discerned. Although some tongues still stand up to be counted, many more now are designed to lay flat or have been cut down.

There are also "bare midriff" sandals featuring closed toe, open back, and broad band over an exposed instep.

Drapability And Fabric Texture

Woolen and wool-blend fabrics for spring will be softer than ever, with a new emphasis on texture and drapability Hand woven and rustic looks are in; classic checks and plaids remain strong.

The easy-care synthetics have been improved to give them a softer hand, when blended with wool.

Knits are the biggest story for Spring, and there are all kinds, in pure wool and wool blends.

Knits On The Pants Scene

Pants and knits seem to go together.

Polyster knits, denim knits and cotton knits arrive for spring pantsuiting.

APRES TENNIS

The poncho is designed for a cozy feeling after a hot tennis session. Made of fine quality, minimum shrinkage terry cloth, the poncho has a fringed edge and a dark zipper at the neck. In white, it has navy saddle stitching. The terry knit is dacron and orlon with 2 per cent shrinkage by Point Set at all Stan's for Sports stores.

TANZANITE

TANZANITE was discovered at the foot of Mt. Kilimanjaro, Tanzania, in 1967 by an amateur prospector named Manuel d'Sousa. Harrassed by smugglers, until his death in 1969, the output has been diverted and limited. Now the Tanzanian government has stepped into the matter and the future supply of this gem is unpredictable. Masai tribesmen living in Tanzania used to pick up the stones because they liked the rich blue color that gave off sparkles of red and purple. TANZANITE is the first natural gem discovery in fifty years and is shown in very few stores in this country.

Clothes To Pack For Travels

Planning a late spring-summer trip to Europe? It's not too early! The travel folders are spread out before the fireplace while winter winds still blow, all beckoning toward a long-dreamed-of vacation in Europe come warm weather and thoughts of a new summer wardrobe.

A 12 per cent increase of summer passengers to Europe is forcasted, and the majority of first-time travelers prefer to take group trips in order to have many of the details of a trip taken care of while they are getting acquainted with Europe. This calls for informal go-everywhere, easy-to-care for clothes. Highlights of the new travel clothes will be found in the area of knits. The year 1971 heralds a turning point for sportswear with a more subjued and easy feeling of classics. Skirt lengths will be about a knee point, making packing and walking easier. Some dress manufacturers are making suits with both skirts and pants, ideal for day-long wear in cities and countryside. The suit look with skirts is an important one for the coming season.

Other highlights for the 1971 spring summer travel wardrobe include rainwear, with double-duty raincoats becoming increasingly important as a cover-up, particularly for the cool, northern countries of Europe where sudden showers spring up. Choose one with a plain color on one side to match your knit travel suit and a print on the reverse side to wear over dresses in the evenings.

If you're joining the young, swingy crowd in a fashionable resort area, such as the French Riviera or on a Greek Island, you'll want to pack a pair of those short shorts which are so popular this season. They're good for the city scene, too, if covered with an ankle-length split skirt and halter or dressy top. Knickers for sport or evening loom large in the fashion picture, particularly with the younger set.

With many of last year's frills and ruffles eliminated and the classic look prevailing, particularly in sportswear, your summer travel wardrobe should be as simple and packable as possible. Coordinates — prints with solid colors, boldly printed silks, cottons and Quiana which folds like a dream with nary a wrinkle, look well anywhere.

The new handcrafted accessories in handbags, jewelry and wide belts will add zest to your travel wardrobe. Three pairs of shoes should suffice, provided they've been selected with a view to color coordination. Comfortable low-heeled, heavy soled walking shoes for exploring cobblestone city streets and evening sandals, perhaps with the new higher, more feminine heel will be sufficient to carry you through a two or three week vacation and still pack in a minimum of space. Take packable bedroom slippers, of course, and flat-heeled beach sandals to wear with your beachwear and coverups.

Other accessories should include a light-weight all-purpose robe, nylon lingerie, several pairs of matching hosiery, sun glasses (and extra prescription for reading glasses "just in case",) scarves and a lightweight head covering for church or to ward off the sun's rays.

NO DRESS-UP

Dressing-down for Spring. "Dress up" has become a dirty word in the young men's market. Suits and sport coats are looked on as necessities to be worn only on certain occasions. For day to day wear, young men want comfortable, fun items. And manufacturers are answering this demand with lots of shirt suits, knit coordinates, basic and fancy jeans and bright colorful shirts.

Here's Guide To Wig Care

One of the main reasons for the popularity of modacrylic wigs and hairpieces is their carefree maintenance. Minimum attention is necessary to keep them ready-to-wear.

Here are some wig-care guidelines.

Wash hairpieces after every seven to 10 wearings.

Remove tangles and accumulated hairspray by brushing before each shampoo.

Use a mild shampoo, or one especially designed for modacrylic hairpieces. Wash the wig thoroughly, using cold water and a gentle dipping and squeezing motion.

After shampooing, blot lightly with a towel.

The final step is to place the wig on a plastic foam block, allowing it to air-dry.

It's best not to brush or comb hairpieces while wet, or too close to the foundation of the wig.

Avoid using a hairdryer and wearing wigs in a very hot kitchen. Modacrylic hairpieces are non-flammable, but any excessive heat can distort and frizz the hairstyle.

Costume Look Calls For Cape

Costumes are budding this spring with soft, easy and very feminine movement. Every step is a swish, flare or swirl of fabric.

Slits high on the front or side seams, scalloped hems and irregular hem cut-outs update costume tailoring as a distinctive modern day trademark.

Versatility keys the costume and its many looks. New approaches blend with conventional tailoring to create a wide costume scope.

Some costumes literally wrap things up for spring. Tie belts surround waists on dresses and/or their accompanying coats. Skirts and tops link up with a belt, in threesomes that include a jacket or coat.

Wrap coats cover dresses in coordinated prints or solids. Bright colors and understated pastels come together with true team spirit.

Short capes, long capes and some boleros match dresses in a new-time harmony. The rhythm is smooth and free flowing.

Sleeveless coats, over dresses, allow for dramatization of the full sleeves that dresses show.

Polyester knits and jersey knits compete for attention. Both have fine drapability qualities that translate natural motion into costume fashion.

Denim characterizes sportive costumes. It flavors short, fitted jackets and skirts with easy-care casualness.

SPRING BRIDE

At the Emporium spring brides will find a large selection including this gown by Exquisite. The ivory organza is heavily beaded and frosted with peau d' ange lace appliques. Its sleeves are flared, and the detachable train is also appliqued and bowed.

WASHABLE, VERSATILE

From Livingston Bros., the newest store on the Northgate Mall, comes a softly ruffled dress in lilac and coral shades in misses sizes. In a sheer polyester voile it is cool, totally washable and always wrinkle free, even when worn all day from a luncheon to a club meeting into the evening for cocktails and dinner.

Shorts Not High Style — Bohan

PARIS (UPI) — The Christian Dior salon rejected shorts from its spring high fashion collection opening even though it started the current shorts craze in its ready-to-wear show in October.

Dior's chief designer, Marc Bohan, does not consider shorts as high fashion and does not plan to make any shorts. His look is "neither mini or maxi," but designed to make women "look feminine, young and elegant again."

Bohan said in early January he planned to make his spring outfits end just below the knee, a length also chosen by Hubert de Givenchy in his collection. The other younger, more lively designers around Paris have decided to stick with a longer look except when it comes to shorts. In general, hemlines in the Paris spring shows wandered all over the leg from mini-mini to maxi.

EASE, DASH

Fabrics Are Softer, More Fluid For '71

Come spring and summer, skirts will get longer by day and night and pants will get shorter for active or spectator sports. Look for . . . brief short-shorts with bras or T-shirts, or the Bermudas and Jamaicas, and a revival of the old clamdiggers (pedal-pushers, in the lexicon of the Fifties).

And they're new.

First versions may include long cover-ups, like the maxi coat over short set which combines the two extremes in length; like the new-again one-piece short playsuit, perhaps with a matching overskirt that goes to the knee or ankle.

California, long the sportswear center, accents active sportswear. True, the current vogue toward ethnic, peasant or gypsy looks is fun and fanciful but the crisp, brisk styling of shorts is a natural.

Ready for Picking

Pants A Mainstay Of The Wardrobe

Pants have come a long way from the gardening-house-work-car pool routine. Their fashion potential, along with their easy-going manner, has cast them in a far more important role.

Pants are a wardrobe mainstay. They set women free from concern or controversy about lengths — and free to express their fashion personalities, with comfort and with all the mix-and-match, switchabout qualities that have long made separates indispensable.

Pants star on every day and nighttime scene. There are pants costumes with matching coats or jackets, pants with long sleeveless vests or jerkins, pants with tunics, pants with ribby sweaters, bouffant blouses or tailored shirts, pants with boleros.

The shapes are as many and varied as spring in fashion. Long, lean, limber and straight-legged is a favorite direction, but the fullness, fit, flare and femininity of new-season styles is amply represented, too.

Some bell bottoms appear, while other pants take flounces, tiers, ruffles and, especially for late day, soft shirring. Or, like skirts, pants are slit to show the leg.

The jumpsuit, once relegated to indoor leisure wear, now leads a busy day-and-night life almost everywhere. It may enter on its own, or pair up with a jacket or an over-skirt.

There are even dressy versions of the bib-overall or suspender look for the jumpsuit.

The gaucho continues. Pulled together with turtle-top, belt and boots — plus a matching bolero — it promises to gain in popularity.

Very newsy this spring is the knicker. Young and lithe, it appears by day in such sportive fabrics as corduroy, polyester and cotton knits, by night in panne, crepe and other supple textures.

Jeans go gancy, in calico prints that team up quite naturally with peasanty tops and very feminine blouses, and in just about every other fabric imaginable.

Belts Likely Biggest In Accessory Market

Accessories have come into their own; they have become absolute necessities to pull a look together. One dress, accessorized with the multitude of exciting accessories available, can become a wardrobe of different looks, just by switching moods with fashion accessories.

Belts are probably the biggest item. Great huge smooth and sueded leather belts, four to five inches wide, trimmed with grommets, nailheads and conchos, laced up with leather thongs, or appliqued and painted with butterflies or hearts and flowers. Colorful and plush tapestries and cut velvets also appear in belts and carry through to huge matching shoulder bags. But the most exciting look we've found in belts is the rare and expensive macromae.

This process of knotting and twisting cord is very costly and hard to come by, so, if this is not available in your store, try the nearest substitute, hand crocheted or woven belts. Another beautiful item found in the belt area is of clear plastic beads, worked into patterns and "custom made" to widths of one to five inches.

Youth Into Earthy Clothes

Gypsy peasantry, Roumanian folklore, Western frontier spirit, South of the Border verve and Aztec or American Indian influences step out of the past and into today.

Long, lean and lively looks become part of the total junior image, as do fit and flare fashions. Easy-wear styling is an essential factor.

Lace collar and sleeve trims, ruffles, tiers, rick-racking and slits spice the old-time airs of dresses with new variety.

Close to the earth is also close to the spring junior. Ecology themes are key sources for colors, patterns and garment details.

Earth-color and outdoorsy prints merge with the fashion environment. Fruits and vegetables, ripe from the vine, pattern many fabrics.

Butterfly, heart and insect appliques appear.

Gaucho pants, cousin of the culotte, and knickers, with a real Buster Brown look, challenge long pants with self assurance.

Little pants, a fashion descendent of short shorts, are new introductions. Some are cuffed at mid-thigh; others are even briefer.

Juniors are jumping this spring in what else but — jumpsuits. Button, zip, belt and sash versions are ready for fashion action.

Fitted, slim or flared jackets, boleros and tops get together with matching pants or skirts.

Then there's a new item to knock around in. Workman overalls, complete with bib front or suspenders, rival good old standard denim jeans and the new crop of fancy jeans.

Along with denim comes madras, a homespun fashion look. Now it's wholesome, clean, fresh and basic — especially in patchwork versions.

ON THE BEACH

An almost weightless two-piece bikini and matching smocked cover-up can go from hotel to beach to poolside. It clings to the body like a second skin, dries in a flash and always looks sleek and fresh.

Feraud Shows Short Shorts

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — Legs came back to Paris when Louis Feraud, the young, swinging designer, presented his spring high fashion collection based almost entirely on shorts, and very short shorts.

Doubters who could not envision the popular tennis shorts of the 1950;s in Paris high fashion collections may not call Feraud's collection high fashion. Nonetheless it is creative, beautiful and bound to be copied round the world and not necessarily only for 16-year-olds.

Women of any age with slim, firm figures could wear Feraud's safari suits with long belted jackets showing a couple of inches of shorts underneath. Another wearable style for the over 20 population was his maxi evening dresses in transparent chiffon or semi-transparent printed heavy silk slit up both sides with shorts in contrasting colors underneath.

Feraud's shorts were refined by being teamed with something that softened the blow of all that leg. Red leather shorts were attached by strips of leather to matching above-knee boots. Jersey shorts peeped from beneath jersey midi-dresses slit to the waist.

WOOF, WOOF

Dog collars are still enjoying popularity, and all fabrics and mediums are being used. Tiny macrome is the newest look, and also the plastic beads. Delicate chain chokers, draped from a center stone, and used with dangles and tassels, also promise to be important.

Quick Run-Down On New Threads

THE WRAP SKIRT: Yves St. Laurent brought it back, and everybody wants one because it's easy to wear, one size and fits everyone in mini, midi, maxi lengths.

The battlejacket brings back the short jackets in suits. Its casual line is reminiscent of those denim jackets that go with blue jeans and wear so well. It's long-sleeved and cuffed (buttons or snaps) and comes to the waist with a fitted band of fabric. Breast pockets, little collar. Wear it with pleated skirts, blue jeans, midis and over bathing suits.

KNEE-HIGHS ... Lighweidht textures add interest to spring knee-high stockings ... designed for long pants and hotpants, gauchos, knickers, all pants on the scene.

One pair is designed in thick-and-thin scroll pattern, is made to go with pantsuits in lighter colors such as chamois and lime as well as darks like brown.

DENIM ACCESSORIES. It's the big spring-summer fabric and it's making an impact in hats, handsbags, gloves, belts and jewelry.

THE DENIM glove has trim of white polyurethane on the gauntlet cuff and back of the glove. The palm side is white polyurethane.

Slacks Show New Freedom

Slacks to go with the new sports shirts have a lot of pattern and fabric interest.

For elegance, there are velveteen jeans, a fad started by the young, but now unanimously approved.

Velveteen jeans come in every color from fire engine red to pale lime green, as well as animal prints such as tiger, leopard and lion.

Sandals, Pumps Step Out Late

Lustre and patent, suede, smooth, embossed and metallic-toned leathers take part in the footwork.

Sifting the sandal-pile for after-five shoes discloses a treasure trove of straps. They're mostly on the very slim side.

In evening pumps, the closed silouette with draped front is set off by jeweling. For the open-toed pump, slingbacks or open sides are sometimes added.

Also pointing its elegant toe is the evening pump with slim instep or diagonal strap, and the pretty pump with jeweled or silvered heel treatment.

GOING PRACTICAL

BRILLIANT PLUMAGE

We call them The Swinging Sets.

Pants Costume, Shirtdress Make Matching Weekenders

Fresh and perky as well as pretty are the many styles derived from other places, other times. Country, prairie, peasant and pioneer define looks that reveal a strong dash of nostalgia, looks that combine bold colors and patterns with a generous helping of flounces, full sleeves, embroidery, old-fashioned prints and other signs of softness.

There are as many ways to wear pants as there are women to wear them, and the components and combinations seem endless. Dresses, tunics, jackets, vests, shawls, coats, jerkins — all these and more go over long pants, short pants, knickers and gauchos. And don't forget the jumpsuit.

With more people traveling more, the "weekender" costume, based on pants and almost a wardrobe in itself, comes on strong.

Usually, "weekender" means coat plus pants plus skirts, ready for switching about to meet varying moods and times, but other parts may be included.

Very pretty, very feminine are dresses and dress-plus costumes.

Indeed, the very essence of spring might be new dresses with lowered and rounded necklines, long and flowing sleeves, shirred and fitted midriffs and full, soft skirts.

Shirtdresses and coatdresses share spring importance.

Fit or fullness, supple curves, highrise or natural waistlines and the demure, covered-up look of long sleeves are some trends to note here.

Even slim dresses are shaped, draped, curved.

Capes, the new costume companions for dresses or skirts and tops, flow and flare with femininity, in long or short versions.

When the costume component is a coat, soft self-ties, wrap fronts, reefer and cardigan lines may be noted.

Separates and casual dresses continue the fresh, pretty and femnine theme — and add some variations, the work clothes look in particular.

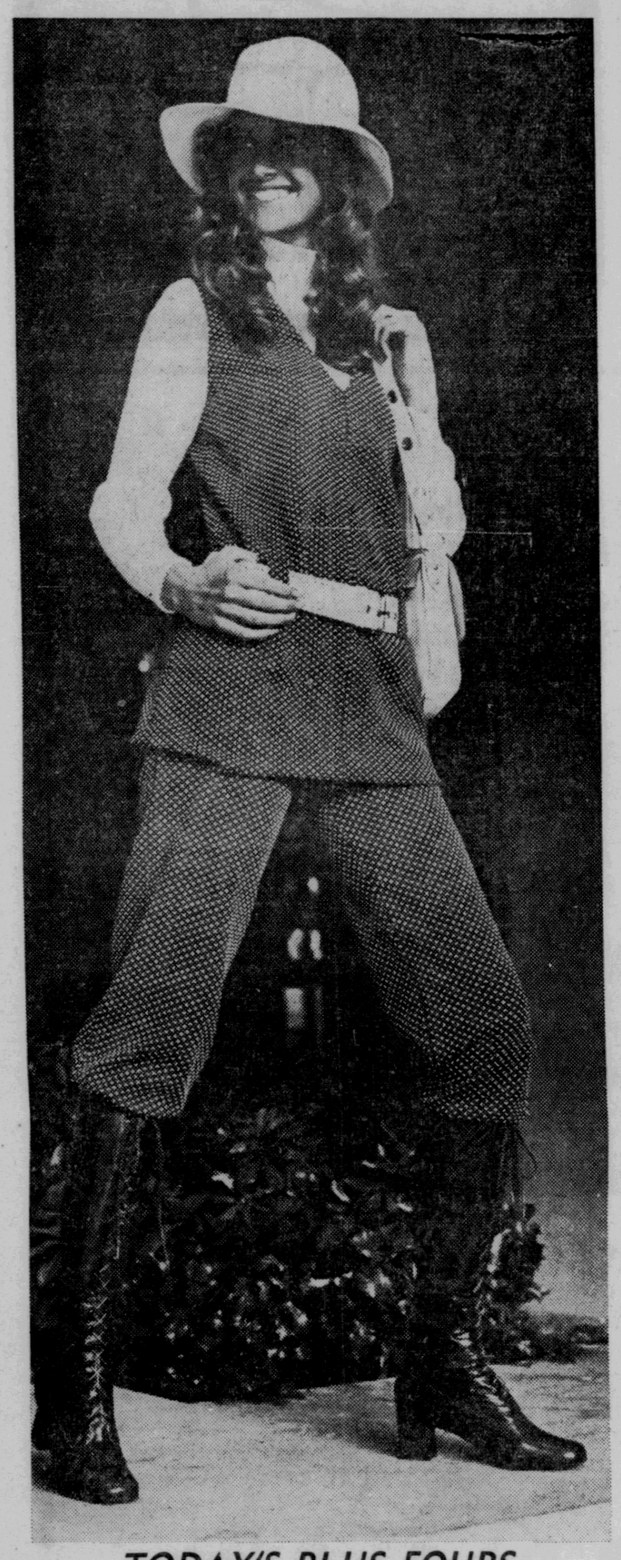
In fact, the work clothes influence spreads to coats and suits. Several spring jackets and coats resemble, in line and feeling, an elongated workshirt, shaped of denim, jersey or polyester.

Wrapped or slit, separate skirts reflect the bared look, as much a part of spring fashion as its counterpart, the covered-up look.

Other manifestations are halter or deep-scooped necklines, skirts and tops that get together to bare the midriff, see-through fabrics and cutouts.

Freshness, prettiness, femininity are complemented by spring's hats and accessories. Shapely brims, draped turbans; and berets speak of softness, while hearts, flowers and butterflies show the way to flattering accents.



TODAY'S PLUS FOURS

The dotted double knit knicker suit catches an up-to-the-minute look for the woman on the go. Designed by Ilse Smith for Susan Thomas, the machine washable knit suit is always ready to travel on feet covered by knee-high lace up boots.

WITH A FLASH OF LEG

Combine the unexpected for the look of the young individual. A soft, brushed denim long coat, outlined with contrasting stitching plus a belt and hood almost covers jazzy cotton knit short shorts topped by a red, white and blue stripe T-shirt for a new spring fashion idea from Ross/Atkins on the Northgate Mall.

Just Look What Men Are Wearing To The 'Casual Dress' Parties

At one time if a hostess told a man "casual dress," she could generally predict what he was going to wear. But today, a man might show up in anything from velvet jeans to a suede fringed jacket.

More and more men are expressing their fashion freedom in off-duty hours, and as a result sportswear is the place to find the brightest colors, the boldest patterne, the most daring ideas, reports the Men's Fashion Association.

Denim is the basis of the bright new sportswear look this spring. Sturdy and durable, denim has been around for a long time in work clothes and jeans.

Fashion designers are using it this year for shirts, swimsuits and jackets.

If a man wants complete denim look, he might team up a denim jacket (handsomely styled with snap flap pockets) with matching flared pants. Denim and canvas shoes add the finishing touct.

"Costumes" are for the man who wants to be different and lighthearted about his dress. He can look like a range rider in a Western costume of fringed jacket, yoked shirt and jeans.

There are innumerable variations, but only for the most daring.

For the man who would like to update his sportswear wardrobe a bit more moderately, this is the season for bold patterned sports shirts. Geometrics or jacquards lead the way.

Spring slacks patterns include stripes of all kinds and bold oversized plaids. Today's man coordinates print sport shirts with patterned pants, for a mixture of patterns is another of the new spring looks.

Just-Below-Knee Skirts Featured In Italy Shows

Designers Titti Brugnoli and Eleanora Garnett placed skirts just at the top of the calf and kept fabrics soft to guarantee a look of motion. The stiff, "constructed" look was gone.

Garnett, who never shortened her skirts during the mini craze but waited for fashion to return to her length, uses dozens of gores to give fullness to her suit skirts. The strips of fabric, stitched with edges together on the inside, are curved out like a pumpkin.

Both designers like chartreuse and shocking pink. Brown finally seems to be on its way out after several years of popularity.

Swim Suits Get Newest Cover-up

Cover-ups and covered-up are the two themes that make the biggest splash on the beachwear scene for spring. Today a swim suit just doesn't go down to the sea alone. It brings a companion cover-up, one that transforms the barest bikini or the sleekest maillot into adventurous fashion that can go indoors or out, roam off the beach or on.

It can be a long slink of a maxi tank dress, slit up the side, that slips on over a little boy-short bikini or the tri-pat dressing of a swim suit, plus a hooded, long sleeve shift that can go it alone as a dress or team up with flowing patio pants for a complete weekend wardrobe in the sun. There are new double knit shifts in bright regatta stripes that are a contrast to the striped dimensions of a tiny bikini or softly draped longuette skirts that wrap everything up in total, fluid fashion.

Some of the new kinds of cover-ups look dramatic when paired off with the new kind of swimwear, the long sleeved, covered-up suit that clings as close to the body as it can get. It's the newest idea to surface on the swim scene, and it seems even more sensuous than bare skin. They're suits that look like they've been poured on, and they're done in soft, light nylon that molds and clings, dries in a flash and always looks sleek and fresh.

It's part of the new body-conscious wave that's sweeping all of fashion, and for the sea set, it may well replace those bare bikinis.

SUITABLY SPRING

Coats Of Spring Protect Against Seasonal Sprinkles In True Style

All-weather wise, the double-purpose coats of spring are just that — wise in their power to protect against seasonal showers, wise in their ability to look like a coat with nothing on its mind but fashion.

Creative design and fabrics treated for water resistance make it all possible. The fabrics conceal their waterproofing in appearance — looking like any other fashionable fabric — but prove it in performance.

Designers approach the creation of the weather-wise coat with the belief that it's an any-time coat, a sunny-time coat and, most of all, a travel coat.

Thus any style that's new or classic for spring can be found in the season's "raincoats."

Of course, the cape, as a '71 fashion factor, is important — and, equally of course, it's a natural for rainwear.

Sometimes the cape appears as part of a costume, plus a skirt or, more often, pants. Other any-weather coats and jackets take the costume course, too.

Perky colors let some sunshine in, even when it's raining. No longer does rainwear have to stick to dull, drab shades, "practical" because water spots don't show.

No more water spots — and so rain-shine wear bubbles with bright colors, bold colors, even pastels. Cheery florals, geometrics, stripes, plaids and patterns galore go out in any weather with assurance.

Of course, sometimes it doesn't just rain — it pours.

That's the time for the versatile vinyls, ready with the wet look to appear, quite frankly, as raincoats. But they, too, have a plus.

Jewelry Goes Ethnic

To complement spring's ethnic fashions, jewelry takes inspiration from Scandinavia, the Orient, Mexico, India and Africa. Pioneer and American Indian influences are present, too. Such jewelry ranges from all-important neckpieces to earrings, bracelets, rings and belts.

Designs On Stockings

Finely-edged striping, narrow pintucks, scroll designs and ribbing characterize many pantyhose. Lace-like designs are also important in helping hosiery express softness.

Ankle embroidery and side patterns add interest. Among the embroideries are, of course, butterflies — and peasant effects, too.

The denim look makes an appearance in hosiery, as it does throughout fashion.

Colors are as varied as styles. In addition to conventional shades, there are hues such as lilac, blue, pink, green, daffodil.

Individualism Keynotes Women's Casual Clothes

Sportswear is staging a big comeback for individualism this spring.

The variations on every fashion theme, from the classics to the new romantics, appear in an almost endless selection. Today's woman will put it all together in a burst of self-expression. Look-alike fashion is a thing of the past.

The casual shirtdress continues in popularity. Separates are on view in an impressive array of skirts, shirts, sweaters, jackets and pants.

Shirtdresses, from the simplest T-shirt to the softest peasant look, are found in both slim and full-skirted versions.

NEW CONTENDER in casual dresses is the workman look. It shows up in suspender and bib-look dresses and jumpers, usually in denim or printed cotton.

The chemise, in cotton or polyester knit and most often front-zipped, is seen again and again.

One of sportswear's most important looks is still the sweater. Long pullovers and tunics, twin sweater sets, and classic cardigans make big impact. Long, sleeveless vests are worn over everhthing from skirts to jumpsuits.

Innovations in skirt looks seem to be the newsiest. Skirts are full or pleated, they're slim with side or front slashes to show lots of leg. They're front-zipped or buttoned, side-wrapped or back-tied.

The ankle length peasant skirt appears over and over, with bare midriff tops, peasant blouses or skinny tops. Pinafore and apron skirts team up with puff-sleeve and pin-tucked voile blouses.

The dressy blouse, as part of the Easter costume, makes a very soft, very feminine appearance. Full or accordion-pleated sleeves, ascots, pin-tucks and colorful embroidery are some of the details. Soft fabrics complete the look.

The classic shirt maintains its popularity. It looks easy and natural with the reappearing and newsy short-short.

Jackets include the natty blazer, longer this spring but classically tailored. Battle jackets, hacking jackets, ponchos and capes remain on the scene.

Thinking of that summer plunge? Very bare bikinis and one-piece body suits are favorites. Many long peasant skirts appear with them as beach cover-ups.

Pants, jumpsuits, gauchos and knickers reign.

Denim, cotton or polyester knits, cottons and sheer voiles are important parts of the fabric picture.

CIRCLED SPLENDOR

SHORT AND SWEET

Play tennis very fashionably in a short sleeve, nylon croschel lacy see-through top with a shirt collar and placket front. The short skirt is an A-line knit with an elasticized waist in a nubby Italian nylon.

Knee Socks Are New

Length is news in spring stockings, and the new length is kneehigh.

Designed to meet a demand, kneehighs fill a need for the millions of women who wear pantsuits.

When they don't show (under long pants), these pant-socks are appreciated for their comfort and security. They're available in both sheers and opaques.

Spring Shoes Feature Straps

Perhaps she'll choose foot-exposing stripping sandals, with straps or heels sometimes touched with jewels. Or she may prefer pumps with cut sides, narrow slings or open toes.

These are available this season in both mid and high heels, newly slimmed in shape.

Gloves Reflect Fashion Trends

Gloves reflect many fashion trends in trim, detail and fabric.

Heart appliques, jewelry ornaments, cuffs and bows are trims that relate to fashion's general spring theme — softness.

Slippers Take On New Look

Slippers abandon the bedroom look for spring take on the look of track-shoes. There are plastic-soled road runners, cool canvas sneakers sparking red with white and another color-plus-white.

Also seen, a crepe-corked canvas sandal with gold link tie-up in washable brights as well as white black and white spectators with vamp opening in crinkle patent and leather grain vinyl and a platform mule in tone-on-tone or contrast combination of strawcloth and vinly with six-eyelet tie.

Flowing Fabrics For Evening

For those who have their evenings scheduled for parties and extravaganzas, a leading designer believes in extravagant evening dresses. For spring, emphasis is on chiffons and jerseys which he likes as flowing capes and sleeves or just draped, especially alluring when simple, but sometimes with long panelled dresses which have the back panels cut shorter. One of the prettiest, the amber chiffon bathing suit dress with capelet sleeves and long self cape.

The newest evening skirt is in macrame, knotted and fringed purple silk, over a ruffle-necked dress.

WAY OF LIFE

Pants suits, gaucho outfits, knickers, jumpsuits are very much a way of life — and likely to remain so.

TO BE SAVED? — These roughly 1,200 acres (shaded) were the object of a special meeting last night by officials of Mill Valley, Larkspur, Corte Madera and Marin County. The aim was to see if there were any way to acquire the watershed land above the three cities to preserve it in its natural state.

(Independent-Journal Sketch by Jack Lucey)

Three-City Area Backs Preserving North Ridge

By JEFF GREER

County spokesmen and officials of Larkspur, Corte Madera and Mill Valley looked with favor last night on the preservation of 1,200 or more acres of undeveloped North Ridge lands above the three cities. They agreed unanimously to explore the possibility further.

Richard Nitzel of the Tamalpais Conservation Club summed up the feeling of the 50 citizens in the audience when he said, "I'm in favor of anything that would keep grass and trees up there instead of chimneys putting smoke in the air."

The three cities' mayors and county officials agreed to ask their agencies to study "economic, ecological and political effects or conflicts that might arise from pursuing a common goal of preservation of the North Ridge area."

The studies were part of a five-point program outlined by the three cities' managers and Harold E. Gregg, director of the Marin Conservation League at the special meeting in Corte Madera Town Hall.

The meeting followed two months of meetings by the staffs of the three cities and the county parks and recreation department aimed at preserving the area's open space.

The cities and the county agreed to call a second meeting "as close to June 1 as is feasible" to review the results of their studies.

The city managers suggested that each council and the county supervisors ask their planning commissions to suggest specific areas for preservation — possibly including more than the "logical" area outlined by Gregg.

The supervisors will ask the county counsel for legal advice on pros and cons of forming a local park district, joint powers agreements, or possibly a regional park approach even going so far as to take in all nine Bay Area counties, to finance public ownership of North Ridge.

Audience members recoiled from the idea of a regional park district embracing more than Marin County. They said they feared loss of local control and a possible Yosemite-like mass invasion of the slopes of Mount Tamalpais by park visitors from elsewhere.

Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste of Novato plumped for consideration of a countywide park district, in order to preserve other spaces "along the length of Highway 101."

He and Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. agreed that a multi-county district could endanger the county's control of Bolinas Lagoon, McNear's Beach, Stafford Lake and other recreation areas.

Mill Valley City Mgr. William H. Cunningham recalled that his city had abandoned plans to develop streets on some 400 acres of Northridge. He cited fears that city services required by future residents

Search For SST Funding

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government and industry forces hunted today from Wall Street to the West Coast for $400 million private capital to salvage the supersonic transport from Congress' decision to cut off funds. Their chances appeared bleak, perhaps nonexistent.

President Nixon, stung by the Senate's rejection 51-46 Wednesday of further government money for the controversial 1,800-mile per hour plane, criticized the action as a severe blow to the nation's "continued leadership in the aerospace industry."

Within hours after the Senate voted to stop spending government money on two prototypes of the SST, firms connected with the project began announcing layoffs that may total 14,000 and Nixon promised he would not allow the "setback" to reverse America's tradition of commercial air supremacy.

But those on both sides of the issue seemed to agree the project was dead for now.

William Magruder, SST project manager in the Transportation Department, said he had sounded out a number of banks and financial institutions about private financing to finish work on the two prototypes for which the government has already paid $864 million. But Magruder made it plain this chance is remote if not impossible.

He said he asked an advisory committee made up of Wall Street and West Coast banks to determine if private funding was available, but said their conclusion was that such financing was not.

Boeing Co., which announced in Seattle, Wash., that it was laying off 7,000 workers as soon as possible, also said it had no indication private investment would fill the gap.

Among the alternatives to reviving the project are:

—Sale of government-backed bonds on the open market. Critics of this idea claim interest on such bonds would add another $500 million to the program's cost.

—A government insured loan to industry to build the planes. Critics claim this would only add to the government's loss if the plane turns out to be a commercial flop.

—Formation of a consortium of aerospace companies, possibly including financing from nations such as Japan or Germany. Details of this approach might take a year or more to work out.

As it stands now, the government not only will lose its original $864 million investment, but will have to spend another $119 million to pull out of the deal.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the plane's No. 1 Senate defender who described Wednesday's vote as a victory for antitechnology "know-nothings," gave these pullout estimates: Contract termination to Boeing and General Electric $85 million; $10 million for other contractual liabilities; $2 million in administrative costs; and $22 million in

Water Board Eyes Bypassing Voters

AFTER LAOS, WHAT? — This South Vietnamese soldier held his face in his hands, tired and exhausted and perhaps reflecting on the Laos incursion in which he participated before being withdrawn to a staging area along the border of South Vietnam to await evacuation deeper into his own territory. The last remnants of Saigon's incursion force, but for a small reconnaissance outpost, were pulled out of Laos by this morning. (UPI Radiophoto)

Asking Pipeline Funding

By LARRY MOWELL

The Marin Municipal Water District board — which last November successfully promoted a $11.5 million bond issue on the promise that it was one of a series of fund raising issues to be presented to the voters — decided yesterday to seek legislation empowering it to bypass the voters in raising money.

The money would ultimately finance Marin's $21.6 million share of the roughly $47.7 million Sonoma-Marin Aquaduct.

The board voted unanimously to ask Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, to introduce two bills.

The first bill would allow the water district to borrow $18 million from the Sonoma County Water Agency, a partner in the Sonoma-Marin Aquaduct. The water district would then repay the agency from revenue over a 20 to 30 year period. ($4 million was raised as part of the November issue.)

The second bill —insurance against failure of the first to pass — would allow creation of a master agency, incorporating the water district, the Sonoma agency and the North Marin Water District. Voters from the three districts would then be asked to approve a $47.7 million bond issue.

The proposals were recommended to the board by General Mgr. William R. Seeger on the advice of the project's financial consultant, Stone and Youngberg of San Francisco.

Should the two bills fail, "it would throw a wrench in the whole timetable," according to Richard Norton, assistant chief engineer of the Sonoma Water Agency. He said a delay of a year or more might result.

The revenue bond financing method suggested by Stone and Youngberg and counted on by the Sonoma County Water Agency would run counter to the promises made by the district in November when it narrowly won approval of the $11.5 million bond issue.

In its campaign brochure, the district said, "This 'Master Plan' will be implemented only as need dictates and will be financed through a series of

AFT Claims Strike Gains More Punch

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— More students stayed home today in the second day of a teacher strike which forced senior and junior high schools into a "minimum day" schedule.

School officials said all school buses were running on schedule but that early indications were that pupil absenteeism was greater than on Wednesday when more than one third failed to go to school.

At Luther Burbank Junior High, which had to be closed Wednesday morning when uncontrolled students began smashing windows, only about 200 of 1,400 students showed up for classes today. Chuck Richards, a spokesman for the striking American Federation of Teachers, said the walkout is "just as strong as yesterday and perhaps more so."

No negotiations were scheduled between the AFT and school officials.

Superintendent Thomas A. Shaheen said most secondary

Reds Cross Border; Laos Incursion Ends

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. forces closed down their armed base at Lang Vei two miles from Laos today and pulled back deep inside South Vietnam. Communist forces moved across the border and their attacks claimed at least 22 American lives, field reports said.

UPI correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported that a 90-vehicle convoy left Lang Vei on dusty Route 9, rumbled past the Khe Sanh air strip and stopped at a combat base 24 miles inside South Vietnam. That left Khe Sanh, 12 miles from the border, as the closest American base to Laos.

Military spokesmen in Saigon said all of the South Vietnamese forces that had moved into Laos Feb. 8 to cut the Communist Ho Chi Minh supply trail had moved back across the border by this morning. However, field reports said a company of South Vietnamese Marines were airlifted to Hotel base two miles inside Laos by American helicopters to form an infantry outpost "with reconnaissance responsibility."

At Khe Sanh, GIs were busy dismantling the 360,000 square foot helicopter assault pad from which thousands of support missions were flown during the Laotian campaign.

The U.S. Command also reported the destruction of five more helicopters, bringing to 94 the number of American choppers destroyed while supporting the operation. Five men were reported killed, putting the casualty figure for the operation at 66 dead, 79 wounded and 28 missing.

The weekly casualty report said 55 American servicemen were killed in action in Indochina battlefronts last week, including three dead and 12 injured in aircraft losses over Laos. U.S. battlefield deaths the week before numbered 45.

According to medics at Khe Sahn, 22 Americans were killed Wednesday in shellings, ambushes and the shooting down of helicopters.

Land Use Rein Eyed By Smogmen

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials agreed yesterday to venture into the controversial field of controlling air pollution by controlling land use.

The initial step by Bay Area Air Pollution Control District directors was to include funds in next year's budget to start a research and development staff. They left it to Chief Administrative Officer D. J. Callaghan to estimate the cost of the new staff.

Some idea of new costs facing the district, however, was seen in the staff's estimate for staff expansion that may be forced

Super Agency Plan Given To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon sent Congress today a bold, massive federal reorganization plan. He said it would let the government focus its work on results for the people instead of red tape for bureaucrats.

The plan, as Nixon had outlined earlier in the year, would abolish seven of the 12 existing federal departments and redistribute their work among four new super departments. Only the State, Defense and Treasury Departments would not be affected.

Nixon's plan, embodied in four bills, would dismantle the Departments of Interior, Agriculture, Labor, Commerce, Transportation, Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

In their place, there would be new Departments of Human Resources, Community Deve-

Men Aren't Conservative Showing Off Fine Feathers

In men's wear for spring, the one significant trend is that there is no one trend. Rather, there are many, in styles to suit a man's way of life.

Today's man is not only less conservative about his apparel, he's also more aggressive about demanding some variety in his fashions. Especially, he wants a choice of "serious" clothes and clothes for fun and relaxation.

Manufacturers are responding with a wide range of looks in new suits and sportcoats.

Common denominator of all the looks is shape. Serious suits go about their business of well-dressing a man for his daily round, and casual suits — variously called "moot suits," "boot suits" and "no" suits — relax with ease, but all have at least some suggestion of shape. Details and fabrics become important factors.

Wide lapels or, for sportcoats and vest suits, collarless necklines; slanted pockets, oversized patch pockets; half belts and deep inverted pleats for back treatments are just some of the ideas.

In the field of fabrics, men's wear highlights knits. Knitted garments are in the stores in quantity, and as the season goes on, they'll be available in a greater variety of colors and styles.

Knits mean suits, sportcoats, slacks and dress shirts, as well as those long-established sport shirts and sweaters.

Both serious suits and blazer suits show up in knits, in single- and double-breasted models.

Polyester doubleknits come to the fore.

For all fabrics, overall designs are prominent. Jacquards and geometrics appear, especially in browns and tans. Stripes — wide, thin, chalk, bold — go on and on.

Casual suits, of course, are unconstructed. They may combine a tunic or a vest with shirt and slacks, slim or sometimes lightly flared. Another approach is the shirtjacket, sometimes belted, over slacks.

And now serious suits are unconstructed, too. This means less lining, less interlining and padding, and results in a comfortable, lightweight jacket with an easier look.

Lighter colors — including white and almost-white — are another new note, brightening spring for men.

Patterned Stockings

Brightly-colored patterns and solids put their best foot forward in today's over-the-calf socks — now recognized as proper attire for year-round business and leisure wear.

For spring, many new patterns and colors have been added to over-the-calf socks. Pastels and bright solids, including the season's newest plum shades, lead.

Among new ideas in patterns, available now, are polka dots, basketweaves.

New Fabrics For Lingerie

Fabric contributes to lingerie versatility. Delicate, soft body-hugging fabrics offer opportunities to display many fashion character traits.

Put Sock Into Men's New Socks

In the spring, a young man's fancy turns to love — or at least it used to in the days before the Peacock Revolution. Now a man's fancy and funds are more apt to be diverted to selecting his new spring finery in the latest designer styles, patterns and colors.

Choosing one's ensemble for the Easter Parade is no longer a problem for the women only. Starting at the top, men are putting their heads together to come up with a new spring topper. Inspired by the Borsalino look, many will choose the 1930's gangster slouch hat for spring.

But today's well-dressed man is letting fashion go to his feet as well as his head.

Bold footwear and colorful sock styles are helping men toe the fashion line. In shoes, there is a trend toward the spectator, spats, and other '30s looks. Two-tone leathers strapped with brassy buckles are beginning to kick up their heels. Everywhere men are doing the soft shoe in footwear of butter-soft kidskin, suede, and calf. Demi-boots trimmed with braided leather or a bit of brass are strutting high.

In men's hosiery, designers such as John Weitz, Bill Blass and Schiaparelli are socking it to the fashion-conscious consumer with over-the-calf socks in plaids, checks, window panes, prints and paisleys. Argyles, too, are making a comeback from their 1950s heyday. Colors have expanded from the traditional five shades of grey, black, olive, brown and navy to more than 50 colors in o-t-c lines. Such shades as plum, rum, whiskey, wine, mint, melon, persimmon, pumpkin and raspberry provide food for thought.

Today's well-dressed men choose over-the-calf socks for all business and leisure wear, not only for fashion, but for grooming etiquette. In business circles from Wall Street to Sunset Boulevard, men are increasingly conscious of "calf gap" — that hairy patch of skin that bristles forth when a man crosses his legs. Business grooming calls for eliminating this undignified shin show by wearing longer over-the-calf socks.

For spring, many manufacturers are adding new patterns and colors to their designer and regular lines of over-the-calf socks. Colorful pastels and bright solids, including the season's newest plum shades, should step out in front. In addition, new patterns, including polka dots, basket weaves, bold geometrics an subtle tone-on-tone designs will be available.

Many lightweight o-t-c's for spring and summer will provide greater comfort during the warmer months ahead.

Over-the-calf styles can help put a little "spring" in the step of this season's well dressed man.

MILITARY MANEUVERS — Recent war maneuvers have been reported by Egypt, Jordan and Syria. This photograph showing the silhouettes of Egyptian frogmen emerging from the water during war maneuvers was taken near Cairo. Meanwhile the Soviet Union has been reported bolstering the Arab states' military position in the continuing confrontation with Israel.

Soviets Boosting UAR War Stance

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Soviet Union has recently supplied Egypt with additional large quantities of war materiel including electronic air warfare equipment and sophiticated SAM3 antiaircraft missiles to protect the vulnerable Nile Valley from Cairo to Aswan, informed sources said today in Cairo.

The reports coincided with a series of warlike statements by Egyptian government and other officials that Egypt was prepared to resume the conflict with Israel if necessary. Egypt, Israel and Jordan were disclosed to have carried out large scale military maneuvers in recent days to prepare for such a contingency.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli Minister of Tourism Moshe Kol revived reports of a possible arrangement to get the Suez Canal open again through a partial Israeli withdrawal from the banks of the canal, a proposal first made by the Eygptian president.

Kol said if such an arrangement were reached he would seek a provision for the free passage of civilians and tourists from one side to the other and ask for a similar open border arrangement with Jordan.

UPI correspondent Maurice Guindi reported from Cairo that the Soviet Union in recent weeks had sent in supplies by ship and by transport plane not only to strengthen defenses along the Suez Canal but to set up a string of antiaircraft defenses along the 500-mile stretch of the Nile from Cairo to Aswan.

Diplomats reported huge new shipments of Soviet war materials to Syria, now linked with the United Arab Republic in a unified command against Israel.

UPI dispatches from Beirut said the Soviet Union had also supplied new MIG21s to Egypt and Syria and that installation of improved SAM2s and SAM3s was planned to neutralize Israeli command of the air in the Middle East.

Silverware Recovered In Manhattan Raid

NEW YORK (UPI)—Detectives raided a plush Manhattan apartment Wednesday night and recovered silverware, jewelry and paintings valued at more than $250,000, police said.

Three persons were arrested. Sgt. Tom Connally said the items, including British pieces dating from 1790, may have been part of a quantity of valuables worth more than $500,000 stolen from a Miami museum recently.

Connally said the $250,000 estimate was "arbitrary" and that some of the pieces "were virtually priceless."

Arrested were Vojialav Stanimirovic, 34; his wife, Branka, 22, and Alexander Karlanovic, 31, all of New York City.

Capt. Thomas Kissane said the silver and other valuables were scattered throughout the apartment in luggage when detectives, holding a search warrant, entered the ground floor apartment.

Police in Dade County, Fla., were asked to send descriptions and photographs of the antique silver stole from the Viscaya Museum there for comparison purposes. Included in the Miami robbery was a silver bowl that once belonged to Napolean Bonaparte.

Connally said the three persons were charged with suspicion of stolen property and possession of a dangerous weapon. He said detectives had been watching the three for four months.

Last Of Retreat Indians Is Dead

Red Wolf was 5 years old when he served as a horse herder as chief Joseph took his branch of the Nez Perce tribe on its retreat across Montana and into refuge in Canada. He said his mother and sister were shot down by the cavalry during the battle of Big Hole in Montana.

Enrollment Lid Reached, Says Dumke

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke said Wednesday that the 19-campus sytem has reached the point where enrollment limitations should be put into effect.

However, he said the colleges are unable to do so because of State Department of Finance formulas which dictate how many students the colleges must take.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, who held a back-to-back news conference with Dumke at the close of the State College Board of Trustees meeting, also conceded that the colleges were "very close" to the point where they must choose between limiting enrollment or spreading their money thinner.

"We will not be able to assure our current level of educational quality," Dumke told the trustees, blaming tight budgets for placing the schools in a squeeze between quality of education and quantity education.

He said the colleges would be taking in 18,000 more students than they should this fall under the proposed budget now before the legislature.

That budget also drew fire from the presidents of all 19 colleges and the state College Academic Senate in a joint statement to the trustees.

San Francisco State President S. I. Hayakawa, who presented the statement, said the budget "drastically curtails our already restricted programs (and) ... even minimal educational quality is jeopardized by the Reagan budget.",

In other action, trustee W. O. Weissich of San Rafael requested a review of the use of mandatory student fees to "finance the enemies of freedom" and demanded that future appearances of speakers like black nationalist Stokeley Carmichael on state college campuses be banned.

Carmichael was paid $4,500 from student funds for appearances on three campuses last week.

Aerospace Slashes Big Worry: Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The critical job problems of the aerospace industry "may be compounded" this year because the recession has cut the growth in air traffic, Gov. Ronald Reagan reported Wednesday.

Reagan said in his economic message to the Legislature that the airlines had set investment plans on the basis of a projected increase in air traffic.

"As a result," he said, "it now appears that a severe over capacity situation is developing."

And, he said, the situation will have "severe repercussions" on California's two major aircraft producers—the Douglas Aircraft Co. and Lockheed Aircraft Co.

The governor told the lawmakers that the rapid decline in aerospace employment has occurred because of the reduction in contracts from the U.S. Defense Department and the National Aeronautical and Space Administration.

Reagan said there were no indications that there would be a "turnaround" in the contract situation and employment in the industry would decline this year from 457,200 to 435,000.

Between 1967 and the end of 1970, Reagan said, the employment level skidded downward by 151,000 jobs.

As for California's general economy, Reagan reported that the state has weathered "a painful readjustment" and now is due for "strong gains."

"California can now look forward to a period of broadly based economic growth free from the imbalance of recent years—growth which will lead to a higher standard of living for all our citizens," he said.

However, while emphasizing "we are now seeing indications of stronger economic gains," he pointed out, "this outlook does not imply that California has surmounted all its economic problems."

The governor said he was "deeply concerned" with the aerospace industry.

He predicted that overall unemployment "may edge up" for a "few months" above its current 6.7 per cent level "although it will decline for the balance of 1971."

Check In Farm Income Seen Due To Equipment

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan said Wednesday that the net income to California's farmers would "continue to be held in check" this year because of heavy investments in mechanized equipment.

The spending of more dollars for mechanization, Reagan said, is necessary "to slow the rate of increase in production costs."

The governor made the statements in his annual economic report to the Legislature on California's economy this year.

"Little or no improvement is expected in net farm income during 1971," he said.

Gross cash receipts from California agriculture totaled $4.62 billion last year—an increase of approximately three per cent from $4.49 billion in 1969, according to the governor's message.

"Most of the increase was attributable to higher receipts from marketings of dairy products and cattle," Reagan said. "Net farm income was unchanged from the previous year, however, as rising costs offset the increase in receipts.

His report said agriculture's taxable income dropped from $85 million in 1969 to $80 million in 1970.

The governor told the Legislature that current planting intentions pointed to larger acreage for corn, grain, sorghum and hay and moderately smaller plantings of barley, cotton and wheat.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Pakistan Riot

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI)—A crowd of 50,000 East Pakistani nationalists today blockaded the seaport of Chittagong in an attempt to prevent unloading of arms for the Pakistani army.

At least 23 persons were reported killed in rioting in connection with the struggle for autonomy for East Pakistan Wednesday, three in Chittagong and 20 in the town of Rangpur, northeast of Dacca.

The Awami League political party, leading the drive for autonomy for East Pakistan, pressed President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan to announce his plans for turning over power to the nation's elected leaders. Yahya was believed trying to gain approval from West Pakistan political leader Zulfikar Ali Bhutto before making known his plans for ending the nation's month long political crisis.

POW Report

NEW YORK (UPI)—U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam have been tortured and many of them are suffering from malnutrition and disease, Reader's Digest magazine reported Wednesday.

"Unless help is forthcoming, these men will continue to rot and die," the magazine article said.

The article used as its basis information compiled by Lt. Col. Joseph R. Cataldo, a doctor of the Green Berets, from interviews with released prisoners and sources in Washington, Saigon and Paris.

According to Cataldo's findings, most POWs are severly malnourished, 80 per cent have skin diseases, at least 50 per cent suffered intestinal worms, 25 per cent may have active tuberculosis and many have serious vitamin deficiencies, mental disorientation and muscular wastage.

Farm Price Hike

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Agriculture Ministers of the six European Common Market nations today announced a package of price increases for farm products and land reforms agreed to in a 24-hour negotiating session.

"I hope these measures will restore the confidence of the farmers in the community," French Minister Michel Cointat, who chaired the negotiations, said as the talks ended.

The new prices, including a 6 per cent increase in the target price for milk and 10 per cent extra for beef over two years, fell short of what farmers had demanded. They will be effective April 1.

Calley Sleepless

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Lt. William L. Calley Jr. is beginning to show the strain of the long wait for a life-or-death verdict from his court-martial jury.

The short, balding officer was puffy-eyed during Wednesday's court session, which he was required to attend because of the reading of further testimony to the six-officer jury.

A guilty verdict by the jury, in its ninth day of deliberation today, could bring a sentence of death or life imprisonment on charges that Calley murdered 102 civilians at the South Vietnamese village of My Lai on March 16, 1968.

There were indications the military judge, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, would allow the jurors to continue their deliberate pace at least through the weekend.

Demo War Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Democratic Policy Council prodded the Democratic majority in Congress today to vote for a cutoff of all funds to support U.S. military operations in Indochina after Dec. 31.

The action came at the start of a week of meetings by various Democratic groups to prepare for the 1972 presidential campaign.

Democratic state chairmen gathered today for a two-day session on campaign organization and to hear some of the party's prospective candidates for the 1972 presidential nomination.

The policy council met Wednesday with 68 of its 100 members present, under the chairmanship of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the party's 1968 presidential nominee.

By a vote announced as unanimous, the council approved a resolution calling for "a firm, unequivocal declaration by the government that all American forces will be withdrawn by the end of this year" from Indochina.

Alioto To Seek Quick Bribe Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Mayor Joseph L. Alioto says he will demand an immediate trial on federal bribery and mail fraud charges —which he calls "shoddy, filthy" and politically motivated.

"We're not going to let them drag it out," the Democratic mayor said Wednesday. "We're going to get them under oath as quickly as possible."

Alioto also told a crowded news conference he will ask for transfer of the case to San Francisco so he can continue to function as mayor during his trial.

In Seattle, where a federal grand jury indicted Alioto and three former Washington state officials, the mayor's arraignment was set for April 1.

The jury indicted the four men Tuesday on federal charges of bribing a public official, mail fraud and conspiracy in connection with the splitting of $2.3 million in legal fees from a series of antitrust cases.

Referring to "this shoddy performance in Seattle," Alioto produced an affidavit which quoted a Nixon administration official as saying the mayor was "a political threat of the first magnitude."

He again insisted that the indictment and a 1969 Look Magazine article linking him with the Mafia were part of a Republican drive to destroy him because of his swift rise as a Democratic politician.

The affidavit was by Roy Taliaferro, a local television producer. Taliaferro said Jack Hushen, who was identified as public relations director of the Justice Department, told him Oct. 29 that Attorney General John Mitchell and other high-ranking Republicans regarded Alioto "as a political threat of the first magnitude on the state and national scene."

Alioto's codefendants also vehemently denied the charges.

John O'Connell, former Washington attorney general, said the nine counts are "like spitting in the street." John G. McCutcheon, former prosecutor of Pierce County, Wash., said the charge "is obviously political and manufactured."

Boy's Footgear Is Rugged In Shoe, Moccasin Or Boot

Slipons, laced shoes, moccasins and demi-boots are available with an abundance of styling touches.

Footwear takes rugged treatment and offers good looks in such supple American leathers as grained, smooth, waxy, glove, brushed and embossed.

The monk strap slipon, an old favorite, has new fashion modifications. Straps are split, vamps show paneled or center-seam effects, or an ornamental strap-buckle is featured.

An interesting look is created by the wrap-strap slipon since no tongue shows above the strap.

When slipons are not strapped, they take details such as side-gored-tongues, the spat look or plenty of perfs. Plain-toe gored-tongue styles look breezy and casual.

Demi-boots come gored, strapped or pullon. Mostly found in rugged grained and brushed leathers, demi-boots appear in high-polished smooth leather types.

Maritime Academy Upgrading Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Shipping industry leaders have urged the legislature to upgrade the California Maritime Academy at Vallejo instead of putting it in moth balls.

The industry officials along with school representatives made their appeal Tuesday during a special hearing before the Assembly Committee on Efficiency and Cost Control which has been studying the academy program for training Merchant Marine officers.

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post had recommended a phase-out of the 207-student institution over the next two years. Its annual budget is about $791,000 from the state treasury.

In support of the Dunlap measure Gordon S. White of the Pacific Far East Line said:

"The California Maritime Academy must remain open and be upgraded if California and industry are to fully profit from the new technology available to the American Merchant Marine."

White added that to produce a well-rounded graduate the CMA "must be upgraded to a fully accredited school."

Support was also expressed by Philip Steinberg, San Francisco, regional vice president of the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, who said, "We strongly support the continuation and improvement of CMA."

Academy officials said the school was not fully accredited by other institutions of higher education although credits from its courses can be transferred to some schools. The course of study at CMA is three years.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-Mill Valley, urged the committee to "consider ways to upgrade this fine educational institution into a fully-accredited four-year college."

Retired Rear Adm. Francis T. Williamson, Academy superintendent, also urged placing the school under the state colleges system as well as upgrading it.

But William McPherson, chairman of the Academy Board of Governors, conceded that since last year the school has faced a problem in placing all its graduates in the Merchant Marine industry. He blamed general economic conditions for the difficulties.

McPherson noted that many officers are between 45 and 50 years of age as well as older and "we're going to meet in the next few years a very great demand for officers."

Ends 26 Years Of Service

Captain Richard H. O'Connell of Mill Valley, West Coast training representative for the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y., has retired from the Merchant Marine after 26 years' service.

O'Connell served as commandant of mishipman at the academy prior to his assignment to San Francisco in 1961.

O'Connell, a graduate of Harvard University, first was appointed to the academy staff in 1945 as athletic director. He excelled in varsity athletics at Harvard.

Two Of 42 Inducted Into Army

Two of 42 men ordered for induction this month actually were inducted into the Army, according to Joy M. Kinzer, secretary of Selective Service Board 25 in San Rafael.

They were Jeffrey D. Finley of Novato and Robert W. Scofield Jr. of Palo Alto, she said.

Nine others failed to report, two refused to go, 11 failed to pass physicals, four enlisted, five obtained deferments, eight were granted postponements and one had his induction transferred, she said.

The names of those who refused induction or failed to report were withheld.

Mrs. Kinzer said the draft call for April will include those numbers below 195 not called in 1970 and those in the 1971 draft pool with numbers up to 100.

The next induction will be April 22, she said.

General Plan Is Received

Final maps and documents on the proposed Cotati general plan were received Tuesday night at a meeting of the city council and planning commission.

Minor revisions of maps were requested of planning consultants Herman D. Ruth and associates of Berkeley. Mayor Alfred Falletti said both the council and planning commission would hold public hearings on the plan.

Falletti and Planning Commissioner Kenneth Garner were the only elected officials attending the session. Falletti said the plan would be more thoroughly reviewed by the citizens advisory committee next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

Fibreboard Reports Paperboard Success

SAN FRANCISCO — (BW) — Fibreboard Corp. has announced completion of a $5 million program to convert a cylinder bleached paperboard machine to the manufacture of fourdrinier bleached paperboard at its San Joaquin plant in Antioch.

The conversion will broaden the company's line of solid bleached foodboard, and will lead to new market opportunities with improved profit potential for the carton division, said Fiberboard President George W. Burgess.

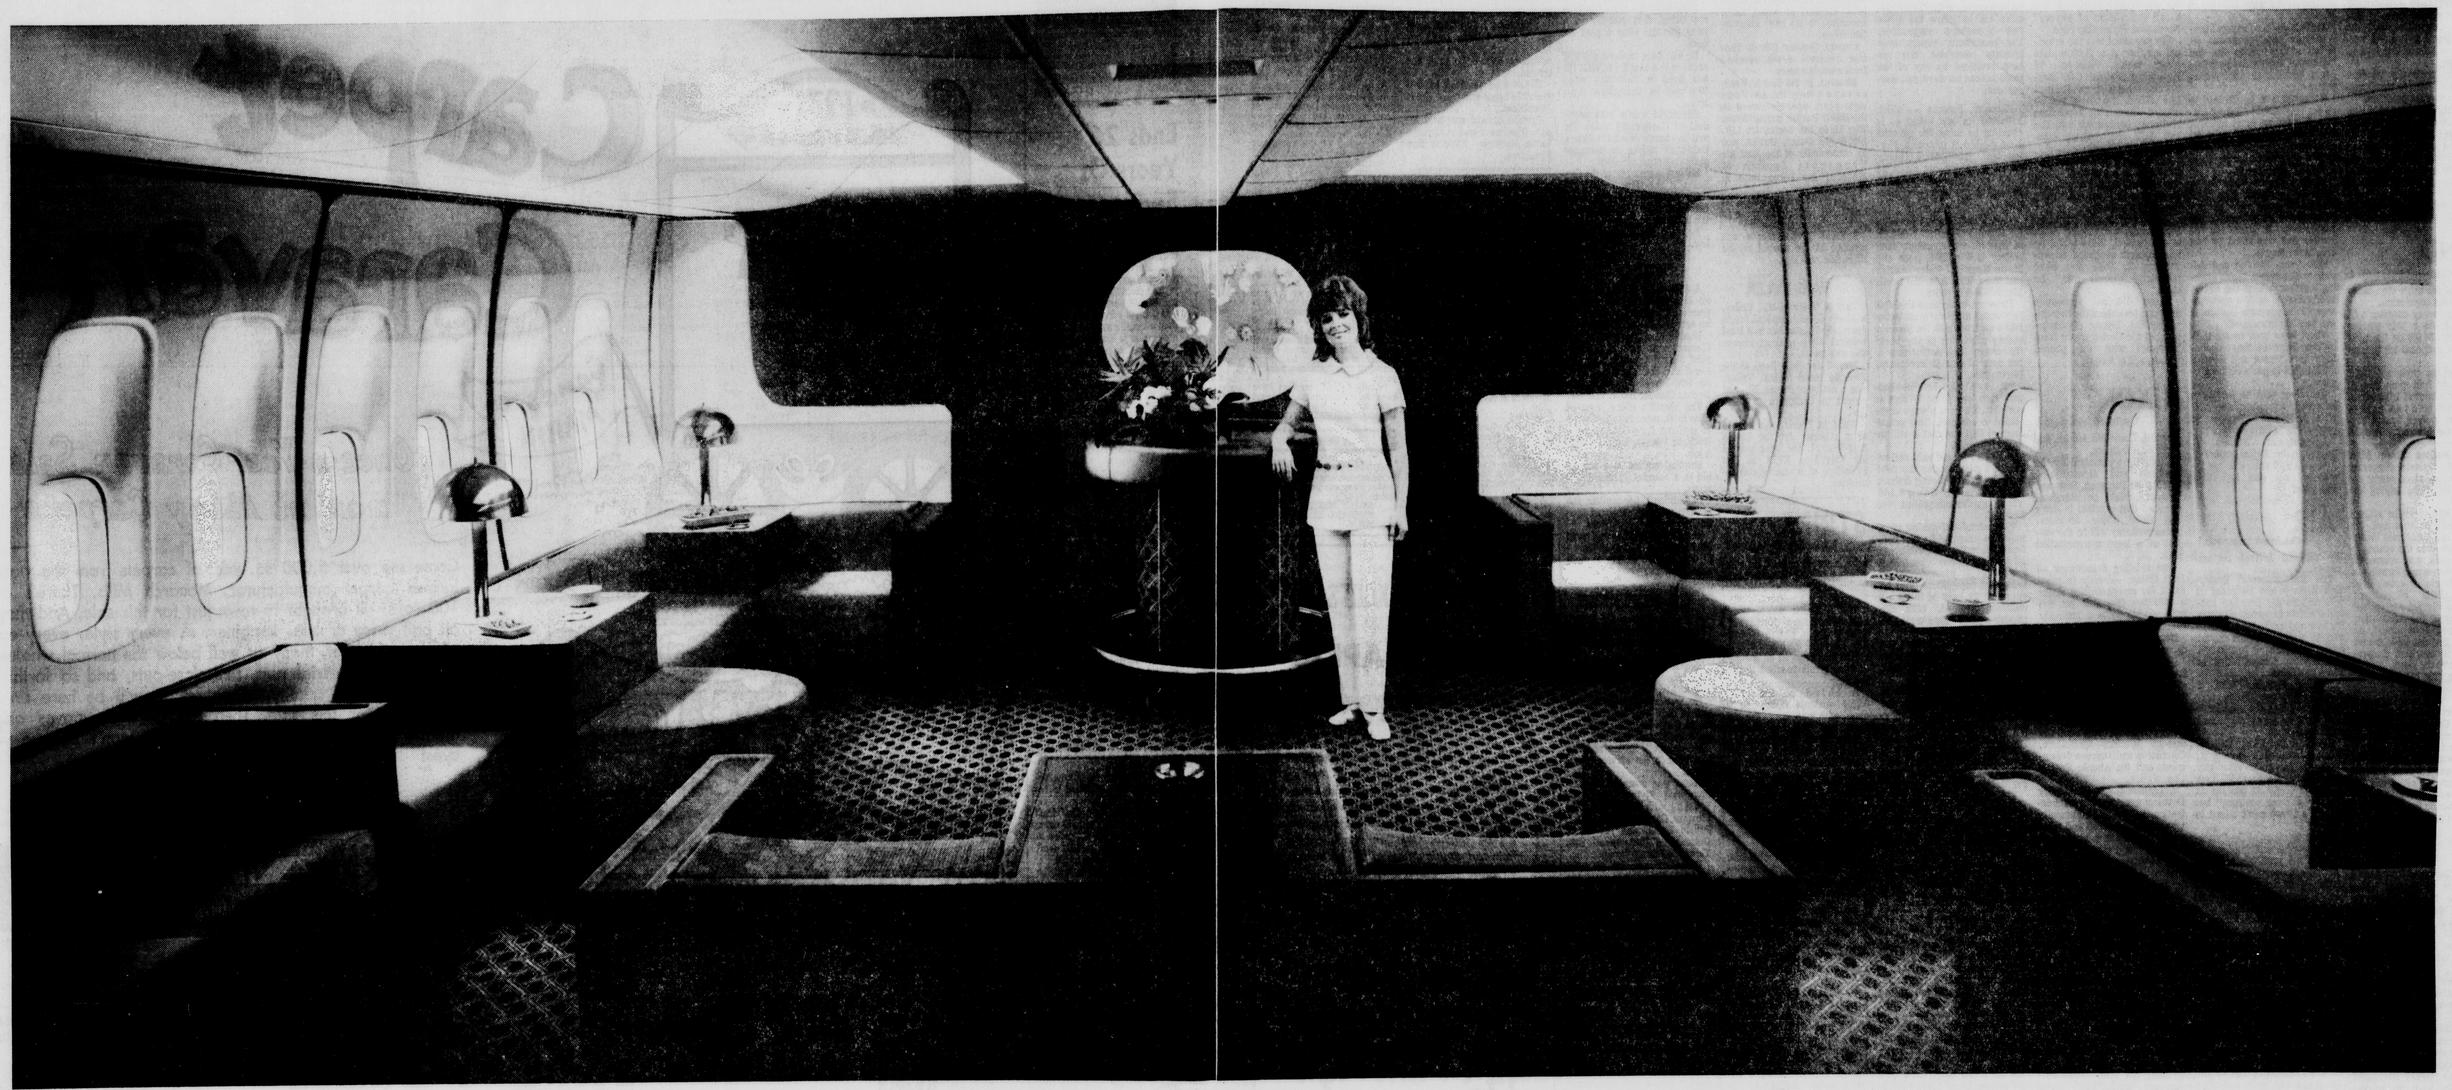
You won't believe you're on an airplane.



American Airlines New Coach Lounge.

See it with your own eyes.

It's bigger than most living rooms, has soft cushiony seats all around, in the middle is a stand-up bar...and not only is it on an airplane, but it's in coach.

The American Airlines Coach Lounge.

Take a walk to it, through it, around it. Stretch your legs. Relax.

It's a place where you can mingle, make new friends, have a snack, have some fun. Whatever.

You can even give yourself a going-away party while you're going away. By far, it's the most wonderful thing ever to happen to a coach passenger.

But this new standard of comfort doesn't stop with our lounge. You'll notice it everywhere, from nose to tail.

On our new 747 LuxuryLiner.

In coach, for instance, we've taken out rows of seats and rearranged the layout so each passenger gets extra legroom.

In first class, you can reserve a table for four. Dine with friends as you would in a restaurant. Play cards. Hold a business meeting.

Upstairs is our redecorated first class lounge. A plush intimate spot where you pour your own champagne and liqueurs after dinner.

If this sounds like a plane of the future, it isn't. Most of our 747s already have all these comforts.

By May 2, every one will be a LuxuryLiner.

Equity Tax Plan Near Introduction

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The property tax on owner-occupied homes would be virtually eliminated and the state income tax substantially increased under a $2 billion "revenue equity" program Assembly Democrats planned to introduce today.

The package, pushed by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti and chairman Joe A. Gonsalves of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee, was the first major tax revision program to be offered this legislative session.

It was uncertain whether Gov. Ronald Reagan would support or oppose the program.

Under the sweeping proposal, only the land on which an owner-occupied home sat would be taxed. The actual structure and improvements would be exempt. This alone would cost the state more than $1 billion to finance.

In addition, renters, senior citizens and business inventories would receive tax relief. Schools also would benefit through an annual cost-of-operating increase in state aid.

To pay for all this, income taxes would be increased greatly and payroll withholding established. The sales tax would be hiked from five to six cents on the dollar. Bank, corporation and insurance taxes also would be raised.

There have been several property tax relief programs offered unsuccessfully in the legislature during the past few years, but none as ambitious as this one.

Gonsalves said he decided to go for "big relief" because elderly persons on fixed incomes and the unemployed— such as aerospace workers— constantly face a danger of losing their homes by tax defaults.

Reagan pushed hard for a "reform" program last year that would have reduced property taxes considerably, but not entirely. It passed the Assembly and was killed by one vote in the Senate.

This year, Reagan and Assembly Democrats began working together behind the scenes in an effort to draft a mutually acceptable program before it was publicly introduced.

There have been recent indications, however, that negotiations have lapsed and Reagan may object to parts of the program.

Gonsalves said he has been informed administration officials believe the Democratic proposal is "a little too big."

LAND

would cost far more than taxes on the homes could raise.

He said county assessor's figures indicate a fair market value of $1,836,500 on the 1,282 acres now proposed for preservation.

Cunningham explained eight owners each hold more than 50 acres, for a total of 1,100 acres. "There may be a total of 40 to 45 owners involved," he reported. None has been contacted, he said.

Corte Madera Town Mgr. Ronald E. Bartels suggested that the cities alone might not be able to afford buying the land.

Among the ideas he offered were including Ross and the Kentfield and Tamalpais Valley fire districts plus the county in a larger park and recreation district, or perhaps forming a southern Marin or countywide district. Other alternatives could be a district embracing all counties in the Association of Bay Area Government, or asking the Legislature to create some entirely new sort of agency to preserve the ridge.

Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst stressed that the managers had "only scratched the surface" in preliminary sessions with Gregg and Pierre W. Joske, county parks and recreation director.

He suggested the North Ridge proposal was at a crossroads where the cities and the county could "forget it" or build further on the groundwork laid by the preliminary talks.

repayments to airlines which had made downpayments on future SST deliveries.

In addition, if the government returns $59 million in earnest money the total pullout cost would be $178 million, Jackson said.

Magruder claimed the total cost would reach $334 million, including penalties and possible lawsuits.

Wednesday's Senate vote, supporting similar House action of last week, turned down Nixon's request for $134 million to keep the project alive until June 30. To keep the project going backers must now raise that amount and the rest of the estimated $400 million needed to finish the prototypes.

Men's Clothing Samples Stolen

Men's clothing samples, valued at $1,300 were stolen from a panel truck parked near the Casa Buena Motel, near Corte Madera, last Wednesday or Thursday, Marin County sheriff's office has reported.

Deputies said the clothes were in a van owned by Donald G. Hassain of 747 Alta Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, who is opening a men's store at Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center.

AIR

by pending federal requirements.

The Environmental Protection Agency has indicated it will require air pollution control districts to screen all plans for new and expanded industry, and the staff figured the annual additional cost at up to $500,000. The district's current budget is about $2 million.

Director Wyman Hicks, a Sausalito city councilman, noted that some of the additional cost could be met through new fees on industry.

The start on land use controls was led by director William R. Jelavich, Mountain View city councilman. He conceded they were "probably as popular as wage and price controls," but argued "we can't afford to wait."

Other directors at the "workshop" session unanimously endorsed the proposal, although Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort cautioned that some other controls also would be needed to inhibit population growth. He did not elaborate.

Under Jelavich's proposal, the research and development staff will determine the Bay Area's "holding capacity". This would be the population and development maximums beyond which the air quality inevitably would deteriorate.

The new staff also should plan where new population and development should go in the region, he said.

"It's unthinkable that we can go ahead and build and build without any consideration of the effects on the people who have to live here," Jelavich declared.

Directors also agreed that the planning should include preparation of a model of the region that could show the effects on air quality of further growth.

Jelavich, criticizing California's past "chamber of commerce type of attitude" favoring growth, said the state's "darkest day" was when it bacame the biggest in the union.

In other business, the district's counsel, Matthew S. Walker, advised directors that the state had preempted any possible jurisdiction of the district over the proposed Southern Crossing bridge.

Nixon Vows War Not '72 Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has promised cheering Republican leaders that U.S. involvement in the Indochina War will be defused as a political issue in the 1972 election year.

"When we go into the year 1972 Americans can see what they have wanted to and have not had ... not only an end of the involvement in the war but a full generation of peace," Nixon said Wednesday night.

The president was the principal speaker at a $1,000-a-plate affair labled "Kickoff '72 Republican Dinner." GOP sources said the dinner raised about $1.6 million. The money will be divided between the Republican National Committee and the two GOP congressional campaign committees.

Nixon cited his accomplishments in two years of office saying there were "no plans to bring the war to an end" when he was inaugurated.

The President also promised that despite the winding down of the conflict, there would be no economic recession accompanying it. "We can have prosperity without war," he said.

Nixon did not announce anything new about the Indochina conflict, linking disengagement of the United States from hostilities with the phased withdrawal of troops.

lopment, Economic Affairs, and Natural Resources.

Virtually untouched by the shakeup and streamlining besides the Pentagon, State and Treasury would be scores of agencies that regulate industry and other public activities. These probably will be the subject of a later reorganization plan.

One existing department — Post Office —already is scheduled for reorganization under a 1970 law that will put the mail service under a federally chartered corporation.

Department of Natural Resources: Five divisions—land and recreation, water, energy and minerals, oceanic, atmospheric and earth sciences, and Indian and territorial affairs. Programs would come from the present Interior, Agriculture, Commerce and Defense departments and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Department of Community Development: Four "administrations"—housing, community transportation, urban and rural development, and federal insurance. It would take over HUD plus programs from the Commerce, Transportation, Agriculture and HEW departments and from the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), Appalachian Regional Commission, Office of Emergency Preparedness and Small Business Administration.

Department of Human Resources: Three administrations —Health, Human Development and Income Security. It would absorb most of HEW, with additional programs from HUD, Agriculture, Labor, OEO and the Railroad Retirement Board.

Department of Economic Affairs: Six administrations—business development, farms and agriculture, labor relations and standards, national transportation, social economic and technical information and international economics. It would include programs from the Departments of Labor, Commerce, HEW, Agriculture and Transportation plus the Small Business Administration and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

WATER

bond elections, with the second elections perhaps next year to finance the first stage of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct."

Last July the board approved future scheduling for more bond issues to finance the aqueduct and another $20 million in improvements. Seeger told the board yesterday that option will remain open after the bills are introduced.

He said the bills must be introduced by April 2, but can be withdrawn if the board decides not to follow the Stone and Youngberg suggestions. The consultants' report, only recently completed, has not been reviewed by any of the three boards involved yet, Seeger said.

However, Sonoma — which bypassed its own voters — is counting on using the revenue bond method of financing, Norton said. The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors approved a $115 million revenue bond in December for water improvements.

Norton said the plan now is for Sonoma to use $47.7 million of that for the aqueduct, then collect 21.6 million from the Marin Municipal Water District and $5.3 million from the North Marin Water District.

However, to arrange this, the two water districts must enter into a contract with the Sonoma agency promising to pay back the money and authorizing a tax levy if one is necessary, Norton said.

"It has always been obvious that they are going to sign a contract. We have always envisioned a contract. The actual form of that contract is still in doubt," he said.

However, Seeger said such a contract guaranteeing the debt is illegal under existing district law. That is why Stone and Youngberg recommended the first bill.

The second bill setting up a master agency, while less preferable than the first, would put all the eggs in one basket, Seeger said. At present, Seeger said, each expenditure must be approved by each of the three districts involved. With the master agency there would be only one vote.

He stressed that because the bills are to be introduced does not mean the districts will stick with them.

If the bills fail and Marin is excluded from the project, the Sonoma Water Agency, nevertheless, will expand to meet its own needs, Norton said. However, he added, "We would have to contract with Marin before we would do any work for Marin's benefit."

The water district has claimed it needs water from the aqueduct project to meet water needs over the next 20 years.

Heavy Rain Is Forecast For Tonight

Light rain fell overnight in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties and the weatherman is predicting more of the same. The rain is expected to get heavier tonight and continue through tomorrow.

Point Reyes Station recorded .32 of an inch of rain in the 24 hours prior to 8 a.m. today followed by Bolinas and Hamilton Air Force Base, both with .27 inches, Terra Linda recorded .25 inches, Ross and Petaluma, both with .22 inches and Tamalpais Valley with .20 inches.

In the same period, Mill Valley recorded .16 inches, San Anselmo .15 inches; Woodacre and Larkspur, both with .13; Santa Venetia .12; Sausalito .10; Belvedere .09, and Tiburon .05.

San Rafael recorded .31 in the 24 hours prior to noon today.

OBITUARIES

George Mosconi Dies At 57

George Mosconi, 57, of Fairfax, a retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, died unexpectedly yesterday while playing handball at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Mosconi collapsed at the conditioning center and was pronounced dead on arrival at the base hospital at about noon, according to the base information office.

Mosconi, of 423 Scenic Road, retired from the Air Force eight years ago. He served in the South Pacific during World War II, in the Berlin Air Lift, 1948-49, in Guam, 1951-52, and as commander of the 33rd Air Transport Squadron at McChord Air Force Base in Washington.

A native of San Francisco, he had lived in Fairfax prior to entering the service.

TARI TYLER

Tari M. Tyler of Mill Valley, a Marin County resident for 10 years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 40.

Mrs. Tyler, who lived at the Fireside Motel in Mill Valley, was a native of Peoria, Ill., and moved to California 15 years ago.

While in Peoria, she worked as a reporter for the Peoria Star-Journal. She later worked for Television KPIX in San Francisco as a commercial announcer.

STRIKE

schools would operate on short sessions for the duration of the walkout by the San Francisco Federation of Teachers.

The AFL-CIO union, which represents 1,800 of the district's 4,500 teachers, struck Wednesday, charging the board of Education had reneged on a series of agreements reached in past years.

A third of the city's 85,000 students didn't go to class, with majority of the strikers and absentee students coming from the junior and senior high schools.

Vandalism broke out at two schools, which were dismissed early. At Burbank Junior High, rocks and bottles shattered all windows in the library, inside windows were smashed and several waste baskets were set afire.

Elementary schools, where most teachers belong to the CTA, remained open all day although cafeteria and janitorial service was cut by refusal of union members to cross picket lines.

The striking union walked out of a negotiating session Wednesday with Shaheen and CTA representatives, charging that "strike issues" weren't being discussed. John Muir, executive secretary of the CTA, said a 75-page tentative contract under discussion "includes all the union's strike demands and more" and called the walkout a "divisive tactic" designed for the news media.

The strikers have accused the district of breaking promises on class size, teacher preparation periods, sabbatical leaves, teacher aides, reimbursement for vandalism and of limiting pay raises and threatening a dental insurance plan.

Mrs. Tyler is survived by her husband, Rodney, of Mill Valley; her mother, Cora Alderman and a brother, Donald Wayne Alderman of Illinois.

Funeral will be private.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Pacific Medical Center, Clay and Webster streets, San Francisco.

ERNEST SILVERFIELD

Private funeral for Ernest A. Silverfield of Greenbrae, a retired grain firm executive, was held yesterday in San Francisco.

Silverfield, 68, of 23 Los Cerros Drive, died Monday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He was born in Germany and came to this country in 1936. He has lived in California since 1946 and in Greenbrae since 1951.

Silverfield was a vice president of Continental Grain Co. and in charge of all the firm's California offices as manager of its California division.

He was a member of the San Rafael Elks Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Lily, and a son, Gerald, both of the home.

Private inurnment will follow.

DENISE BLOCK

Denise Noel Bock of Mount Clemens was taken to the hospital Sunday after she was found in a coma at the Alvarado Inn, Novato, according to Deputy Coroner Bill J. Thomas.

The sheriff's office reported Miss Bock apparently had come to visit her brother, Denis Bock, in Vallejo, hoping to find a job.

She had worked as a nurses' aid in a hospital in Mount Clemens.

In addition to her brother, she is survived by her mother, Roxana Bock of Mount Clemens.

The funeral service will be in Michigan. The Redwood Funeral Chapel is in charge of local arrangements.

CHARLES KEZER

Kezar, 35, died Sunday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

He was serving his second tour of duty with the paramedics in Southeast Asia when he became ill last September.

He was born in Oakland and had been in the service for 18 years.

Kezer was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, Commendation Medal, Purple Heart, and Air Force Outstanding Unit Award with Third Air Rescue Group.

He is survived by his wife, Sharon; three sons, Robert, David and Patrick all of the home at 513 North Oakwood Drive on the base, and a sister, Betty Williams of Orinda.

Military funeral and burial will be tomorrow at Arlington National Cemetery.

ANTHONY ROSSI

Anthony L. Rossi of Millbrae, brother of Paula Porter of Corte Madera, died yesterday in a Burlingame hospital after a long iliness. He was 54.

A native of Italy, he was a former mayor and councilman of Millbrae and had served on the city's planning commission. He was the husband of Beatrice Rossi.

In addition to his wife and sister, he is survived by two sons, Ronald Rossi of Sunnyvale and Anthony G. Rossi of Millbrae; a daughter, Gloria Backman of New York; two brothers, John Rossi of Moraga and Dino Rossi of San Pedro; another sister, Louise Longo of San Francisco, and two grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Chapel of the Highlands, Millbrae. Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Monday at St. Dunstan's Catholic Church, Millbrae. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery in Colma.

IDA BRESNAHAN

Ida Bresnahan, 74, mother of Edward Hageman Jr., of San Anselmo, died yesterday in San Francisco.

A native of San Francisco, she had lived there all of her life. She had operated doctors' telephone exchanges until she retired.

She is also survived by two grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Private funeral was held today. Inurnment was at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park in San Francisco.

'IT'S LIKE A DREAM'

Paul K. Imbler, 53, who twice escaped the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison with stays of execution, walks from Folsom Prison with his son, George, 17, after winning a 10-year battle to overturn a murder conviction. "It's like a dream," Imbler said of his release yesterday. Imbler, who says he has a job starting next week at Sally Stanford's Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, was convicted of killing a man in a Los Angeles grocery holdup in 1961 and beat dates with the gas chamber in 1962 and 1964 before winning his release on a state Supreme Court ruling. (UPI Telephoto)

Traffic Jams, Courthouse Square Concern Candidates

Traffic congestion, the Courthouse Square and how to get San Rafael out of the "nondescript" category were the most popular topics today for candidates vying for the San Rafael City Council.

The six men, including two incumbents, who seek two seats on the council in the April 20 election, appeared on KTIM's Sounding Board program moderated by Kitty Oppenheim.

Incumbent Councilman John A. Miskimen, running for a second term, quoted from a Time Magazine article which described San Rafael as "nondescript" and said that the time has come to reduce clutter of signs at the city's entrances and go into partnership with merchants to improve the appearance.

He said he thought a recently adopted sign ordinance will greatly reduce clutter and that since the Highway 101 overpass has been completed, beautification in that area can commence.

Miskimen claimed that the council "is doing an excellent job in providing day-to-day services" for San Rafael residents but that the time has come to change the image of the city.

Thomas R. O'Toole, now a planning commissioner, saw the traffic situation in downtown San Rafael and a permanent site for senior citizens' activities as pressing needs.

He suggested making several streets one-way but not doing away with parking on Fourth Street.

Candidate Donald J. Urquhart took a slightly different tack, suggesting eliminating parking on Fourth Street but not making it one-way. He also asked that the last phase of the widening of San Pedro Road be completed and that land be set aside for a Little League park, possibly in the Francisco Boulevard area.

The need for one-way streets, possibly a mall in downtown San Rafael and free parking were cited by Benjamin E. Walton, who also asked that Lincoln Avenue be improved with synchronized stop signals and controlled turns.

Neither incumbent Fred E. Jensen nor challenger George S. Burton had much to say about traffic but got into a discussion between the two of them about how the city's finances ought to be run.

Burton asked that a citizens finance committee be established which would advise the council on financial matters and that city budgets be programmed on a three-year basis, instead of two. He also asked that councilmen be limited to serving two terms, apparently referring to Jensen, who has been on the council 16 years.

Jensen retorted that it would be "illegal to do so" in regard to a three-year budget, since an election is held every two years and one council may not encumber another for financial obligations.

He also defended a carpet in city hall, which Burton described as $4,500 throw rug" by saying that it was a $2,500 carpet which had worn very well.

As to Courthouse Square, Walton suggested that "it is important to do something good, possibly an underground garage, with a park and shopping."

O'Toole said that the "city should help anyone" who wishes to develop the square, possibly by providing parking facilities.

Miskimen, however, blamed county supervisors for lack of action on the square, saying, "We've made the only bona fide offer and they didn't accept it." He added that while he thought the city should provide leadership for square development, "I don't think we're going to spend $1.5 million for a garage."

The program will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

$1,173 Outlay For Utilities Underground

The Novato Fire District board last night appropriated $1,173 toward underground utilities at headquarters frontage, First Street and Grant Avenue.

The job will be part of the programming for undergrounding utilities along Grant Avenue from Highway 101 to Seventh Street to be undertaken by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. this spring.

The board also advanced Capt. Walter J. Nolan and Capt. Charles R. Onorato one step on the salary schedule from $965 to $991 a month, and firemen Gary Hoffman and Kendal Holyome from $806 to $837 a month.

It appropriated $1,360 for new aerial wiring across Highway 101 at four points, part of the district's alarm system.

Festival Set At Marin College

A "Christian Festival Day" featuring music and lectures, will be held tomorrow at the College of Marin.

Sponsored by the Associated Students of the College of Marin, the festival will begin at the College Center and wind up with group discussions after a 7 p.m. showing of the film, "The Robe."

High point of the day's activities will be a "Walk for Christ" around the Kentfield campus starting at 2 p.m. at The College Center.

Farina Quick Cereal May Contain Glass

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration has issued a warning that some boxes of Farina enriched quick cooking hot wheat cereal — identified by the codes "KOW 23" or "KOW 24" printed on the bottom or top of the bottle — may contain broken glass.

The agency said the product, from the Pillsbury Co., Minneapolis, Minn., was distributed nationwide although no injuries have been reported. Pillsbury is recalling the product from the groceries.

Petaluman Convicted By Jury

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Buford (Duke) Kelsay, 32, of Petaluma, has been convicted of the Dec. 1 rape of a New York woman in Boyes Springs.

The verdict came after nearly three hours of jury deliberation. Visiting Ukiah Judge Arthur Broaddus set sentencing for April 9 at 3:30 p.m.

The 19-year-old New Yorker, who was seven months pregnant at the time of the rape, testified that Kelsay entered her home on the pretext of calling for assistance for his car. She said he choked her into near unconsciousness, pulled her into the bedroom and raped her.

Also testifying at the trial was a 16-year-old Petaluma girl who said Kelsay raped her two years ago, also using the guise of car trouble to enter her home.

Film On Family Living Tomorrow

"A Day in the Sun," a documentary film of a family living in the wilderness of artic Alaska, will be shown at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow at Tamalpais High School Auditorium, Mill Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meader, who made the film, will be present with their three children to narrate their experiences.

Apparent Agreement On Dixie Salaries

The Dixie Teachers Association and school district officials told the district board last night they have reached apparent agreement on a new salary package for fiscal 1971-72, Supt. Clifford W. Campbell reported today.

The board, however, took no action on the proposal, pending an overall look at the district's financial condition, Dr. Campbell said.

Campbell said the salary package, costing about $330,000 would give teachers pay raises averaging 10 to 11 per cent and include longevity boosts over which the administration and teachers earlier had differed.

A compromise reached on the longevity feature would give instructors $200 increases every two years after 13 year's service, up to 25 years. The association earlier had proposed a varying scale of longevity boosts, while the administration proposal called for hikes after 15, 20 and 25 years.

Under the apparent consensus, the basic salary range would go from $7,140 for a beginning teacher to $14,930 for a teacher with 11 years' experience and 75 semester units.

Teachers received no wage increase this fiscal year and only about 100 of the district's 300 instructors received step increments, Campbell said, "so we had to make a major change" to put Dixie on a teacher salary plane with other Marin districts.

Campbell said the school board probably would take action on the new salary proposal by its April 28 meeting.

The Dixie School District board also:

POLICY — Scheduled for probable action at its April 14 meeting a policy proposed by Trustee T. Neal McNamara, who acted on the advice of the American Federation of Teachers local, that would improve classroom teaching conditions.

SUMMER — Approved a summer school program, supported entirely by state funds, for fourth to seventh grade students.

MATERNITY — Relaxed the district's maternity leave policy, enabling teachers to return before the one-year mandatory layoff period.

TEACHER — Hired Marilyn Amsden to teach at Don Timoteo School at a salary of $2,001 for the rest of the school year, replacing Ann McNally, given maternity leave.

College Board Will Discuss Leader

The Marin Junior College District board will hold a closed session today at 6:30 p.m. to hear recommendations from its screening committee on selection of a president for the proposed north campus.

The meeting will be held in the College of Marin office of John A. Grasham, district superintendent.

A UNIQUE WAY TO MOVE

This moving truck's semi-trailer, suspended four floors above a street in Denver, didn't even cause a doubletake from pedestrians this week. The truck belonged to a moving firm that simplified the project by lifting the trailer by crane to various floors of the Golden Eagle Building to move the Miller Stockman Co. The building will be demolished soon as part of a redevelopment project.

New Clean Air Auto Tax Eyed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — New taxes on Bay Area motor vehicles and factories to help pay air pollution control costs have been urged by two legislators.

Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, in a resolution called for legislative study of imposing an additional fee on motor vehicles registered in the nine-county Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, in a dinner meeting last night with district directors, urged them to seek legislation to tax stationary sources of air contamination on the basis of the tonnage of contaminants they emit.

The district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan, assured Behr that a similar "air pollution tax" was included in a pending bill by Knox. That bill only would empower the district to impose a registration fee, however.

District director Robert W. Hoyer, mayor of Clayton, told Behr that registration with the district would "not be a license to pollute."

Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo, chairman of the regional district, conceded that the district in past years had been "somewhat complacent," but said "we now recognize the challenge before us."

Seven Bay Area legislators attended the meeting.

Bill Introduced To Protect Tule Elk

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, today introduced a bill designed to save California's tule elk from possible extinction.

The fish and Game Commission has agreed to allow the state's elk herd to grow to 490 before allowing hunters to kill them again. Behr's bill would require growth of the herd to 2,000 and than allow their killing only if efforts to relocate the surplus were unsuccessful.

The commission's staff has reported counting 292 of the elk, almost all of them in the Owens Valley. Thousands of them inhabited the San Joaquin Valley until it was developed in the last century.

Behr's staff said that wildlife experts generally agree that 2,000 is the minimum size for a species. Famine or disease could endanger a species with a smaller count.

A state and federal study of 33 possible relocation areas for surplus elk recommended three: Point Reyes National Seashore, San Luis Island off the Southern California coast, and the Cache Creek area in Colusa County.

The last hunting season on tule elk was in 1969, when 85 were killed.

Other Way To Get Your Goat

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A goat is a goat. But goat meat, if the Agriculture Department approves a proposal announced today, could wind up being called "chevon" or "mutton."

Under present federal meat inspection regulations, meat from goats must be labeled "goat meat."

But department officials today announced a proposal, suggested by a group of Texas meat packers, to allow labeling of goat meat as "mutton" or "chevon."

Officials said the packers contend both terms are widely used and readily understood by consumers of goat meat. "Chevon," they explained, is a spanish term meaning goat meat.

Keynote Speaker Is Chosen For Park Symposium

Alfred E. Heller of Kentfield, president of the conservation magazine "Cry California", will be keynote speaker at a countywide symposium on parks and recreation to be held on May 15.

The all-day symposium will be held in Olney Hall at the College of Marin in Kentfield. The conference is sponsored by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission, headed by chairman Albert J. Boro.

Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation, said the purpose of the symposium is to have the public meet the commissioners and the parks and recreation department and to get public suggestions for the future.

The exact hours for the symposium have not been set, but it will probably run from about 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., said Joske.

Jury Unable To Reach Verdict

Trial of a Lucas Valley man charged with selling LSD and offering to sell marijuana ended Tuesday in Marin Superior Court with a hung jury.

Eric Lee Prescott, 21, is charged with two counts of selling LSD and one of offering to sell pot in June 1969.

The seven-day old trial went to the jury of four men and eight women at about 10:30 a.m. yesterday.

The jury returned to the courtroom of Judge Joseph G. Wilson at 3 p.m. to report it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Judge Wilson dismissed the jury and continued Prescott's case until Monday.

Unification Exemption Is Stalled

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill exempting school districts from the state requirement for unification elections every four years has stalled temporarily in a subcommittee.

The measure, AB 358 by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, originally would have applied only to Marin County school districts, but was amended to apply statewide.

The nine-member Assembly Education Subcommittee on Administration and Personnel split, 4-4, when it heard the bill Tuesday night. The ninth member, Leo J. Ryan, D-South San Francisco, abstained on the ground he was undecided on the issue.

Ryan, however, indicated he favored the bill.

The committee postponed another vote to mid-April.

The only witness was David D. Ring of Tiburon, a trustee of the Tamalpais High School District and a member of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization. He favored the bill.

Under the bill, unification elections still could be held, but at the option of school district trustees. Without such legislation, voters in the Tamalpais district will have to have a third election in June 1972.

Bagley said that both proponents and opponents of unification in the district now concede a third election would be a waste of money.

Wards File For Dissolution

A Fairfax mother who has been honored for her long service to a Marin City church, and her husband have asked dissolution of their 25-year marriage.

Lloyd and Maxine Ward Jr. of 56 Rocca Drive filed the petition with the Marin Superior Court Tuesday.

Mrs. Ward, a longtime youth leader in the Bethsaida Church of God in Marin City, was honored for her church work at a testimonial dinner in San Rafael in 1968. Her husband, a carpenter, built their home in Fairfax after they moved there from Marin City. Mrs. Ward, after raising her family, studied to become first a licensed vocational nurse and later a full-fledged registered nurse.

Mrs. Ward asked the court for custody of the four children and support.

Highway Division Sets Date For Bids

The state Division of Highways has announced it will receive bids April 21 in Sacramento for installation of reflective pavement markers on Route 37 between Atherton Avenue, Novato, and Lakeville Road in Sonoma County.

The project, combined with similar work in San Francisco and elsewhere in Sonoma County, is budgeted at $40,000.

Behr Seeks Bigger Tomales Fishing Ban

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Commercial fishing in Tomales Bay will be banned in legislation being drafted by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

The bay on Marin's ocean shoulder now is off limits to commercial fishing only at its northern and southern extremes.

Extensive commercial fishing has occurred in Tomales Bay, Behr said, and was responsible some years ago for virtually wiping out its perch. The fish were used for fertilizer.

The legislation also will ban harvesting herring eggs, a delicacy exported to Japan.

The senator said the bill was requested by citizens in Sonoma County through the California Wildlife Federation.

Operations Officer Ends Long Career

Lt. Col. Donavon K. Larson, operations officer for the special missions squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, has retired after 20 years' service.

A headline in yesterday's Independent-Journal erroneously said he was to retire and misspelled his name as Larsen.

Hub Trustees To Discuss Finances

The San Anselmo School District board will meet at 5 p.m. tomorrow at the Red Hill School library to continue discussion of the school districts finances.

The meeting will cover items on the agenda of the March 16 meeting that was adjourned.

Bridge District Hit On Abolition Issue

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sharp criticism of the Golden Gate Bridge District for failing to consider its abolition has been voiced by the staff of a Senate committee.

In an initial analysis of the district's transportation plan, the staff of the public utilities and corporations committee objected that abolition has not been considered — as required by the Legislature — either in the final plan or in the 14-month study that preceded it.

The plan, adopted two weeks ago by district directors, envisioned a $301 million bus rapid transit system using tunnels in San Francisco and a second deck on the bridge.

It was a scaled-down version of one of five alternatives studied by district consultants. The other four were rail systems costing almost $1 billion each.

(The plan is due to be submitted in final form to the Legislature by the end of next week. The committee will hear the plan on April 19.)

The same committee staff earlier this month objected that the study of the five choices had failed to compare the costs of the bus system with any of the rail systems. It said that "the final recommendation suffers from the same problem."

The staff also objected that the plan apparently assumed widening of Highway 101 to eight lanes to Novato, but asked if widening would be necessary "if an effective rapid transit system is developed to serve the area?"

Objections also were made to the plan's hope to build a bus system that could be converted to rails in the future. "If the recommendations of the district are implemented," the committee staff said, "eventual conversion to another system able to handle more people might be very difficult."

Hub Photographer Exhibit Announced

San Anselmo photographer Ernest Braun will exhibit his "Living Water" collection April 2 through May 30 at the Oakland Museum's natural science gallery.

The collection is made up of 33 enlarged color prints which include close-ups of a bee on a meadow flower, water splashing over river stones and riverbank rushes and grasses.

Bill To Make Landowners Pay In Fires

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to make major landowners pay the cost of fires fought on their property was introduced today by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The measure would bill them for "willfully, negligently or unlawfully" setting a fire or allowing it to be set. Existing law empowers the state to bill them only if a fire damages an adjacent property.

The bill was asked by the Department of Conservation, which has lost similar measures in past years because of opposition from major landowners.

Major Items: Funds, North Campus

Overall district financing and development of the north county campus are the top priority items facing the Marin Junior College District board, candidates for the board said last night.

Eleven of the 12 running for the four board seats in the April 20 election spoke at the candidates night sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Southern and Central Marin. The twelfth, Willis C. Bohm, neither attended nor submitted a statement and biography requested by the league.

About 150 persons listened in Olney Hall as each candidate spoke for five minutes and then fielded questions from the floor. Almost all agreed that finding ways of easing the burden on the district's taxpayer and development of a second campus in Novato should be the board's priority items.

Edward K. Wachsman, 39, of San Rafael, said he felt it was extravagant for the board to hire a full-time planner when the work could be contracted out. Wachsman also said he "questioned" a recent decision by Fleming to hiring a Southern California planning firm because he (Wachsman) had learned that Fleming had "had prior association" with the firm.

Wachsman also said he felt that board's immediate challenge was to bridge the communications gap between itself, the community and the students.

Charles R. Best, 40, of San Anselmo, said the north campus had to be the board's top priority because its development would begin to relieve the Kentfield campus's crowded conditions. He said he hoped that the U.S. Supreme Court would rule soon on the "one man, one vote" issue and make it retroactive so that last November's $17 million bond issue would be ruled to have passed.

Sixty-three per cent of the voters approved the bond issue last November, just short of the two-thirds majority needed. However, the Supreme Court is now considering whether the two-thirds rule violates the "one man, one vote" concept.

Martin J. Dean, 46, of Novato, said he was concerned about the heavy load now being carried by the district's taxpayers. He said about 75 per cent of the burden was borne by local taxpayers and only 25 per cent by the state. "I would work to get more like a 50-50 split," he said.

Dean also said he would like to see board meetings held at different locations in the county to spark citizen's interest and said the board must develop more technical and vocational programs.

William S. Sisk, 40, of Novato, said the development of the north campus was "of the utmost importance."

He said the college's enrollment appeared to be increasing 10 to 15 per cent per year and a new campus was needed immediately. He also called for an enlarged vocational program, noting that 75 per cent of all college students don't complete a degree program.

"We must take a long look at vocational studies," he said.

Joseph A. Gereghty, Jr., 33, of Kentfield, took a hard line of assistance programs in the college. He said he would oppose social assistance programs calling such things as free lunch programs unnecessary. "God helps those who help themselves," he said. He also called for the rapid development of the north campus. He also said that the board would have to begin to bridge the communications gap which exists between the "Square, straight board and the long haired students of today."

James Kimo Campbell, 24, and Richard W. Beban, 22, both of San Rafael and former College of Marin students, told the audience they were running as a team even though they frequently disagreed with each other on certain issues.

Beban said that the current administrative system of the district was "all sopped up" charging that students, faculty and others had little access to the board. He said he would like to see each segment of the college have a direct line of communications with trustees rather than channeling everything through the district's administration.

He said this "sharing of power" would prohibit the trustees from "isolating themselves from the people" as they do now.

Campbell said the current board is frequently used as a "cop out" by others when something doesn't get accomplished. He blamed public apathy for much of the district's problems and said taxpayers and students were staring at each other from opposite ends of a "two way street of paranoia."

Frances Compton, the only woman in the race, supported the north campus and said it was needed to relieve overcrowded conditions on the Kentfield campus. She said the board would need to enlist as much community support as possible in the project.

Hugh O. Pessner, 54, of Greenbrae, said he felt the board had been "too lenient" with the radical element on campus and indicated he would take a firmer stand if elected to the board. He said a "well disciplined campus" was a must and said without it, the taxpayers would no longer continue to support the district's programs. He also called for a stronger vocation program.

Donald Barksdale, 33, of San Rafael, said students should have direct access to the trustees and called on board members to be willing to "go out into the community" in an effort to get the district's taxpayers involved. He called district financing the major problem to be faced by the board in the next year and also called for an expanded adult education program.

Charles W. Gray, 47, of San Rafael, the lone incumbent seeking reelection, defended the current board's past actions, saying it has always listened to the students and faculty on issues. He joined with other candidates in calling financing the major hurdle next year.

"Ronald Reagan's budget has demolished higher education and now the students who can't get into the state colleges and universities will be coming to the community college system," Gray said.

Tricia Finally Picks The Day: June 12

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tricia Nixon, after some days of indecision, has settled on June 12 as the day for her wedding to Edward Finch Cox.

The couple had planned the ceremony for either June 5 or June 12 but the later date was selected to give Cox, a law student, and others in the wedding party more time to complete their studies.

Jury Trial Set For Bennett In Sausalito

State Board of Equalization member William M. Bennett, 52, of Kentfield, has been ordered to stand jury trial July 15 in Marin Municipal Court on a misdemeanor charge of being drunk in a public place.

Bennett was arrested March 4; Sausalito police said he was stumbling while walking along a street at 3:15 a.m. He entered an innocent plea to the charge yesterday through his attorney former judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

NOW BRIDE, GROOM

Exchange Students Relive Memories

A young Japanese couple who met when both came to Marin as exchange students in 1968 were back visiting this week — as bride and groom.

The reason that Toshimitsu Shinomiya and his wife, the former Keiko Miyama, were able to come to the United States this time was that he won a trip around the world on a Japanese television quiz show called Quiz Jumbo. The winning answer was a correct identification of the German author Goethe.

Smiling at his bride, Shinomiya said that he won the prize last year but "I saved it."

He and his bride were students at different Japanese universities when they met at orientation sessions held before they came to Marin under an exchange program sponsored by the Lions Club.

They stayed at separate houses in Marin mainly to renew acquaintance with the Harrisons and the Jack Hausers of Corte Madera, with whom Shinomiya stayed in 1968.

The bride and groom, who were married in a Christian church in Tokyo on March 8, are now on their way home, having visited Europe and New York. They will spend three days in Hawaii before flying to Tokyo, where Shinomiya will resume studies at Keio University where he is majoring in economics.

The bride works as a secretary for the National Cancer Society.

As to the future, Shinomiya plans to enter a Shell Oil Co. traning program when he graduates next March which will lead to management of a service station.

"But in five or six years I know he can go on his own and that will be better," Mrs. Shinomya said shyly but proudly.

34 VD Cases

The Marin County Department of Public Health reported 34 gonorrhea cases in the county last week, with 64 strep infection cases, 15 measles cases and seven of infectious hepatitis also noted.

Candidate Night Set Wednesday

The North Marin Council of the Parent-Teacher Association will hold a candidates' night meeting covering the Novato Unified School District, Marin Junior College District and Marin County Board of Education candidates at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Novato High School lecture hall.

Invited to speak are the eight candidates for the Novato district board, 12 candidates for the college board and James A. Swenson of Novato, unopposed incumbent, seeking reelection to the District One seat on the county board.

Earl G. Marshall, former Novato Unified School District trustee, will be the moderator.

Men's Choir To Sing Monday Night

The Men's Choir of San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Monday in Montgomery Chapel, Bolinas Avenue and Richmond Road, San Anselmo.

The choir, directed by Wilbur F. Russell, recently has returned from its spring concert tour through Northern California.

Boy, 14, Hunted In Kidnap Case

A kidnapped Santa Rosa woman was released unharmed yesterday in Petaluma after being taken captive, according to authorities, by a 14-year-old boy who had been convicted of a similar crime at the age of 11.

Sonoma Sheriff's Inspector Edward Mayburn said authorities were searching the Tomales area today for Terry Ring of Santa Rosa, who had been released from a California Youth Authority camp on Feb 20 after serving three years for kidnapping a school teacher in early 1968.

Doris Davis told deputies that she had gone home yesterday afternoon and heard strange noises. She said as she turned around, Ring pointed a loaded rifle at her and demanded money.

Mrs. Davis said, Ring, an acquaintance of her son, forced her to drive around Sonoma County, to Novato, West Marin and finally into Petaluma.

She was released at 3 p.m. in the 5000 block of Bodega Avenue. Her car was found a quarter of a mile away and the rifle on the ground a few hundred yards beyond that, Mayburn said. Ring had reportedly taken $15 in cash and a cigarette lighter from Mrs. Davis's purse.

Ring was described as being 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds, with blue eyes, dark brown hair worn slicked back and wearing a blue levi jacket, faded bluejeans, brown Army style shirt and black boots.

Cease-Fire Call For Elections In S. Vietnam

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Clark Kerr, former University of California president, has called for an election year cease-fire in South Vietnam for balloting in which the Communists would be allowed to vote.

Kerr, speaking as chairman of the National Committee for a Political Settlement in Vietnam, said Wednesday three elections are scheduled in South Vietnam this year.

He said the legislature's lower house will be selected in August, the president in October, and provincial chiefs and mayors during the winter.

Free and open elections, his group contended, could be "a first step toward bringing the other side into the political process and moving the struggle for power from the military to the political level."

On Notice

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—County attorneys have drafted a proposed law to be submitted to the state legislature that would require any market or restaurant convicted of violating health codes to post notice of such conviction in their establishments.

San Rafael Schools Candidates Night Set

A candidates night for those running for the San Rafael Board of Education will be held at 8 p.m. next Thursday at the San Rafael High School auditorium.

The candidates night is cosponsored by the San Rafael Parent-Teacher Association Council and the San Rafael Teachers' Association.

Each of the 10 candidates running for the three four-year terms will be given five minutes to comment on five prepared questions.

These are: Why are you running for the school board? What changes do you believe the board should make to improve the quality of education in the district? What suggestions do you have concerning the financing of our schools? What are your thoughts concerning flexible scheduling or other innovations? What is your opinion of teacher tenure?

Candidates then will answer written questions from the audience.

Adelaide P. Wilson of the League of Women Voters will moderate the program.

22 Tons Of Crab Spilled On U.S. 101

GEYSERVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—Motorists on U.S. 101 had something to crab about Wednesday—22 tons of the shellfish blocking the major north-south highway north of San Francisco.

The crabs covered both sides of the two-lane road two miles north of here. They spilled from a refrigerated truck that had skidded and overturned.

Insurance For Floods Available

Flood damage insurance, subsidized by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, is now available to homeowners and businesses in Marin County.

George K. Bernstein, federal insurance administrator, announced that Fireman's Fund Insurance of San Francisco has been designated as the servicing company for flood insurance.

He said insurance agents should contact Fireman's Fund to get policy forms, rates, flood insurance manuals, and any other information.

The National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 specifies that anyone who does not choose to buy flood insurance in a community which is eligible will not get financial disaster aid for losses that would have been covered by flood insurance.

Flood insurance policies may be purchased from local property and casualty agents and brokers.

Shoot-Out Claim Runs Into Trouble

A $350,000 suit filed by a woman juror wounded during the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Marin Hall of Justice may have hit a dead-end yesterday.

Judge Henry J. Broderick of Marin Superior Court upheld demurrers filed by the state of California which said the suit specified no cause of action for which the state was liable.

Broderick gave the juror, Maria Elena Graham, 48, of Terra Linda, 10 days to amend her suit for further action.

Mrs. Graham, one of three women jurors kidnapped in the abortive escape attempt which left Judge Harold J. Haley and three others dead, was shot in the right arm.

She charged in her suit against the state, the county and 100 John Does, that officials failed to make proper provisions to protect jurors during trials of "dangerous prisoners from San Quentin Prison."

The suit claimed that prisoners were "not adequately restrained" and that the physical setup of the courtroom in the Hall of Justice led to the disaster.

The state replied to the suit, saying it and the county were immune from liability and cited a state government code section which declares that no government entity can be sued for injuries caused by a prisoner or for failing to provide sufficient police protection or jail facilities.

Mrs. Graham, two other women jurors, Judge Haley and Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas were taken at gunpoint from the courtroom — now Judge Broderick's — where convict James D. McClain was on trial.

Cycle-Bus Crash Hurts Man's Ankle

The California Highway Patrol said Goudie was eastbound on California Avenue at 8:30 a.m. just east of Loring Avenue when his motorcycle overturned on wet pavement.

The bus, traveling at about 5 miles per hour, stopped immediately but came to rest partly on Goudie's ankle, the highway patrol said. After backing the bus off the injured man's foot, Avilla rendered first aid until Goudie was taken to the hospital.

Hospitals Get Abbott Warning

BERKELEY (UPI)—The California Department of Health Tuesday advised hospitals not to use solutions of intravenous fluids distributed by Abbott Laboratories.

The action followed a statement from federal health officials that 350 cases of blood poisoning had occurred in 21 hospitals sampled in a survey throughout the nation.

The state health office said only one California hospital was involved in the survey and that it reported 17 cases of poisoning.

Driver's Condition Is Reported Good

George LeFleur, 36, of 2060 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with head cuts suffered in an accident yesterday at 11 a.m. on Petaluma Boulevard North at Jessie Lane.

The California Highway Patrol said the pickup truck driven by LeFleur struck a parked truck owned by the Pacific Telephone Co.

Viet Adviser To Republican Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Tom Hayden, 29, who was a highly decorated civilian adviser in Vietnam, Tuesday has been named sergeant-at-arms for the Republican State Central Committee.

The announcement was made Tuesday by GOP State Chairman Putnam Livermore.

'The Jew Of The Soviet Union' Is Topic At Community Center

A program on "The Jews of the Soviet Union" will be presented Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael by three speakers.

Jerry Horwitz, a member of the Bay Area Council on Soviet Jewry who has visited the Soviet Union, will talk along with Mr. and Mrs. David Boxerman, who have just returned from an extensive visit to the Soviet Union, and Leon Atlas, who was born in Siberia and is a refugee by way of Poland. The public meeting will include a slide presentation.

THE SAN Rafael Assembly, International Order of the Rainbow for Girls will hold initiation Saturday at 1 p.m., at the Masonic Hall in San Rafael. New initiates are Lisci Gidudici, Marsha Erickson, Claire Jacobs, Susan Crellin, Cheri Paton and Judy Brichetto.

THE MARIN County Circle of Florence Crittenton Home of San Francisco will have a tea for sustaining members Tuesday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William Steen of Belvedere.

"STUDENT RIGHTS" will be the topic of Mrs. Bette Wallace, Tamalpais Union High School District board of trustees member, in her public talk tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the gallery of the Mill Valley public library. Her speech is sponsored by the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association Council.

THE FOREIGN Affairs and Conservation Sections of the Mill Valley Branch of the America Association of University Women will hold a joint meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Harold T. Rogers, 106 Bridgeway, Sausalito.

A PANCAKE BREAKFAST will be held Sunday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Park School auditorium, Mill Valley, to benefit the Edna Maguire Middle School music scholarship fund.

The fund provides opportunity for scholarship winners, determined in auditions for instrumental music students, to study privately with an instructor of their choice, Winners are announced at a spring concert.

The menu will include orange juice, pancakes with butter and syrup, milk and all the coffee adults can drink.

Arrangements for the breakfast are being handled by the music teachers, Joseph Angiulo and Tod Fleming, with assistance from Mmes. Ross Shade and Dirk West. Fathers of music students will serve as chefs, mothers will assist with setting up, and students will do the serving.

UNIVERSITY OF California at Davis alumni in Napa, Sonoma and Marin Counties will hold the seventh annual alumni chapter dinner Saturday at Robert Mondavi Winery near Oakville.

A wine tasting and tour of the winery beginning at 5 p.m. will precede the dinner meeting. Bill King of Petaluma is reservations chairman.

After Six Years on 'Junk' She's On The Other Side

By CASS VANZI

NEW YORK (UPI)—"When I lecture on narcotic abuse, I tell them — 'I love taking drugs. What I don't like is what it does to me.'"

And heroin's effect on the life-style of the 37-year-old woman who made this statement is still present even though she has been off drugs for five years.

Amelia Macri "shot junk" for six years, did 23 stints in the Women's House of Detention in Manhattan, and nearly died in a fire when heroin's euphoria made her oblivious to peril.

TODAY THIS ex-addict is hospital liaison for the city's Addiction Services Agency (ASA), gives lectures for the Queens District Attorney's office and holds a security pass to the House of D.

"When I left the House of D the last time, the guards waved to me and said, 'Goodby, Macri, see you again,'" she said. "They did too —only I came in the front door."

To come through the front door took a long time. So vivid are the memories of hustling to support her habit, shooting up, the sickness of withdrawing from heroin —and the guilt — that she has dedicated herself to keeping others out of the drug scene.

Mrs. Macri, whose teen-age marriage at 17 ended after a second child was born, began her drug career at 26 and admits she "wasn't as hooked on drugs as I was on the guy I was going with," a junkie musician.

"EVERY TIME he went to jail, I was clean," she said. "As soon as he got out, five minutes later I had a spike (needle) in my arm."

Awareness of what she was doing to herself came six years later and only after a fire nearly claimed her life and Narcotics Anonymous, a defunct program modeled after Alcoholics Anonymous took an interest in her.

Since that time, the attractive five-foot-zero brunette who curls her upper lip and flays her arms as she talks about drugs, has become totally enmeshed in her work.

At ASA, Mrs. Macri said her dedication has driven her administrators to put her on "the pay-me-no-mind list" because she is constantly suggesting revamping present drug programs and offering outlines for the creation of others.

ALTHOUGH HER own job calls only for her to screen addicts and refer them to hospitals for treatment, Mrs. Macri has added the chore of follow-up work on some individuals.

"That follow-up entails visiting them, getting to know them and then making an evaluation as to what type of treatment program would be good for that type of individual," she said.

Mrs. Macri is in constant touch with drug rehabilitation programs and once took two New York youths to Boston because it offered the "best type of program for them."

This is the way ASA's fighting little lady operates but she decries the fact that too many areas are neglected. There is no program set up in the prisons, she said, and addicts released from jail immediately return to drugs.

"And when I say we need a prison program, I'm talking from experience," Mrs. Macri said.

Amelia Macri has five surgical scars on her body, the result of tattoo removal as well as rehabilitation from drug addiction.

During one of her 23 times in prison she talked another inmate into doing a tattoo of a musical clef on her ankle. Mrs. Macri was released a short time later, rearrested on another drug charge and returned to the same prison. Three more tattoos were done —a cross, an arrow and the name of a boyfriend.

"I was bored, getting tattooed gave me something to do," she said.

Four tattoos and a couple of years later, Mrs. Macri kicked the drug habit.

"Part of my rehabilitation was getting the tattoos removed," she said, her voice breaking into an easy laugh. "After all that I had to get rid of them, so I told the doctor while you're at it ... I have this track mark (the result of taking heroin intravenously) and you may as well make it five surgical scars!"

Although she finds humor in this particular incident, Mrs. Macri —who can walk past the Manhattan Women's House of Detention and point to each floor and say "I was in that cell ... and on that floor and that floor" —is deeply concerned about the lack of rehabilitation in the prison system.

"One of the intended functions of correctional institutions is to affect change in a prisoner's behavior attitude," she said "But all prisons do is dehumanize and the isolation and suppression just bring on more bitterness and resentment against society."

Mrs. Macri has enlisted the assistance of other ex-addicts and formed an organization to set up a prison program. On the job at the city's Addiction Services Agency, Mrs. Macri in one of her many memoes to administrators suggested just such a program but "they don't pay any attention to me."

She now serves as hospital liason for the city's Addiction Services Agency, speaks for the Queen's District Attorney's office and enters the House of D by the front door.

Mrs. Allen Bernes Is President Of Fairfax-San Anselmo Guild

MRS. ALLEN BERNES

Mrs. Allen Bernes of Fairfax is serving as president of the Fairfax-San Anselmo Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

Peggy Bernes has been a guild member for five years and has previously served it as secretary and festival chairman.

The guild conducts fund-raising events for the museum's benefit. Among its activities this year will be a Greek-themed dinner this month for the members and their husbands, and an art fair to be given with two other museum guilds. The guild will also participate in the annual Festival of Trees, for which Peggy Bernes is chairman.

A native of Vicksburg, Miss., Mrs. Bernes was educated in East Bay schools and she and her husband, a district sales manager for Ciba Products Co., have lived in Marin for eight years.

The couple are parents of Beth, 17; Stephen, 13; Douglas, 11 and Greg, 9.

Also serving as guild officers this year are Mmes. Ells Hagen, vic president; Gordon Hargreaves, secretary; and Sharon Capps, treasurer.

Down The Amazon In A Dugout Canoe On South American Junket

By MOLLY MARIN

The Harry Mohlers are telling friends of many unusual experiences they had on their tour of South America from which they have just returned to Sausalito.

On Jan. 12 they flew to British Honduras and visited Honduras and San Andres Island in the Caribbean before "covering Columbia from top to bottom."

Mrs. Mohler says that highlights were their trip out of Letitia on the Amazon river in a dugout canoe and seeing the ancient statues of an unknown civilization at San Augustin in the Andes mountains.

At Cali they stopped to see Dr. Ronald Mackenzie, formerly of Sausalito, who is teaching and doing research at the university there.

In Quito, Ecuador, an interesting sight for the travelers was the Colorado Indians with their bodies painted and hair dyed red. Since it was Mardi Gras time, in many places they were doused with water from water-filled balloons and had to dodge paper sacks full of flour.

MRS. HERBERT Prodger was honored on her 70th birthday Friday when the board of directors of the Marin Country Club Women's Golf Association and their husbands had a dinner for Ann Prodger and her husband at the Officers Club at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The Prodgers now live at the Marin Valley Country Club mobile park, where Ann is president of the resident's association. They are former residents of the Marin Country Club Estates, where she was secretary of the homeowners association for five years. The Women's Golf Association members also had a birthday cake for her last Thursday.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'I Am A Clod On Dance Floor, And She Lets Me Know About It'

DEAR HELEN:
I took my girl friend to a party the other night. I am a clod on the dance floor and she lets me know about it, so I waited till the third dance to ask her. Then she said "No." Later on I asked her again, but she danced off with another guy.

So another girl saw how it was, and we ended up dancing together all evening.

Next day my girl friend called me a two-timer. What would you say? — THREE-FOOTED SLOUCH

DEAR TFS:
I'd say live up the label and give the other girl a buzz. A girl who makes you feel three-footed deserves being two-timed. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
I have a sort of full chin, though I'm skinny. This condition runs in my family — and turns into saggy jowls as we get older.

I'd like to avoid this, and I wonder if singing exercises would help. You see, I've been studying older singers on television and they hardly ever have loose necks and chins, even when they're over 50.

Are chin, mouth and neck exercises the secret? — DOUBLECHIN AT 18

DEAR DOUBLE:
I'm sure they help, but don't discount plastic surgery. Over-50 performers seldom rely on exercise alone to keep their faces in shape.

Why not find a book on facial exercises at the library and start early? In 25 years, you'll know how their claims hold up — and then you can write your own book, from personal experience. — H.

DEAR HELEN:
Some of us girls were talking about cigarettes. We all agreed we don't like smokers' kisses, but there were other interesting observations too. Like:

Pipe breath is worse than cigarette breath, and cigar breath is worst of all.

But most girls prefer guys who smoke pipes if they must smoke, because they are considerate and don't come on too strong too soon. You hardly ever have to fight off a pipe smoker.

One girl said she considered it an insult when a boy smokes on a date — like he's bored and trying to find something to do.

Another girl argued she's kind of relieved when he reaches for his pack, as it gives him something else to do with his hands. — THE GIRLS

Boys Should Do Laundry

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—No college man's education is complete until he learns to do his own laundry.

Mrs. Ruth Ann Wilson, extension clothing specialist at the Pennsylvania State University, says the young man takes it for granted when mother does his laundry at home. But the young man is on his own when he enters college.

"Mother, if your son has never been in a commercial coin-operated laundry, take him to one in the neighborhood," Mrs. Wilson said. This has the type of laundry facilities he will have at his college residence hall.

Finnish Women Want Rights

By KIRSTI SAARI

HELSINKI (UPI) — Woman power has come to Finland, well after it began making itself felt elsewhere in Europe and in the United States.

Activist woman power, that is. Women's liberation began in Finland long ago. They won the vote in 1906. The present government includes three female ministers, and 44 women sit in the 200-member Finnish parliament. Fifty per cent of the country's university and college students are women, three quarters of Finland's dentists and 25 per cent of its doctors are women.

So, there are many who wonder, how much more liberation — or power — does the Finnish woman need?

The female activists have their answers. They cite statistics to show that although women make up half the country's working force, women on the average earn only 60 per cent as much as men for equivalent work; women hold only four per cent of all executive posts and only 2-5 per cent of university chairs.

With these and other arguments, a group of women in Turku have formed what they call the "first chapter of woman power in Finland."

THE REBELLIOUS ladies say all professions are open to women but are women allowed full freedom to work? They point out mothers are forced to stay at home because day care places for children are too few and daily help is so difficult to get.

Many women blame men for their situation. A recent study among working women showed that 70 per cent of wives had no help from their husbands in daily housekeeping chores. The study also disclosed that the Finnish male still hates to have his wife go to work.

Said Mrs. Irja Ketonen, managing editor of one of the country's largest newspapers: "It still is a man's world but it is the woman's own fault."

In her opinion women do not know their own strength and they do not know how to produce a common front. Now, they're trying to do something about it. With a "first chapter" of woman power formed, can a second — and third — be far behind?

diction Specialists of America (DASA) —intends to run seminars and work with drug addicts in the prison three months prior to their release. It is presently awaiting funds from a semi-private organization.

"A PRISON environment is an ideal environment for drug rehab," Mrs. Macri said, "because the body and mind is usually free of drugs. I know what it can be worth because that's where I was reached."

Mrs. Macri was due to be released from the Women's House of Detention when a member of the defunct Narcotics Anonoymous visited her and convinced her to give "NA a chance."

The situation is drastically different today. NA doesn't exist but various other modes of drug rehabilitation are functioning and, depending on the person's need, he can be directed to the one best suited for his personality.

"Ex-addicts, ex-convicts will be running the seminars. They're the drug specialists," Mrs. Macri said. "They can provide treatment for the youthful first offender which will short-circuit their addiction and also handle the hard-core addict. They know when a guy is jiving and when a guy is for real. We're interested in hooking the winners."

Big Trees Hunting Club Loses Lease

The district decided Feb. 10 to reconsider the cancellation of the five-year lease signed in 1968 when members of the club charged the district had broken faith by ending the lease.

Edward J. Stephens charged that he and the nine other members who leased 5,000 acres in Lagunitas Canyon were encouraged in 1968 to make extensive improvements because the board indicated the lease would run five years. It had been a yearly lease prior to 1968.

However, the board yesterday stuck by its original decision that the land should be open to the public. It canceled the Big Trees lease and one to adjacent Redwood Gun Club Nov. 12.

$16,000 Fire Hits Hub Home

Fire swept through a San Anselmo home yesterday causing approximately $16,000 damage, according to Capt. Robert Beetle.

Teachers at the Co-Op Nursery behind the house located on 135 Madrone Avenue notified the San Anselmo Fire Department about 10:15 a.m., Beetle said. But within the few minutes it took the two trucks to arrive, he said, flames were leaping almost 20 feet out the front door.

Sandra Benedetti, who is renting the house, escaped uninjured with her two young children. Beetle said an indentified couple and a young man, also in the house at the time, tried unsuccessfully to extinguish the flames.

Although the cause of the fire is still under investigation, Beetle said it apparently started in the living room and swept down the hall, gutting two bedrooms and the kitchen. The front porch was also demolished, he said.

Smoke damaged a third bedroom and an adjacent service porch causing approximately $4,000 damage to the contents and about $12,000 damage to the structure, he said.

VOLUNTEER RESCUERS

Many Incautious Boaters Find Marine Patrol Saves Lives

By LARRY MOWELL

San Pablo Bay — with its view of Marin, clusters of duck blinds and supply of game fish — attracts hundreds of boaters on a pleasant day. Some days not all of those boaters return to port when the sun sets.

Stranded on mud flats by the receding tide, floating helplessly with a dead motor or trapped in a duck blind in a storm, some boaters who have enjoyed the pleasures of the bay also quickly learn its treacherous side.

While out looking for disabled boats recently, the patrol's Dean Merrick noted that 85 to 90 per cent of the patrol's rescues are at night.

"People going out on a nice boat ride like today don't realize when they are out of gas, or the boat breaks down or they are stuck in the mud," he said.

When the unfortunate boaters are missed by relatives or a marina operator, the sheriff's office is called, Merrick said. Volunteer deputies of the marine patrol then are summoned to search for the missing boat.

It sometimes takes four or five hours of cruising around on a dark night to find a boat, he said. "It is no damn fun at night when you have to get out in those tules, I'll tell you," added deputy Nick Bruno of Bel Marin Keys.

Merrick told of a recent rescue when a boater trapped by the mud was found only because he lit his cigarette lighter when two deputies happened to pass nearby.

When boaters are trapped in mudflats and reeds along the shore, the patrol employs its swamp buggy, a craft whose airplane engine drives it at speeds up to 40 miles an hour over the mud.

Otherwise, the crew on duty when an emergency occurs uses the boat of one of the crewmen, Merrick said. The 32 men of the patrol are divided into five crews, each of which takes the duty for a week at a time.

This year the patrol has already made 14 rescues, Merrick said. All 14 have been from boats stuck in the mud or drifting without power.

However, the patrol in previous years assisted in the rescue of downed pilots from Hamilton Air Force Base and boaters who have tumbled overboard, he said.

There also are occasional cases where boaters have to be saved from their own folly, Merrick said. He told of a boater who hit the shallows at the mouth of Santa Venetia Creek going full speed. The impact tore the transom off his outboard and the patrol was summoned to fish him from the muddy shallows, Merrick said.

In these shallow areas along the coast between McNears Point and the Petaluma River, the small boats of the marine patrol have an advantage over the deep-draft patrol boats of the Coast Guard, Merrick said. Therefore, he said, the Coast Guard leaves rescues in the tricky shallows to the patrol.

The patrol was formed in 1959 by Scott Waterman and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to watch over the Marin shore.

Each of its members is a volunteer, repaid by the county only for fuel used in rescues, Merrick said.

While it is primarily a service organization, the patrol also resembles a yacht club. New members are selected by the patrol and pay $12 a year in dues to pay for operation of the swamp craft and for social events like the annual Angel Island picnic and occasional cruises, Merrick said.

Identity Series Is Announced

"In Search of Jewish Identity," with readings from Albert Memmi, Hannah Arendt and others, will be presented in Southern Marin beginning April 4.

Coordinator Sara S. Ruffner said the program will continue every other Sunday for four sessions. Class will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. at various Southern Marin homes.

Further information on the program, held under the auspices of the Jewish Community Center of Marin, may be obtained from Mrs. Ruffner at 25 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley.

114 Courses On Schedule

The College of Marin has listed 114 courses for the spring quarter of its adult education program slated to begin Monday.

Persons interested in registering may contact the college registrar's office from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. daily. Beginning Monday, the office will also be open from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Persons may also register at the first meeting of the class.

Some new classes offered include "Introduction to Home Maintenance for the Unhandy," and "Understanding the Old Testament."

Brochures listing classes, dates, times and locations are available at the college.

Berkeley Suit On Free Speech

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Two Berkeley city council candidates filed suit in federal court here Wednesday charging they were denied free speech and equal protection of the law by not being allowed to speak in the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory auditorium.

Ilona Hancock and Rick Brown said two council members, vice mayor Wilmont Sweeney and Warren Widener, spoke at the auditorium on March 18, and two other council candidates were also allowed to use the auditorium as a forum.

U.S. Dist Judge Albert C. Wollenberg will hear arguments on a petition for a restraining order against the auditorium director Thursday.

The suit charges that Hancock and Brown, in being denied the use of the auditorium for a noon speech Thursday, have been deprived of equal protection of the law and are victims of prior restraint of free speech and public assembly.

Lord Olivier Takes Seat In Select Body

LONDON (UPI)—Lord Olivier—who prefers to be called Sir Laurence — has taken his seat in the House of Lords nine months after receiving the peerage in the queen's birthday honors.

The actor, 63, was formally introduced to his fellow peers Wednesday and swore the oath of allegiance.

Caution Expressed On Merger Proposal

Marin's juvenile justice commission and the juvenile delinquency prevention commission should think twice before merging into one agency, because some pitfalls may exist.

That was the consensus at a meeting of the justice commission yesterday at Marin Civic Center. Several members of the juvenile delinquency prevention commission also attended the meeting.

Jody Becker reported that County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney found no legal problem in the merger. And County Administrator Alan Bruce "was delighted with the idea that any two commissions would become one," said Mrs. Becker.

This brought a warning from Gary T. Giacomini of the juvenile delinquency prevention commission. "The administrator's position has always been not to spend any funds for any commission," said Giacomini. He added that in the process of merging, the commissions must make sure that the hired staff that now serves the various commission is not cut back.

L. Charles Smith, youth coordinator, said he now serves both the Marin County Youth Commission and the delinquency prevention commission. Rather than a cutback, each of the commissions can use a full-time person, said Smith.

Rockwell asked that a committee from the justice commission meet with Giacomini and his group to thrash out the pros and cons of a merger and report back by the next meeting on April 28.

Mrs. Becker, who went to Contra Costa County to watch a merged commission in operation, said she favors a merger because problems that face both commissions overlap.

Giacomini acknowledged that liason is now lacking between the two but suggested that this might be solved by interlocking memberships.

Juvenile justice commissioners voted unanimously to support the youth commission's resolution.

Test School Position Is Taken

Reorganization of the Tamalpais High School District should be tested first at just one school, a group studying the plan has been told.

Dr. Surjit Singh, chairman of the Ad Hoc Congress on Tamalpais High School District Reorganization, made the recommendation Tuesday and suggested Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo be the test school.

In what was called an "alternative proposal" to one calling for district-wide reorganization, Singh said only one "principal-educational planner" should be hired to oversee the program. That man could take the place of Principal Harold Allison, who has resigned.

According to Bette Wallace, a district trustee and congress member, Singh's proposal is his interpretation of ideas discussed during six meetings of the congress.

Singh, who is president of the Sir Francis Drake High School Parent-Teacher Association, also suggests retaining the four district office administrators slated to lose their jobs under the districtwide reorganization.

Mrs. Wallace said yesterday, Singh proposed the four act as liaisons between schools to keep lines of communication open as well as perform their current duties. Both Redwood and Tamalpais high schools would study Drake's program in progress.

After one year, his plan says, the Drake program would be subject to "objective evaluation." By whom is not stated.

The congress, Mrs. Wallace said, will consider Singh's proposal as well as others that may be submitted at another meeting tentatively slated for Tuesday.

Supt. Wilber D Hawkins, author of the reorganization plan under study, said today the district board will not consider his plan on Monday as previously announced because at least one board member will not be present.

Less Campus Violence Seen

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The president of Stanford University says the threat of campus trouble hasn't ended but there has been a quiet shift this year away from violence by students and faculty.

President Richard Lyman told an alumni group Wednesday that the situation has changed appreciably throughout the nation.

"There is now greater readiness on the part of the faculty to support a firm resistance to violence and coercion," he said.

"On the part of students, there is a wariness about joining in potentially violent or coercive movements, even among many who might well have been less cautious a couple of years ago."

ART REVIEW

Display's Class Enhances Art

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The way art work is presented can make all the difference in its sense of excitement, a strong case in point being the Marin Society of Artists' exhibit sponsored by the Marin Museum Association through April at the Marin Civic Center.

There isn't that much difference between the society's work here and the shows they usually hang in their own gallery in the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. It's just that the soft felt panels and the meandering rough wood fences in the Civic Center display have added a certain class.

Certain kinds of paintings also carry the weaker areas. Predominantly, these are large, lovely abstracted landscapes ranging from mere suggestions to the quite recognizable. There are splashing mountain streams, yellow-lit meadows and airy sweeps of clouds floating up moist, cool Sierra peaks. Green rolling hills yellowed with sudden shafts of light fill several canveses, including the sunstruck "March Wind" which won an award for Marjorie Cathcart.

Another large area responsible for the show's success is the graphics category. In it are several interesting drawings, including Suzanne Gomberg's award-winning, lush and beautifully composed charcoal of three nudes.

Among others, the prints include a sample of Eleanore Bender's elegant new Indian Motif series, Barbara Evan's delicate, mysterious etchings, and several geometric ideas in bold colors by Nelcy Tarics and Rose O'Kane. And there is Ruth Dosmar Sipper's tiny, intriguing "Mirage," with its dead moon floating near another sphere crammed with gears, wires and other mechanical happenings.

At this level of importance also are a certain group of paintings. Each spikes the atmosphere with that indescribable element which, added to competence, makes a work truly unique. One of these is the stunning, award-winning watercolor by Fred Herschleb in rolling shapes of red-rust and brown superimposed with an opencircled monolith in crumbling silver.

There is the symmetry of Tony Williams's hard-edge stripes of shocking color against soft gray, Ada Garfinkel's strangely compelling symbolism in her oil and drawings and Bette Klopf's interesting combinations of animals and electronics.

On the more personal side are merit award-winner Anne Jenkins's flat-faced people portraits, such as the portly, expensive couple whose shocking pink faces are griefly, but tellingly, pencil drawn with jowls and eye bags. And there is Don Elda Boutwell's whimsical girl and rabbit inhabiting a busily decorated fairy tale.

Even more, the Civic Center presentation is the element which lends a new aura to the society's work. And it is one which is stronger, warmer and welcome.

Pond Query Stalls Stafford Lake Plan

North Marin County Water District directors, concerned about possible siltation and algae, have stalled approval of county plans for recreational development at Stafford Lake.

Directors are wary of plans for a pond area adjacent to the lake and a boating facility, reported District Mgr. Eugene S. Churchill.

Tuesday night directors deferred entering into an agreement with the county on use of district land at the reservoir pending further study, Churchill said.

Under question is a proposal to divert Novato Creek, source of reservoir water, around the pond area, which could result in siltation and erosion, Churchill said.

There also is concern that the pond area might stagnate and algae would grow, he said. If so, algae could be flushed out by rains into the lake "and that would create problems," he reported.

Directors wanted to see the final design for the proposed pond and specific plans for the proposed boating area before entering into the agreement, Churchill said.

The boating facility would be for paddle boats and canoes, not power boats, and there aren't any plans for a launching ramp, he commented.

Directors authorized a staff study of the cost of providing water and sewage disposal for the county's proposed development, with the cost of the study, estimated at $2,000, to be paid by the county.

North Marin County Water District also:

MMWD AGREEMENT — Agreed in principle to supply Marin Municipal Water District with surplus water from the Russian River Aqueduct until the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct is completed, but withheld final approval pending indication that the rate it pays for water in the area south of Hamilton Air Force Base and east of Highway 101 won't be increased.

NEW SERVICE — Agreed to provide water to two properties south of Inverness Park, a 97-acre parcel owned by the Bettini estate and the 41-acre Stockstill Manger Land Co. property.

AQUEDUCT SURVEY — Approved hiring Herb Passarino, Santa Rosa surveyor, by the Sonoma County Water Agency to make a survey and aerial map of the routing of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct for the stretch from the Russian River to Cotati at a cost of $91,700, with the North Marin District top pay 12.7 per cent of the cost.

CHANGE ORDER — Approved a change order in Soiland Company's contract to relocate a 24-inch main along Atherton Avenue for the Highway 101 By-pass to meet the state Division of Highway's requirement that the line go under rather than over a major drainage canal. The additional cost of $16,700 is to be paid by the state.

RENTER DEPOSITS — Discussed the possibility of requiring deposits from renters after a report that renters are responsible for 88 per cent of the district's "bad debts."

CARRARA ESTATES — Approved a main extension to serve Carrara Estates, a 26-lot subdivision along Center Road, west of Sun Lane, at a cost of $16,947 to the developer, Esquire Homes.

INSURANCE — Awarded Traveler's Insurance Co., lowest of three bidders, a contract to provide general liability insurance at a cost of $11,388 a year.

OLEMA SERVICE — Referred to the staff study of a request by 12 property owners in the Olema area to consider providing water and sewer service to their properties.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Veto Feared On Medi-Cal Restoring

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Republican sponsor of legislation to rescind Medi-Cal cutbacks ordered by Gov. Ronald Reagan fears a veto is in the offing if lawmakers approve the measure.

Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, made the disclosure Wednesday to the Senate Health and Welfare Committee, which endorsed the bill anyway and sent it to the Finance Committee.

"The governor has told me he would not sign it in its present form," Duffy told the panel, although afterwards he conceded Reagan could let the bill become law without his signature.

However, the governor has made it a practice to either veto or sign legislation and not let it pass into the statute books without action by him.

Duffy's comment marked the first time the governor's position on the measure was reported firsthand in public. The bill earlier cleared the Assembly over administration spokesmen objections.

Duffy, an optometrist by profession, said however that he and Reagan may be able to work out a compromise through negotiations.

The measure would rescind the cuts the governor ordered to avoid an estimated $140 million deficit in the state health care program. An aide to Duffy said between 70 per cent and 80 per cent of the services would be restored.

The bill would restore some benefits for foster and crippled children and mental patients. Schoolchildren on Medi-Cal could again get eyeglasses and more prescriptions would be available to recipient patients.

Duffy indicated one area he and the governor might bargain over is the amount paid to nursing homes for the care of the elderly. The Medi-Cal fee is now $12,60 a day, but the bill would return it to $14.

The lawmaker said nursing home operators may have to suffer the smaller payment in order to finance the remainder of the health services contained in the legislation.

The measure would also guarantee counties that their costs would not be boosted because of the state reductions. Some counties fear they will pick up the tab dropped by the state.

PILOT STUDY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Reagan administration has selected the Monterey Basin for a pilot monitoring study of pollution sources.

Gov. Ronald Reagan said Wednesday that the study this summer would lay the groundwork for "a full-scale statewide monitoring program."

Reagan said the basin was selected because it is "a small, well-defined geographical area that will allow researchers to measure and track all potential sources of pollution: agricultural, industrial and municipal."

The pilot program will be conducted primarily by state agencies using current resources and existing budget allotments, the governor said.

The study will be managed by an environmental expert associated with a college or university. The governor's announcement said he would be selected by the secretaries of the state resources, agriculture and services, and human relations agencies.

ABORTIONS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Health and Welfare Committee has killed legislation to restrict legal abortions paid for by the Medi-Cal program.

The measure by Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, died Wednesday on a split voice vote after a top Medi-Cal administrator told the committee abortions under the health care program have increased "dramatically."

Richard Camilli, deputy director of Health Care Services, said legal abortions performed under Medi-Cal during 1970 totaled 22,000.

'NO KNOCK'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Donald L. Grunsky Wednesday introduced a bill to enable police to break into and enter a home without knocking or identifying themselves.

The Watsonville Republican said the "no knock" feature would prevent persons from disposing of contraband or other evidence while talking to officers.

ANTISPAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Freshman Republican Assemblyman Dixon Arnett Wednesday urged state residents to smother Gov. Ronald Reagan with "an avalanche of letters and wires" opposing a southern crossing bridge over San Francisco Bay.

The Redwood City lawmaker said he was against construction of the bridge but that Reagan told his weekly news conference Tuesday "he was uncertain as to the feelings of the people regarding the construction of this controversial bridge."

Construction is scheduled to begin on the bridge at the end of this year.

Tennis Court Covering Is Proposed

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission last night received a recommendation that a "sheet" of processed burlap and paper cover the city's tennis courts at memorial park.

Charles R. Leitzell, city parks director, said the sheet would be an alternative to patchwork repair of the courts or resurfacing.

He said the cost of the coverings for the two courts would be about $8,000 and would make it unnecessary to repair existing court cracks.

The commission, he said, expressed interest in the idea but noted the covers could not be budgeted until next fiscal year.

In the meantime, Leitzell continued, the commission wants temporary measures taken to improve the courts and directed him to come up with an inexpensive means.

The commission also set April 21 for a public hearing on the development of the Robson-Herrington Park. The meeting will be held to hear suggestions from the community on how it would like to see the park developed. It agreed to recommend that the city council approve further school district development of the playground behind the tennis courts at memorial park. The playground is used by Isabel Cook School students.

The commission set April 22 for a meeting with the San Francisco Recreation Department's day camp committee to discuss development of day camp activities at San Anselmo's three parks.

Marinites To Appear On TV Religion Show

A Marin student and Rev. William Eichorn of the Community Church of Mill Valley will appear Sunday on KRON-TV's "Youth Inquires" program.

The program, at 12:30 p.m., will deal with the question, "Is the approach to religion changing?" Carolyn Knox of San Domenico School, Sleepy Hollow, and Rev. Eichorn will take part in the discussion.

As centuries have passed the appreciation and value of oriental rugs have continued to rise as it would for any field of art. The Persian Carpet has commonly been referred to as the stocks and bonds of Iran (Persia) and since time began they have proven to be blue chip stocks for those who possess them. The future seems prosperous for those who now own oriental rugs as an investment, since the supply is rapidly decreasing, thereby resulting in increased value created by short supply and high demand.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, March 25, the 84th day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aries.

On this day in history:

In 1900 the socialist party of the United States was formed in Indianapolis, Ind.

In 1947 an explosion in a mine in Centralia, Ill., resulted in the deaths of 111 men, most of them asphyxiated by gas fumes.

In 1954 the Radio Corporation of America began its commercial production of television sets to transmit programs in color.

A thought for today: Novelist William Faulkner said, "I believe that man will not merely endure, he will prevail."

Driver Licenses For Methadone Takers Advanced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has approved a bill allowing heroin addicts in methadone treatment programs to obtain drivers licenses.

The bill by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, was sent to the Senate Tuesday.

Vasconcellos said medical evidence showed a person is safe to drive when he is "stabilized" by methadone which is used as a non-harmful substitute for heroin.

Current law says those being given methadone cannot obtain the licenses because the drug is considered a narcotic.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

An Expert Will Resist Temptation In Bids, Plays

When your partner passes you at one of a suit he must have a horribly weak hand. Keep this in mind as the bidding proceeds. Your partner won't show up with a couple of aces or kings; in fact, he may have a completely worthless hand. Even if your own hand is very strong, you may have trouble making a part score.

Opening lead — ♣ J

PASSES ONE SPADE

When today's hand was played, North very properly passed his partner's opening bid of one spade. East reopened, also quite properly, with a bid of two clubs, and South showed his great strength by doubling for a takeout.

North had already announced that he had a ghastly hand, and he felt that his hand was somewhat better than it might have been. After all, a doubleton and Q-J-9 of your partner's suit are not to be disdained.

South was tempted to bid on, but he wisely resisted the temptation. He had to resist a similar temptation in the play of the cards to make even two spades.

OPENS CLUB

West led the jack of clubs, just as any normal human being would. A trump opening lead would have defeated the contract if South played the hand normally.

South took the actual opening lead with the ace of clubs and was tempted to lead a trump to dummy in order to lead a heart toward the king or jack. Any such plan would lead to failure because West would win a heart and return another trump. If declarer made his normal play of winning in dummy to try another heart, West would win and lead a third trump. Declarer would win only five trump tricks and his two side aces.

AN EARLY HEART

The actual declarer saw that he could make sure of an eighth trick by leading a heart at the second trick. The opponents could win and lead a first round of trumps, after which South could give up a second heart. They could win and lead a second trump, but then South would be in position to ruff a heart in dummy to make sure of his contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no-trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 7 6
♥ - 9 8 2
♦ - K Q
♣ - K Q 9 6 5 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 3-no-trump.

It will probably be easier to make nine tricks at no-trump than 11 tricks at clubs.

DO IT YOURSELF CORNER

TIP OF THE WEEK: When rust has tightened the joints in pliers, soak them in kerosene for a day or two. After the soaking, rub off the loose rust with steel wool. The final step is an application of penetrating oil to the joint.

CREAMPUFF '65 FORD HARDTOP COUPE $995

A really well maintained little Ford Galaxie 500 2-dr. hardtop that we just took in trade from local executive who used the car strictly as a second car.

One owner, and you can tell from the looks of both the inside and exterior of this car.

Fully equipped including Ford factory air conditioning, power steering and brakes, custom bucket seats and all the Galaxie 500 luxury extras. We don't keep many older cars but this defies its age. NEU 969.

ORDINANCE NO. 1006

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL FIXING THE AMOUNT OF THE BONDS OF ELECTED AND APPOINTED OFFICIALS

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN RAFAEL DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1 Section 2.08.200 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

2.08.200 BONDS REQUIRED OF CITY CLERK AND ASSESSOR, CITY TREASURER AND TAX COLLECTOR AND CITY ATTORNEY.

The City Clerk and Assessor, City Treasurer and Tax Collector and City Attorney, shall, respectively, before entering upon the duties of their respective offices each execute a bond to the City of San Rafael in the penal sum as follows, to-wit:

City Clerk and Assessor in the sum of	$ 5,000.00
City Treasurer and Tax Collector in the sum of	$50,000.00
City Attorney in the sum of	$1,000.00

Each of said bonds shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of said elective officers, respectively. Said bonds shall be approved by the Mayor and when approved, shall be filed with the City Clerk; except the bond of the City Clerk, which shall be filed with the Mayor. All the provisions of any law of this State relating to official bonds of officers shall apply to such bonds, except as herein or in the Charter of the City of San Rafael otherwise provided.

Section 2 Section 2.08.210 of the San Rafael Municipal Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSED FORMATION OF AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT WITHIN THE INVERNESS-TOMALES BAY TERRITORY OF NORTH MARIN COUNTY WATER DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District will conduct a public hearing on the proposed formation of an improvement district in the Inverness-Tomales Bay territory of North Marin County Water District at 8:00 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday, April 6, 1971, at the office of the District, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California. Said hearing will be held pursuant to and on the matters stated in Resolution No. 872 of the Board of Directors of said District adopted on March 3, 1971, which resolution reads as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 872 RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO UNDERTAKE A PROJECT IN INVERNESS-TOMALES BAY AREA AND TO FORM AN IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT THEREFOR

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Directors of North Marin County Water District as follows:

1. This resolution is adopted to institute the formation of an improvement district within North Marin County Water District in the County of Marin, State of California, pursuant to Chapter 5 of Part 6 of Division 12 of the California Water Code.

2. A description of the boundaries of the improvement district proposed to be formed is appended hereto and marked Exhibit "A".

3. Said improvement district proposed to be formed is hereby given the designation "Inverness Sewer Improvement District No. IS-1 of North Marin County Water District".

4. A brief general description of the project to be undertaken within such improvement district is to provide for the detailed engineering study, cost estimates and design of a community disposal system for the lands within the proposed improvement district.

5. This Board hereby finds that the project will be of special benefit to such improvement district.

6. This Board hereby declares its intention to undertake the aforesaid project.

7. This Board hereby estimates the cost of the study described in paragraph 4 to be $2,000.00.

8. The method by which the project is proposed to be financed is by the levy of ad valorem taxes upon all the taxable property within the improvement district. The rates of such taxation shall be fixed annually by this Board of Directors in the manner provided in Sections 31702.1 to 31702.4 inclusive of the California Water Code, provided, however, that the maximum amount of such tax which may be levied in any year shall not exceed seventy-five cents (75c) per $100 of assessed value of the taxable property in said improvement district.

9. The Board hereby sets 8:00 o'clock P.M. on Tuesday, April 6, 1971, at the District offices, 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, California, as the time, date and place for a hearing by this Board on the formation of the proposed to be undertaken therein and on the method by which the project is proposed to be financed.

10. The Secretary of this District is hereby directed to give notice of the time and place of the hearing in accordance with Sections 31597 and 31598 of the California Water Code.'

Any person may appear at the hearing and present any matters material to the subject thereof.

Written protests against the formation of the proposed improvement district, signed and acknowledged or proved in the manner required to entitle deeds to be recorded may be filed at the aforesaid office of the District until 8:00 P.M. on April 6, 1971, and may be filed thereafter at the said hearing at any time prior to the conclusion thereof.

Bayh Will Be First Forum Guest

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Indiana, considered a possible candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination next year, will speak in the first of a presidential forum series April 3 at Sonoma State College.

Bayh's speech, "The Politics of Evasion: America Under Nixon" will be part of an 11:30 a.m. luncheon sponsored by the Frontlash of Sonoma State College and the Sonoma County Democratic Central Committee.

Proceeds from the political rally will benefit the Bill Kortum campaign committee. Dr. Kortum, a Petaluma veterinarian, unsuccessfully challenged Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, last November.

Sen. N. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, another possible Democratic nominee, is slated to appear later in April as part of the forum series.

Bayh, 43, gained national recognition as leader of the successful efforts to block confirmation of two of President Richard M. Nixon's nominees for the Supreme Court, Clement Haynesworth and Harrold Carswell.

Bayh was first elected to the Senate in 1962 and was relected in 1968. He presently serves as chairman of the subcommittee on roads as well as two judiciary committee subcommittees on juvenile delinquency and constitutional amendments.

The new Franklin Square Hospital at Baltimore serves meals entirely on disposable utensils.

Antitrust Suit Filed Against 3 Automakers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A six-part legislative program to reduce noise was introduced Wednesday by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills.

The package includes bills to establish machine-caused permissible noise levels, set tougher truck and motorcycle sound standards, and create minimum insulation standards for buildings to keep out noise.

The program also allows local government to create quiet zones, bans new houses next to freeways and requires that general plans include a noise analysis of ground transportation, such as freeways or mass transit systems.

Child Health Care Is Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate subcommittee has been told that by conservative estimates two-thirds of American children receive either less than adequate health care or none at all.

The assessment was made Wednesday by Dr. William B. Weil Jr. of the Michigan State University medical school for the Senate health subcommittee.

Weil said he based his findings upon data supplied by the National Health Survey.

"At least 25 per cent of the health care required for children is not being delivered," Weil said. "It's shameful that with the resources we have we must get up year after year and give this information."

End Of Golden Eagle Pass Is Being Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton has proposed an end to the $10 annual Golden Eagle passport into national parks and recreation areas. It would be replaced by a $4 annual permit for persons 16 or over.

The Golden Eagle pass for families admits a whole carload of passengers regardless of the number. The Morton proposal submitted to Congress Wednesday would mean higher park fees for some families, but a $2 cut for families with children under 16.

The White House Office of Management and Budget suggested the Golden Eagle pass be abolished in favor of individual permits. There was no estimate on how revenue would be affected.

The proposal would not affect daily individual fees.

Soviet, U.S. Moon Rocks Are Similar

MOSCOW (UPI)—Moon rock brought back by Soviet and American expeditions to three lunar seas does not differ in composition, a Soviet scientist said today.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Alexander P. Vinogradov, vice president of the Academy of Sciences, compared samples from one Soviet and two American moon missions and found all three "very much alike."

Party Line Battle Urged

The Marin County Republican Central Committee has urged Marin Republican representatives in Sacramento to stik to party lines in the battle over reapportionment.

Chairman Rodgers C. Broomhead said the motion passed Tuesday urged Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-Seventh District, and State Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, to do what is best for the Republican Party during reapportionment. "We felt it might give them a tool to lean on." Broomhead said.

E. H. Bergman of Mill Valley as chairman of the local committees in Southern Marin, Broomhead said.

Wrong First Name

A story in Tuesday's Independent-Journal giving a schedule of coffees for Marie L. (Jo) Mc Leod, candidate for the Reed School District board in the April 20 election, incorrectly gave her first name as Marin.

School Candidates Plan Coffees

Candidates vying for seats on several Marin County school district boards in the April 20 election have announced informal coffees through next week.

Find Prehistoric Mammoth's Bones

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet zoologists have found the bones of a prehistoric mammoth on the floor of the Arctic Ocean, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

The zoologists said the mammoth, a large hairy elephant, lived 11,000 to 12,000 years ago, lending support to the theory that the level of the ocean then was more than 100 yards lower than it is now.

Nixons To California For Week's Respite

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Nixon plan to fly to their California oceanside villa Friday for a stay that will probably last until April 2.

A spokesman said the President would concentrate on polishing his domestic proposals to Congress during the stay and expects to conduct a full schedule of business.

Irish Footballers Extend Their Stay

That Irish Football game in San Francisco last Sunday proved so entertaining to the 7,000 spectators that the sponsoring United Irish Societies has persuaded the teams to stay over this week for a rematch Sunday again at Balboa Park.

And that's just fine with two of the All-Ireland All-Stars who whupped the national champion Kerry team 25-14 in last Sunday's first-ever All-Ireland game ever played in the U.S.

They are Sean O'Neill, who captained the All-Stars, and Colm McAlarney. House guests of Kevin Downey, a transplanted Mick now living in Terra Linda, O'Neill and McAlarney seem to be enjoying their stay, going to the races at Golden Gate Park, swimming, golfing and sightseeing.

I had a couple of brews with these international sports stars at Wiltshire Towers in San Rafael the other day and found them to be fine, personable broths of young gentlemen in their late 20s.

O'Neill is an attorney in Ireland and is fascinated in the Angela Davis case and the Marin County Civic Center.

McAlarney is a school teacher back home. An ardent swimmer, he's been churning up local pools all week — heated or not.

Asked about their upset victory over the champs from Kerry Sunday, O'Neill and McAlarney both flashed big grins, rubbed their hands in delight and vowed to do it again, although both said: "Kerry is really out for revenge. They've been practicing all week to get even with us."

Tickets to next Sunday's game, by the way, are on sale locally at Macy's Department Store and Wiltshire Towers.

A DINER at San Rafael Joe's Restaurant last week was Big Ben Davidson, the demon defensive end for the Oakland Raiders who takes great delight in devouring rival quarterbacks.

Ben, in the company of localite Phil Starr, was described by Joe's owner Hector Rubini as ". . . the sweetest guy you'd ever want to meet."

Oh, yeh?? Just ask Joe Namath!

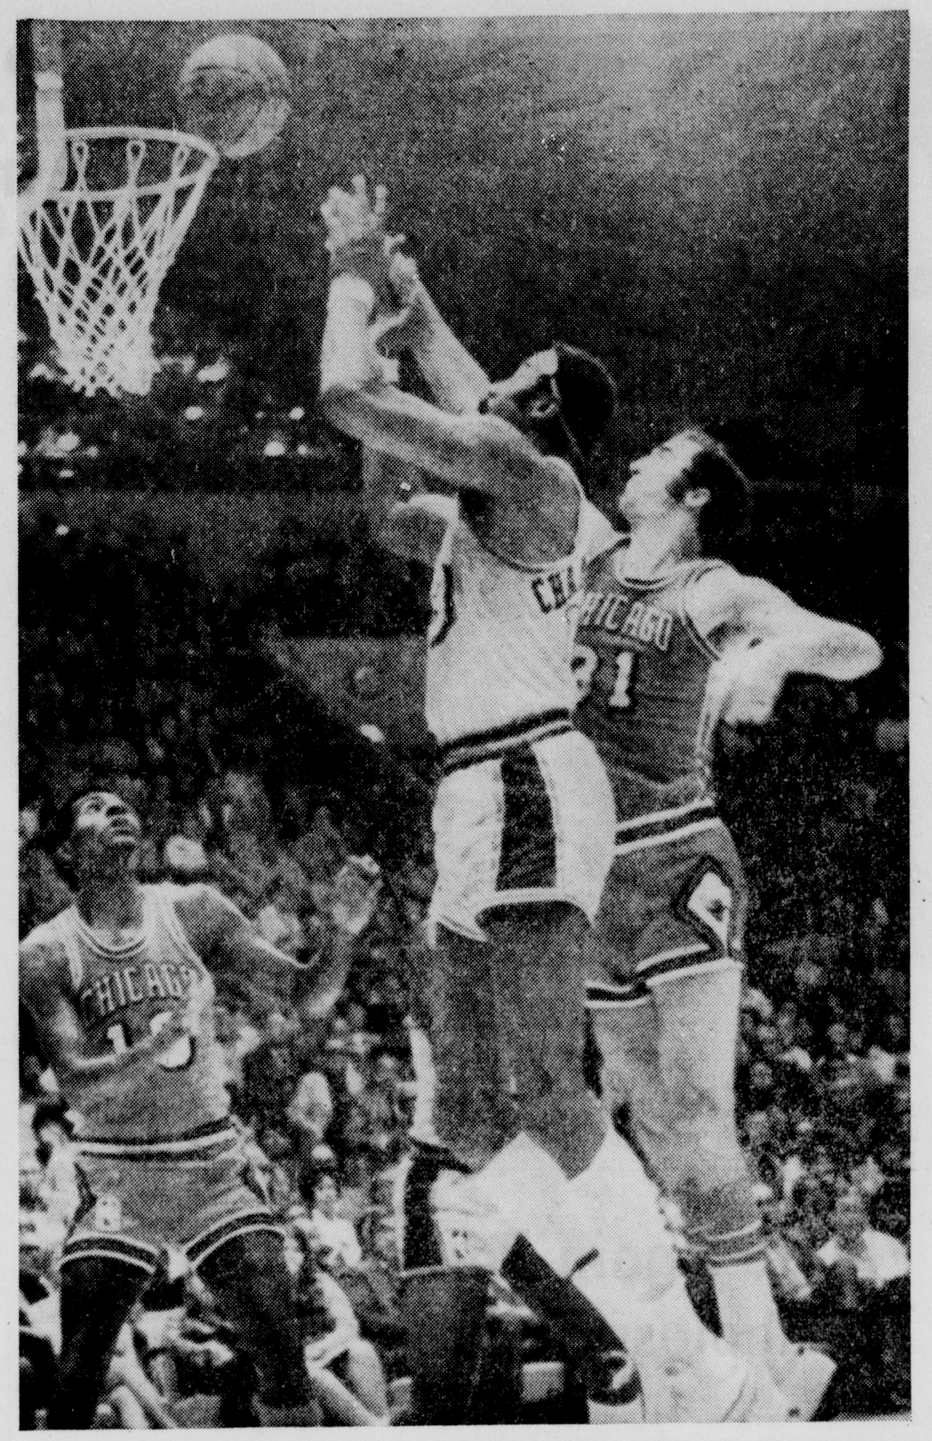
There are 26 lads on the Redwood crew, according to team advisor Bob Cumming, and last Friday they whipped Technical High of Oakland in two races.

Hoping to keep the streak alive, the redwoodsmen will match oars with Salesian High of Richmond tomorrow in four races at Aquatic Park, Berkeley.

RAY BENNIGSON of San Rafael, an enthusiastic UCLA alumnus, thinks the almighty Bruins will go all the way in the NCAA basketball classic tonight and Saturday. When someone told him to beware of Western Kentucky, Bennigson turned this clever phrase: "Why, we'll turn those eratz colonels into a bunch of popcorn."



TWO FOR BULLS — Wilt Chamberlain of the Los Angeles Lakers made futile effort to block this field goal by Chicago's Jim Fox in opening of the National Basketball Association playoffs at Inglewood last night. Lakers, 76ers Draw First Blood In NBA Playoffs

By United Press International

The opening games of the National Basketball Association Playoffs could be considered a tribute to the guards —those who played and those who couldn't.

Hal Greer scored 30 points to help the Philadelphia 76ers beat the Baltimore Bullets 126-112 Wednesday night and Gail Goodrich's two free throws with 61 seconds left rallied the Los Angeles Lakers to a 100-99 victory over the Chicago Bulls. The Atlanta Hawks are at New York to face the Knicks this afternoon and Milwaukee meets San Francisco at Oakland on Saturday.

Greer, the 76ers' veteran guard, and Billy Cunningham sparked a string of 13 straight points midway through the third period that sent Philadelphia on its way to victory. The 76ers, runnersup in the Atlantic Division, opened up a 90-77 lead after three periods and the Bullets, the Central Division champs, couldn't get back into the game.

One of the key reasons for Baltimore's lack of offense was the physical condition of guard Earl Monroe, who was bothered by a virus and bruised ribs and scored only six points, well below his average.

"We played our type of game and they didn't," explained Greer. "We ran when we had the opportunity and we played tight defense. I said all along, as long as we can do this, we can beat any team in the league.

"I heard that Monroe is sick and that had something to do with it. Earl is not the best defensive guard in the league, but neither am I. One little thing like his being hurt definitely hurt them from playing better defense."

Greer hit 11-of-24 shots and contributed eight foul shots and six assists in 38 minutes. Cunningham had 26 points for the 76ers while Gus Johnson and Kevin Loughery each had 19 to lead the Bullets.

Goodrich's two free throws came after the Lakers, playing without star guard Jerry West, rallied from a 17-point deficit. Chicago, the Midwest Division runnerup, led 99-98 over the Pacific Division champions before Goodrich missed one foul shot, then dropped in the next two of his three-for-two penalty situation.

The Bulls missed a pair of shots attempting to take the lead and the Lakers regained possession. Jim McMillian's field goal attempt with six seconds left was rebounded by Goodrich, who dribbled away the last few moments.

McMillian, given a starting shot since west is out for the season with a knee injury, scored a career high 26 points while Goodrich added 24 and Keith Erickson hit for 23. Bob Love's 24 points were high for the Bulls.

The Bulls, led by Love's shooting and rebounding, built a 56-39 lead in the third period before the Lakers rallied. Los Angeles outscored Chicago 21-6 to cut the lead to 62-60 and McMillian finally tied the score with 4:50 left in the game. Chet Walker's layup with 1:19 left gave the Bulls a 99-98 lead before Goodrich converted his crucial free throws.

SERIOUS HEAD INJURIES?

Frazier Facing Suspension

Campbell examinined Frazier for three days after Frazier's successful 15-round title defense over Muhammad Ali on March 8 and revealed the champion was suffering from the symptoms of either a concussion or a subdural hematoma.

During the days after the bout, Frazier suffered from severe nausea, including vomiting, and "was more exhausted than any fighter I've ever seen," according to Campbell. He also showed an increase in blood pressure, a decrease in pulse rate and headaches before he was later hospitalized in Philadelphia for a series of extensive tests.

Because of the symptoms, Campbell said he hoped Frazier would decide to retire and added that he was recommending suspension because of the probability of a head injury.

Frazier was hospitalized a week after the bout when he returned home to Philadelphia, and he will not be discharged until Saturday. He was described as "feeling fine".

Dr. James C. Giuffre, who has been administering tests and treatment to the 27-year-old Frazier since he arrived at St. Luke's Children's Hospital, said, "I'm perfectly satified with my findings that he's fully recovered. He has a strenuous schedule ahead of him and we want him back in a month to check him.

"We want to make absolutely certain he is top physical shape," Giuffre added. "I'm perfectly satisfied that he suffered no head injury or brain damage in the fight. He came to me showing signs of tension and stress. His main complaint when I saw him was of tiredness. It was because his blood chemistry was abnormal and his blood pressure was elevated. There was no evidence of any head injury."

A subdural hematoma is a blood clot in the tissue surrounding the brain, and it can grow larger, forcing an operation. Symptoms for a concussion or subdural hematoma include nausea, headaches, high blood pressure and a low pulse rate. Frazier had all of those symptoms.

A neurosurgeon explained that a brain (subarachnoid) hemorrhage, in addition to a concussion, would also cause the symptoms experienced by Frazier. He added that if the cause had been a subdural hematoma, the clot would have to be a very small one or else Frazier's condition would have gotten progressively worse.

The "punch drunk syndrome" found in some fighters was attributed to a series of minor hemorrhages in the brain over several bouts by the neurosurgeon.

Giuffre said the champion was not suffering from any fight-connected illness, but Campbell disagreed, saying, "He certainly didn't have anything wrong with him before the fight so the illness had to come from the fight itself."

UPSET OVER NEUMANN'S SIGNING

College Coach Angry At ABA Raid

HOUSTON (UPI)–News of sophomore Johnny Neumann's signing with the American Basketball Association came as a bitter disappointment to Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky Wednesday. He said ABA scouts should be barred from college campuses.

"You've just hit me like Nagasaki," Rupp said when informed of the Mississippi sophomore's signing with Memphis of the ABA. "Johnny Neumann and I have been personal friends," Rupp said.

"I had hoped he would remain in our conference. He is a truly great athlete, and I am sorry to see him take this route.

"I believe he has made a mistake."

Charles Neinas, assistant to the executive director of the NCAA, said he would recommend barring ABA scouts if any athletic director asked him.

"Any institution which rents to the ABA should think twice about it," Neinas said. "I would assume that our members and the National Association of Basketball Coaches will adopt a fairly strong position of noncooperation of anything that has to do with the ABA," he added.

Rupp is president of the NABC which is meeting in conjunction with this week's NCAA basketball finals. He said the coaches will discuss the situation at their convention which continues through Friday.

Neinas doubted the $2 million figure Neumann was supposed to have received for signing an ABA contract.

"It is difficult to realize that they can afford to pay the salaries they are quoting, according to their attendance figures, and I suppose their attendance figures are exaggerated," Neinas said.

Handicap Win For Yachtsman

Improbable, captained by David Allen of the San Francisco Yacht Club, crossed the line fifth Tuesday, but Wednesday's handicapping gave her a corrected time of two days, 22 hours, 48 minutes and 19 seconds.

First to cross the finish line was the 73-foot ketch Windward Passage, but she had to give up time to the smaller, 43-foot Improbable.

Marin Tar Hurler Blanks West Valley

Bueler Shuts Out Foes, 2-0

I-J Special Report

CAMPBELL — Dennis Bueler threw a nifty four hitter and knocked in the only run he needed with a sacrifice fly yesterday as the College of Marin Tars beat previously undefeated West Valley Junior College of Campbell, 2-0 in a Camino Norte Conference baseball game.

The victory was the second against no losses for Bueler, and it lifted the Tars of Kentfield into a tie for first place in the CNC with West Valley. Both teams are 3-1. The freshman righthander struck out six and walked none as he went the route for the second time in as many starts. Last week he limited De Anza to five hits and an unearned run while winning, 7-1.

Marin scored single runs in the second and fifth, the first coming across in the person of Larry Brazda on a bases-loaded sacrifice fly by Bueler. In the fifth, second baseman Mike Parnow got on base via an error, and came home on another miscue with the insurance run. Bob Sutherland and Dee Fedrick each had a pair of singles in the winning cause, and Rafael Gallardo smacked a double.

The Tars were scheduled to play again this afternoon, at home against Contra Costa of San Pablo beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Impressive Wins For Prep Teams

Three Marin County Athletic League teams scored impressive inter-league baseball victories yesterday.

Mike Sabel pitched a one-hit, 3-1 victory for Terra Linda High School over Oakland Tech at Oakland; Tom Olson pitched Marin Catholic to a 4-2 decision over Cardinal Newman High at Santa Rosa; and Redwood ripped out 12 hits in a 9-1 romp over Sacred Heart of San Francisco at Larkspur. The Tamalpais-St. Ignatius of San Francisco game at Mill Valley was cancelled due to wet grounds.

In hurling the Trojans to their fifth victory in their last six games, Sabel was near perfect as 44 of his 58 pitches were in the strike zone. He walked only one batter and struck out four.

Terra Linda scored twice in the third inning on four walks, an error and two infield grounders and one run in the seventh on singles by Rick Trono and Bill Berry sandwiched around a sacrifice.

Olson, meanwhile, brought cheers from Marin Catholic coach Gary Hughes after he set down Newman on four hits while striking out six and walking none.

"He (Olson) has had a sore arm this spring and this was his first pitching assignment," said Hughes. "I'm really encouraged because we're counting on him to be the ace of our staff."

Marin was also led to its fourth victory of the year against six setbacks by Vince Bormolini's two hits and by Don Bianchini and Paul Riccardi, each with a one run single.

Starting pitcher Bob Gorman, who had two hits, injured his ankle in the third inning and had to leave the game. Reliever Steve Laden stuck out seven and allowed only three hits the rest of the way as Redwood posted its fourth victory against three losses.

Giants Turn On Power

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) —Big bats wielded by Bobby Bonds and Willie McCovey have made the San Francisco Giants 1970 spring baseball champions of the Bay Area.

Bonds' two-run shot off loser Jim Hunter broke a 4-4 tie in the fifth inning and propelled the Giants to a 10-7 Cactus League win over the Oakland Athletics Wednesday. That gave the Giants a 3-1 final edge over the Athletics in their four-game spring series.

Frank Reberger picked up the win although he was a bit shaky at times. A double by Bobby Heise and single by Reberger gave San Francisco an 8-4 lead in the sixth and that run turned out to be the winner.

McCovey bashed a solo homer in the second inning and brought home the Giants' seventh run with a sacrifice fly after Bonds hit his homer in the fifth.

Today the Giants were in Yuma for the opener of a two-game series against the San Diego Padres. The teams also play in Yuma Friday.

Oakland catcher Dave Duncan hit a two-run homer off Reberger in the fourth to tie the score 4-4. Duncan also led off the third with a double and scored on Dick Green's single.

In the sixth, the A's scored twice on a wild pitch and a double by Ron Clark. A throwing error by Tito Fuentes gave the A's their seventh run in the eighth.

Today the Athletics move across the border to Palm Springs to open a two-game series with the California Angels.

NFL Field Goal Rule Change? 'No Chance'

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)— Football commissioner Pete Rozelle watched the Atlantic surf lapping at the backside of the old Breakers Hotel and commented on a proposed radical change in field goal rules.

"It's got about as much chance as a snowball out there," Rozelle said.

The head man of the National Football League was referring to a suggestion up for consideration today by club owners, who are holding their annual winter meeting in this sun-bathed, upper crust resort.

The proposal, which would drastically alter the nature of the game, has to do with the field goal attempts outside the 20-yard line. If the kick is muffed and a touchback develops, the ball would be returned to the line of scrimmage instead of the 20-yard line as the present rules specify.

Rozelle hedged when asked who wants the rule changed.

"It may have come from just one club," he said. "I don't think there is any great support for it."

Earlier in the day, the NFL bosses had voted down a proposal to give a team the option of running or passing for two points after a touchdown. That reflected the philosophy of the late Vince Lombardi, legendary coach of the Green Bay Packers.

"Like Lombardi, they feel that in pro football it's important to win, but the big thing is not to get beaten," said Mark Duncan, supervisor of league officials.

NFL press aide Don Weiss pointed out that it was the second time in as many years the two-point conversion rule has been voted down. He said that this time it was defeated by a big margin, but there seemed to be more sentiment in its favor this time.

Weiss said that in the American Football League, which used the two-point conversion system for 10 years, it was tried only 15 times in 1969 after a total of more than 300 touchdowns. Only four of those attempts were successful.

Also voted down was a proposed change in the encroachment rule that would have permitted play to continue to its conclusion during a field goal attempt or extra point try. The current rule, which will stand, stops play immediately and does not give the defensive team the option to refuse the penalty.

NIT BASKETBALL

Georgia Tech, St. Bonny Win

NEW YORK (UPI) —With all but four teams watching from the sidelines, the replays of regular season games take over tonight in the National Invitation Tournament.

Georgia Tech, getting a 27-point effort from Rich Yunkus, upset Michigan 78-70 and St. Bonaventure reeled off 10 consecutive points in the last five minutes to beat Hawaii 73-64 Wednesday night to move to a semifinal round showdown.

The other semifinal match pairs North Carolina and Duke against each other. In Atlantic Coast Conference tests, North Carolina took two out of three against Duke.

St. Bonaventure defeated the Yellow Jackets by two points in their meeting in the Gator Bowl Classic, but Georgia Tech Coach Whack Hyder said, "This time I want to see a different ending."

Hyder's hopes for a "different ending" almost ended in the closing minutes of Wednesday night's victory over the Wolverines, however, when Yunkus tumbled head first to the floor. He was helped from the court, but after sitting on the bench on the sidelines for a few seconds he got back in the game, finishing with 16 rebounds in addition to his 27 points.

"I landed on my wrist and bent it backwards," Yunkus explained, "but it won't bother me against St. Bonaventure."

Yunkus is Georgia Tech. Hyder admitted Yunkus' importance by putting the 6-foot-9 center back in the game after the spill although there were only two minutes left and Georgia Tech held a comfortable lead.

"This was a big ball game," Hyder said, "and we have some young players who can make mistakes out there, cost us points and maybe the game. I wasn't taking any chances on Michigan coming back."

Georgia Tech, which led 33-31 at halftime, had command of the game early in the second half as Yunkus poured in six points in a three-minute stretch to give the Engineers a 43-35 lead. Michigan pulled to within three points with 8:07 remaining, but never got any closer.

Yunkus got help from Tommy Wilson, who scored 15 points, including 11 in the second half, and from Bob Murphy, who finished with 16, to give Georgia Tech a 22-8 record.

Hawaii also saw its hopes for a victory end in the second half as Carl Jackson scored 13 of his 15 points to lead the Bonnies back. Hawaii had trailed by as many as 12 points in the first half but rallied to take a 62-59 lead with 6:13 left in the game.

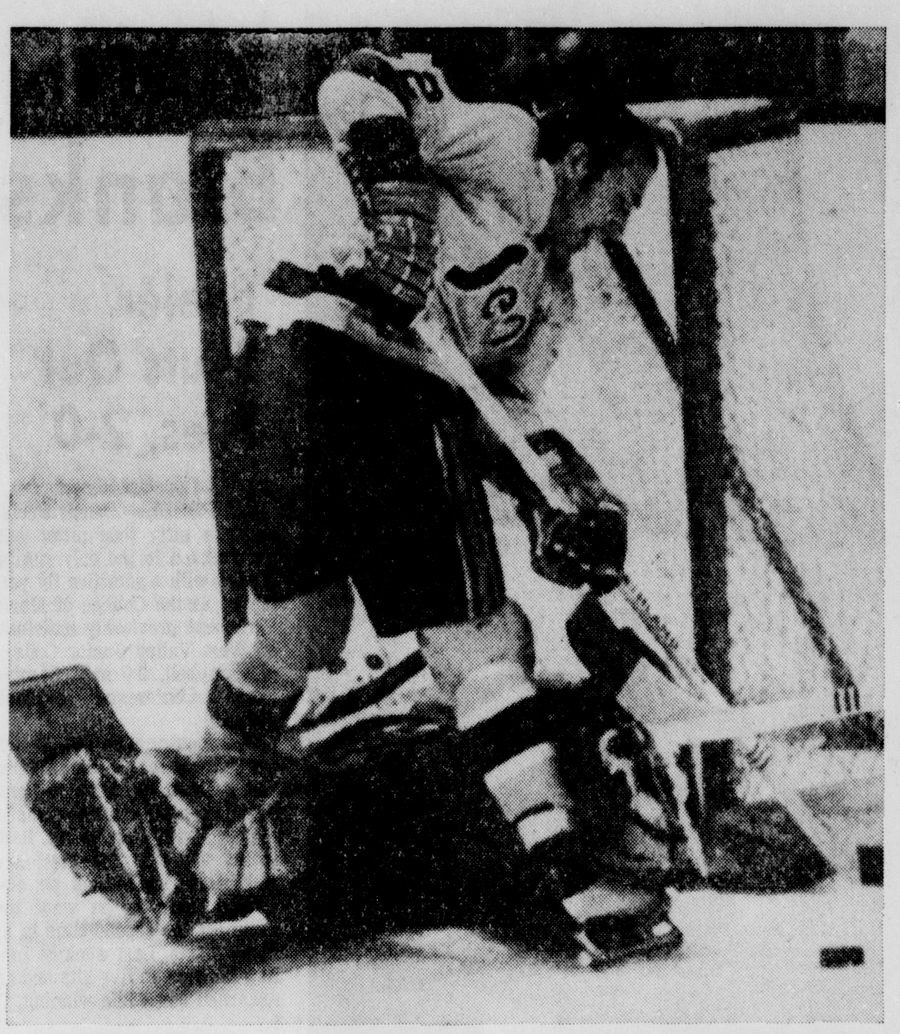
However, the Rainbows didn't score another point for the next five minutes as St. Bonaventure reeled off 10 straight. Greg Gary scored 20 points to lead the Bonnies to their 20th victory against five losses, and Paul Hoffman added 18 points. Hawaii finished with a 23-4 record.

Hawaii Coach Red Rocha said the Bonnies can go all the way to the title.

"We were afraid of their quickness and we weren't wrong in our assessment," Rocha said. "We thought they were the only team we'd seen that was quicker than us. I think they can win it because we were beaten by a very good ball club. If we'd won it, we could have gone to the title."

In the earlidr meeting this season Georgia Tech and St. Bonaventure both had key men missing from the lineup.

Duke won its last meeting with North Carolina 92-83, but lost the previous meetings 83-21 and 79-74.



FOILED AGAIN — Oakland's Gary Jarrett tried in vain for a goal but was blocked by Toronto Maple Leafs goalie Jacques Plante in National Hockey League action at Oakland last night. Plante, down on the ice here, blocked plenty of other shots as Toronto scored a 6-0 victory. (UPI Telephoto)

Plante Again Poison To Hapless Seals

OAKLAND (UPI) —To the California Golden Seals, a big gulp of cyanide or Jacques Plante means the same thing.

Try though they may, the Seals have been unable to beat Plante in the three years they have been in the National Hockey League. Plante was victorious every time he was in goal against the Seals for the St. Louis Blues and then the Toronto Maple Leafs.

An irritating nose boil could have ended that string Wednesday night before 3,891 fans at the Oakland Coliseum-Arena but it didn't. Instead Plante and Bernie Parent shared a 6-0 shutout of the Seals.

It was the fifth time California has been blanked this season and closed the season's series with Toronto at 2-3-1.

Plante turned back 20 California shots in the first two periods and then turned the netminding over to Parent after complaining that his face mask was irritating a nose boil.

Parent had things fairly easy in the final period as the Maple Leafs outshot the Seals 16-6.

Center Norm Ullman, returning to action after missing five games with an injury, led the Toronto attack with two goals. Other goals were scored by Dave Keon, Darryl Sittler, Ron Ellis and Brad Selwood.

California dominated play in the first period, outshooting the Maple Leafs 11-10. However, Toronto made their fewer shots count, scoring three times against goalie Gary Smith.

The Seals close out the season's series with St. Louis Friday night at the Coliseum-Arena before playing Sunday at Vancouver.

Gridder Dies Of Head Injury

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)— David Madon, 16, of Baxter, KY., a junior at Harlan High School, died Wednesday at the University of Kentucky Medical Center after becoming ill during football practice.

The Fayette County Coroner's office said Madon died from "cardiac arrest" caused by an apparent head injury suffered in practice.

The school principal, Thomas Ward, said, "He wasn't doing anything at the time, but complained of being dizzy and became ill."

He was hospitalized at Harlan and then brought here after physicians said he suffered a ruptured blood vessel at the base of the brain.

Player, Palmer, Trevino Head Airlines Golf Field

Tennis

CHICAGO (UPI) — Cliff Drysdale of South Africa and Ray Ruffels of Australia won second-round victories Wednesday in the $50,000 sportface international tennis championship.

Drysdale used his two-handed backhand swing to defeat Owen Davidson of Great Britain, 6-3, 6-4.

Ruffels defeated fellow Aussie Phil Dent, 6-3, 5-7, 7-6 in three sets, winning a tie-breaker in the third set.

No Electronic Sounds For Duck Hunters

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill to ban tape-recorded or electrically amplified animal sounds has been introduced in the California legislature.

Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, said Wednesday these devices are being used with increased frequency to lure ducks, birds and mammals near hunters' blinds.

SPORTS SHORTS

Football

Gov. William T. Cahill announced Wednesday that the Giants have assured him they will sign a lease for the new sports complex and move their franchise there, once the state provides means for its construction.

Basketball

Fitch had planned to officially protest the Cavaliers last season game, a 114-112 loss to the Portland Trailblazers Tuesday night, but he learned Wednesday the time for filing a protest was past.

National Basketball Association rules state all protests must be filed by midnight of the last day of the regular season. Tuesday was the last day.

Baseball

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—The New York Yankees announced Wednesday that they have asked waivers on pitcher Mike McCormick, a one-time $80,000 bonus whiz and a 22-game winner for the San Francisco Giants in 1967.

Bowling

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— Lefthander Dick Battista of Astoria, N.Y., takes a 65-point lead into today's third round of the $60,000 Don Carter Bowling Classic.

Battista, winner of the 1970 Grand Rapids Open, rolled a 12-game total of 2,605 in the first two rounds Wednesday for a 217-plus average to pull ahead of the 128-man field.

General

CHICAGO (UPI) — Verlon "Rube" Walker, pitching coach of the Chicago Cubs, died Wednesday at Wesley Memorial Hospital of complications of a blood disease. He was 42.

Walker was starting his 11th year on the Cubs' coaching staff. He was appointed pitching coach last winter and travelled to Scottsdale, Ariz., with the Cubs for spring training but returned to Chicago and was hospitalized here last week.

Expos' Morton In Form

By U. P. International

Carl Morton says he is out to prove that 1970 was "no fluke" and it looks like the Montreal Expos' sophomore pitcher will achieve that goal.

An 18-game winner and the National League's Rookie of the Year in 1970, Morton went the nine-inning distance Wednesday in pitching the Expos to a 6-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves. Morton allowed only four singles as the Expos scored their ninth victory in their last 11 games.

Morton, a converted outfielder, had a 3.60 earned run average to go with his 18-11 record in 1970.

On other fronts: Thurman Munson and Bobby Murcer hit homers as the New York Yankees downed the Boston Red Sox, 9-5, while pummelling former 22-game winner Jim Lonborg for six runs, seven hits and two walks in four innings. Lonborg, attempting to recapture his 1967 form when the Red Sox won the American League pennant, has yet to make an impressive showing this spring ... Bob Robertson's sixth homer of the spring, a three-run clout in the first inning, paced the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies. John Briggs homered for the Phillies.

Tommy Helms and Hal McRae had three hits each and Milt Wilcox pitched seven scoreless innings in the Cincinnati Reds' 8-4 win over the Houston Astros. Cesar Cedeno, Ray Busse and Jay Alou homered off Joe Gibbon during the last two innings ... Al Kaline's three-run homer off Dave McNally helped the Detroit Tigers to a 7-2 decision over the Baltimore Orioles despite a homer by Boog Powell.

Richie Allen had a triple, double and two singles to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 10-9 victory over the Washington Senators. Curt Flood drove in three runs with a single and double for the Senators ... Leron Lee's seventh-inning double drove in the tie-breaking run as the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Chicago White Sox, 3-2. It was only the sixth loss in 19 exhibition games for the White Sox.

Dick Drago allowed only four hits and an unearned run in seven innings in the Kansas City Royals' 6-3 win over the Minnesota Twins. Drago, 9-15 last season, is the first Kansas City pitcher to go seven innings this spring ... Tom Murphy's three-hit pitching for seven innings paced the California Angels to a 2-0 win over Salt Lake City, their Triple A affiliate.

TIRED OF NURSE-MAID ROLE

Being A Loser Is New To Seals' Fred Glover

OAKLAND (UPI)—In his 23 years in professional hockey, Fred Glover hated to lose and seldom did until he became coach of the rag-tag California Golden Seals.

Now losing has become a nightmarish habit which the longtime player-coach of the Cleveland Barons is trying to kick. In the process, he indicates he'd like to kick some of his players to get them moving in the direction of their potential.

Glover and owner Charles O. Finley began building for Glover and owner Charles Om Finley began building for future years several weeks before the end of the 1970-71 National Hockey League season which will wind up with the Seals mired in last place in the Western Division.

If there's eventually to be a pot of gold at the end of the Seals' somewhat drab rainbow, Glover figures it will have to be in the form of young, aggressive players who will transform the club from a group of lacklustre individuals to gritty competitors.

"If they're in the pros, they must play like pros," says the 1968-69 NHL coach of the year. "If they don't do it, they're not pro hockey players and will find themselves on the outside looking in."

He admits he is "getting tired" of playing nurse-maid, psychiatrist and preacher to some players whom he accused of sometimes placing the individual above the collective.

"Some of them just think of 'I and me' instead of 'we and us.' I've been trying to tell them in the ultimate end 'we and us' is more important because if you play for 'we and us," then 'I and me' come out on top anyway."

Injuries played a major part in severely crippling California's playoff hopes quite early in the season.

Only five players managed to escape sidelining injuries—defensemen Doug Roberts and Ron Stackhouse, forwards Ernie Hicke, Dennis Hextall and Gerry Ehman.

Glover, 43, admits injuries were "a major factor" in the poor showing (19-48-5) of the Seals this season but added that was only part of the story.

"Certain players used this as an excuse for our misfortunes," said the coach. "They themselves didn't play well and used an injury to someone else as a cop-out."

In recent weeks, the Seals began their rebuilding by peddling ailing 38-year-old defenseman Harry Howell to the Los Angeles Kings. Ted Hampson, 34, was traded to Minnesota for Tom Williams, 31, and defenseman Dick Redmond, 22.

Minnesota then purchased 29-year-old defenseman Wayne Muloin from the Seals. Glover hopes to keep dealing for younger talent throughout the summer but admits he won't give up "battleships for rowboats."

"Aggressiveness is one of the key things we need. That shows they want to play the game both offensively and defensively. A lot of guys think there is only one end to the rink but they're wrong. In hockey you must be agressive all over the ice."

Glover says he will travel the Canadian hinterland this summer looking for talent. He adds there is a "very good possibility" two or three players now with the Providence Reds may be with the Seals next season.

Among the players mentioned on the Seals development club at Providence as possible NHL material are center Peter Laframboise, defensemen Ted McAneeley and Neil Nicholson and forwards Chris Oddleifson and Randy Rota.

Glover, who has one more season to go on his contract, says he and Finley see eye-to-eye on rebuilding with youth. "I have had no problems with Mr. Finley ... he's been okay as far as I'm concerned," said Glover.

Claiming that hockey has a "very good future" in Oakland, Glover said the attendance would pick up once the team became competitive. The Seals are the poorest drawing card in the league, averaging 5,924 per game, approximately 400 less than last season.

"If we had been competitive this year, the fans would have turned out. As long as you get a club to play interesting hockey, fans will, in turn, associate with the team."

UCLA's Reasons For Wins

HOUSTON (UPI)—UCLA has had a reason for winning each of its last four NCAA basketball championships.

The reason for the first three was simple—Lew Alcindor. That was 1967, 1968 and 1969.

Last year the Bruins won it because they wanted to prove they could do it without Alcindor, Coach John Wooden said Wednesday night on the eve of the Bruins' semifinal clash with Kansas.

Western Kentucky, 23-5, and Villanova, 26-6, a pair of fast-breaking teams who have never made the NCAA finals, will meet in the other semifinal game. The winner will play the UCLA-Kansas winner for the championship Saturday. UCLA's game tonight will be televised at 6:30, Channel 4.

"Last year they were extremely hungry all season because certain players thought they hadn't received their just due because of Lew," Wooden said. "It wasn't that they didn't like Lew. They did.

"They wanted to show everybody they could win it without him," Wooden said. "I think maybe they also wanted to prove it to themselves, too.

"They haven't been that way this year," Wooden said. "They got a little more hungry the last two weeks."

Wooden caused a minor incident when he showed up in the stands of the Astrodome prior to the UCLA practice session and watched the final 15 minutes of the Kansas workout. Coach Ted Owens of Kansas didn't like it.

"It's highly unusual," Owens said. "If he thinks that's all right, everyone has his own beliefs. I wouldn't do it."

It will be the muscle of Kansas' 6-10, 235-pound Dave Robisch and 6-10, 225-pound Roger Brown against UCLA's forward wall of 6-9, 217-pound Steve Patterson; 6-8, 230-pound Sidney Wicks and 6-7, 225-pound Curtis Rowe.

Rancho Cotate Triumphs

By GARY LONDON

The Rancho Cotate High School Cougars followed the old rule, "Do unto others as they would have done unto you" yesterday in whipping the rival Petaluma Trojans 8-1 in a complete reversal of their previous encounter last week.

Playing at Petaluma's McNear Park, the Rancho team of Rohnert Park was the one taking advantage of errors instead of the other way around. When the two teams met last Friday at Sonoma State College, Petaluma clobbered the Cougars 9-3 in a laugher.

This time, however, Cougar pitcher Dave Christenson had his stuff in holding the opposition to one run on four hits, while going the full seven innings. The Rancho Cotate defense was sharp, too, committing only one error to Petaluma's five. Petaluma is now 4-4 in pre-season won-lost action, and will open North Bay league play Friday against Hogan of Vallejo as defending NBL I champions. Rancho Cotate now has a 2-2-1 record with its next game slated against Ukiah Friday in Rohnert Park.

San Jose State Vs. Santa Clara

SAN JOSE (UPI) —San Jose State and Santa Clara have renewed a football rivalry which has been dormant since 1952.

Both schools announced Wednesday they would play four games at Spartan Stadium starting Sept. 9, 1972. Other dates are Sept. 8, 1973; Sept. 7, 1974 and Sept. 13, 1975.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Left-handed bowlers need not feel left out of today's bowling game at all. Some of our best pro's are southpaws, especially among the men. The left-hand side of the alley will have a higher polish, since it isn't used as much. For this reason, lefties can expect less of a hook and it might be wise to start farther to the left than usual.

Sonoma State Nine Splits Twin Bill

The Sonoma State College Cossack baseball team has been enjoying a better season than its basketball team ever did. But not much better.

Yesterday the Cossacks split a double header to the Oregon College of Education that extended their won-lost record to 2-10. The Cossack basketball, team, by the way, went winless.

In the opener, the Cossacks won a close 4-3 game behind the bat of Jeff Barker who hit a fourth inning homerun. In the fifth inning, the Cossacks managed to bring in three more runs to pave the victory. Jim Salm was the winning pitcher.

In the second contest, Oregon got the only run of the ballgame in the third inning, as the visitors pulled out a 1-0 win. Mike Bell was the losing pitcher.

Alcindor Runs Off With NBA Scoring Honor

NEW YORK (UPI) —Lew Alcindor, 7-foot, 2-inch star of the Milwaukee Bucks and the National Basketball Association's most valuable player for 1970-71, was officially crowned the league's scoring champion today with a 31.7 per game average.

Statistics released by the NBA showed that Alcindor tallied 2596 points compared to 2338 by John Havlicek of the Boston Celtics. Elvin Hayes of the San Diego Rockets was third with a 28.7 average and Dave Bing of the Detroit Pistons was fourth with 27.

Alcindor averaged 28.8 points during the 1969-70 season when he was the NBA's rookie of the year.

Let's Knock The Nonsense Out Of GLASS-BELTED TIRES!

Every company makes a fiber glass polyester tire. Every company makes more than one. Their best being good - the others not as good.

Many companies have copyrighted names for the tires, such as Poly-glas - Sup-R-Belt - Dura-glas - Dyna-glas - Perm-A-Glas and so on and on. NOW NOTE - regardless of their name or the manufacturers - if they are a 2+2 belted tire and the companies top one, they are all pretty much the same in quality and therefore performance. If they are a step below the firm's best then they will perform that much less.

Fiberglas Tires are not as good as the top Radial tires, in fact they came into existence when the American Mfg. failed on his first attempt at making radials in 67 and 68. Some firms make fabulous claims for their glass belted tires. In buying, keep in mind what I stated above PLUS THIS FACT - of the over 3000 brands you have to choose from in domestic tires - THEY ARE ALL MADE BY ONE OF ONLY ELEVEN MANUFACTURERS. I make this point to show that glas tire for glas tire, they're all pretty much the same - as long as you compare like for like, whether the tire is Goodyear, Firestone, Atlas, Shell Oil, Union Oil, Sears, Wards - regardless of the vast price difference, your problem? Knowing what is like to like. AND THAT FOLKS IS THE TRUTH.

Consistency Is Big Thing, Says Stone

PHOENIX — Steve Stone knows he is on the spot. The 23-year-old rookie righthander is well aware of the high praise heaped on him this spring. He knows that he has been compared to the New York Mets' pitching ace Tom Seaver. He knows that the Giants expect big things from him this season.

Is he frightened? Is he pinching himself to make sure it isn't a dream? He did seem in a dream world the first time he faced major league batters March 5 in the 1971 Cactus League opener against the Chicago Cubs. Wasn't that true?

STONE ADMITTED he was shaking on the mound that day in Scottsdale, that he was terribly self-conscious, that his thoughts were wandering, that he found it extremely difficult to concentrate on the job at hand — throwing strikes.

He threw only one strike in his first nine pitches and two Cubs were aboard on walks. He welcomed the hurried visit to the mound by Charlie Fox who assured him that the Cubs "put their pants on one leg at a time."

STONE STOPPED shaking. So did Fox as the rookie retired the next three Cubs.

"The closest I'd previously been to major league batters was the stands," said Stone, a superb control pitcher as he was to prove in his next outings. "I was wild, too, in my first pro games at Fresno two years ago. I was trying to strike out everybody. I averaged 12 strikeouts a game at Fresno but my earned run average was ludicrous (3.61). Strikeouts are important when they are needed but not just for the sake of logging them. That's one thing I've learned."

Stone has learned a number of other things in his fast promotions from A, AA, AAA to major league competition in two years. Indeed, he now looks like a poised performer who thrives on competition. He is a very determined young man, confident but not cocky in the way he views his fast rise into the Big Time spotlight.

"DETERMINATION does have a lot to do with it," said Stone. "But consistency is more important. To be successful a pitcher must be consistent."

It was Stone's consistency at Phoenix late last season that convinced the Giants he should be invited to spring camp this year on a non-roster basis. He was promoted to Phoenix and AAA Coast League competition from Amarillo, the Giants' AA farm club in the Texas League. At Phoenix, Stone won five of eight starts, losing three. More importantly his ERA over 58 innings was 1.71.

LAST WEEKEND the Giants made Stone a member of the big team, purchasing his contract from the Phoenix club.

(Tomorrow: More about Stone in a third and final article).

Terra Linda Gymnists Win 5-Team Meet

Terra Linda High School's gymnastics team, fresh from a first place victory in a five-way meet Tuesday, will host Monte Vista High School of Danville next Tuesday.

The Terra Linda team, with help from San Rafael High School's Leonard Pinto and Ron Nelson, won its meet last Tuesday at Sequoia High, Redwood City. Other competing schools, besides Sequoia, were Awalt, Palo Alto and Carlmont.

Leading the way for the Marin team was Sean McLaughlin, with first in parallel bars and side horse vaulting and a third in rings.

Point winners for the Terra Linda team:

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Excellent Choice In Illinois Central

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My husband works for and is considering investing in Illinois Central. What are its prospects for capital appreciation over the next few years? — C.M.

A. Illinois Central Industries, a railroad holding company, has diversified into real estate, manufacturing and bottling. In 1970, 78 per cent of pretax earnings was derived from nonrail activities. Although 1970 sales were up, earnings were lower at $2.56 a share from $3.02. Aided by higher nonrail profits and reduced losses on passenger traffic, earnings should recover sharply this year.

The proposed merger of Central's rail subsidiary and Gulf Mobile & Ohio would save approximately $1.25 a share and would eventually eliminate the passenger deficit which was 74 cents a share in 1969. The merger, although approved in principle by the ICC Examiner, has been opposed by the Justice Department. Your husband's confidence in his company is justified; shares are an excellent growth investment.

Q. I bought Fidelity Fund shares over the years and now have about 1,000 shares. I am 70 years old and need income. I was informed that for 1970 there would be no capital gains payment. Do you think I should hold or sell? How safe is Fidelity? — C.G.

A. Fidelity Fund, with approximately $764 million in assets, ranks as one of the larger mutual funds in the field. While not without the minimal risks inherent in any investment, Fidelity has an above-average stability record. Portfolio is compiled of high-quality growth isuues but because of the fund's size and conservative investment policies, growth has not been as dynamic as for some of the performance funds.

One of the difficulties for income holders in mutual funds is that capital gains are not guaranteed. In this case, because of the general market decline, no capital gains resulted in 1970. Thus the usual January payment was omitted this year.

WATER MONITOR — U.S. Steel says this monitoring station continuously checks the quality of waste water discharges from its Pittsburg works before the water is returned to the New York Slough. Before the water reaches this point, it has passed through treatment facilities and settling basins which neutralize it and remove minute settleable solids, U.S. Steel says.

U.S. Steel Announces Plans For Pittsburg Water Control

PITTSBURG — United States Steel has announced plans for construction of redesigned water quality control facilities at its Pittsburg works.

The plans were presented to the staff of the Regional Water Quality Control Board on March 2, the announcement said.

Engineering studies for these facilities began when permanent regional water quality standards were announced last Nov. 4. Until this information was available, the Pittsburg works had no realistic basis for facilities planning to solve complex operating and technological problems posed by the new standards, a spokesman said.

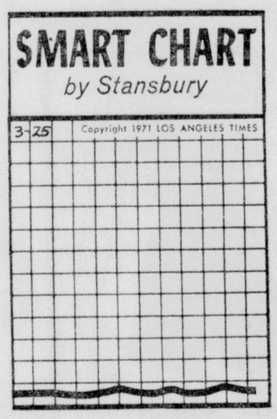
"We regret the action on March 4 by the State Water Resources Control Board in seeking an injunction against Pittsburg Works, but this has not changed our intent or action toward installing new water quality control facilities," superintendent J. V. Dorman said.

The Pittsburg works has in recent months installed new settling basins to reduce settleable solids and installed additional treatment facilities to control quality of waste water discharges into New York Slough, near the confluence of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers.

"Tests on fish survival have shown the problem of potential toxicity to be completely in hand. We are dealing with unusually stringent waste discharge requirements for particulate matter and coloring and wholly-new restrictions on heavy metal content," Dorman said.

"With the facilities installed in recent months, we expect to continue to meet toxicity requirements until the redesigned distribution system and clarifying equipment can be installed," he added.

"Good water quality is not something you decide upon independently and arbitrarily. It involves cooperation by all to produce the best long-term result for everyone in terms of conservation, use and improvement of our water resources. This is a goal toward which we, at Pittsburg Works, are more than willing to contribute our specialized capabilities. There is no plant activity that carries a higher priority with us," he said.



"Our new salesman is an eagle in the office but a chicken on the road."

Market In Reverse On Early Sales

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market was reversed through the first two hours Thursday.

"It was nothing more than an extension of Wednesday's decline," one analyst observed. He said the previous session's big drop brought in additional selling early Thursday.

Individual issues came under pressure following the decision of the Senate to cut off funds for the supersonic transport plane.

Of the 1,505 issues crossing the tape, 965 pointed lower, while 234 gained.

Prices also retreated in moderately active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Declines led advances, 581 to 150.

Among the most active Big Board issues were Faberge down 1-8 and Boeing off 1 5-8. Boeing was the prime contractor for the SST.

Among the weakest spots were Superior Oil off 4, IBM 3 3-4, Honeywell 4 3-4 and Burroughs 3 1-4. Off a point or more were National Cash Register, RCA, Magnavox, Motorola, Texas Instruments, Xerox, Atlantic Richfield, and Standard Oil of California.

Computing Firm Wins NASA Deal

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Computing & Software Inc. has announced that NASA'S Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., has exercised an option to renew its existing contract with C & S for one year.

This is the first of two one-year options written into the contract, each valued at approximately $6.1 million.

The contract provides for continuation of the company's date processing services related to business and scientific applications.

At Goddard, Computing & Software operates specialized telemetry processors for the reduction of data and provides engineering and maintenance of certain equipment and computer programming.

Kaiser Aluminum Declares Dividend

OAKLAND (BW) — Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. directors have declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share on the corporation's common stock.

The dividend is payable May 31 to stockholders of record May 7.

Recycling Plan Extended By Lucky Brewers

SACRAMENTO (BW) — Lucky Breweries, the nation's first brewer to buy back all its bottles and cans, will extend the program throughout Northern and Central California, Northern Nevada and Montana next week.

Beginning Monday, Lucky's wholesale-distributors in those regions will pay consumers 25 cents for every case of 24 Lucky bottles and 12 cents for every case of 24 Lucky cans returned to their warehouses, he said.

The company currently recycles all its bottles and cans in Washington, Northern Idaho, Western Oregon and the San Francisco Bay Area.

Merchants, Police To Sponsor Seminar On Frauds, Forgeries

Bad checks, forgeries, shoplifting and sometimes credit card frauds are continually irking problems for retail establishments.

Next Tuesday evening the Downtown Merchants Association of San Rafael will try to help stores do something about it. The association is sponsoring a seminar in cooperation with the San Rafael Police Department that day at 5:45 p.m. at the City Council chambers in the San Rafael City Hall. The security division of the Western States Bank Card will also have someone there to talk on credit card frauds and how to go about preventing them.

The meeting is intended primarily for business owners, managers and key personnel in the downtown San Rafael and Northgate areas but is open to interested parties from other parts of the county.

GERALD M. GUNN of Mill Valley has been promoted to manager of Wells Fargo Bank's Golden Gateway office in San Francisco. Formerly assistant manager of the Polk-California office in that city, he has been with the bank since 1964. He has served at the Greenbrae branch as well as in the bank's San Francisco offices.

Gunn

Johnson

JOHN E. JOHNSON of San Anselmo, senior vice president of Honig-Cooper and Harrington and group account supervisor for Levi Strauss and Co., will be a featured speaker at the April 5 meeting of the San Jose Advertising Club.

JOSEPH BOYD of Corte Madera has joined Fred Harvey, restaurant and resort subsidiary of Amfac, Inc., as director of audits and systems. He was previously audit supervisor for Harris-Kerr-Foster and Co. of San Francisco.

EVIO COMOLLI of San Anselmo has been elected first vice president of the Redwood Coast Chapter of the American Institute of Banking. He is with Wells Fargo Bank.

THOMAS M. QUIGG of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant vice president, personnel administration, at Bank of America's San Francisco headquarters. With the bank since 1962, he has worked at San Rafael, Napa, Larkspur and Mill Valley offices, as well as at San Francisco headquarters where recently he has been an assistant cashier.

EDGAR T. LINDNER JR. of Sausalito has been named loan officer at Bank of California's San Francisco main office.

THE MARIN BUILDERS EXCHANGE has elected as directors: James McDonald of San Anselmo, with the architectural firm of Wagstaff and McDonald; Clayton Halbert of San Anselmo, of C and H Scaffolding; Juan Ferrer of San Rafael Ferrer Plumbing; Richard L. Miller of Greenbrae, with Marin County Roofing; and Alfred J. Dalecio of Ignacio, with Bresnan-Dalecio, Inc.

WINE ART SAUSALITO, a new branch of the San Francisco-based Wine Art, Inc., has opened at 301 Harbor Drive, Sausalito. The company has shops throughout the United States.

The shop provides wine hobbyists with everything from imported champagne yeast to complete do-it-yourself wine-making kits. Wine tasting, wine-making classes and wine appreciation courses are also held. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays. Nanette Owens is in charge.

Hearst Denies FTC Allegations

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Hearst Corp. today joined Cowles Communications, Inc. in denying Federal Trade Commission (FTC) allegations of deceptive tactics in door-to-door magazine subscription sales.

Hearst said it has "never engaged in any of the acts or practices charged to be unlawful" by FTC. A Hearst subsidiary, Periodical Publishers Service Bureau, Inc., also denied the allegations, as did a periodical licensee, International Magazine Service.

Cowles, accused of the same practices, answered similarly Wednesday FTC said formal replies have not yet been received from two other firms accused in the same action, Time, Inc., and Perfect Film and Chemical Corp.

Marin Boy, Cub Scout Troops Launch Spring Clean-Up Drive

Marin Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts launched a spring clean-up campaign as part of a national conservation project called Save Our American Resources (SOAR).

The year-long campaign, sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America, will culminate June 5, when over 6 million Boy Scouts will set out to pick up litter along city streets and parks.

In Marin, several thousand boy scouts are expected to join forces that day to pick up litter scattered over Marin, according to John Bagshaw, program director of the Marin Council, Boy Scouts of American.

Most of the Marin Boy Scout troops and Cub Scout packs have selected the projects they intend to work on during the year, Bagshaw said. They include general clean-up jobs, recycling and conservation projects. Most will work in cooperation with city and county officials.

Projects already under way are:

Troop 71, Terra Linda — Will pick up aluminum cans from the Terra Linda area for recycling at the Golden Gate Distributing Co., which will pay 11 cents per pound, one cent of which will be added to a camperships fund for disadvantaged scouts.

Troop 18, San Rafael — Will clean up trash from Gerstle Park and adjoining roads once a month from March to June.

Troop 59, Greenbrae — Will collect aluminum cans from the Greenbrae area for recycling.

Troop 74, Marinwood — Will clean up and repair banks along local creeks through July. The troop is working with the Marinwood Community Services District.

Troop 142, Novato — Will also do creek clean-up work and erosion control projects.

Troop 360, San Rafael — Will clean and restore the Boyd Park pond. They are working with the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

Troop 21, San Rafael — Working with the Marin County Fire Department, will clear debris from parks and build fire breaks.

Troop 69, Cedars Development School, Ross — Will maintain the 16 trees they planted earlier this month.

Pack 54, Mill Valley — Will plant and maintain seedling trees near the Marin Terrace School. They also will reseed bare spots at Mount Tamalpais State Park.

Pack 36, San Rafael — Will work in Boyd Park, trimming bushes and patrolling grounds in the picnic area.

Missile Fired

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A satellite employing a Thor Agena combination missile was launched Wednesday afternoon from this military aerospace center. Details of the launch, conducted by an air force-industry team, were not released.

Apprentice Day Is Announced

Apprentice carpenters, cabinetmakers and millwrights from Marin and other Bay Area counties will compete in projects all day April 17 at the Stonestown Shopping Center Mall and the Arts and Industries Building at San Francisco State College.

The apprentice tradesmen will be given plans and must work on a project for eight hours. It is sponsored by the San Francisco Carpenter Joint Apprenticeship Committee.

Jed Barahal Again Heads Scholar List

Young Barahal, who is a son of Alan Barahal, social studies teacher at the school, amassed 19 grade points for the semester to lead a roll of 106 students qualifying for California Scholarship Federation membership, announced Robert L Thomas, English teacher and CSF adviser. Each A counts three points, and each B counts one point. Jed also was high student on the list for the second semester of last school year.

Twenty-five seniors, 27 juniors, 36 sophomores, and 18 freshmen made the roll. They are:

Flood Hearing

The Ross Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory Board will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the library of Wolfe Grade School, Kentfield, to discuss major flooding problems in the region.

Vote Registering Deadline Set

Voter registration for the June 8 Petaluma municipal election will close on April 15, according to city clerk Lillian Nommsen.

On the ballot will be four city council seats, two members of the Petaluma Board of Education and two directors of the Petaluma Hospital District.

Applications for absentee ballots will be accepted from May 10 to June 1 at either the city clerk's office or at the Sonoma County Board of Elections, Santa Rosa.

Seventh State Nods To 18-Year-Old Vote

HONOLULU (UPI)—Hawaii has become the seventh state in the union to ratify the proposed U.S. constitutional amendment to give 18-year-olds the vote.

The Hawaiian House of Representatives passed it 51-0 Wednesday while the Senate approved it 21-1.

The boys are coming!

The venerable elms and eucalyptus on the beautiful campus must have shivered a little extra in the breeze Tuesday morning, and the Victorian walls of Edgehill and Meadowlands must have trembled as they have not since the 1906 earthquake, when Sister Samuel Conlan announced that the college is going co-ed.

Actually, the break in the all-girl tradition came several years ago, when young men were admitted to the graduate school. And this year there was one lone undergraduate male, in the music department.

BUT NEXT FALL, the whole image will be changed.

Instead of all-girl classes (sometimes with a male professor), there'll be a sprinkling of boys in most cases. Instead of just groups of girls walking from building to building, there'll probably be groups of girls surrounding still-outnumbered boys.

San Rafael's exclusive girls' college will become instead a co-educational liberal arts college which, in time, undoubtedly will become a major asset to the community in ways the "old" Dominican, despite its prestige and its excellence, could never be.

And many Marin parents, who hesitate to see their sons leave home for campuses where freedom reigns but little else does, may welcome the chance to send them to a college right at home which can be depended on to continue the gentle but effective discipline that characterizes the Sisters of Mercy.

WE FIND THE PROSPECT quite pleasing. We're sure most of the girls at Dominican College do, too. And as Sister Samuel put it quite plainly to the students, one reason for "going co-ed" is to attract more girls. They like to be where the boys are.

After all, finding a husband has long been one of the accepted reasons for a girl to attend college.

There'll be a few wrenches with the departure from tradition, of course. And one will be here at the Independent-Journal, where we'll have to wrench away from the women's pages much of the Dominican College news that has gone on them as a matter of course ever since the school started in 1914.

Welcome, young men, to Dominican College of San Rafael!

Don't Know What We Don't Know

The problems of ecology are so new that making flat statements is risky business. We tend to take the printed word as gospel. When the sky starts falling in we are prone to seek a scapegoat. This is true of the newly discovered problem of eutrophication.

The proliferation of algae has largely been blamed on phosphates in detergents. Also, on sewage and the runoff of agricultural fertilizer. But, we can't stop there. Nitrogen can cause eutrophication, too. In northeastern Colorado, it was recently discovered that ammonia vapor from the huge cattle feed-lots was carried to the clouds on warm days and rained down into ponds 20 miles away, causing severe eutrophication.

We can't do everything at once. But rather than stand still and wring our hands, we can move a step at a time. We may be masters of the moon, but here on earth we don't begin to understand our environment. And we can't know what we don't know.

By being a little bit humble in the face of the enormity of the problem of cleaning up Mother Earth, we can avoid a credibility gap. And at the same time keep things moving.

Filibuster To Save Filibuster Is Dull And Not Even Tiring

By STEVE GERSTEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) —For those romantics who, at the mere mention of a filibuster, conjure visions of thundering oratory, fiery exchanges, bitter enmities, cloakroom deals, heroic feats of endurance, and pajama-clad senators: forget it.

That's the way it used to be. It isn't anymore.

A filibuster, modern style, is, in fact, a most dull and boring exercise in an institution that has, over the years, devised many ways to provoke acute disinterest and mass absenteeism.

TAKE THE MOST recent one, for example.

It started Jan. 25, four days after the 92nd Congress convened and ended March 9. Initiated by southerners with ample support from conservative Republicans and small state senators, the filibuster blocked a change in the filibuster rule.

The rule remains, thanks to the filibuster, at two-thirds of the senators voting to invoke cloture. The proposal was to change it to three-fifths.

On the surface, the period between Jan. 25 and March 9 appears to be a good, long one as the calendar goes—certainly a wearying ordeal for those—many of them aged—to hold the floor and block any action.

Nothing of the sort.

THERE WAS, for instance, a pleasant respite when the Senate took a week's recess to pay tributes to Washington and Lincoln in one escape from the nation's capital.

But there was no need for a rest.

The hours in session during the filibuster would have done a banker proud. Start around one or two, go until three or four and on real hectic days, five in the afternoon. No nights, no weekends.

Great oratory, hot debates, lasting hatreds? Nothing like that.

Instead, the filibuster consisted of senators, their voices amplified by a new loudspeaker system, reading dull speeches to a bored audience of restless pages and puzzled visitors.

THERE WERE FOUR votes to cut off the filibuster. Everybody knew how they would come out so quite a few senators — as many as 16 one time — just didn't bother to come around.

When it was all over, the victors and the vanquished—calling each other distinguished and better—praised everybody in sight.

What a comedown for King Filibuster.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

City Also Rapped For Hiring Practices

This is further to the letter to the editor of March 15 from the attorney who tried to get a position in the D.A.'s office and was given the "run-around."

It is not only the county but also the City of San Rafael that pulls such unethical practices. In late September or early October 1970, my husband read an ad in the I-J for a purchasing agent for San Rafael. This was on a Friday night. On the Tuesday of the next week, he went to City Hall and applied for the job. He was told by the receptionist that he was the ONLY one who had applied for the job, that the man interviewing was in San Diego on some sort of convention and he would return in a couple of days and would then call my husband. My husband filled out an application, and incidentally had all the qualifications — plus 20 years experience — for the job. Not only was he never called for an interview but two weeks later received a "form" letter saying the job had been filled.

From there he went to the Civic Center to apply for a possible opening and was not even permitted to fill out an application.

It seems the city and county pick only those people who are in the "in", so why do they even bother to put ads in the paper for jobs and at the tax payers expense to boot?

'Student Rights': Social Indigestion

I see in last night's (March 16) paper that some of our local high school leaders are now demanding that students be allowed to determine what they should be taught, to publish their evaluations of their teachers, and to share the facilities traditionally assigned to their teachers such as private lounges, restrooms and parking lots. All this (plus God alone knows what else!) in the name of that hallowed and seemingly all-embracing thing called "democracy"!

Such statements and the attitude they manifest would be laughable were they not so potentially tragic in their implications. The ignorance, moreover, they manifest about the American way of life should be a source of serious concern to all of us.

Since when, for example, has this country — or any other country, for that matter — operated on a simple "majority rules" basis? And since when has any society been ruled by its youngsters, by those considered too young, inexperienced and naive to even be held legally responsible for many of their actions? . . .

Part of the problem, I fear, is the fact that many of these old-fashioned ideas are no longer considered relevant enough to find an important place in our sparkling, new social studies curricula. If so, I would suggest that those responsible recall another old-fashioned but highly relevant fact which is that "the proof of the pudding is in the eating"! Currently our "education pudding" — at least in the area of the social sciences — shows signs of producing an acute case of "social indigestion"!

Women's Pages Show Relevance

My thanks to you and women's page editor Barbara Hosmer for the stimulation and "relevance" now evident in that section of the paper. By paying attention to the many highly accomplished and gifted women now resident in Marin County, you are doing more than merely throwing a bone to Women's Lib: you are doing a service to humanity (and, it goes without saying, to good, responsible journalism).

I was spurred to write this note tonight by Pat Balmes' interview of Robin Hudnut, granddaughter of Robert Frost. That was a pro job, of high quality. Obviously Pat Balmes is a responsive and acute human being, but even rarer, I think, is her ability to select and transmit the high points of her subject's personality and keep herself, the writer, out of the picture. No gush and bubble "female writing" for Pat Balmes, and good for her.

But my congratulations to all the ladies on your staff — and to you, I-J, for appreciating them.

Forced Retirement For Chief Bloom

Recently a matter of great importance to the people of Marin, as well as the state, was brought to my attention, the matter is of such importance that I feel that the people of the county should be apprised of what is being contemplated. Some years ago the Marin County retirement laws were changed so that employees in the sheriff and fire departments were classified as safety members.

This classification requires that personal in either of these departments reaching the age of 60 are faced with mandatory retirement.

Two exeptions to the rule are the county sheriff (an elective position) and the undersheriff who is an appointee.

Our present fire chief Louis Bloom, whose duties are that of an administrator, will be 60 on the 1st of June 1971, has been advised by the Marin County Retirement Board that on that date he must retire.

My concern and hopefully yours is that Mr. Bloom with his years of experience in fire department administration, his complete knowledge of the county and his splendid cooperation with the chiefs of all the various fire departments, the close contact with the Division of Forestry, which covers the fire protection of state lands in Marin, and his lifetime dedication to the county in these fields are things that cannot be filled by anyone now in the department or by any newcomer.

The Marin County Retirement Board would do well to reconsider their decision and change the status of Mr. Bloom from a safety member to a regular member, thereby giving Marin County the priviledge of having three to five years of additional service from a dedicated, capable and efficient chief.

Double Billing For 'Free' Shots

This letter is written to you in the hope that you have a louder voice than I to ask some interesting questions.

My wife and two oldest sons participated very actively in the bird-cleaning activities that followed the recent bay oil spill. They worked many hours a day for several days during that emergency. I was, and am still, very proud of their efforts.

The volunteers were told repeatedly that they MUST have anti-tetanus shots if they were bitten or scratched by the birds. The shots were to be administered free by a volunteer doctor at Marin General Hospital.

My oldest son was cut, and the Red Cross took him to the hospital, with a whole station wagon load of other victims, for his shot. He was also told to get a cortisone shot to reduce the swelling of a case of poison oak that had been aggravated by the oil, or feathers, or something. He was told that the shot would be free too.

Last month the hospital billed us for the material used in the two shots. We paid, thinking this was a strange kind of "free."

When a bill arrived from the doctor, charging $10 for his professional services, I got mad. Not only was he billing us, but the bill had, written across it by a red felt pen, "This billing must be paid in 10 days."

The bill was returned unpaid, with a letter reminding the doctor that he had volunteered to give free shots . . . His reply was to threaten the use of a collection agency to get his fee, which I have paid to avoid legal problems.

His professional services consisted of phoning for my consent to treat my son and of telling a nurse to give him the two shots.

The questions I am asking are these:

How many other volunteer workers find themselves in similar situations?

How many others have already quietly paid for the "free" treatment required by their efforts during the big clean-up? Is this an isolated case, or did other doctors pull this sort of thing?

812 Bombings Since Last July Remain Mostly Unsolved Crimes

WASHINGTON — The International Association of Chiefs of Police began last July to tabulate reported bombing incidents. The total from that date is an astonishing 812. They vary from the destruction of the University of Wisconsin Army Mathematics Research Center last Aug. 24, with one fatality and property damage of $7 million, to small homemade bombs that fizzle out in washrooms and broom closets.

What is also astonishing is how little the Department of Justice seems to know about this rash of bombings or, at any rate, how little information it will make known. In one incident after another the suspects are still fugitives with, if one accepts the statement of the Justice Department, small chance that they will be found and brought to trial.

In the Wisconsin bombing the suspects are four youths ranging in age from 18 to 22, three of them former university students and one a high-school dropout. In the early fall the three were reported close to arrest in a small upstate New York town. The Justice Department believes they are now in Canada.

IN CASE AFTER case, where the federal government has come in under statutes covering interstate travel in conspiring to riot and bomb, fugitives have eluded the FBI.

FBI appropriations grow bigger and bigger every year. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell claims the right to indiscriminate wire tapping limited only by self-restraint, which is no limit at all. Yet the net result as the wave of bombing accelerates is so meager that critics are beginning to question the effectiveness in this area of the FBI. So sanctified has J. Edgar Hoover bacome in his 75th year that it is heresy to suggest any flaw in the agency he has headed for 46 years. Yet the facts — or the lack of facts — seem to speak for themselves.

THE FBI HAS GONE all-out on the conspiracy case in which two priests, Rev. Daniel and Rev. Philip Berrigan, are the principals. They had been convicted of destroying draft records, a deliberate act of protest committed at Catonsville, Md.

Father Philip was caught in fairly short order and sent to the federal penitentiary at Danbury, Conn. But for four months Father Daniel almost literally thumbed his nose at his pursuers. He would preach a sermon or pray with some of his underground followers and then disappear again as the FBI men thought they had tracked him down.

Both the Berrigans were in prison at Danbury when the conspiracy indictment was returned in Harrisburg, Pa. It charged Father Philip and five others, including nuns and a former priest, with plotting to bomb the heating system of the capitol in Washington and then kidnap Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on security affairs. Father Daniel was named along with six others as a co-conspirator but he was not indicted.

HOOVER HAD ALREADY made the headlines when, in testifying before a congressional committee, he disclosed what has become known as the George Washington Birthday Plot (that being the day the conspirators were to close down the government and carry off Kissinger. It has long been Hoover custom to produce a sensation when testifying for FBI appropriations.

The Berrigans have won many friends convinced that the conspiracy law is a dubious weapon and particularly when, as in this instance, no overt act was committed. One friend is Rep. William R. Anderson of Tennessee, who retired from the Navy after a distinguished career as the commander of the first atomic submarine, the Nautilus, making the first transpolar voyage under the ice. Anderson recently paid his sixth visit to the Berrigans at Danbury and reported them confident and in buoyant spirits.

Their trial in early October — former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark is a defense counsel — will range over the whole area of conspiracy and loyalty. It promises to be a landmark case attracting worldwide attention. The Justice Department has a bear by the tail, with the outcome unpredictable.

The Trains No Longer Run On Time In Italy

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Back when Benito Mussolini was top man in Italy, any discussion of him usually ended on some such note as "at least the trains run on time."

It was an important observation because it implied order instead of chaos and stability instead of instability.

And it is a longing for these qualities, a revulsion against the violence and the succession of unstable governments which have characterized Italian life for the last couple of years, to which is attributed the sudden prominence of the Italian political right wing.

IT IS AN ALMOST incredible situation since for so many years it has been the political left as represented by communism that has been regarded as the greatest threat to Italy's democratic institutions.

The rightwing neofascists have been among the weakest of Italy's political parties. That there could be a return to fascism, Mussolini style, seemed unthinkable.

Yet it was a reported plot against the government by ultra rightists that led Premier Emilio Colombo to warn against extremists of both left and right and in effect to call down a plague against both their houses.

The excessive nationalism of fascism and nazism, he said, "ends up devouring freedom and humanity."

WHAT HAS HAPPENED in Italy is that both the extreme political right and left have attempted to take advantage of a weakness at the center.

Factional bickering among the Christian Democrats, the Socialists and the Social Democrats of the government coalition, plus divisions within the parties themselves, have delayed essential social and administrative reforms.

Workers have become impatient with the scarcity of low-cost housing, insufficient urban and commuter transportation and the inadequacy of health-care and old-age pension systems. Students have become impatient with delays in reform of the antiquated educational system.

Out of these have come the violent demonstrations whose size and frequency threaten Italy's swiftly expanding economy.

STRIKES AND VIOLENCE in 1969 caused the national growth rate to drop to 5 per cent from the 6.8 per cent of the year before.

Wage increases and a reduction in work hours won in strike settlements boosted industrial costs by 20 per cent. Labor productivity fell off. The Fiat Corp. alone reported that absenteeism cost 30 million working hours and strikes another nine million.

There was the perennial problem of the gap between incomes in the north and in the south, which was widening. Italy's over-all per capita income in 1970 came to more than $1,500. But in the south it was just about half that.

If Italy is to avoid disaster brought on by the right or left or a combination of both, then the center must achieve a discipline now woefully lacking. Something has to be done to make the trains run on time.

Bigger Oil Spill 49 Years Ago Caused No Fear For Environment

The massive oil spill in January that blanketed Marin beaches in ooze and imperiled thousands of birds remained at least one Independent-Journal reader of another spill almost 50 years ago.

The collision of two Standard Oil tankers in dense fog near the Golden Gate Bridge Jan. 18 dredged up memories for Santo Picone of 1140 Elm Drive, Novato.

In 1922, when Picone's father was the tender at Mile Rock Light, a Union Oil tanker, the Lyman Stewart, collided with the 10,000-ton freighter Walter Luckenbach.

That crash, too, was in dense fog in the Golden Gate, but the atmosphere surrounding the accident was much different.

ACCORDING TO the San Francisco Chronicle of Oct. 8, 1922, the tanker's captain pumped almost all of its three million gallons of oil into the water in an effort to save the crippled vessel. Less than one million gallons was spilled in the bay from the ruptured tanks of the Oregon Standard this year when it was rammed by a sister ship.

Nevertheless, the collision of the Standard Oil tankers was considered an ecological disaster; the 1922 wreck was almost a lark.

The Chronicle's headline on the story of the rescue of the crews read "Crew of wrecked ship lands safely, chilled and hungry, but still smiling."

"Cheerful" seamen told the newspaper that the experience was exciting. No mention was made of the effect on the environment.

In contrast, news coverage of the most recent oil spill concentrated on the effects of the oil slick on wildlife and beaches, and on the massive efforts to clean up.

THE NEWS of 1922 had other stories in common with 1971. The maxi-skirt was considered stylish, Greece was in the throes of a military dictatorship, pundits were predicting a world war in the Middle East because of the Jews, and the schools were strapped for money.

Less applicable today is the 1922 discovery that monkey gland operations restore one's youth.

Don't Expect The Thing To Last Without A Service Contract

WASHINGTON — In the world of planned obsolescence, the service contract plays a most vital role. There is hardly anything you can buy now that doesn't have a service contract to go with it.

The other day I went into my favorite department store to purchase a paper cup dispenser. It cost $1.50.

As the man was writing up the sales slip he said, "Would you like to have a service contract with this?"

"What for?" I asked.

"Well, it could break down and you would have to call someone to fix it. If you take out a service contract, which will only cost you $40 for the year, we would send someone to your house free of charge."

"BUT WHY WOULD you sell a paper cup dispenser that would break down in less than a year?"

"Please don't get me wrong. I'm not saying that this paper cup dispenser will break down. We've sold several of them that need no servicing at all. But our experience has been that the majority of the dispensers do cause trouble after frequent usage. Where did you intend to use this paper cup dispenser?"

"In the children's bathroom. They don't seem to ever rinse their glasses after they brush their teeth."

"Then you'll certainly need a service contract. These paper cup dispensers were not built to stand the punishment of children using them every day."

"BUT THERE IS a guarantee with the paper cup dispenser."

"That's only if it's used by a senior citizen three times a week. Of course, you don't have to take the service contract — it's strictly optional.

"But we know a dentist who installed one of our paper cup dispensers in his office and it broke down. It kept dispensing three paper cups at one time. He didn't have a service contract, so it took three months before we could get to him. By the time our man repaired the dispenser, the dentist had used $645 worth of paper cups, not to mention the $25 we had to charge him for the house call."

"BUT," I SAID naively, "it seems so unfair to sell someone a new product and then inform him it's liable to break down."

"On the contrary. We would be dishonest if we sold you the product and didn't inform you it would break down. These service contracts are for the protection of the customer. Two weeks ago a lady bought one of these paper cup dispensers and after two days, it wouldn't dispense any paper cups at all. She had to keep leaning over and trying to drink directly from the faucet. Fortunately, she had a service contract with us and we sent over a man right away. It turned out a sprocket spring behind the reject lever had slipped out of the three-way hook. He replaced it in an hour and all the lady had to pay for was the new parts.

"Except for a bad back she developed trying to lean over the faucet, it only cost her $12."

"I STILL DON'T understand why a reliable store like this would carry a paper cup dispenser that won't hold up."

"Well, frankly sir, we're not too fond of these paper cup dispensers ourselves. We don't even make any money on them."

"Then why do you sell them?" I asked angrily.

"Because," he said primly, "we make all our profit on the service contract, stupid."

Hub Town Meeting Plan Told

A series of gatherings in preparation for the annual San Anselmo Town Meeting have been announced by chairman Dr. Martin G. Blinder.

He said neighborhood meetings in at least 75 homes have been scheduled for Saturday so that residents can hash out topics for the town meeting May 8.

Each of the hosts will contact his neighbors to announce the time of his session, Blinder said.

In invitations mailed to each San Anselmo resident, the town meeting committee included six issues around which discussions may be focused.

They are growth, attitude toward new life styles, drug use prevention, responsiveness of government, the cost of government and improvement of recreational facilities.

From discussions of these and other issues raised by citizens at the grass roots meetings the discussion at the town meeting will be organized, Blinder said.

Taxpayer Suit In Subway Issue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A taxpayers' suit was filed Tuesday to force the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to construct a subway in San Francisco's West Portal District, instead of a downtown station.

The Superior Court suit was filed by attorney Thomas H. Crawford in behalf of four taxpayers who hold the district can not change the plans it offered in 1962 when bonds were voted to finance its three-county rail system.

In that issue, a subway was promised, to be operated in conjunction with BART by the city's Municipal Railway.

16-Year-Old Held In Burglary Suspicion

A 16-year-old Inverness Park boy has been booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of burglarizing a Point Reyes Station firm, Marin County Sheriff's Office reported yesterday.

Deputies said Andrew Evans of Vallejo Avenue was arrested after his wallet was found March 17 inside Building Supply Center, Second and A streets.

19 Included On Dean's List

Petaluma students with highest honors with a grade point average of 3.6 or better on 12 units of classes included James Roy Arnett, Harold C. Bard, Roberta Benjamin, Kenneth Billing, Sandra K. Collier, William Dickerson, Robert Freudenberg, Gloria B. Howe, Steve J. Kelly, Debra L. Matteri, William S. McCoy, Kathleen McSween, Linda D. Porter, James G. Tippit and Steven Zurilgen.

Marin County students on the highest honors list were Laureen Pisano of Novato, Charles Bruscino of Larkspur, Peggy M. Kimberly of San Anselmo and Henry W. Righetti of Tomales.

Three Petaluma Seniors Honored

Three Petaluma senior high school seniors have been selected as "Outstanding Teen-Agers of America" for 1971.

Douglas White, Wendy Dragoo and Jane Ringstad were nominated by Principal Dan E. Montgomery on the basis of their community service and academic achievement.

The students will compete for state and national recognition, including two $1,000 scholarships.

Six Stipends Are Offered By P-TA

Marin High School students interested in competing for six scholarships of $250 each should apply to their school counselors before April 15.

The stipends are offered by the Scholarship Association of the Marin County Parent-Teacher Association and may be used at a college or university, a trade school or other institution of higher learning.

The scholarship association was founded in 1928 and has awarded 121 grants to Marin students. Funds are obtained through special donations and from dues paid by P-TA members.

Septic Tank Proposal Set For New Homes

Two Marin officials explained last night that a proposed new septic tank ordinance is primarily aimed at new construction and not at 17,000 present owners as long as their present systems work.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows and William Desmond, director of environmental health, told a small audience of about 15 persons at Sir Francis Drake High School that annual inspections of all existing septic tanks are not planned.

Under the proposed ordinance, to be discussed by the supervisors on April 6, present owners will only be affected if their septic tanks fail, if they are reported as polluting creeks or their neighbors' property or if they wish to add additional bedrooms to their homes.

If any of these conditions occur, Barrows and Desmond conceded that the property owners would fall under the proposed legislation and would probably have to conform to new tougher standards for leaching lines and setbacks.

They would also have to pay an annual $20 fee for an inspection to determine if their tanks needed pumping, Desmond said.

He also explained that the ordinance is aimed at dealing with denser population in rural areas where septic tanks are common.

He added that in areas "with high rates of septic tank failures," it is the policy of his department to urge the residents to go to sewer systems.

Rarely, he said, has the county ever forced areas into unwanted sewage districts.

Barrows compared the new ordinance, proposed last year to billboard and sign ordinances, where amortization periods are allowed.

Teachers Question New Post

Teachers in the Mill Valley School District have asked Supt. James A. Collins why a new administrative post has been created in a year when educational programs have been cut.

Judy Mackenzie, vice president of the Mill Valley Teachers Association, said Collins has been asked to explain the action at a meeting of the group's executive board April 13.

The teachers are objecting to the reassignment of Betty Grimm, principal of Park School for four years, to an administrative post in the district office and her replacement by Dr. Logan Miles, formerly principal of Homestead School.

The change in assignment was approved March 8 by the school board on the recommendation of Collins.

"We want to know why the board and superintendent cut back educational programs last year and then created out of nowhere a job that will cost the district more money," Mrs. Mackenzie said.

Anti-Noise Bills To Legislature

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A car dealer filed a $1.5 billion antitrust suit Wednesday against the "Big Three" automakers and three car rental firms over the prices fleet users pay for vehicles.

James G. Diconstanzo of Dover, Mass., a Chrysler dealer, accused the defendants of conspiring to make fleet sales at prices so low they force up prices for nonfleet purchasers.

Diconstanzo filed his U.S. District Court suit on behalf of himself and all other dealers for Ford, General Motors, Chrysler, Hertz, Avis and National car rental.

He said that from 1963 to the present, discriminatory practices had cost dealers $500 million. He asked for treble damages under antitrust laws.

DiConstanzo said dealers were forced to sell and lease to fleet users on terms dictated by the manufacturer and this forced a rise in car prices to nonfleet users. In addition, he said, fleet users then sold some of their cars on the local new and used car markets at prices below those franchised dealers could meet.

State Rejects Larkspur Request For Land Lease

The California State Lands Commission has turned down a request from the City of Larkspur to lease state lands along the banks of Corte Madera Creek.

The city, which applied for the leases late last year, had been seeking to further its control over creekside development.

In a letter from the commission's state lands division to the city, the state says its policy is not to lease to public agencies who merely seek to increase their control over the lands.

Property owners adjacent to surplus state lands have first priority for leases, the state says, but cities have the right to control development and to protest the granting of such leases.

Further, the letter states, the applicant for a lease must supply the state with an environmental impact report on the effects the granting of a lease might have on the land's environmental makeup.

The city's decision to request the leases was spurred by a similar request to the state from property owner John Moran who has proposed using public lands along the creek for access to private boat docking facilities.

Water Beds Are Traced

A San Rafael water bed manufacturer has informed police that 15 water beds stolen from the firm in mid-January were being sold by a store in Tahoe City.

A spokesman for Real Peoples Plastic Co. of 1328 Fourth Street told San Rafael police that 15 water beds worth $225 have been traced to Tahoe City.

The location of the beds was discovered by a distributor of Real Peoples whose prices were being undercut by the Tahoe City company, the spokesman said.

SPRING FASHIONS 71

Where do we go from here!

Today's hot pants are a far cry from turn-of-the-century fashions. Credited with bringing women out of cumbersome clothes is the late Coco Chanel, whose classic designs never played the seesaw game.

Independent Journal
San Rafael, California, Thursday, March 25, 1971

Cotton Denim Is The Big Fabric For 1971 Status

Diamonds may be forever, but denim — cotton denim — is definitely the new status symbol for 1971.

Denim, in its most popular form, has been synonymous with jeans for years. It also is the sign of workmen's stiff looking pants and overalls. But as fashions change, so do fabrics, and with the advent of softer looking clothes for the seventies, denim is keeping up with the times. It has had its surface brushed or scrubbed to give a soft appeance. It is pleasant to touch and allows a new dimension in tailoring. And it is this denin, brushed denim. That is the answer to spring coats and jackets for Junior Gallery's designer, Nat Hirsch.

In the 1960's youth led the way in that everyone tried to look younger and emulate the young. Mr. Hirsch believes youth is still leading but in a different manner. Today the younger generation is looked upon and expected to set new trends, new standards and to create the total environment. Then the other generation adapts it accordingly. Nat Hirsch is convinced that the young set direction of society. He firmly believes fashion starts on the streets of the world and elevates from there, which is the antithesis of the path it used to follow.

THE COUTURE as it has existed is becoming less influential and important in designer Hirsch's eyes. Certainly, this decade's younger set is more involved in the ways of the world than the young were in previous generations. They have little or no concern for very expensive, label-conscious clothes. One's status might depend on how many patches a girl has on her jeans rather than what the label of her coat reads when it's draped over a chair. The word couture might well be associated with history as youth stands today.

Junior Gallery's realistic designer thinks brushed denim clothes are timely and that the look is right for the softer styles in which he believes. He adds that in the past he has usually worked with wool, even for spring, but this year there is a better way. Also, in this time of rising costs and inflation, brushed denim clothes can be well styled and trimmed at reasonable prices. The fashions Mr. Hirsch has created are atypical and would previously not have been considered denim stamping ground at all. His denim coats for Spring will sell for less than $55.

Another youth-inspired fashion innovation which started to gain in popularity last year is cartoon tops, comic strip jeans and more. Now appliques have taken over.

MATERNITY ENSEMBLE

Gaily printed pants with flowing, pleated legs and a tunic top in yellow, white and lavender printed voile are available at Marion's Maternity in San Rafael and Mill Valley. Without the pants the empire waist is a dress for warm spring day if you like the mini look.

Good Old Jeans Become Fancy Pants

Specialty jeans have become a uniform to the now generation. From freak to chic, all fashion starts here. Be it in old-friend denim (which will once again show its face this spring — starched, brushed and now in knits) or in the more elegant European influenced interpretations that can be worn to work, the boutique customer is making "basic Western" the best seller for every ocasion.

Plush velvets, velours, cotton suedes, canvas, corduroys, double knits and leathers are all coming out in a refined cowboy look. The styling trend leans toward French cut slight flares, but four patch pockets, bell bottoms and the 100-year-old cowpoke model will still be going strong. Patterning is intricate: Tiny florals, jacquards, stars. Fresh concept of color, from violet velvet to palest pastels.

Gentleman's jeans designed for the conventional man or woman. Jeans with special styling . . . an inch or two added where it counts to fit the average sportswear customer who likes the look of jeans. They come in a wide variety of dressy fabrics in typical dress slacks construction: double knits, linens, sleep poplins, polyester/worsted stripes — anything you'd expect in a better slacks line. The big difference, of course, is the way jeans details stand out. The wanted "extras" are still there: Front scoop pockets, back patch pockets with "X" stitching and a gentler flare in the leg. For the mainstream customer, the rise might be higher, but the jeans message can be heard loud and clear.

Return Of Polka Dots

Spring, heralds the return of the dot . . . big dots, little ones, and middle-sized dots. Not that this staple design ever really left; it's just turning up in new places, used in happy new ways.

You'll see polka dot trims on all major accessory items this spring, including footwear, A fresh, crisp look is achieved in basic sailcloth tie shoe. It's all white to the rubber sole and perked with polka dots in either red or navy, making you think of spring mornings and roses and sunshine.

The shoe is washable, and the wraparound dotted sole binding won't ever come off because it is permanently attached to the sole. About eight dollars the pair.

Fresh White Men's Suits

When it comes to coats and suits, men are due to be liberated from the heavy weights and somber colors of winter, as the fresh white suit emerges.

The white suit of the 70's has many of the style details of the 30's — such as extremely wide lapels, squared shoulders.

White doesn't necessarily mean pure white. It can run the gamut from cream to eggshell to sand.

Spring Fashion Showing Set At Northgate Theater

A "Premiere Performance In Spring" fashion show will be presented in the Northgate Theater, on the Northgate Mall, on April 1. Two complete shows, one at 11 a.m. and the other at 1:30 p.m., will be presented by the Merchants Association and the Marin Mannequin League.

More than 50 ensembles will be featured in the Mall's pre-Easter parade of fashions for the entire family. Emphasis will be on the nomenclature of today's styles which have, at times, become as confusing as enticing.

Children's styles, from prairie dresses to hot-pants, will depict the range of freedom which, more often evident in women's wear, will be clearly viewed in the world of new men's fashions.

Using the Northgate Theater as their showroom, the Mall merchants will take full advantage of the relaxed atmosphere to show their finest apparel.

Tickets to the "Premiere Performance In Spring" fashion show are free from any merchant on the Mall at Northgate. Interested persons may pick up tickets for the performance of their choice.

Hemlines? A Woman Decides

What about length?

The ups and downs of the hemline, a controversial question, appear to have been resolved — and in the most logical way.

How long — or short — a woman wears her skirts is up — or down — to her.

When members of New York's Fashion Group previewed spring styles, this view was succinctly stated by Lee Hogan Cass, Multiple Fashion Director, The Broadway department stores, California:

"We believe that, never again, should any woman be told what length to wear her fashions."

Today the fashion world unites in one opinion — which is that opinions about lengths may rightly be divided.

For spring, length is a matter of individual preference, and a variety of lengths is part of the fashion picture — with just a gentle suggestion that hemlines generally tend to be lower.

Not too surprisingly, these are the lengths most women have always favored, even in the heyday of the mini.

But there's room for all lengths, from the very longest to the very shortest, with the short-short pantsuit bidding to take over from the mini for late spring and summer, and the ankle-length peasant dress gliding in gracefully.

WHITHER HEM?

As to skirt lengths, 39-41" is pretty much the rule, with more extreme lengths reserved for lateday and evening. The angle length gown captures much interest for evening.

Some Brides Prefer Victorian

Regardless of changes in bridal fashions, weddings are occasions marked by love and joy.

But what about those fashion changes? Will spring's bride opt for a country wedding — a wedding in a green field, a woodland, a garden or even a city park?

She will — and she won't.

Many members of the young generation have, in recent seasons, chosen garden or country scenes for their weddings, with fashions to match. But many, perhaps most, brides still prefer the formal or almost-formal wedding, with traditional fashions.

So spring changes in bridal fashions take two directions.

The country or garden wedding inspires bridal gowns glowing with color or radiant with white and color.

Skirts, jumpers or pinafores plus blouses and gypsy or peasant dresses are two of the newer looks.

Most of these are meant to continue leading an active fashion life long after the wedding.

Fabrics are consistent with the country theme — pique, poplin, linen, gingham, dotted swiss, for instance.

Traditional bridal fashions also change, of course, and this spring the changes are seen in a turn toward the past. Wedding gowns reflect turn-of-the-century — or earlier — influences.

Spring's bride is a romantic, gowned with Victorian charm. Her old-fashioned airs become gently modern.

Spring's bride is a shepherdess, in wedding dresses of sweetness and simplicity. She expresses the peasant look in a more formal, yet more ethereal, manner.

Spring's bride is lovely. She may be young and demure, or young and sweetly sophisticated.

Fabrics for the traditional bride's gown are dainty and sheer or crisp in a way that combines simplicity and sophistication — taffeta, for example.

Color, via a touch of pink or yellow in embroidery or appliques, may enhance white.

The Clinging Lines Of Spring Fashions

Wool has become the brilliant translator for the American way of wearing clothes. The spring collections of American designers boast sheer wools, lightweight wovens and doubleknits, lending themselves admirably to the lithe, lightly clinging lines of fashion.

The long, newly proportioned silhouette returns to woman an aura of seductive mystery. She is freshly attractive in brighter colors, more concerned with fabric and the originality of detailed workmanship. Whatever the measurement from the floor - maxi, midi, and below the knee - each woman is adapting to it, styling fashion for the ocasion. The purity of fine wool fabric induces shape and design control.

The softly shaped concept of clothes in its spring 1971 guise includes many willowy dresses of sheer wool printed and pleated in knife or crystal style, producing a fascinating kaleidoscopic movement. The skirt is set upon a tiny bodice with neat shoulders from which sleeves emerge in many shapes - freely gathered and cuffed, narrowed and long, leg o' mutton or rounded from enlarged armholes.

MARVELOUSLY SLEEK, elongated wool skirts are combined with skinny ribbed wool knit sweaters creating a classic look which frequently substitutes for the elegant silhouette of the dress. Many feature cutouts and bands of padded stitching. Contrasting colored decorations make many a wool skirt a background in the manner of a painter's canvas. Monogramming of sweaters and solid colored challis shirts is a most becoming custom touch.

Knitted sportswear is unconventional such as the longshoreman's knitted top, cut to the waist and often baring the midriff. The little top worn with wool shorty shorts has a shapely impact upon sportswear. Flowered knitted prints blossom as baring halters combined with slender pants or flowing skirts deeply ruffled at the hemline.

The peasant influence is strongly rooted in fashion. Fabric colors, textures and patterns mixed in a skillful manner convey a spirited fashion attitude. Sleeves are traditionally puffed, necklines widely U-scooped and skirts gathered in dirndle effect. The decorative if sought is tucking, embroideries and naive little bows.

Running after the sweet and simple fashions is the witty, wooly workman's stylings such as gardener's aprons, mechanic's coveralls, busboy jackets and schoolboy blazers, all adapted for town wear in lightweight wool flannel, airy fleece, denim-like tricotine and wool fancies. Combined with turtle-necked sweaters, one can add a sleeveless vest with shoulder straps balanced at the bone or shapely skinny tops.

ANOTHER OF the great wool looks is the elegant walking suit worn with a widely brimmed felt hat and dashing printed scarf. Wool pants are everywhere, purely tailored a' la the late 30s seen with an infinite variety of sweaters, tunics and shirts, effectively combined with an unlined wool cape creating a costume look.

The classic suit and coat are newly figure shaping, defining the waist, releasing the skirt to a more stabilized hemline than of a year ago, just below the knee. Designers believe that pants with matching tunic-like dresses or overskirts color-keyed and coordinated with a fitted top will satisfy many women who love a new look but will not wear the very long midi and shy away from the wearing of boots.

Spring evenings are warmed by the beauty and styling of wool fashions for dressier ocasions. Backless knit dresses flow to high ankle bordered at the hemline by a giant ruffle or band of embroidery. Ruffles are seen on many coats intended for moonlit walks. Unlined and featherweight, flannel and fleece dominate the fashion scene.

The rising scale of color for wool predicts sunlit shades uuch as flesh pink, peach, apricot, apple green, bisque, lilac, marigold, baby blues to navy blue and stark white accented on occasion by black. The "look" is not monochromatic, but a mixture of three or four colors. Combine the predominant color with any two or three for a perfect blend of apparel whether it be wool knits, tweeds or sheerly woven fabrics.

New Trends In Clothes

Spring time and the fashions move in the mood.

The great jumpsuit on the beach, traveling or playing.

The midi robe for lengthy lounging.

The separates bodysuit, skirt, gaucho for lounging.

The tunic and pants together or separate by night.

The sleepers separates or the short tunic.

The playful gown long for sleeping or lounging.

The seductive slip short, longuette or mide.

The toga for sleeping or sunning.

SLITHERING JEWELS

Sprucing Up The Male For Spring

Men's dress shirts bloom. In fabric, coloration, pattern as well as styling, there will be bold new ideas and updated variations on old themes. Durable press will have completed its transition from a functional extra to being a part of the fashion theme. Many shirt manufactureer will be out for Spring with knit dress shirts in exact sizings.

SPORT-SUITS are designed in the new concept of relaxed clothes that can swing from the office to weekends and anyplace in between. The idea began with the vest and tunic suit, added safari bush coats and "peace jackets" and now sport-suits move into high gear with sportswear versions of Easy Suits.

For spring, outerwear comes through with matching or coordinated pants. "Tops" include raincoats, casual coats, country jackets. The fabrics: Canvas, nylon, linen, geometricweave cottons and texturized polyester twill. To this, add double knits.

CUSTOM-SHOP LEATHERS appears in every item in sportswear for spring '71. Stylized on jumpsuits, western jeans or safari styled sport coats, leather lends itself to everything and has unlimited appeal to the boutique customer around the calendar. The fringe that started it all in the oddball shop seems to be gone for good. In its place, the most popular variations on a skin are in patchwork reptile (vests to bags to boots).

SHIRT-SUITS revive an idea from the '30s when slack suits were a national hit. Last year the idea began again; now the suit is more important with new "units" plus extra uses for the shirt.

There are "shirts" doubling for lightweight outerwear in a wide variety of styles, longer shirt-jacs (or outsider shirts), zip-front shirts in heavier fabrics and pullovers that look great with an overbelt. The idea still is to coordinate the shirt with the pants, there's a choice of knit tops, same-weight tops or lightweight versions in the same woven or printed pattern. Shirt-suits also form the core of a wardrobe of match-or-not items with a series of "tops" and "bottoms" to match, contrast or stand alone.

Cycling Sends Fashion Designers Back To Their Sketching Boards

Bicycling, as the fastest-growing participation sport in America, has sent many fashion designers to their sketch boards to dream up exciting togs for the fashion-conscious bikers. Clothes for cycling can be versatile, they claim, and flattering.

Two current fashion favorites for the young-at-heart wed ideally to cycling, providing extra warmth for legs on spring days which can go from chilly to nilly. Gaucho trousers, when combined with high stretch boots, and bright, shimmery bolero jackets are practical and comfortable. Gauchos are a longer variation of the culotte, which like bloomers and pedal-pushers, credit their introduction to the need for practical cycling togs. Pantsuits "took" . . . are comfortable for spring biking, but devotees of the style are advised by the Bicycle Institute to avoid widely-flared or bell bottoms which couldbe an unnecessary safety hazard.

Lightweight sweaters with turtlenecks are practical for cycling; as body temperature increases sweater sleeves can be pulled up and bolero vests tossed in the bike basket.

Incidentally, mothers might like to make simple conversions of discarded tweed pants into attractive knickers for youngsters of cycling age. Pants are snipped just below the knee, gathered in an elasticized cuff (or belted with excess trouser material) and combined with high-rise hose and Mary Janes for a snappy outfit. Knickers for cycling are extremely popular with fashion leaders of both sexes. And in New York, young men and their dates often match their sox to their bikes.

Men have not been passed over by designers, either. Pierre Balmain, whose Paris showroom is world renowned recently designed a tweed knicker suit for gentlemen with battle jacket meant to be worn with a scarf at the neck and matching knee boots in the same fabric.

The Opaque Leg Still Important

The opaque leg is much more important than last spring. The colorful leg is stronger, clearer than last year. Colors that pick up the new limpid tonalities of spring fabrics are textured legs subtle lightweight textures, some of them in white-with-color mixtures that create the feeling of denim. The spot patterned leg not large patterns but delicate little patterns placed at different levels of interest.

The tip-top look includes lighter weight bodysuits and two-piece bodystockings in lighter weight knits: bra-pantyhose coordinates that beautify the young body.

WHAT'S NEW

Hot Pants May Be Financial Saviour To Manufactueres

By PATRICK McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) All along Sventh Avenue, heart of the nation's garment district, clothing makers are doing cartwheels over hot pants.

The glee indicates that hot pants fever among customers may be just the financial shot in the arm the industry needs to orbit it out of the fiscal doldrums — induced when the midi failed to make cash registers ring last fall.

A survey of industry sources shows acceptance of hot pants nationwide within several months of their introduction in fashion centers of the world is a phenomenon unique in American fashion history.

Virginia Bencid, of Bobbie Brooks, a giant among sportswear manufacturers (expecting to do $100 million in sales this year), said:

"These things, new items, usually catch on in the big metropolitan areas first on the East and West Coasts — and take a year to reach the hinterlands. Not so —ith hot pants We're astounded."

AMONG MANY firms the reordering is so frenetic that shipments are running late. Some manufacturers are making the fashion item in any fabric they can get their hands on.

When shipments run late in the industry, it's a sure sign of a runaway success. At Carol Curtis Sportswear, Larry Merzon, sales manager, said shipments on orders placed this week won't be made until April.

"We've shipped thousands already and it's the biggest thing we've ever experienced in business for over 20 years," he said. "We're happy, happy, happy."

RUDI GERNREICH, one of the first among American designers to introduce hot pants last November, in a collection for Harmon Knitwear, apparently was right on target.

Carolyn Cohen, head of sales at Harmon, said safari hot pants sets at $105 are moving out very well. That price is the highest among hot pants outfits encountered during the check of industry sources.

Moving just as welll is a Gernreich vertically striped set for really hot days. The tank top bares the middle. For $50 one gets with this outfit matching ankle socks.

Anne Klein, designer of couture sportswear, put hot pants in the line five weeks ago and they're "doing fantastically." Prices range from $25 to $5, sizes four to 14, and all fabrics.

At Jonathan Logan, another giant in the sportswear field, the report is the same. The most popular price range is $10 to $15.

There's even interest in hot pants at firms catering to fashion tastes of the mature woman —over 25 and in sizes up to a missy 14, which is larger than a petite or junior 14.

One of these, Pantempos, said the version for the mature woman comes with matching skirt that buttons up the front.

EVENING ELEGANCE

The tiny midriff glitters on this ankle length evening gown with poetically full sleeves. An elegant look for a spring evening.

THEY'RE WRAPPED

Wrap coats shape spring. Many have narrowed tops, belts and full, swingy skirts.

IT'S NATURAL

Look What Woman Can Wear For Spring

The spring 71 woman is one of a kind. She's concerned and involved, seeing her clothes as an extension of her personality. She can go to fashion extremes, handling a tough job in real work clothes or getting ahead in drifting ankle-length dresses.

Unafraid of convention, she wears pants any time, anywhere; long skirts in the daytime, jeans at night. She'll be elegant and sensuous in soft chemise shapes or proletarian in peasant costumes. But every look will be thought through, put together in her own special way.

This spring, it's the spirit that counts. It's the time to enjoy being a girl in soft pastel colors and weightless fabrics that drift over the body. It's the time to get down to business in nonsense denims, to choose the hemline that's right for your life.

SOFTNESS IS the key work in shape, fabrics and details. The silhouette skims the body to the hips, then swings out in pleats, bias flares, ruffles or gathers. The bodice is relaxed and blouson or sweater-sleek, stealing the show with capelets, dolman sleeves or shoulder interest.

For every spring mood, there's a hem length. The elegant conservative length is knee-to-midi. The ankle length is newest, youngest and not for everyone. Short pants, slits and button-front skirts continue the leg show above the knee.

Spring ushers in the dress with a fresh 1971 look. All the great themes of the past are here in soft, fluid fabrics that show the body and move beautifully, telling the same story a brand new way. Newcomers have important details and plenty of fashion personality.

The shirtdress takes a long spring lease in soft fabrics and new lengths. It's an antidote to an overdose of clutter and costume and adapts to any new trend from peasant to blouson. Sweeping the ankle, it has lace trim, full sleeves, ruffles and chemise shapes.

The two-piece peplum dress, the soft body dress, the peasant dress are other looks making soft waves with smocking, tucking and draping. The big dolman sleeve, the butterfly sleeve and capelet sleeves are armed with fashion points.

SEPARATES ARE the way to get together a one-of-a-kind look. Anything goes, from hard-hitting denims to long ruffled skirts. The pants panorama spans all age groups, all fashion territory. There are day and evening looks for every pants style from ruffled petticoat pants to overalls. All the big fall pants looks carry on for spring. New short pants crop up in warmer weather.

The jeans theme is the most important pants look. For the young overalls and heavy workclothes looks are the way to get involved. Jeans and overalls dress up in velvets, satins; dress down in denim, calico, prints, tie-dye, corduroy and unusual fabrics. On top goes the skinny T-shirt, the ribbed sweater or a knit body shirt. Real laborers add a peasant swirl.

Jumpsuits and knickers gain momentum for spring. The newest jumpsuits are treated almost like dresses, paired with sleeveless vests, tunics and jackets. Bare cutout jumpsuits take the night trip. Knickers bloom for spring with wider legs, with flower prints, some reaching all the way to the ankle.

Straight pants are an alternative to longer skirts for women of all ages. Paired with tunic tops, long vests and jumpers, they become a sophisticated city daytime look. Gauchos are other ways to bridge the pants — long skirts gap. Side slits, side pleats and petticoat flounces are witty ways with pants.

An alternative to pants? The long ankle-length skirt, ruffled, tiered or flounced is a young sportswear look now.It's sexy, baring the navel, with a tiny sweater or calypso-tied top. It's pioneer in madras ruffles or calico. It wraps, slits or unbuttons for more exposure.

THE FASHION conscious woman can choose a pantsuit with any of the new pants looks teamed with a short jacket, short cape, blazer or soft, belted jacket. Skirting the issue, the new soft suits heralds the return of relaxed elegance, with cropped or bloused jackets, skirts in motion.

Coats go long and lean or have a new dimensional fullness. The main coat shape is close to the body with a flaring skirt. The kimono and the caftan have inspired fuller shapes. Capes are the softest ways to wrap up, going all the way from short elbow capelets to floor-sweeping burnooses. The bathrobe wrap coat and the reefer are updated this season with slimmer lines.

Long evenings are the rule this spring and the below-the-calf to ankle lengths set a soft, romantic scene. But there's plenty of action with fabulous prints, new low necklines, bare evening jumpsuits and slinky "Gilda" dresses. The spring woman upstages her dress, keeps the look of innocence with melting chiffons, organdies and voiles, lace trim. Peasants are less costume-y. The strapless and the halter are the ways to bare it. The narrow jersey top with bold geometric patterned skirt is the separates way to dress up. Feminists will wear all the great pants looks in the evening fabrics.

Spring fabrics talk soft or tough. Natural is new, anything handloomed, homespun, pioneer or rough and ready. Denim is the undisputed leader, varied with brushed surfaces, herringbone patterns, tie-dyes and twills. Canvas, calico, gingham and burlap are other toughies. Madras returns in non-classic sportswear. Menswear looks in jacquard wools and polyesters are important.

The softies are fluid knits, crepe de chine, georgette, chiffons, silk or matte jersey, chamois and cashmere. Lightweight cottons, voile and organdy are super-femme fabrics. Leathers are everywhere, especially suede. Pastel leather, tie-dyed effects and brushed suede are this-season looks.

PRINTS SPRING up everywhere in small geometrics, figuratives, brilliant abstracts, Matisse colors. The small-scale prints are most improtant. Indian themes, provincial patterns, border prints, polka dots, pioneer prints are a few trends. Animal, fish, butterfly and bird prints are ecology motifs. Hearts, florals and stars are other themes.

Spring comes in bright, clear and fresh, wiping away the muddy tones. Orchard pastels, mint green, purple and peach are on the light side. Brightening up the palette are Matisse colors, tart orange, electric blue. Knowing no season are shades of navy, brown and white, black and white, bone, denim blue and camel.

The fashion conscious woman knows how to make a strong statement with accessories. She's in touch with the environment, chooses natural materials, handcrafted looks. She's romantic, with fragile Victorianisms. She lets her mind wander to faraway places, to fantasies. It's the personal touch that counts, and she puts together her own one-of-a-kind look.

Hats are brimming over with personality. The big hat returns, taking on every mood from garden party to cowboy. It balances the longer skirt, dashes cavalierly over capes, dips softly over the new fluid fabrics. Giant panamas, turned-up brims and long plumes take the spotlight. Soft heads turn to cloches, tight-fitting caps, berets, flower touches and veils.

Jewelry that spells out fashion mood is exotic and ethnic in African beading, Indian themes, primitive motifs, unusual materials like shells, feathers, rope, cork, suede or wood. Other looks are Victorian in chokers, cameos, butterflies, hearts, ivories and macrame. Extrawide cuff bracelets, bibs of many different kinds of beads, tassels and neck fringes are other trends. Chokers are still very important, the newest having base-of-throat interest via dangling pendants or tassels.

BELTS SPELL out the new individuality. Wide belts are almost a craft story themselves. Many are hand painted with intricate designs or apliqued with suede, velvet, cork and leather. Wide beaded belts and macrame belts are other stories. All the new "natural" materials and denim looks are wrapping the waist. Chain ropes with colored tassels or hanging ornaments are narrow belt looks.

The natural trend carries over into handbags, where the newest materials are denim, canvas, burlap, rope and wood. Crinkle patent shines on another season. The shapes are soft in un-constructed leathers, body bags, shoulder bags, carpet bags. Bands of chrome trim add flash. The fun bag with novelty appliques and embroidered bag are individualistic looks. The dressy clutch goes out for evening.

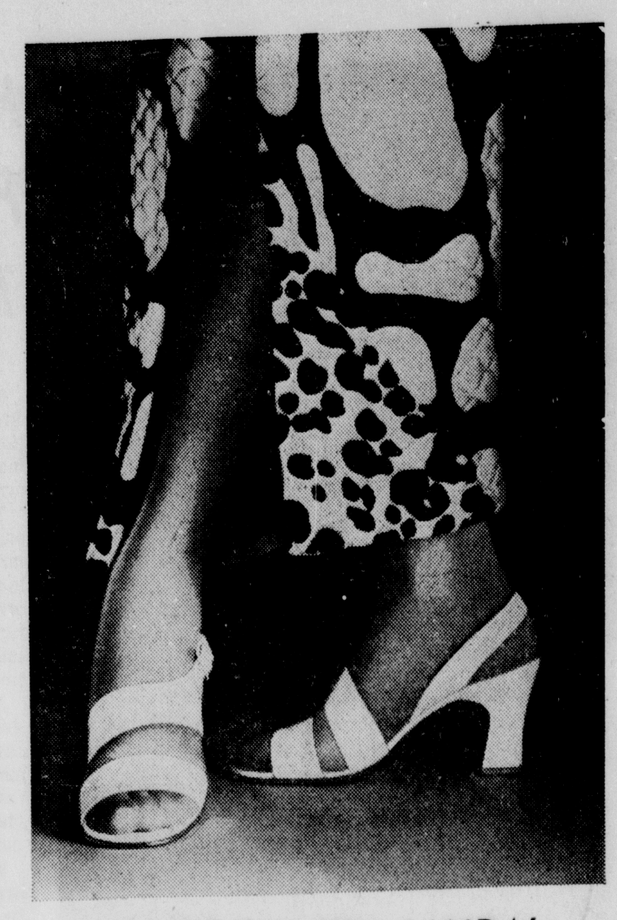
Hosiery provides excitement below the hemline. Leggings give the booted look in brocade, corduroy, suede cloth or tapestry. Subtle vertical patterns lengthen legs under long skirts. Side patterns, pinstripes and clocks are long leg looks. Good sports wear the denim look in opaque hose and tweedy overall patterns. Hosiery colors are springtime fresh pinks, violet, peach, pastels or they tune in with footwear in light neutrals, camel, soft beige, off white. Body stockings are one way to get the skinny-top look with long skirts. They can give a bare halter effect or stretch from turtle neck to toe. Others are trimmed with ruffles to look like a blouse.

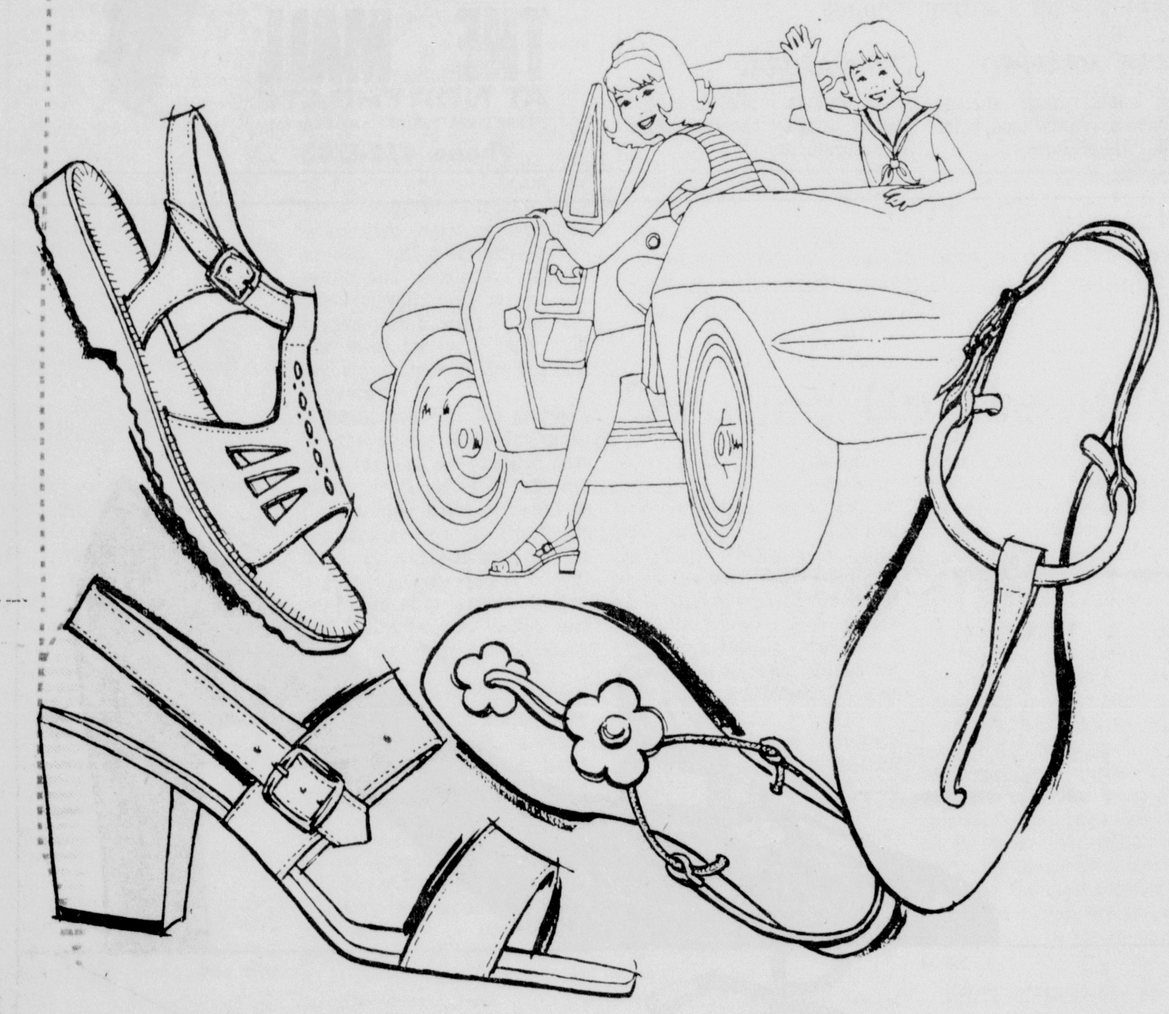
Shoes are a strong footnote to spring fashions. The trend is to focus on the ankle, rather than the toe, with straps, sandals and lacings. Wide-open toes with ankle straps, open-throat ghillies and flat-flats are some long-skirt looks. Sandals come in infinite variety with pastel suede the newest look.

Boots are still important. Designers see them marching right into summer in open-toe "no-boot" boots, cut out like sandals. Fabric boots are a trend, in all the naturals - canvas, burlap, denim and linen. Tough work boots complete the work clothes outfits. Other casual looks are espadrilles, novelty sneakers, mesh shoes, fringy sandals and soft flexible moccasins. The saddle shoe returns with the jeans look. The spring materials on foot are pastel suedes, natural fabrics mesh, tie-dye leather. Smoothies are crinkle patent and satin kid. Snakes are newest trimming suede and fabrics.



SOPHISTICATED SANDAL

Styled by Life Stride, this sandal has a Grecian influence with graceful, swirly straps that do interesting things on the side. Set on a curvy, high rising heel, it comes in lilac, bone, white and black patent at Chapman's Shoes stores in San Rafael and Novato.



ON THE GO AT HOME

Red, White, Blue Lead

Red, white and blue lead the color spectrum in a classic springtime manner.

On their own, two by two or in trio, these colors personify spring.

All colors, pale to bright and bold, mix marvelously. And so do patterns and solids.

Denim Applique

An appliqued denim shoulder bag is blue denim with white leather appliques and a silver snap.

FOR MOTHERS-TO-BE

Comfort is the key in this lightweight acrylic dress by Toni Lynn available at the Mother-To-Be Shop on the Northgate Mall. The chic navy dress has a white pique collar and red, white and navy trim.

Basic Shapes Are Sparked By Color

Spring is surely going to bloom bright and bold, if new dresses have their way.

The fashion plot favors femininity, fun and excitement. Silhouettes, from the slim and supple curve to the full and flattering flare, seem simple — deceptively so, for colors, fabrics and details spark these basic shapes, enthusiastically.

Two old favorites, the coatdress and the shirtdress, return to the spring scene in new guises. For both, fresh treatments of the long, frequently full sleeve appear as distinctive features.

Fitted bodices of shirtdresses highlight their pinched-in, belted waists and defines waists lead the way to full skirts that take every cue for motion. Those important long sleeves are often puffed.

Supple fabrics such as crepe and jersey are draped along slender but curvy lines, while full-sleeved, full-skirted dresses show shape by fitted shirred midriffs.

Folklore fosters a variety of dresses flavored with nostalgia and with looks derived from many people and places — the peasant, the pioneer, the Old West, the American Indian, South of the Border.

For every influence out of the past, there's feminity to match — witness a wealth of embroidery, ribbons, bows, demure while collars and cuffs and sleeves that are not merely puffed but leg o'mutton in shape.

MORE MAKEUP

New faces for spring. For years the natural look has been the fashion look. Now it takes a back seat to the dramatic, more theatrical, more costumed. From a well scrubbed look we go to a more carefully madeup face. Suddenly the mouth is the beginning of a colorful explosion that promises to work its way toward the cheeks, the eyes, the brows.

PONCHO'S PRIME

Solid color pants in a ribbed nubby boucle match the wide stripes of the mitered hooded poncho in a wool sweatery knit. The colors are white, aubergine, gold, brown and red for the pants and red/blue, brown/gold and aubergine/green on an eggshell background on the poncho. Both are from Sweater Bee by Banff.

WRAPPED UP FOR SPRING

Day shawls, fun shawls, night shawls, wool shawls, silk shawls, romantic shawls and gypsy shawls are all part of the natural look in sportswear for spring. The sporty day shawl by Echo Scarfs, left, is made from popcorn wool imported from France. With its detailed border and knotted fringe it can make the transition from day to evening, wrapped with a dramatic flourish draping and encircling the wearer in fringe. Right, a fringed double triangular fish net shawl, also by Echo, is made in Italy of a synthetic fiber. Wear it to a party to dress up sports clothes or over hot pants and halter or on the hips over a long, ruffled skirt and peasant blouse for a country girl look.

NO MORE UNISEX

The He-She Look Is Back In Shoes

Looking over new leather footwear for spring, one thing is clear. The unisex "he-she" look is out and the "she-she" look is in, as shoe fashions project a more romantic, more sensuous image, one that is truly feminine.

Checkpoints adding up to this new feeling in footwear include lots of openings in pumps, sandals, ties; cleaner, lighter hardware; more leather used as trim; more elegant pump looks; slimmer, more shaped heels and rounder toelines.

Pumps have a newer-than-new air. It's partly their higher slimmer heels, partly the openings at sides, backs and toes and partly their pretty trim.

Such decoration might be a bit of draping at the instep, a bow or buckle perched at the vamp, a scalloped or piped throatline or a set-in piece in a different color or leather lying at the instep.

A sprinkling of straps spans the instep of some new pumps. Both casual and tailored daytime pumps use strap motifs in single or multi-strap versions.

When pumps feature tongue treatment, a gentler touch may also be discerned. Although some tongues still stand up to be counted, many more now are designed to lay flat or have been cut down.

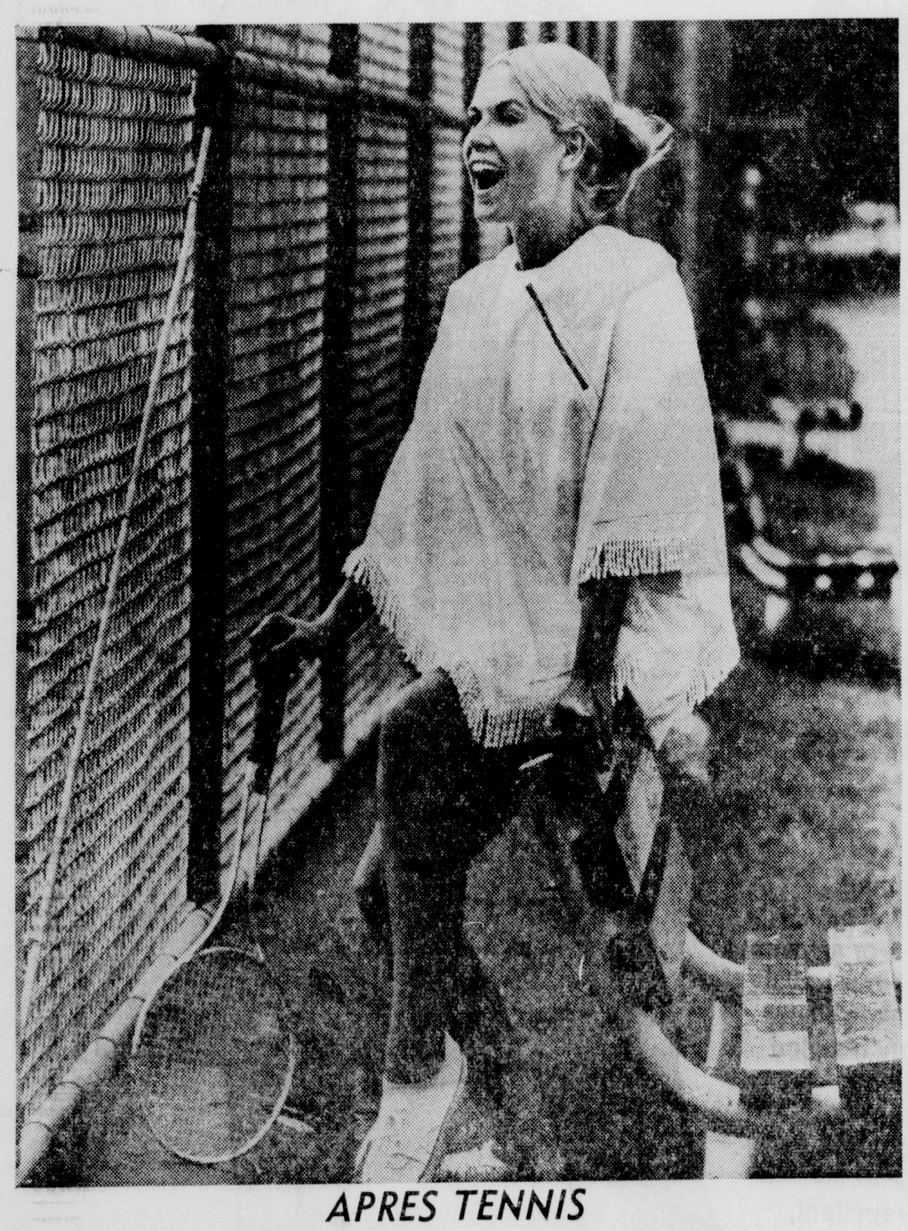
There are also "bare midriff" sandals featuring closed toe, open back, and broad band over an exposed instep.



APRES TENNIS

The poncho is designed for a cozy feeling after a hot tennis session. Made of fine quality, minimum shrinkage terry cloth, the poncho has a fringed edge and a dark zipper at the neck. In white, it has navy saddle stitching. The terry knit is dacron and orlon with 2 per cent shrinkage by Point Set at all Stan's for Sports stores.

Belts Trim Waists In New Looks

New leather belts and sashes, casually informal to elegant, seem to be indispensable to the look of the 70's in fashion.

Cinching the most fashionable waists are grained and smooth textures, harness, antiqued, suede, waxy, embossed, brushed, real patent leather and others.

Heavy with grommets, brass studs or other hardware, flying with fringe, studded with natural rock, or heavily buckled in metal — it could be a winner.

Sporty sashes in rugged leathers are also seen. Then there are narrow sashes with fringe or tassels, sometimes strung with beads.

Leather cut in triangles, squares, ovals and circles can be found alternating with brass plates or chains, centered with coins or gold script, inside metal rings, and forming other designs.

Belts of suede, "reptile" - embossed, polished smooth, patent or hair-on calf leather add distinction to dressy costumes. Jewels, self-leather bows, touches of gold or silver predominate as decorative accents.

Hand-painted designs or embroidered motifs on leather, cloisonne and enamel buckles dress up slim leather belts with a new note.

Drapability And Fabric Texture

Woolen and wool-blend fabrics for spring will be softer than ever, with a new emphasis on texture and drapability Hand woven and rustic looks are in; classic checks and plaids remain strong.

The easy-care synthetics have been improved to give them a softer hand, when blended with wool.

Knits are the biggest story for Spring, and there are all kinds, in pure wool and wool blends.

Knits On The Pants Scene

Pants and knits seem to go together.

Polyster knits, denim knits and cotton knits arrive for spring pantsuiting.

MILK GLASS PUMPS

shine in fashionable circles. Pillars of heel, slender cutout-spattered toes and slim ankle straps have longuette leanings... but these styles are decidedly beautiful, no matter what skirt length you choose!

TANZANITE

TANZANITE was discovered at the foot of Mt. Kilimanjaro, Tanzania, in 1967 by an amateur prospector named Manuel d'Sousa. Harrassed by smugglers, until his death in 1969, the output has been diverted and limited. Now the Tanzanian government has stepped into the matter and the future supply of this gem is unpredictable. Masai tribesmen living in Tanzania used to pick up the stones because they liked the rich blue color that gave off sparkles of red and purple. TANZANITE is the first natural gem discovery in fifty years and is shown in very few stores in this country.

Clothes To Pack For Travels

Planning a late spring-summer trip to Europe? It's not too early! The travel folders are spread out before the fireplace while winter winds still blow, all beckoning toward a long-dreamed-of vacation in Europe come warm weather and thoughts of a new summer wardrobe.

A 12 per cent increase of summer passengers to Europe is forcasted, and the majority of first-time travelers prefer to take group trips in order to have many of the details of a trip taken care of while they are getting acquainted with Europe. This calls for informal go-everywhere, easy-to-care for clothes. Highlights of the new travel clothes will be found in the area of knits. The year 1971 heralds a turning point for sportswear with a more subjued and easy feeling of classics. Skirt lengths will be about a knee point, making packing and walking easier. Some dress manufacturers are making suits with both skirts and pants, ideal for day-long wear in cities and countryside. The suit look with skirts is an important one for the coming season.

Other highlights for the 1971 spring summer travel wardrobe include rainwear, with double-duty raincoats becoming increasingly important as a cover-up, particularly for the cool, northern countries of Europe where sudden showers spring up. Choose one with a plain color on one side to match your knit travel suit and a print on the reverse side to wear over dresses in the evenings.

If you're joining the young, swingy crowd in a fashionable resort area, such as the French Riviera or on a Greek Island, you'll want to pack a pair of those short shorts which are so popular this season. They're good for the city scene, too, if covered with an ankle-length split skirt and halter or dressy top. Knickers for sport or evening loom large in the fashion picture, particularly with the younger set.

With many of last year's frills and ruffles eliminated and the classic look prevailing, particularly in sportswear, your summer travel wardrobe should be as simple and packable as possible. Coordinates — prints with solid colors, boldly printed silks, cottons and Quiana which folds like a dream with nary a wrinkle, look well anywhere.

The new handcrafted accessories in handbags, jewelry and wide belts will add zest to your travel wardrobe. Three pairs of shoes should suffice, provided they've been selected with a view to color coordination. Comfortable low-heeled, heavy soled walking shoes for exploring cobblestone city streets and evening sandals, perhaps with the new higher, more feminine heel will be sufficient to carry you through a two or three week vacation and still pack in a minimum of space. Take packable bedroom slippers, of course, and flat-heeled beach sandals to wear with your beachwear and coverups.

Other accessories should include a light-weight all-purpose robe, nylon lingerie, several pairs of matching hosiery, sun glasses (and extra prescription for reading glasses "just in case",) scarves and a light-tweight head covering for church or to ward off the sun's rays.

NO DRESS-UP

Dressing-down for Spring. "Dress up" has become a dirty word in the young men's market. Suits and sport coats are looked on as necessities to be worn only on certain occasions. For day to day wear, young men want comfortable, fun items. And manufacturers are answering this demand with lots of shirt suits, knit coordinates, basic and fancy jeans and bright colorful shirts.

Here's Guide To Wig Care

One of the main reasons for the popularity of modacrylic wigs and hairpieces is their carefree maintenance. Minimum attention is necessary to keep them ready-to-wear.

Here are some wig-care guidelines.

Wash hairpieces after every seven to 10 wearings.

Remove tangles and accumulated hairspray by brushing before each shampoo.

Use a mild shampoo, or one especially designed for modacrylic hairpieces. Wash the wig thoroughly, using cold water and a gentle dipping and squeezing motion.

After shampooing, blot lightly with a towel.

The final step is to place the wig on a plastic foam block, allowing it to air-dry.

It's best not to brush or comb hairpieces while wet, or too close to the foundation of the wig.

Avoid using a hairdryer and wearing wigs in a very hot kitchen. Modacrylic hairpieces are non-flammable, but any excessive heat can distort and frizz the hairstyle.

Costume Look Calls For Cape

Costumes are budding this spring with soft, easy and very feminine movement. Every step is a swish, flare or swirl of fabric.

Along with softness, traditional shaping plays a large role in costume styling. Classic, straight, sharp lines converge at right angles everywhere.

Slits high on the front or side seams, scalloped hems and irregular hem cut-outs update costume tailoring as a distinctive modern day trademark.

Versatility keys the costume and its many looks. New approaches blend with conventional tailoring to create a wide costume scope.

Some costumes literally wrap things up for spring. Tie belts surround waists on dresses and/or their accompanying coats. Skirts and tops link up with a belt, in threesomes that include a jacket or coat.

Wrap coats cover dresses in coordinated prints or solids. Bright colors and understated pastels come together with true team spirit.

Short capes, long capes and some boleros match dresses in a new-time harmony. The rhythm is smooth and free flowing.

Elongated workshirts, with pockets everywhere, appear in coat versions.

Sleeveless coats, over dresses, allow for dramatization of the full sleeves that dresses show.

Reefers and other coat classics keep spring on a steady course with new details.

Polyester knits and jersey knits compete for attention. Both have fine drapability qualities that translate natural motion into costume fashion.

Denim characterizes sportive costumes. It flavors short, fitted jackets and skirts with easy-care casualness.

Off the beaten path, for the fashion individualist, blanket size shawls spark a new costume dimension. Fringing combines with a carefree shoulder hug to capture a frolicking gypsy mood.

SPRING BRIDE

At the Emporium spring brides will find a large selection including this gown by Exquisite. The ivory organza is heavily beaded and frosted with peau d' ange lace appliques. Its sleeves are flared, and the detachable train is also appliqued and bowed.

WASHABLE, VERSATILE

From Livingston Bros., the newest store on the Northgate Mall, comes a softly ruffled dress in lilac and coral shades in misses sizes. In a sheer polyester voile it is cool, totally washable and always wrinkle free, even when worn all day from a luncheon to a club meeting into the evening for cocktails and dinner.

Pants A Mainstay Of The Wardrobe

Pants have come a long way from the gardening-house-work-car pool routine. Their fashion potential, along with their easy-going manner, has cast them in a far more important role.

Pants are a wardrobe mainstay. They set women free from concern or controversy about lengths — and free to express their fashion personalities, with comfort and with all the mix-and-match, switchabout qualities that have long made separates indispensable.

Pants star on every day and nighttime scene. There are pants costumes with matching coats or jackets, pants with long sleeveless vests or jerkins, pants with tunics, pants with ribby sweaters, bouffant blouses or tailored shirts, pants with boleros.

After dark, pants step out topped by tunic dresses or soft, sheer blouses.

The shapes are as many and varied as spring in fashion. Long, lean, limber and straight-legged is a favorite direction, but the fullness, fit, flare and femininity of new-season styles is amply represented, too.

Some bell bottoms appear, while other pants take flounces, tiers, ruffles and, especially for late day, soft shirring. Or, like skirts, pants are slit to show the leg.

The jumpsuit, once relegated to indoor leisure wear, now leads a busy day-and-night life almost everywhere. It may enter on its own, or pair up with a jacket or an over-skirt.

There are even dressy versions of the bib-overall or suspender look for the jumpsuit.

The gaucho continues. Pulled together with turtle-top, belt and boots — plus a matching bolero — it promises to gain in popularity.

Very newsy this spring is the knicker. Young and lithe, it appears by day in such sportive fabrics as corduroy, polyester and cotton knits, by night in panne, crepe and other supple textures.

Jeans go gancy, in calico prints that team up quite naturally with peasanty tops and very feminine blouses, and in just about every other fabric imaginable.

Now that denim's a dress-up fabric, of couree it's right for the fancier jeans.

Shorts Not High Style — Bohan

PARIS (UPI) — The Christian Dior salon rejected shorts from its spring high fashion collection opening even though it started the current shorts craze in its ready-to-wear show in October.

Dior's chief designer, Marc Bohan, does not consider shorts as high fashion and does not plan to make any shorts. His look is "neither mini or maxi," but designed to make women "look feminine, young and elegant again."

Bohan said in early January he planned to make his spring outfits end just below the knee, a length also chosen by Hubert de Givenchy in his collection. The other younger, more lively designers around Paris have decided to stick with a longer look except when it comes to shorts. In general, hemlines in the Paris spring shows wandered all over the leg from mini-mini to maxi.

Jean Patou's cuffed wool shorts were worn with little, men's ties, jersey tops and hip-length fuzzy wool jacket-coats.

EASE, DASH

Fabrics Are Softer, More Fluid For '71

Come spring and summer, skirts will get longer by day and night and pants will get shorter for active or spectator sports. Look for . . . brief short-shorts with bras or T-shirts, or the Bermudas and Jamaicas, and a revival of the old clamdiggers (pedal-pushers, in the lexicon of the Fifties).

And they're new.

First versions may include long cover-ups, like the maxi coat over short set which combines the two extremes in length; like the new-again one-piece short playsuit, perhaps with a matching overskirt that goes to the knee or ankle.

California, long the sportswear center, accents active sportswear. True, the current vogue toward ethnic, peasant or gypsy looks is fun and fanciful but the crisp, brisk styling of shorts is a natural.

Ready for Picking

Good picking now are grapes and plums, tasteful new colors in men's sportswear. One daring combination is a grape geometric-patterned shirt worn with grape velvet jeans.

Belts Likely Biggest In Accessory Market

Accessories have come into their own; they have become absolute necessities to pull a look together. One dress, accessorized with the multitude of exciting accessories available, can become a wardrobe of different looks, just by switching moods with fashion accessories.

Belts are probably the biggest item. Great huge smooth and sueded leather belts, four to five inches wide, trimmed with grommets, nailheads and conchos, laced up with leather thongs, or appliqued and painted with butterflies or hearts and flowers. Colorful and plush tapestries and cut velvets also appear in belts and carry through to huge matching shoulder bags. But the most exciting look we've found in belts is the rare and expensive macromae.

This process of knotting and twisting cord is very costly and hard to come by, so, if this is not available in your store, try the nearest substitute, hand crocheted or woven belts. Another beautiful item found in the belt area is of clear plastic beads, worked into patterns and "custom made" to widths of one to five inches.

Youth Into Earthy Clothes

Gypsy peasantry, Roumanian folklore, Western frontier spirit, South of the Border verve and Aztec or American Indian influences step out of the past and into today.

Little girl pinafores, Gibson Girl silhouettes and sailor boy outfits have big impact.

Long, lean and lively looks become part of the total junior image, as do fit and flare fashions. Easy-wear styling is an essential factor.

Lace collar and sleeve trims, ruffles, tiers, rick-racking and slits spice the old-time airs of dresses with new variety.

Close to the earth is also close to the spring junior. Ecology themes are key sources for colors, patterns and garment details.

Earth-color and outdoorsy prints merge with the fashion environment. Fruits and vegetables, ripe from the vine, pattern many fabrics.

Butterfly, heart and insect appliques appear.

The pants craze inspires juniors, with a maze of lengths, cuts, shapes and styles. Most long pants are straighter and narrower than their bell predecessors.

Gaucho pants, cousin of the culotte, and knickers, with a real Buster Brown look, challenge long pants with self assurance.

Little pants, a fashion descendent of short shorts, are new introductions. Some are cuffed at mid-thigh; others are even briefer.

Juniors are jumping this spring in what else but — jumpsuits. Button, zip, belt and sash versions are ready for fashion action.

Fitted, slim or flared jackets, boleros and tops get together with matching pants or skirts.

Then there's a new item to knock around in. Workman overalls, complete with bib front or suspenders, rival good old standard denim jeans and the new crop of fancy jeans.

Along with denim comes madras, a homespun fashion look. Now it's wholesome, clean, fresh and basic — especially in patchwork versions.

ON THE BEACH

An almost weightless two-piece bikini and matching smocked cover-up can go from hotel to beach to poolside. It clings to the body like a second skin, dries in a flash and always looks sleek and fresh.

Feraud Shows Short Shorts

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — Legs came back to Paris when Louis Feraud, the young, swinging designer, presented his spring high fashion collection based almost entirely on shorts, and very short shorts.

Doubters who could not envision the popular tennis shorts of the 1950;s in Paris high fashion collections may not call Feraud's collection high fashion. Nonetheless it is creative, beautiful and bound to be copied round the world and not necessarily only for 16-year-olds.

Women of any age with slim, firm figures could wear Feraud's safari suits with long belted jackets showing a couple of inches of shorts underneath. Another wearable style for the over 20 population was his maxi evening dresses in transparent chiffon or semi-transparent printed heavy silk slit up both sides with shorts in contrasting colors underneath.

Feraud's shorts were refined by being teamed with something that softened the blow of all that leg. Red leather shorts were attached by strips of leather to matching above-knee boots. Jersey shorts peeped from beneath jersey midi-dresses slit to the waist.

WOOF, WOOF

Dog collars are still enjoying popularity, and all fabrics and mediums are being used. Tiny macrome is the newest look, and also the plastic beads. Delicate chain chokers, draped from a center stone, and used with dangles and tassels, also promise to be important.

Quick Run-Down On New Threads

THE WRAP SKIRT: Yves St. Laurent brought it back, and everybody wants one because it's easy to wear, one size and fits everyone in mini, midi, maxi lengths.

The battlejacket brings back the short jackets in suits. Its casual line is reminiscent of those denim jackets that go with blue jeans and wear so well. It's long-sleeved and cuffed (buttons or snaps) and comes to the waist with a fitted band of fabric. Breast pockets, little collar. Wear it with pleated skirts, blue jeans, midis and over bathing suits.

KNEE-HIGHS ... Lighweidht textures add interest to spring knee-high stockings ... designed for long pants and hotpants, gauchos, knickers, all pants on the scene.

One pair is designed in thick-and-thin scroll pattern, is made to go with pantsuits in lighter colors such as chamois and lime as well as darks like brown.

Another, a spaced nylon entry with shantung texture that's going strong in pales and darks.

DENIM ACCESSORIES. It's the big spring-summer fabric and it's making an impact in hats, handsbags, gloves, belts and jewelry.

THE DENIM glove has trim of white polyurethane on the gauntlet cuff and back of the glove. The palm side is white polyurethane.

Slacks Show New Freedom

Slacks to go with the new sports shirts have a lot of pattern and fabric interest.

For elegance, there are velveteen jeans, a fad started by the young, but now unanimously approved.

Velveteen jeans come in every color from fire engine red to pale lime green, as well as animal prints such as tiger, leopard and lion.

Sandals, Pumps Step Out Late

Lustre and patent, suede, smooth, embossed and metallic-toned leathers take part in the footwork.

Sifting the sandal-pile for after-five shoes discloses a treasure trove of straps. They're mostly on the very slim side.

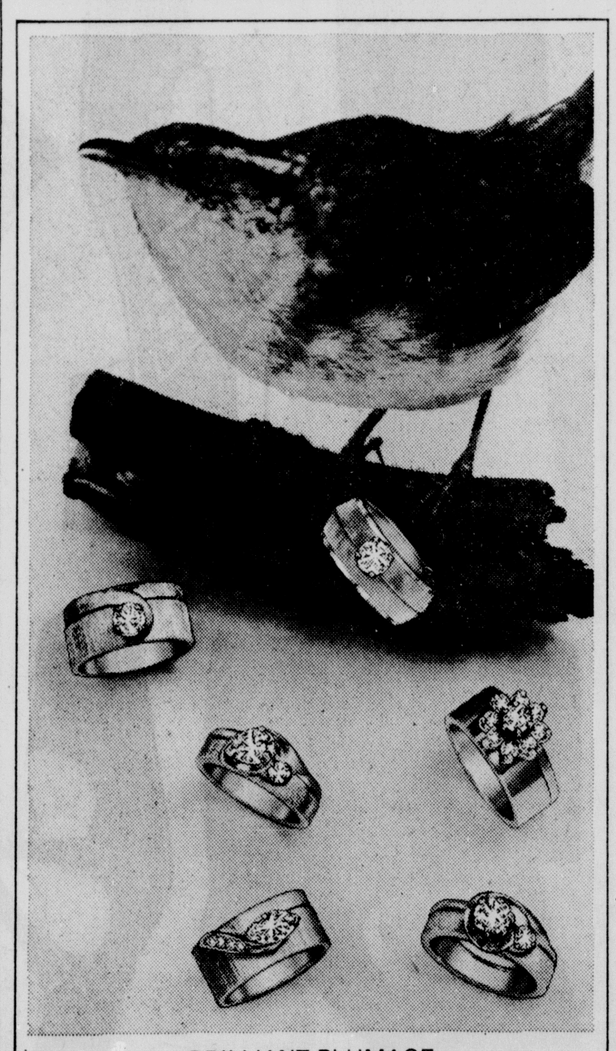
Ornamentation stresses jeweled strap buckles, piping and two-tone gold and silver effects.

In evening pumps, the closed silouette with draped front is set off by jeweling. For the open-toed pump, slingbacks or open sides are sometimes added.

Also pointing its elegant toe is the evening pump with slim instep or diagonal strap, and the pretty pump with jeweled or silvered heel treatment.

GOING PRACTICAL

Practical pantsuits for little girls offer matching tunic dresses, which can go out fashionably on their own.



BRILLIANT PLUMAGE

Pants Costume, Shirtdress Make Matching Weekenders

Fresh and perky as well as pretty are the many styles derived from other places, other times. Country, prairie, peasant and pioneer define looks that reveal a strong dash of nostalgia, looks that combine bold colors and patterns with a generous helping of flounces, full sleeves, embroidery, old-fashioned prints and other signs of softness.

Fresh, too, are pants and pants costumes, now a major element in fashion expression.

There are as many ways to wear pants as there are women to wear them, and the components and combinations seem endless. Dresses, tunics, jackets, vests, shawls, coats, jerkins — all these and more go over long pants, short pants, knickers and gauchos. And don't forget the jumpsuit.

With more people traveling more, the "weekender" costume, based on pants and almost a wardrobe in itself, comes on strong.

Usually, "weekender" means coat plus pants plus skirts, ready for switching about to meet varying moods and times, but other parts may be included.

Very pretty, very feminine are dresses and dress-plus costumes.

Indeed, the very essence of spring might be new dresses with lowered and rounded necklines, long and flowing sleeves, shirred and fitted midriffs and full, soft skirts.

Shirtdresses and coatdresses share spring importance.

Fit or fullness, supple curves, highrise or natural waistlines and the demure, covered-up look of long sleeves are some trends to note here.

Even slim dresses are shaped, draped, curved.

A similar contrast appears as hacking, blazer and other jackets with crisp lines over supple dresses.

Capes, the new costume companions for dresses or skirts and tops, flow and flare with femininity, in long or short versions.

Little boleros and sleeveless, elongated tunics take other fresh approaches to costume coverage.

When the costume component is a coat, soft self-ties, wrap fronts, reefer and cardigan lines may be noted.

Separates and casual dresses continue the fresh, pretty and femnine theme — and add some variations, the work clothes look in particular.

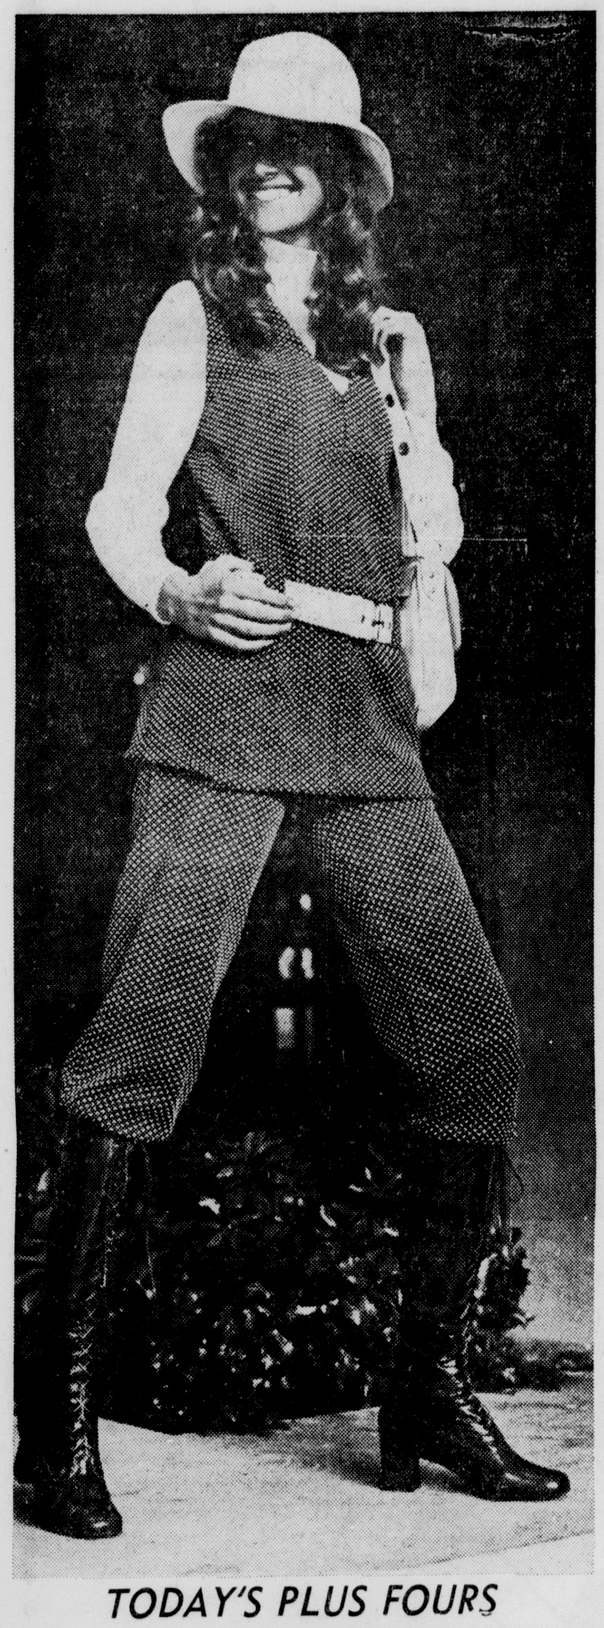
In fact, the work clothes influence spreads to coats and suits. Several spring jackets and coats resemble, in line and feeling, an elongated workshirt, shaped of denim, jersey or polyester.

Wrapped or slit, separate skirts reflect the bared look, as much a part of spring fashion as its counterpart, the covered-up look.

Other manifestations are halter or deep-scooped necklines, skirts and tops that get together to bare the midriff, see-through fabrics and cutouts.

Freshness, prettiness, femininity are complemented by spring's hats and accessories.. Shapely brims, draped turbans; and berets speak of softness, while hearts, flowers and butterflies show the way to flattering accents.



TODAY'S PLUS FOURS

The dotted double knit knicker suit catches an up-to-the-minute look for the woman on the go. Designed by Ilse Smith for Susan Thomas, the machine washable knit suit is always ready to travel on feet covered by knee-high lace up boots.

WITH A FLASH OF LEG

Combine the unexpected for the look of the young individual. A soft, brushed denim long coat, outlined with contrasting stitching plus a belt and hood almost covers jazzy cotton knit short shorts topped by a red, white and blue stripe T-shirt for a new spring fashion idea from Ross/Atkins on the Northgate Mall.

Just Look What Men Are Wearing To The 'Casual Dress' Parties

At one time if a hostess told a man "casual dress," she could generally predict what he was going to wear. But today, a man might show up in anything from velvet jeans to a suede fringed jacket.

More and more men are expressing their fashion freedom in off-duty hours, and as a result sportswear is the place to find the brightest colors, the boldest patterne, the most daring ideas, reports the Men's Fashion Association.

Denim is the basis of the bright new sportswear look this spring. Sturdy and durable, denim has been around for a long time in work clothes and jeans.

Fashion designers are using it this year for shirts, swimsuits and jackets.

If a man wants complete denim look, he might team up a denim jacket (handsomely styled with snap flap pockets) with matching flared pants. Denim and canvas shoes add the finishing touct.

"Costumes" are for the man who wants to be different and lighthearted about his dress. He can look like a range rider in a Western costume of fringed jacket, yoked shirt and jeans.

There are innumerable variations, but only for the most daring.

For the man who would like to update his sportswear wardrobe a bit more moderately, this is the season for bold patterned sports shirts. Geometrics or jacquards lead the way.

Spring slacks patterns include stripes of all kinds and bold oversized plaids. Today's man coordinates print sport shirts with patterned pants, for a mixture of patterns is another of the new spring looks.

Just-Below-Knee Skirts Featured In Italy Shows

ROME (UPI) — Skirts were below the knee-just below-at the Italian women's fashion shows for spring and summer 1971.

Designers Titti Brugnoli and Eleanora Garnett placed skirts just at the top of the calf and kept fabrics soft to guarantee a look of motion. The stiff, "constructed" look was gone.

Garnett, who never shortened her skirts during the mini craze but waited for fashion to return to her length, uses dozens of gores to give fullness to her suit skirts. The strips of fabric, stitched with edges together on the inside, are curved out like a pumpkin.

Both designers like chartreuse and shocking pink. Brown finally seems to be on its way out after several years of popularity.

The fashion conservatism, which some economists say goes with a tight economic situation, showed up in the Itali- menswear collections.

Swim Suits Get Newest Cover-up

Cover-ups and covered-up are the two themes that make the biggest splash on the beachwear scene for spring. Today a swim suit just doesn't go down to the sea alone. It brings a companion cover-up, one that transforms the barest bikini or the sleekest maillot into adventurous fashion that can go indoors or out, roam off the beach or on.

It can be a long slink of a maxi tank dress, slit up the side, that slips on over a little boy-short bikini or the tri-pat dressing of a swim suit, plus a hooded, long sleeve shift that can go it alone as a dress or team up with flowing patio pants for a complete weekend wardrobe in the sun. There are new double knit shifts in bright regatta stripes that are a contrast to the striped dimensions of a tiny bikini or softly draped longuette skirts that wrap everything up in total, fluid fashion.

Some of the new kinds of cover-ups look dramatic when paired off with the new kind of swimwear, the long sleeved, covered-up suit that clings as close to the body as it can get. It's the newest idea to surface on the swim scene, and it seems even more sensuous than bare skin. They're suits that look like they've been poured on, and they're done in soft, light nylon that molds and clings, dries in a flash and always looks sleek and fresh.

It's part of the new body-conscious wave that's sweeping all of fashion, and for the sea set, it may well replace those bare bikinis.

SUITABLY SPRING

When Umberto Manzo designed this three piece suit for Davidow he scored high fashion points by using a black and white French cotton blend chevron print and teaming it with a yellow blouse. (New York Couture Council photo)

Coats Of Spring Protect Against Seasonal Sprinkles In True Style

All-weather wise, the double-purpose coats of spring are just that — wise in their power to protect against seasonal showers, wise in their ability to look like a coat with nothing on its mind but fashion.

Creative design and fabrics treated for water resistance make it all possible. The fabrics conceal their waterproofing in appearance — looking like any other fashionable fabric — but prove it in performance.

Designers approach the creation of the weather-wise coat with the belief that it's an anytime coat, a sunny-time coat and, most of all, a travel coat.

Thus any style that's new or classic for spring can be found in the season's "raincoats."

Of course, the cape, as a '71 fashion factor, is important — and, equally of course, it's a natural for rainwear.

Sometimes the cape appears as part of a costume, plus a skirt or, more often, pants. Other any-weather coats and jackets take the costume course, too.

Perky colors let some sunshine in, even when it's raining. No longer does rainwear have to stick to dull, drab shades, "practical" because water spots don't show.

No more water spots — and so rain-shine wear bubbles with bright colors, bold colors, even pastels. Cheery florals, geometrics, stripes, plaids and patterns galore go out in any weather with assurance.

Of course, sometimes it doesn't just rain — it pours.

That's the time for the versatile vinyls, ready with the wet look to appear, quite frankly, as raincoats. But they, too, have a plus.

Cinched, shaped, belted, the vinyl raincoats make their fashion point. They're definitely spring '71.

Jewelry Goes Ethnic

To complement spring's ethnic fashions, jewelry takes inspiration from Scandinavia, the Orient, Mexico, India and Africa. Pioneer and American Indian influences are present, too. Such jewelry ranges from all-important neckpieces to earrings, bracelets, rings and belts.

Designs On Stockings

Finely-edged striping, narrow pintucks, scroll designs and ribbing characterize many pantyhose. Lace-like designs are also important in helping hosiery express softness.

Ankle embroidery and side patterns add interest. Among the embroideries are, of course, butterflies — and peasant effects, too.

The denim look makes an appearance in hosiery, as it does throughout fashion.

Colors are as varied as styles. In addition to conventional shades, there are hues such as lilac, blue, pink, green, daffodil.

Individualism Keynotes Women's Casual Clothes

Sportswear is staging a big comeback for individualism this spring.

The variations on every fashion theme, from the classics to the new romantics, appear in an almost endless selection. Today's woman will put it all together in a burst of self-expression. Look-alike fashion is a thing of the past.

The casual shirtdress continues in popularity. Separates are on view in an impressive array of skirts, shirts, sweaters, jackets and pants.

Shirtdresses, from the simplest T-shirt to the softest peasant look, are found in both slim and full-skirted versions.

NEW CONTENDER in casual dresses is the workman look. It shows up in suspender and bib-look dresses and jumpers, usually in denim or printed cotton.

The chemise, in cotton or polyester knit and most often front-zipped, is seen again and again.

One of sportswear's most important looks is still the sweater. Long pullovers and tunics, twin sweater sets, and classic cardigans make big impact. Long, sleeveless vests are worn over everhthing from skirts to jumpsuits.

Innovations in skirt looks seem to be the newsiest. Skirts are full or pleated, they're slim with side or front slashes to show lots of leg. They're front-zipped or buttoned, side-wrapped or back-tied.

The ankle length peasant skirt appears over and over, with bare midriff tops, peasant blouses or skinny tops. Pinafore and apron skirts team up with puff-sleeve and pin-tucked voile blouses.

The dressy blouse, as part of the Easter costume, makes a very soft, very feminine appearance. Full or accordion-pleated sleeves, ascots, pin-tucks and colorful embroidery are some of the details. Soft fabrics complete the look.

The classic shirt maintains its popularity. It looks easy and natural with the reappearing and newsy short-short.

Jackets include the natty blazer, longer this spring but classically tailored. Battle jackets, hacking jackets, ponchos and capes remain on the scene.

Thinking of that summer plunge? Very bare bikinis and one-piece body suits are favorites. Many long peasant skirts appear with them as beach cover-ups.

Pants, jumpsuits, gauchos and knickers reign.

Denim, cotton or polyester knits, cottons and sheer voiles are important parts of the fabric picture.

CIRCLED SPLENDOR

Knee Socks Are New

Length is news in spring stockings, and the new length is kneehigh.

Designed to meet a demand, kneehighs fill a need for the millions of women who wear pantsuits.

When they don't show (under long pants), these pant-socks are appreciated for their comfort and security. They're available in both sheers and opaques.

Spring Shoes Feature Straps

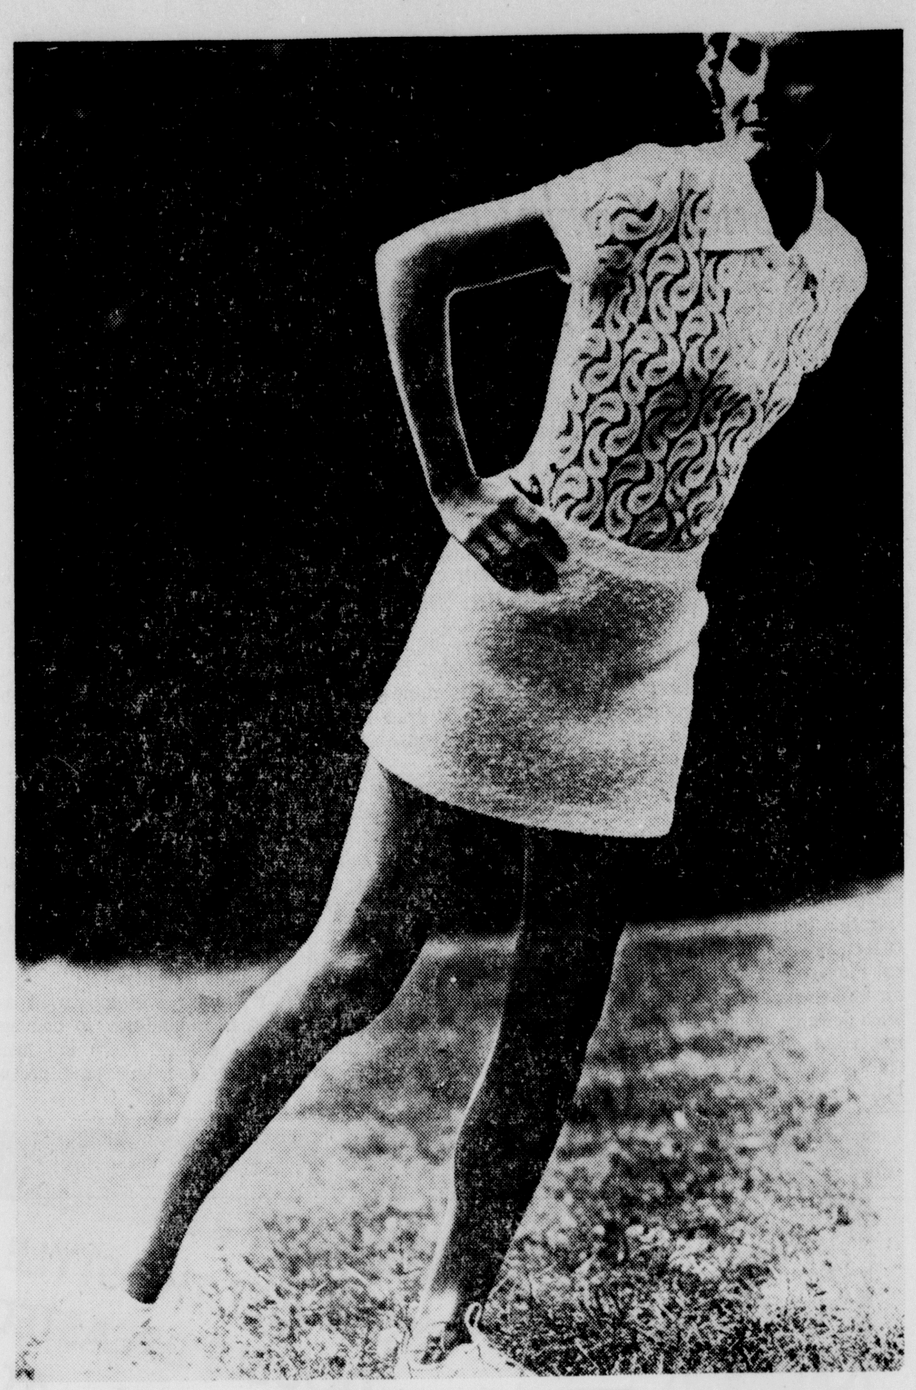
Perhaps she'll choose foot-exposing stripping sandals, with straps or heels sometimes touched with jewels. Or she may prefer pumps with cut sides, narrow slings or open toes.

These are available this season in both mid and high heels, newly slimmed in shape.



SHORT AND SWEET

Play tennis very fashionably in a short sleeve, nylon croschel lacy see-through top with a shirt collar and placket front. The short skirt is an A-line knit with an elasticized waist in a nubby Italian nylon.

Gloves Reflect Fashion Trends

Gloves reflect many fashion trends in trim, detail and fabric.

Heart appliques, jewelry ornaments, cuffs and bows are trims that relate to fashion's general spring theme — softness.

Slippers Take On New Look

Slippers abandon the bedroom look for spring take on the look of track-shoes. There are plastic-soled road runners, cool canvas sneakers sparking red with white and another color-plus-white.

Also seen, a crepe-corked canvas sandal with gold link tie-up in washable brights as well as white black and white spectators with vamp opening in crinkle patent and leather grain vinyl and a platform mule in tone-on-tone or contrast combination of strawcloth and vinly with six-eyelet tie.

Flowing Fabrics For Evening

For those who have their evenings scheduled for parties and extravaganzas, a leading designer believes in extravagant evening dresses. For spring, emphasis is on chiffons and jerseys which he likes as flowing capes and sleeves or just draped, especially alluring when simple, but sometimes with long panelled dresses which have the back panels cut shorter. One of the prettiest, the amber chiffon bathing suit dress with capelet sleeves and long self cape.

The newest evening skirt is in macrame, knotted and fringed purple silk, over a ruffle-necked dress.

WAY OF LIFE

Pants suits, gaucho outfits, knickers, jumpsuits are very much a way of life — and likely to remain so.

DASH OF SIDE LACING

The sleeveless pants outfit with a bright panel of color is a perfect addition to a vacation wardrobe. Lorch of Dallas designs it in polyester, so it won't wrinkle, and it is light, easy to wear and is machine washable and dryable.

Men Aren't Conservative Showing Off Fine Feathers

In men's wear for spring, the one significant trend is that there is no one trend. Rather, there are many, in styles to suit a man's way of life.

Today's man is not only less conservative about his apparel, he's also more aggressive about demanding some variety in his fashions. Especially, he wants a choice of "serious" clothes and clothes for fun and relaxation.

Manufacturers are responding with a wide range of looks in new suits and sportcoats.

Common denominator of all the looks is shape. Serious suits go about their business of well-dressing a man for his daily round, and casual suits — variously called "moot suits," "boot suits" and "no" suits — relax with ease, but all have at least some suggestion of shape. Details and fabrics become important factors.

Wide lapels or, for sportcoats and vest suits, collarless necklines; slanted pockets, oversized patch pockets; half belts and deep inverted pleats for back treatments are just some of the ideas.

In the field of fabrics, men's wear highlights knits. Knitted garments are in the stores in quantity, and as the season goes on, they'll be available in a greater variety of colors and styles.

Knits mean suits, sportcoats, slacks and dress shirts, as well as those long-established sport shirts and sweaters.

Both serious suits and blazer suits show up in knits, in single- and double-breasted models.

Polyester doubleknits come to the fore.

For all fabrics, overall designs are prominent. Jacquards and geometrics appear, especially in browns and tans. Stripes — wide, thin, chalk, bold — go on and on.

Part of the easy approach to spring is the unconstructed suit.

Casual suits, of course, are unconstructed. They may combine a tunic or a vest with shirt and slacks, slim or sometimes lightly flared. Another approach is the shirtjacket, sometimes belted, over slacks.

And now serious suits are unconstructed, too. This means less lining, less interlining and padding, and results in a comfortable, lightweight jacket with an easier look.

Lighter colors — including white and almost-white — are another new note, brightening spring for men.

Patterned Stockings

Brightly-colored patterns and solids put their best foot forward in today's over-the-calf socks — now recognized as proper attire for year-round business and leisure wear.

For spring, many new patterns and colors have been added to over-the-calf socks. Pastels and bright solids, including the season's newest plum shades, lead.

Among new ideas in patterns, available now, are polka dots, basketweaves.

New Fabrics For Lingerie

Fabric contributes to lingerie versatility. Delicate, soft body-hugging fabrics offer opportunities to display many fashion character traits.

Put Sock Into Men's New Socks

In the spring, a young man's fancy turns to love — or at least it used to in the days before the Peacock Revolution. Now a man's fancy and funds are more apt to be diverted to selecting his new spring finery in the latest designer styles, patterns and colors.

Choosing one's ensemble for the Easter Parade is no longer a problem for the women only. Starting at the top, men are putting their heads together to come up with a new spring topper. Inspired by the Borsalino look, many will choose the 1930's gangster slouch hat for spring.

But today's well-dressed man is letting fashion go to his feet as well as his head.

Bold footwear and colorful sock styles are helping men toe the fashion line. In shoes, there is a trend toward the spectator, spats, and other '30s looks. Two-tone leathers strapped with brassy buckles are beginning to kick up their heels. Everywhere men are doing the soft shoe in footwear of butter-soft kidskin, suede, and calf. Demi-boots trimmed with braided leather or a bit of brass are strutting high.

In men's hosiery, designers such as John Weitz, Bill Blass and Schiaparelli are socking it to the fashion-conscious consumer with over-the-calf socks in plaids, checks, window panes, prints and paisleys. Argyles, too, are making a comeback from their 1950s heyday. Colors have expanded from the traditional five shades of grey, black, olive, brown and navy to more than 50 colors in o-t-c lines. Such shades as plum, rum, whiskey, wine, mint, melon, persimmon, pumpkin and raspberry provide food for thought.

Today's well-dressed men choose over-the-calf socks for all business and leisure wear, not only for fashion, but for grooming etiquette. In business circles from Wall Street to Sunset Boulevard, men are increasingly conscious of "calf gap" — that hairy patch of skin that bristles forth when a man crosses his legs. Business grooming calls for eliminating this undignified shin show by wearing longer over-the-calf socks.

For spring, many manufacturers are adding new patterns and colors to their designer and regular lines of over-the-calf socks. Colorful pastels and bright solids, including the season's newest plum shades, should step out in front. In addition, new patterns, including polka dots, basket weaves, bold geometrics an subtle tone-on-tone designs will be available.

Many lightweight o-t-c's for spring and summer will provide greater comfort during the warmer months ahead.

Boy's Footgear Is Rugged In Shoe, Moccasin Or Boot

Slipons, laced shoes, moccasins and demi-boots are available with an abundance of styling touches.

Footwear takes rugged treatment and offers good looks in such supple American leathers as grained, smooth, waxy, glove, brushed and embossed.

The monk strap slipon, an old favorite, has new fashion modifications. Straps are split, vamps show paneled or center-seam effects, or an ornamental strap-buckle is featured.

An interesting look is created by the wrap-strap slipon since no tongue shows above the strap.

When slipons are not strapped, they take details such as side-gored-tongues, the spat look or plenty of perfs. Plain-toe gored-tongue styles look breezy and casual.

Demi-boots come gored, strapped or pullon. Mostly found in rugged grained and brushed leathers, demi-boots appear in high-polished smooth leather types.
